Northwest Minnesota Initiative fund is looking for worthy projects to give as much as $30,000 to, and for as long as its two-year grant of $2.1 million will last.

About 30 people, mostly representatives of various charitable organizations, listened carefully to what Ruth Edevold, executive director of the fledgling organization called Northwest Minnesota initiative, had to say Wednesday afternoon at the Best Western in Thief River Falls.

The new organization was organized in the Spring of 1986 after one and a half years of planning and strategy development. Originally called the Northwest Minnesota task force on rural issues, the organization was awarded $2.1 million in March of 1986 by the McKnight Foundation.

Liz Fedor, staff member, said the McKnight foundation recognized a need in rural Minnesota. But, as Edevold explained, that in no way means that the organization has to strictly follow what the McKnight foundation says or does. She also pointed out that an organization that has received grants from or continues to receive grants from the McKnight foundation is not disqualified, limited or favored by those grants when applying for a grant from Northwest Minnesota Initiative.

At the meeting Wednesday, which was one 12 such meetings, Edevold explained what the organization does and how to apply for grants. The organization is committed to improving the quality of life for the residents of Northwest Minnesota in the counties of Beltrami, Clearwater, Hubbard, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake and Roseau. The Northwest region is accompanied in its efforts by five other organizations financed and goal oriented in the same manner. Overall McKnight foundation created six regions and granted $15 million for a two year period.

The Northwest Minnesota Initiative fund (NWMIF) is committed to the following funding priorities: meeting human service needs, enhancing human resources, strengthening the economic base, and diversifying the economy.

Grants therefore will be made based on the applicants committment to meeting those goals. Meeting human service needs means responding to the unique needs of Northwest Minnesota, particularly to needs of farm families, by providing services not sufficiently available through regular providers. It also means providing supplemental assistance to human service providers who can demonstrate their unique role in meeting critical human service needs.

The second priority requires the applying organization to enhance human resources by providing opportunities for systematic leadership training for current and emerging leaders.

Northwest Minnesota Initiative fund defines its third priority, strengthening the economic base, as providing educational programs and/or specific assistance to farmers, bankers and small business owners in financial management, marketing and other areas of need, providing opportunities for rural communities to plan economic development, communicate the strengths of the region, and develop linkages internal and external to the region, to strengthen the tourism sector of the economy by focusing attention on the attractions of the region, to enhance the efforts of various state and local organizations which provide for the stewardship of land, water, fish, wild life and other natural resources.

They define diversifying the economy as providing additional capital to existing regional revolving loan funds as a resource for venture capital and equity capital.

Edevold said they "strongly encourage coalition building." The NWMIF believes that cooperation and coalition building among agencies in the area is needed. Thus they encourage multi-agency applications which reflects joint planning and implementation plans.

Those agencies, eligible for the grants must also be not for profit charitable organizations. That means it must meet regulations set forth in section 501 (c) (3).

Selection shall be determined by the NWMIF board of directors and based on the following criteria: relevance of the proposed project to the NWMIF funding priorities, capability of the

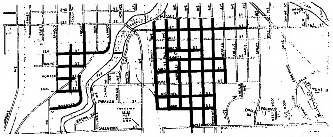
1987 Proposed Street And Utility Projects



Projects For 1987 Under Discussion

Members of the Thief River Falls street and utilities committees met in city council chambers Thursday at noon to discuss upcoming projects. It was an effort to coordinate activities so that the two committees would not be caught short, either by surprise or for a lack of money.

At issue was whether repairs for the 1987 street projects (area on the east side of town pictured above) would be undertaken in 1987. The utilities committee has generally coordinated their repairs with street repairs so that they would not have to dig up a street after a repair was made.

Undertaking the street project and utilities project at the same time next year, as tentatively planned, would however force the utility committee deeper into deficit financing. Two areas in the utility department hard hit financially are the water and sewer department. According to Alderman Kenneth Murphy of the Utility department the water deficit could be as high as $257,000 if the project is undertaken. The water deficit is actually $104,000 at this time. The sewer deficit if the 1987 project is undertaken would be around $35,090.

The utilities department, faced with the large deficits and decreasing reserves has three options to solve the problem. Those options include a substantial rate increase which could foreseeably increase present water

Volunteers Expect To Build A House For Amy

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

When Larry and Dianne Killian became parents of their fifth child, their plans for the future took an abrupt turn. Amy, now five years old, was born with hydracephalus (water on the brain) and required extensive hospitalization and several surgeries. She has now been involved for about two years in an extensive therapy program which has been assisted by 50 area volunteers.

Shortly before Amy's birth, the Killians had begun building their dream home on their farm northeast of Plummer. The basement was excavated, the foundation walls built, and the first floor put in place. Since that time it has remained in that condition as the family has faced huge medical expenses.

Now a group of area people under the coordination of a statewide organization called "A Chance to Grow" has undertaken a project to complete the Killian house which has remained a dream for the past five years. "A Chance to Grow" was formed by families of brain-damaged children who are seeking to give their children a chance to grow through the special intensive therapy programs.

In a brochure prepared by "A Chance to Grow", the situation is summed up as follows: "Amy's therapy program has done wonders for her, but the family needs a bigger space for the volunteers and family to work with her. It is also very important to have a good furnace to keep her warm while she learns to crawl, creep and walk as normal children do."

The brochure is being used in the Twin Cities area among contacts which "A Chance to Grow" has made there and in the local area as well. It points out that assistance to build a house for Amy can be provided by making a tax deductible donation of money, donating lumber, plumbing, nails, windows or other materials, donating expertise in carpentry, electrical wiring, plumbing or fund raising or giving a day or more of labor in the construction of the house.

At present Larry and Dianne Killian and their six children live in a 24x14 house with a 16x24 addition which has been intended as a temporary emergency structure. It is heated with a wood stove and the four oldest children — Gina, 13, Adam, 11; Beth, 8; and John, 6 — share the half-story upstairs bedroom. Amy and three-year-old Rachelle are in a tiny downstairs room off Larry and Dianne's bedroom which also doubles as Amy's therapy room.

The new house is a 32x60 building which Larry estimates will take $40,000 to $50,000 for basic construction which will make it possible for the family to occupy it. Some low interest loan funds have been authorized through the Northwest Multi-County Housing and Redevelopment authority with offices at Mentor and some additional funds through Inter-County Community council at Oklee. Matching funds have been offered by Lutheran Brotherhood insurance company (although the Killian family is affiliated with the Catholic church)

Disaster Exercise To Be Held At TRF Hospital On Mon.

Simulated disaster exercise will be held at 1 p.m. today, September 22, at Northwest Medical center. Today's drill will involve a mock fire in a patient room at Northwest Medical center.

The Thief River Falls fire department, police department, Pennington county sheriff's department and Life-star Ambulance will all be alerted by using the new 911 emergency telephone number. This will be the first technical test of this new emergency response system.

Richard Kuhnley, disaster coordinator at Northwest Medical center requests that "people not become alarmed when they see several of these emergency vehicles in the vicinity of Northwest Medical center today and that they may see some of the artificial smoke being used to simulate fire conditions."

Elizabeth Efta And Eric Klein Exchange Vows At St. Aloysius

Elizabeth Jean Efta and Eric John Klein exchanged marriage vows August 2 at St. Aloysius Catholic church in Leo. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Efta of rural Greenbush. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Klein of Grygla. Grandparents of the bride were the late Ben and Mary Szymanski of rural Thief River Falls.

Rev. Arthur J. Spear was celebrant at the double ring ceremony and nuptial mass. Prelude music included a solo by Susan Efta, cousin of the bride, accompanied by Marlene Reese, friend of the bride. Another friend of the bride, Jeanne Novacek, also sang a solo. "Joy" by J. S. Bach was the organ processional, with "Peter Piper," arranged by Frank Mills, as recessional, both played by Marlene Reese.

Both Bride and groom were accompanied to the altar by their parents. As they paused before the altar, Jeanne Novacek and Cynthia Efta sang "There is Love," after which Rev. Spear gave the opening prayer. Scripture was read by June Efta, followed by a rendition of "Love" from Corinthians by Susan Efta, Gwendolyn Efta and Annie Erickson.

"Alleluia" was sung by the congregation and gospel and homily were presented by Rev. Spear. The couple then exchanged wedding vows in their own words. The mother of the bride presented the prayers of the faithful which she and the bride had composed.

During the presentation of the gifts by the groom's godparents, Mr and Mrs. Art Schouviller, Cynthia Efta sang "God, A Woman and A Man." Following the prayer over the gifts by Rev. Spear, the congregation joined the vocalists in the "Holy, Holy," the Acclamation and the "Amen." All guests then joined in "The Lord's Prayer." The bride and groom extended the Sign of Peace to one another, their parents, members of the wedding party, the celebrant and servers, Bradley Blawat and Timothy Stanislawski.

The couple then distributed communion to the guests. Meditation was sung by Jeanne Novacek and Gregg Iverson entitled "My Only Love." After the final prayer and blessing, Rev. Spear presented the couple to the assembled guests.

Church decorations were orange tiger lilies in arrangements, brass candelabra with tangerine candles and bows and large, green plants. Banners, designed by the bride and her mother, were hung at the altar and around the church. A Pacifica rose was placed beneath the statue of Mary.

The bride wore an ivory gown of bridal satin with scoop neckline and long sleeves extending to points at the wrist, and a detachable chapel-length train fastened by a bow at the back. Bodice, wrists, hemline and train were adorned with appliqued lace and ivory pearl strands. Her headpiece was of bridal satin with a satin rose at the side and a tulle back veil. She carried a fresh bouquet of tiger lilies and Pacifica roses interspersed with greenery bound with flowing peach satin ribbon streamers.

Personal attendant was the groom's sister, Debra Klein. Kathleen Efta was her sister's maid of honor, with Laurie and Jacqueline Efta, both sisters of the bride, and Rebecca Klein, sister of the groom, as bridesmaids. Junior bridesmaid was the groom's sister, Rachel Klein.

All wore peach-colored gowns with full skirts of gathered taffeta covered with peach lace. Bodices were strapless, covered by a lace bolero of tangerine designed by the bride's mother. The bolero had a boat neckline and three-quarter sleeves. Each carried three long-stemmed Pacifica roses with babies' breath and greenery.

The groom wore sable-colored tails and a boutonniere of two Pacifica roses with babies' breath. His friend, Robert Thompson, served as best man. Other attendants were Jeffrey Klein, brother of the groom, and James Moe and Rick Kiesow, friends of the groom. Charles Efta, brother of the bride, Kelly Kein, brother of the groom, and Gregg Iverson, friend of the couple, ushered the guests. All gentlemen of the wedding party wore sable tuxedos with matching shirts, cummerbunds and bow ties, and Pacifica rose boutonnieres.

Mothers of the bride and groom wore matching tea length gowns of peach and front-to-back corsages of Pacifica roses and tiger lilies.

Programs were distributed by Jane Schlosser, Gwen Gonsorowski and Kim Sala, friends of the couple. Ryan and Shane Klein, brothers of the groom, served as candle lighters. Patricia and June Efta, sisters of the bride, attended the guest book, and Rachel, Ryan and Shane Klein were gift attendants.

Following the wedding, a reception dinner was held at the Greenlin supper club. Host couples were godparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Al Efta, and brother and sister-in-law of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Efta. Julie Efta and her husband, Andrew Viner, and Patricia Efta and husband, Henry Tiber, served punch.

Elizabeth Wojciechowski, great-aunt of the bride, and Arlaine Duray, friend of the bride, cut and served the wedding cake, which was baked and decorated by Marjean Wolfe. The cake was a four-tiered creation with four adjoining cakes, and fresh flowers and greenery topping each tier.

Waitresses were Kim Brazier, Amy Dalager, Annie Erickson, and Lori Stanislawski, all friends of the bride. Helpers were cousins of the bride, Mary, Susan, Gwendolyn and Nancy Efta. Irene Walter, aunt of the bride, and Alice Blawat, friend of the bride, served as table hostesses.

Trinity Golden Years Entertains Seniors For 25 Joyful Years

And a good time was had by all—when Trinity Golden Years group celebrated its 25th anniversary last Tuesday. The original group was started by Rev. Harold Peterson in 1961.

Rev. Peterson was the visitation pastor for Trinity Lutheran church and in his calls on parishioners found that many seniors were isolated in their homes and did not get to community events. "He saw the need there for an organization where the seniors could be together," said his widow, Mae Peterson, who is the only charter member of the organization.

Original membership of 45 has grown to at least a hundred people, said Mrs. Peterson. The Golden Years group meets once a month, the third Tuesday, from 2 to 4 p.m., and has a variety of programs, usually choosing a theme for each month. Luncheon is served by the "Trinity Troops," and programs are provided by local area talent and members who share their own hobbies and aptitudes. A bus service is available to provide rides for those who need them.

There is no charge for activities, but a free will offering is welcome. All donations are put back into the church. Mrs. Peterson said the group has become a really active part of the church with its donations.

A Golden Years choir has been organized, with about 20 members participating. Visits with other churches are a part of the organization, as well as visits to area towns and places of interest. The group has visited Itasca state park, Ada and Grand Forks in the past.

The Golden Years was originally composed of only members of Trinity Lutheran church, but Mrs. Peterson said it now welcomes all seniors in the community. For more information, contact the church office at 681-1310.

Seek Volunteers For Parent Aide Welfare Program

Marshall county social services is seeking volunteers for a parent aide program. Purpose of the program is to provide support, through example, for parents who are frequently socially isolated, lack emotional support from family or friends, and are having difficulty fulfilling their role as parents.

"The volunteer helps satisfy the parents' needs so that they can begin to meet the children's needs. The parents begin to build a sense of self-worth which enables them to perform their role as successful parents," states Bruce Elseth, volunteer services coordinator.

Duties of the parent aide include attending initial and on-going training and spending three to five hours per week with their client under the direction of a supervising social worker from the Marshall county social services staff.

Those interested in more information about the parent aide program may contact Elseth at 745-5124 or 745-5125.

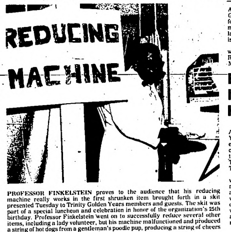
HAPPY FACES at Trinity Golden Years' 25th anniversary celebration Tuesday. Members and guests enjoyed a luncheon and special program of music and entertainment. Comedy was provided in a skit entitled "The Reducing Machine," narrated by Mrs. Mae Peterson. To see the reason for the happy faces, see the photo of Professor Finkelstein popping out of his magical Reducing Machine with one of his "re-dic-u-lous reductions." As Mrs. Peterson said, "His invention is out of this world — and that's probably where it belongs!"



PROFESSOR FINKELSTEIN proves to the audience that his reducing machine really works in the first shrunken item brought forth in a skit presented Tuesday to Trinity Golden Years members and guests. The skit was part of a special luncheon and celebration in honor of the organization's 25th birthday. Professor Finkelstein went on to successfully reduce several other items, including a lady volunteer, but his machine malfunctioned and produced a string of hot dogs from a gentleman's poodle pup, producing a string of cheers and jeers from the delighted audience.

You Can LOSE MONEY in those "HIGH YIELD" BOND FUNDS.
Many heavily advertised investments—even those involving government bonds or mortgages backed by a government related agency—are subject to market risk!
You can lose some of your capital if interest rates turn against you. This includes any investment whose market value fluctuates on the basis of interest rates in general.
If you must sell before it matures, there's a chance you may be paid less money than you invested. And many of these investments never mature. They are shares in perpetual pools of securities—not a wise investment if your main investment objective is preservation of capital.
Many people wrongly believe that if they invest in government-related securities, the government will stand behind the 100% return of their principal at any time. This is not true!
Certainly the government guarantees it will pay off its securities 100 cents on the dollar when they mature. But it will not protect you from market loss. This in no way compares with the insured safety of our accounts and CDs. Even when penalties for early CD withdrawal must be assessed, our federal insurance protection means you can never suffer a capital loss because of money market fluctuations.

Auditions Begin For NCC Fall Play, "The Nerd"

Northland theatre, Northland community college, announces that auditions for the fall quarter theatre production will be held September 23 and 24 at 7 p.m. in the college theatre for the comedy, "The Nerd," written by Larry Shue. Shue is the author of the comedy, "The Foreigner," which has experienced an extensive popular run at Chanhassen Dinner theatre featuring Northland alumnus Jay Gjernes, formerly of Thief River Falls.

The action of "The Nerd" centers on the hilarious dilemma of a young architect who is visited by a man he's never met, but who saved his life in Vietnam — the visitor turning out to be an incredibly inept, hopeless "nerd," a bumbling oaf with no social sense, and little tact, who outstays his welcome with a vengeance.

The cast calls for four men, two women, and one male child; and all roles are open to Northland students, AVTI students, and anyone from the community interested in acting. Anyone interested in working on building and painting sets or working on costuming is also encouraged to contact Northland theatre director, Roger Vaughan.

Anyone unable to audition at the scheduled times should contact the director by calling 681-2181, extension 56, to arrange for an alternate audition time. Those auditioning will be asked to read from the script with others who are auditioning. No previous experience is necessary. Production dates are October 31 and November 1 and 2.

Stumpf Appointed To Subcommittee On Adult Literacy

State Senator LeRoy Stumpf of Plummer has been appointed to the Minnesota senate's select subcommittee on adult literacy

The subcommittee will review the current adult literacy situation in Minnesota and make recommendations to the senate education committee for the 1987 legislative session. This review will include the problems of illiterate adults, the assistance programs available, and the effectiveness of these programs in meeting the needs of those who need help, according to Stumpf.

Approximately 20 per cent of adult Minnesotans are functionally illiterate, according to a report issued by the task force on functional illiteracy in February of 1986.

"While this is below the national average that could be as high as 33 per cent, the fact that anyone cannot read and write is a problem," Stumpf said. "These people have a problem coping in our society but they also create economic problems for a state as well. Persons who can't get jobs because they are illiterate cost millions of dollars for unemployment and welfare. It is in a state's best interest for its citizens to be able to read and write."

Governor Perpich also has appointed a task force to examine adult literacy problems, Sen. Stumpf said. Several national education, business and government groups have made adult literacy a focal point. Two television networks, ABC and public broadcasting, have joined to call attention to the adult literacy problem. An ABC news closeup will examine the problem on September 3 at 9 p.m.; PBS will broadcast a special program on illiterate adults on September 18.

The subcommittee will have its first meeting on September 23 at 1 p.m. in Room 112, Capitol, and follow-up with several more before the 1987 session.

Manipulating Statistics

A public opinion writer who expressed concerns to the editor of the Bemidji Pioneer raises a pertinent point regarding so-called "studies" which have been in the news recently. The questions he raises can be applied to a number of conclusions drawn by people on the basis of what things appear to be.

Steve Haasch of Bemidji cites a Pioneer item mentioning a study which showed that 60 per cent of all those convicted of sex crimes were found to have "pornographic" materials in their possession.

"The above study shows that there is a correlation between the possession of erotic materials and sex crimes," he notes. "But it is a crucial point in scientific research that a correlation between two things does not mean that one thing causes the other."

As an example, he offered the supposition of a Martian coming to Earth in August. He notes that some people have hay fever and some do not. He also notes that people who have hay fever use lots of facial tissue. He also notes that people who use little or no facial tissue do not have hay fever. He concludes that using facial tissues causes hay fever.

We think Haasch offers an excellent example — certainly one that is easy to understand and illustrates his point.

He questions whether a sex criminal may have such materials because of a high interest in sex, rather than the other way around. And he wonders what percentage of people who do not commit sex crimes have similar material in their possession. If the latter were considered, they were not mentioned in the study report summary.

Then the letter writer makes a wise suggestion: "When you read a two or three-sentence explanation of a study (regardless of whether it's pro-porn or anti-porn), be aware that you probably don't have enough information about the study to pass judgment. You need to ask a number of things. Who did the study? Who paid for the study? How was the study conducted? What statistical methods were used to draw conclusions? Were the same results duplicated by other researchers?

". . . If you pick and choose your evidence, you can use statistics to mean anything you want. As Mark Twain said, 'There are lies, damned lies and statistics.' ".

A Treasured Liberty

Freedom to profess and practice religious beliefs is one of the most treasured of the liberties guaranteed under the U.S. Constitution. That freedom is guaranteed to citizens without the permission or hindrance of government.

"There are two widespread misunderstandings about America's experience with religious persecution and liberty," states Dr. Franklin H. Littell of the Hamlin Institute, an organization which studies religious liberties and persecution.

"The first is that the United States was founded as a Christian nation, and that our laws should take us back to a forgotten political model. The second is that the First Amendment was adopted in order to remove religion from public life. Both ideas are wrong," he states.

Dr. Littell points out that religious liberty has two areas of focus: (1) The government is not to be used to advance the interests of any church or religion; and (2) religious groups, supported by voluntary gifts, are free to evangelize non-members, maintain discipline among members and advocate actions and laws which they — rightly or wrongly — think good for the society at large.

"America is the only time and place in history where people of different religions have attempted to maintain an open dialogue, with equality and fair play for all religious opinions and none. The model is not toleration," Dr. Littell says, "in which one or more powerful religious establishments give up persecuting smaller and newer groups: the American model is liberty, which is much harder to make work."

On the surface the argument seems reasonable and, in truth, the freedom must be maintained. In practice, however, it is difficult to allow groups to operate unfettered in the name of religion when their purposes are evil or their methods anti-social. Religious cults make their leaders fabulously wealthy at the expense of their followers in many cases. In others, the practice of violence is encouraged and non-members may be put at risk.

Religious freedom is certainly to be cherished and protected as a fundamental right, as Dr. Littell states, but only so far as it does not infringe upon or endanger life, health of property. Voluntary practice is to be encouraged and protected. Coercion, brain-washing techniques, threat or practice of bodily harm do not, in our opinion, fall under the umbrella of the practice of religious freedom. Liberty must apply to the individual and not only to the organization.

Breaking Even

No one is guaranteed success in life and failure is a circumstance faced by many people. Failure in farming despite every effort to gain success is also being faced by many. The following letter to "Farmland News" by Karen Alber of Elkhart Lake, WI, gives a little perspective on what is involved just in "breaking even":

A friend of mine had good news the other day. "We found a buyer for the farm," she said. "After all this time, the offer came out of nowhere." A neighbor, she said, would take over their home place before the month was out.

"We know we're really lucky to get out from under it."

Relief showed in her smile. A burden had been lifted. The heart-twisting pictures of auctions on cold court house steps had lost their power to threaten her.

"Jack says we'll break even when it's done." Break even. Did she remember an eternity of pulling weeds? Picking rocks until she wanted to cry? Working until she ached too much to sleep?

"And we're young enough to start over." Young but so tired. The last few years had used up the energy that optimism brings.

Jack had started looking for a job, she said. It wouldn't be easy for him to fit into someone else's mold after being his own boss, but he would manage somehow. "He'll find something. You know how handy he is." But he'll miss the land, she wanted to add.

"The kids don't understand the talk about moving." They built their snow forts and played on the swing in the hay mow just as they always had. They called the calves by name and had never known a day without milking time. Perhaps someday they'll wonder how an accident of interest rates and public apathy had altered the course so carefully charted for their futures. "The little one says we should move to town so we can live next door to Grandma's. For them, it's still a game.

"As far as I'm concerned, I'd like to sleep until noon just once to see what it feels like. But you know I'll miss my milking parlor.

"I suppose we'd better start packing soon. Maybe we can find a place to rent." She was thinking of floors refinished inch by inch, curtains sewn to hang just right, the marks in the wall that showed how fast the children had grown. Another house could never be the same.

"We'll be gone before the tulips come up. They were so pretty last year. Maybe I'll come by and take a picture of them," she said, but I knew she never would. Some memories are best left alone.

"Too bad about the little apple trees we planted last year. We would have had fruit in a couple of years. Do you think I should try to take them along?"

I meant to answer, but when I looked up her smile was gone. We both knew the trees would have to be left behind.

Some roots grow too deep to be easily transplanted.

Pension Benefits Under State Fund Rise Dramatically

According to State Auditor Arne Carlson, Minnesota's pension investment system will produce a record setting 9.5 per cent pension benefit increase for some 45,000 state and local government retirees.

"This is the highest increase in the history of the management of these pension funds by the state board of investment which consists of the governor, attorney general, state treasurer, secretary of state and the state auditor," Carlson said.

He attributed the sharp gain to better overall market conditions, diversity of investments, and the implementation of investment reforms which includes professional management of the funds.

"During the period 1974-1981, the average retirement increase was 0.90 per cent while the average inflation rate was 9.43 per cent. These were tragic years," stated Carlson. "Between 1982 and 1986, when reforms went on-line, the average annual pension increase moved up to 7.6 per cent while the inflation rate averaged 3.44 per cent."

"As a matter of fact," continued Carlson, "prior to reforms, investment return was so weak that in 1976 the Legislature had to appropriate $21 million with an additional $11.6 million in 1979-80 in order to make up for weak investment performance."

Carlson noted that the $11 billion portfolio of the Minnesota state board of investment is primarily handled by outside professional investment firms. "This gives us the best investment talent in the country and the results are impressive," Carlson concluded.

Lions Clubs Join Effort To Curb Abuse Of Drugs

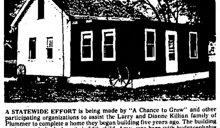
Lions Clubs International will spend more than $1.5 million through the end of next year in an international effort to curb drug abuse. Lions are asking each of their 37,000 clubs throughout the world to help in an enormous expansion of the effort, according to Sten A. Akestam of Sweden, Lions Clubs International president.

Key to the effort, says Akestam, is sponsorship of Lions-Quest "Skills for Adolescence," a program in junior high and middle schools that teaches pre-teens how to say "no" to drugs.

"It is our belief," he said "that the key to preventing drug abuse is reaching youth in the 10 to 14-year age category. We must help pre-teens learn that they can say "no" to the temptation of durgs and alcohol and still retain their self respect and friendships."

Currently, Lions-Quest courses are being offered in more than 2,500 junior high and middle schools in the United States, Canada and the British Isles, with nearly 370,000 students participating. Plans also are being considered to adapt the program to non-English speaking cultures in Europe, South America and Asia.

The Lions-Quest program has been supported by the National PTA, the American Association of School Administrators, the National Federation of Parents for Drug-Free Youth and the National Middle School associaton.



A STATEWIDE EFFORT is being made by "A Chance to Grow" and other participating organizations to assist the Larry and Dianne Killian family of Plummer to complete a home they began building five years ago. The building project was halted when their fifth child, Amy, was born with hydracephalus and required extensive hospitalization. Larry and Dianne are shown in the top photo with Adam, 11; John, 6; Rachelle, 3; and Amy, 5. Not present when the picture was taken were Gina, 13 and Beth, 8. The family lives in the house shown in the bottom photo, a 24x16 house with a 24x14 addition. Four of the children share a half-story upstairs bedroom while Rachelle and Amy have a small room off the only downstairs bedroom which doubles as Amy's therapy room.

and contact is being made with Catholic Charities about availability of funds.

Some metal materials have been donated and Schoenborn Brothers concrete at Mahnomen has agreed to provide the concrete needed. Contacts are being made with large lumber companies to obtain either donated or discounted materials which could reduce the overall cost of construction. A house-raising is tentatively planned for mid-October if arrangements can be completed by that time.

House plans call for an upper level room 16x18 in size to serve as a therapy room for Amy where equipment can be arranged and volunteers can continue to work with her struggle toward recovery.

The Killians have lived at Plummer since 1976 on a 255-acre farm where Larry raises mostly alfalfa hay. He also has his own small construction business and has the capability for building the house to a large extent himself. In doing so, however, he would have to take time from the business which provides the family with its income. He plans to do most of the finishing work on his own over a period of time when not working at his business.

A television crew from WCCO-TV in Minneapolis recently visited the Killian farm to tape a segment for its "Newsday" program. Field producer Laurie Stern and photographer Bob Cowan were flown to Thief River Falls regional airport by WCCO staff pilot Rene Hammarback and taken by car to the Killian farm. They spent most of the day filming and interviewing for the program.

Persons or organizations interested in providing assistance can contact the Killians at Route 1, Box 82, Plummer, MN 56748, phone 465-4485 or Kathy Blader at A Chance To Grow, 5034 Oliver Avenue North, Minneapolis, MN 55430, phone 612-521-2266.

An effort is being made to raise funds and provide other assistance to complete a new home for the Killians which would include a therapy room for their five-year-old daughter Amy.

DEED Seeks Public Input On How To Spend $3 Million

Public input on how $3 million should be spent is being sought by the Department of Energy and Economic Development (DEED). One of the five public meetings scheduled by DEED will be held in Thief River Falls, 7 p.m. September 29 at the Northwest Regional development commission office, 525 Brooks avenue south.

The department has scheduled a series of meetings to solicit public opinions on a new community energy program, which will be funded by $3 million in oil overcharge refund money. The program will provide grants to communities to fund local energy initiatives. DEED will administer the program and is seeking comments on its features.

Funding will come from the Exxon oil overcharge case. Exxon was assessed a $2.1 billion penalty for pricing violations when federal price controls were in effect. Minnesota's share of the penalty was $36 million. Governor Rudy Perpich has ordered that $3 million will be used to expand a program for locally-planned energy conservation efforts.

The program has provided grants to communities to help local leaders plan and conduct locally-designed programs. Projects have included neighborhood energy workshops and home energy inspections, as well as small-business energy management, rental energy conservation and car-pooling programs.

The meetings will begin at 7 p.m. and adjourn when all speakers have been heard.

Ferreu To Retire As State SCS Conservationist

Donald G. Ferren, state conservationist for the U.S. department of agriculture soil conservation service (SCS) in Minnesota, will retire effective October 1.

"I have had the priviledge of being a professional conservationist with the CS, the nation's premier federal soil and water conservation agency, in several technical and management positions in New Hampshire, New York, Vermont and Minnesota," he said. "My career has been very rewarding for me, and I believe for the citizens and natural resources of those states."

Ferren, a native of New Hampshire, began his career with the SCS as a conservation technician at Milford, NH, in March of 1954. He came to Minnesota as assistant state conservationist for operations in May of 1974 and was promoted to deputy state conservationist in December of 1980 and to state conservationist on Jan. 9, 1983.

"Over the years, various elements of the overall soil and water conservation programs in Minnesota have been expanded, new elements added and old elements strengthened," he said. "I'm especially proud of the role we've planned for the future for the conservation of Minnesota's soil and water and related natural resources.

"That role focuses on four areas: providing leadership in soil and water conservation technology development and transferring that technical knowledge to the needed land users in Minnesota; planning and applying the conservation practices necessary to protect and enhance Minnesota's natural resources, providing quality assurance that the conservation practices being applied to the land and water resources are designed by the most qualified technical personnel to meet the needs of the land user and his resources, and the technical training of our SCS personnel and others for the efficient and effective use of our government expertise and the taxpayers dollars," said Ferren.

Vienna Choir Boys In Concert At Bemidji Oct. 25

Sponsored by Bemidji state university, the Vienna Choir Boys (formally known as the Vienna Boys Choir) will present an 8 p.m. performance October 25 in the Bemidji high school auditorium.

The appearance is part of the group's current tour of North America and will be one of just two stopovers in Minnesota as a December show is planned in the Twin Cities.

Founded by Imperial decree on July 7, 1498, by the humanist Emperor Maximilian I to fulfill his wish to have choristers in the Imperial Chapel, this group of boys has become one of the longest lasting musical traditions in the world.

Membership in the choir is exclusive. Auditions are held yearly for Austrian-born children seeking admission to the choirs and private performing school. The boys chosen at age seven are full time students until they reach the age of 10 when they are allowed to enter one of the four performing choirs.

Advanced tickets are priced at $7, $8 and $9 and admission at the door is $10. For complete information and further details contact the Hobson Union Information Desk, Bemidji State University, Bemidji, MN 56601-2699, phone 218-755-3760.

School Bus Safety Stressed This Week

Safety is a major concern for school bus operators and it should also be of major concern to parents, children and motor vehicle operators traveling on the roads.

Last year in Minnesota more than 710,000 pupils were transported by nearly 10,000 school buses each school day. Unfortunately 729 school buses were involved in accidents, an increase from 686 in 1984. And even more unfortunate were the four killed in those accidents and 366 injured.

In Thief River Falls last year school buses traveled 280,364 miles, transporting 1,479 students per day without an accident and they would like to continue that good safety record this year. Informing the public of its responsibilities as parents and drivers on the road is all a part of national school bus safety week September 21 through 27.

"Parents can be the key in promoting school bus safety," said Brabara Mittlestadt, traffic safety coordinator for Minnesota Automobile association (AAA). "It is especially important for parents to explain school bus safety rules to children who have never taken the bus before."

Mittlestadt states there are six basic points that each youngster should be taught: Leave home early enough to arrive at the bus stop on time; wait for the bus in a safe place, well off the roadway; enter the bus in an orderly manner and follow the instructions of the school bus driver or bus patrol; remain seated while the bus is in motion, keeping head and arms inside the bus and keeping aisles clear; remain quiet and orderly and be courteous to the bus driver and fellow passengers; and be alert to traffic when leaving the bus.

Children also need to be taught about the danger zone surrounding the school bus. This is where the majority of students are injured or killed, sometimes by the bus itself, according to AAA.

Parents should teach children that the areas around the front of the bus and the back right side of the bus are the most dangerous. Children should stay away from the back right side of the bus so the driver can see them and they won't accidentally slip under the wheels — especially on icy winter roads.

In addition to parents, motorists need to be aware of school bus safety. Some ignore a school bus's flashing red lights and stop arm, when, in fact, they should stop. Motorists are asked to use extra caution when traveling in an area where there are school buses. In addition motorists should: slow up and prepare to stop when a school bus has the amber lights flashing; and stop at least 20 feet from a school bus traveling either direction when the red lights are flashing.

State law requires motorists approaching a school bus from either direction to stop if the bus is displaying flashing red light and a stop arm. Failure to stop for these signals is a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of up to $700, up to 90 days in jail, or both. The owner of the motor vehicle — not just the driver involved — may face a fine of up to $100 as well.

NATIONAL SCHOOL BUS SAFETY week is this week. Bus operators, parents, students and motor vehicle operators are asked to take extra precaution and remind themselves and others of safety rules.

Cash Flow Adds To Explanation Of Bull Market

BY Walter W. Heller
U of M Economist

Day in and day out, the Wall Street wizards always seem to come up with a ready answer on why the Dow moved up or down. For example: The sayings of Federal Reserved chairman Paul Volcker, the swings of the dollar, falling interest rates, tax action, profit taking, the trade deficit and so on. All well and good. But what kept the bull market alive and well in the face of lackluster profits and a sluggish economy over the past couple of years?

Yes, falling interest rates, a declining dollar and sliding oil prices all played a role, but in the last analysis, the value of stocks rests on earning power. Here we find that reported book profits after taxes, while rising about 10 per cent in the past year and a half, are still running below their 1980 levels. But there's more bull than market in this number.

We get a very different picture if we add back into profits the excess depreciation allowed by our tax laws. We then find that economic profits are running close to $300 billion a year, far above their $177 billion level of 1980.

Probe still deeper and look at internal cash flow, that is, what firms have left after paying all their current bills. Now the numbers get even more impressive. Corporate cash flow has nearly doubled since 1980, to a current rate of nearly $500 billion this year. That includes an upswing of $75 billion or so in the past two years.

That has enabled companies to boost dividends from $55 billion in 1980 to a rate of nearly $90 billion this year. And the remaining cash of over $400 billion for the year gives corporate America plenty of clout to invest in plant and equipment, boost dividends or lend money to others.

Won't tax reform curb depreciation and cripple cash flows? Not all that much. Indeed, not enough to keep those cash flows from continuing to climb during the rest of the decade.

Granted, the bullish behavior of cash flows cannot alone explain the bull market in 1985-86, but it certainly helps.

Allis Foundation Offers Grants To Some NCC Students

Alliss foundation is providing — through the Minnesota community college system — educational grants to individuals who have the following characteristics: (1) Do not have a college degree; (2) Have been out of high school or college at least seven years; (3) Enroll in a course that is part of a degree program; and (4) Are Minnesota residents.

A person who fits the above criteria is eligible for an educational grant that will pay for tuition and books for up to five credits at Northland community college.

Purpose of the Alliss grant program is to give those who have for some reason not had the opportunity to attend college the chance to do so.

All of the courses offered by Northland community college, including off-campus instruction, qualifies the student for the Alliss grant. With Alliss funding availability, anyone can start on their dream of a college education.

Farmers Invited To Help Plan Own Financial Course

"How do you plan for refinancing? What do you face in bankruptcy? Do you need financing for animal production? Do you want to develop a cash flow budget before meeting your banker? If you are concerned with any of these questions, you will want to attend the organization meeting of a farm financial management course at the Plummer high school Tuesday, September 30, at 8 p.m.," states Gary McVey, chairman of the agriculture division at the University of Minnesota-Crookston (UMC).

Faculty from UMC will meet with all interested persons to develop a four to five session course discussing topics most important to the participants.

Interested persons will have the opportunity to relate what their particular needs are, to plan the course and to develop the format for discussion, according to McVey.

"We're open to any topic that participants want to discuss, whether it be financial management or swine and sheep production," McVey said. "This is an opportunity for the people of northwestern Minnesota to bring their interests for development of a course."

The organizational meeting will give participants an opportunity to discuss topics most important to them, to set dates for the remaining meetings and complete registration.

The regular fee for this course is $40. However, due to a special legislative appropriation to assist farm families, tuition for the one credit course has been reduced to $5.

For more information, call McVey at 218-182-6510, extension 301.

Area Farm People Attend Congress Held In St. Louis

Resolutions concerning farm prices, moratoriums on farm foreclosures, tax incentives for sustainable agricultural practices and soil and water conservation, conservation and the protection of the environment, special land reform measures, importing and exporting farm products, rural community services and public education on agricultural issues were approved by the general assembly of the United Farmer and Rancher Congress Saturday September 13 in St. Louis.

Attending the congress form this area were Jan Boll of Gully, Willis A. Johnson of Viking, Merle Lundeen of Trail and Vance Wiseth of Goodridge.

The Congress, a convention of more than 1,500 delegates from all parts of the United States, met for three days to define the severity of the current farm crisis, and develop the resolutions that will be used as a platform for a campaign to modify national farm policy.

"The most important thing to come out of this meeting, in my estimation, is the unity and motivation of these delegates," said Anne Kanten, assistant commissioner of agriculture in Minnesota who chairs UFRC. "Some delegates saw this congress as their last chance to save their way of life. We have turned their desperation into personal commitments to fight for the integrity of the family farm and rural life."

The program heard the stories of farmers, ranchers and growers from all sectors of the American agriculture community.

NCC Football Promotions

Home opener for the 1986 Northland Community College football team Saturday against Itasca will have added features designed to create fan interest in the Pioneers.

The 1:30 p.m. contest will serve as Northland's homecoming game and will also be billed as the third annual Pepsi Bowl. In addition, a reunion of Northland's first-ever football team of 1976 will be held this weekend.

Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company of Thief River Falls will be on hand at Saturday's game, presenting Pepsi products to all those coming through the gates.

This fall will also mark the third year of the Northland-Pepsi field goal contest, conducted at halftime of the Pioneers' home games at Prowler Field.

Each person attending the game will receive a numbered ticket. At halftime, two numbers will be drawn, and those people will recieve a six-pack of Pepsi and have a chance to kick a 20-yard field goal. If successful, they will receive a $10 gift certificate from the Northland Bookstore, a 12-pack of Pepsi and will have a chance to kick a 30-yard field goal. If successful at that distance, they will receive a case of Pepsi and have an opportunity to kick a 40-yard field goal. A successful kick from that distance would win a year's supply of Pepsi.

Those ticket numbers will also be used to draw a winner of a free case of Pepsi at halftime of each Northland home game this fall.

Reunion of the first Northland football team will be held Friday and Saturday in conjunction with the 20th anniversary of the school and its homecoming weekend.

Members of the Northland classes of 1976 and 1977 have been invited to take part in the reunion banquet to be held Friday at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls, starting with a social hour at 6:30 p.m. and a banquet at 8. There will be a short program on the 1976 Northland football team at 9 p.m. Anyone who has not been contacted, but is interested in participating in the reunion acitivities should call Northland athletic director Rick Nelson at 681-2181.

Chet Engelman served as head coach of that first Northland football team. Mike Trudeau, Rob Almquist and Tim Olson were the assistant coaches.

Players on hand at the end of a 2-6 inaugural campaign included Brent Halvorson, Darrell Gustafson, Larry Jeska and Gene Klinke of Fosston; Pat Moran of Erskine; Elwin Ness and DelRay Ness of Middle River; Duane Gonsorowski, Rick Broten, Keith Breiland, Tim Rude, Dan Harris, Terry Sullivan, Chuck Fredeen, Don Forney, Steve Easton and Mike Kosel of Thief River Falls; Keith Charbonneau of Pembina, ND; Doug Martell, Dave Walter and Jon Anderson of Plummer; Tom Kaiser of East Grand Forks Sacred Heart; Jim Koopman of Hendricks; Ed Kees of Red Lake Falls; Rod Hopkins of Inkster, MI; Tim Waterworth of Newfolden; Duane Kraska of Lancaster; Phil Fore of Oklee; Tom Sumter of Sumpter, SC; and Delwyn Spears of Redlake.

Northalnd won its first game, a 7-2 Thursday night victory over Fergus Falls at Prowler Field, when Kosel, a defensive end, blocked a punt that was recovered at the Fergus Falls goal line and Waterworth, a fullback, plunged into the end zone in the final seconds of the first quarter. Martell added the conversion kick.

Then after 48-13 and 39-0 losses to Itasca and Brainerd, Northland beat Pillsbury, a nonconference foe from Owatonna, 16-6 in the school's first homecoming game. That put Northland at 2-2 for the year, but they lost big the rest of the way to finish 2-6. Those season-ending pastings came at the hands of Golden Valley Lutheran 62-0, University of Minnesota-Crookston 45-0, Mesabi 30-7 and Vermilion 48-0.

TRF—DL Series Threatened

Thief River Falls and Detroit Lakes have been scheduling each other for high school football games every year since 1952. It's been a good series, one full of close games between two evenly-matched programs.

The Prowlers and Lakers have met the second week of the season every year since 1968. Only time they haven't met over the past 35 years was in 1959 when a scheduled Thief River Falls-Detroit Lakes game here was canceled because of wet grounds.

Now, however, the Thief River Falls-Detroit Lakes series faces an uncertain future. If they want to continue to play the Lakers, the Prowlers will have to do some scheduling switches for 1987.

Reason for the change is that Pierz has been added as a Mid-State Conference member, meaning Detroit Lakes, and the rest of the current Mid-State schools will be fitting the Pioneers into their 1987 schedules. The Lakers have been playing nonconference games against Fergus Falls and Thief River Falls to open the season for a number of years. Detroit Lakes will still be able to open with Fergus Falls, but Week 2 will now be filled by a conference game.

Detroit Lakes activities-public information director Ron Peterson told Ralph Anderson of the Detroit Lakes Tribune that he still hopes an arrangement can be made whereby

Pioneers Shut Out Mesabi 20-0

First 2-0 start in the history of the Northland Community College football program was realized Saturday afternoon when the Pioneers not only won, but shut out Mesabi 20-0 in a Minnesota Community College Conference game at Virginia.

The Northland defense not only shut out Mesabi, it scored, too, as linebacker Steve Wiskow returned a first quarter interception 35 yards for the game's first touchdown, reaching the end zone after showing a nifty fake at the 15-yard line to elude a final would-be tackler with 2:25 left in the first quarter.

Mesabi, usually a formidable Iron Range foe, collected just three first downs and 128 yards worth of offense against the Pioneers, who had 11 first downs and 236 yards of offense.

"The whoke defensive unit did everything the defensive coaches asked them to do," said Nelson, giving much of the credit to assistant coaches Paul Williams and Steve Bengston. "They came up with a great defensive game plan, and the kids stuck to it most of the time. Whenever Mesabi did get some yards, it was when the kids got away from their defensive assignments."

Wiskow's touchdown and the conversion kick by Ron Dass produced the only scoring of the first half. Northland made it 13-0 in the third quarter when halfback Steve Ristau capped a 54-yard drive with a five-yard touchdown run and quarterback Scott Willoughby iced it with an 11-yard touchdown run on a fourth quarter bootleg play.

A key play on the Northland third quarter touchdown drive came on a muffed field goal try from the 13-yard line. Holder Chad Ekeberg grabbed the low snap from center and alertly passed to Dean Zimmel for a first down at the five-yard line. Ristau scored on the next play.

Willoughby's touchdown capped a solid 64-yard drive that included a key 24-yard completion to Dean Brandon. It was a costly catch, though, as the Thief River Falls sophomore receiver took a hard hit on the play that sidelined him for the rest of the afternoon and prompted an emergency room visit.

Northland could have won in bigger fashion, but the Pioneers lost fumbles at the Mesabi five and ten-yard lines during the game and had six penalties for 65 yards.

"I was happy with the way our kids played, overall," said Nelson, "but we can't have those kind of mistakes if we're going to beat the real good teams week after week. We've obviously made some progress, but we've still got lots of work to do."

Ristau carried the ball 20 times for 82 yards to lead the Northland ground game and Deon Schmidt had 14 carries for 64 yards. Willoughby was 7-for-15 for 117 yards passing, with Scott Groven catching four passes for 63 yards and Brandon catching three for 54 yards.

"We got super games from Groven and Brandon, and Willoughby threw the ball well, too," said Nelson.

Defensively, ends Tim Wayne and Zimmel, tackle Jeff Johnson and Wiskow were the leading tacklers.

It was the MCCC opener for both teams. The Pioneers, who beat the Moorhead State University junior varsity in the 1986 opener, will host Itssca Saturday in their 1986 home opener. The Vikings beat the University of Minnesota-Crookston 38-21 Saturday.

KELLY CORNELL came to the net for a return as the Thief River Falls junior competed at No. 1 singles in the Prowlers' triangular high school tennis match against Park Rapids and East Grand Forks Thursday. Thief River Falls won both matches, hiking the Prowlers' record to 10-0 for the year.

Hi-Liners' Second Half Beats Prowlers 30-12 . . .

TRF Falls To Valley City

A 12-8 Thief River Falls halftime lead disappeared in the second half Friday night as the Pwowlers lost a 30-12 high school football game at Valley City, ND.

It wasn't a good performance, admitted Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm, whose team completed a string of four straight season-opening road games with a 1-3 record. The Prowlers' delayed 1986 home opener will finally occur Friday when they host rival Crookston.

"We had a terrible week of practice," said Mumm, who suspected the Prowlers were guilty of looking past Valley City in anticipation of the game the following week against Crookston.

"They (Valley City) have a good team," noted Mumm. "They made the big plays. Every time they needed a big play, they got it."

Neither team was at full strength. They were both missing their top runningback — Paul Brandt of the Prowlers and Terry Kadrmas of the Hi-Liners. Brandt missed the game because of illness, and complicating matters for the Prowlers was the fact that his back-up, Brian Christianson, was sidelined by an injury. Several other Thief River Falls players performed at less-than-full strength because of injuries or illness that struck the Prowlers in a wave during the week.

"We were hurting," acknowledged Mumm.

Special team play hurt the Prowlers, too. The Hi-Liners returned two punts for touchdowns and recovered a Thief River Falls kickoff return to set up a third score.

A turn of events provided Valley City with a 8-0 lead seven minutes into the game. The Hi-Liners appeared to be in a hole when a Rick Rosetta punt was downed at the Valley City five-yard line, but a Thief River Falls penalty on the play forced another punt, and this one was returned 72 yards by Brent Hooey for a touchdown.

Thief River Falls came right back, though, when quarterback Chris Bjorgaard and split end Chris Nelson hooked up on a 63-yard touchdown pass. A successful Valley City two-point conversion, and an unsuccessful Thief River Falls two-pointer left the Hi-Liners with an 8-6 lead.

But a two-yard touchdown run by fullback Mike Bendickson gave Thief River Falls a 12-8 lead early in the second quarter.

Thief River Falls then came up with a couple of key defensive efforts to protect that lead in the final minute of the first half.

The Prowlers stopped the Hi-Liners on downs at the Thief River Falls one-yard line, but moments later, trying to catch Valley City by surprise, Mumm went with a pass play call out of the end zone. Bjorgaard was intercepted and the Hi-Liners had a shot from the Thief River Falls 17-yard line with 23 seconds left. Bjorgaard, now a defensive back, turned the tables, though, when he intercepted a third down pass in the end zone with eight seconds remaining.

Valley City took command of the contest during a short period of time in the third quarter, starting when the Hi-Liners converted a fourth-and-long pass play into a first down at the Thief River Falls eight-yard line. They scored from the six-yard line on a run by Aaron Jansen. Another two-point conversion made it 16-12.

"That fourth down play really killed us," pointed out Mumm. "We still had a lead, and we had them fourth-and-long. But the kid made a nice catch on the play."

If that play didn't break the backs of the Prowlers, then the next couple of plays did. Thief River Falls lost the ensuing kickoff return on a fumble at the Prowlers' 27-yard line, and two plays later Scott Cummings scored from two yards out for a 22-12 spread.

Hooey finished the scoring, and nailed the Thief River Falls coffin shut with a 63-yard punt return midway through the fourth quarter.

"We forgot to show up for the second half," said Mumm. "It wasn't a decent first half, either. We played two decent games (a 35-12 win over Detroit Lakes and a 12-3 loss to Bemidji) in our last two starts, but we got our butts kicked in this one. We've got to go back to Square One and start over. We have to get the intensity back that we had before."

Thief River Falls actually had a 194-181 edge in offensive yardage and the first downs were even at 13-apiece, but Valley City had big numbers in the return department.

"We kept chasing the wrong guys on their reverses and fake reverses," said Mumm.

With Brandt missing, the Prowlers netted only 58 yards on the ground, but Bjorgaard was 9-for-20 passing for 136 yards, despite a strong Valley City pass rush. Nelson caught six passes for 113 yards.

"Valley City's 4-4 defense gave us trouble," noted Mumm, "but Bjorgaard had a nice game. He threw the ball well under a lot of pressure. Nelson had a nice game, too."

Nordics Get Into Win Column At The Expense Of Blue Devils

Marshall County Central doubled Goodridge-Grygla 24-12 Friday afternoon in a match-up of winless Top of the State Conference nine-man high school football teams at Grygla.

Danni Halvorson threw three touchdown passes, and added a pair of two-point conversion passes for the Nordics, who put a damper on the Blue Devils' homecoming activities.

"It felt great to win," said Marshall County Central assistant coach Jim Pederson. "It'll help the kids a lot."

Halvorson had touchdown passes covering 53 and 9 yards to Tom Bolstad and Lee Pemberton in the second quarter as Marshall County Central grabbed a 16-0 halftime lead.

A pair of Shawn Groven touchdowns, the first on a one-yard run and the second on a 34-yard pass interception return, pulled Goodridge-Grygla within 16-12, but Halvorson came back to hit Pemberton on a 25-yard touchdown pass before the third quarter ended.

"Halvorson had a good afternoon," mentioned Pederson. "He threw the ball well."

Bolstad added 82 yards in rushing as the Nordics snapped a season-opening three-game losing streak.

Much of the Nordics' success was credited to the offensive line, said head coach Sam Gebhart, citing Randy Audette, Greg Graham, Corey Peterson, Jamey Lysne and Corey Green for their blocking.

Defensively, Halvorson was busy, too, with 10 tackles, while Pemberton and Jason Skadsem both had seven tackles and an interception. Darin Rokke also had an interception, while Kilen Boe and Kraig Melvie played well up front, said Pederson.

Both teams play Saturday when Marshall County Central hosts Tri-County in a homecoming encounter and Goodridge-Grygla visits Argyle.

Fisher-Climax 26
Plummer 20

Plummer met defeat for the first time this fall in a 26-20 Friday night North Tri-County Conference setback at Fisher-Climax.

"We gave them too much in the first half," explained Plummer coach Gary Brantl, whose team surrendered 14 first quarter points and trailed 20-6 at halftime. "But we showed some good things, like being down and then coming back. We didn't give up. We had our chances."

Shane Freyholtz scored a pair of Plummer touchdowns — one on offense and one on defense. He caught a three-yard scoring pass from Wade Grinde as a split end in the first quarter and returned a fumble recovery 32 yards for a touchdown as a defensive end in the third quarter.

Grinde also hit Craig Brantl with a 34-yard fourth quarter touchdown pass as the Cardinals pulled within 26-20. And they had a couple of chances to pull even in the final stages of the game. Plummer had a second down at the Fisher-Climax 24-yard line with about four minutes to play when the Cardinals lost the ball on a fumbled snap exchange. Then after holding the Knights on downs and forcing a punt, Plummer was back at the Fisher-Climax 20-yard line with just under one minute to play. But that long pass play was erased by a penalty, putting the Cardinals back at midfield.

Plummer, losing some 30 yards in quarterback sacks, netted just 45 yards on the ground, with John Fisher getting 38 of those yards on 10 carries. Grinde was 17-for-31 passing for 195 yards. Freyholtz caught eight passes for 66 yards, Joe Peters caught four for 65 yards and Brantl caught four passes for 46 yards.

Defensively, Freyholtz made seven unassisted tackles, four assisted stops, had four quarterback sacks and recovered a fumble. Neil Huotari was in on 17 tackles, including 10 solo stops, and had an interception.

Plummer, 3-1, hosts Oklee Friday in a 7:30 p.m. homecoming game.

Gonvick-Trail 28
Oklee 8

Oklee played well defensively, said Bobcats coach Dale Svaren, but couldn't produce offensively in a 28-8 Friday loss to North Tri-County Conference power Gonvick-Trail.

"Overall, our defense played pretty decent," offered Svaren, citing the play of Greg Bishop, Todd Bergeron, Peter Bronken, Jeff Hamm and Kim Vettleson.

But Oklee's offense was limited mostly to 47 yards on 20 carries by Bishop and 17 yards on three carries by Kyle Cantwell. The Bobcats were good on just one of 17 pass attempts for 17 yards in the rain at Gonvick.

The Bobcats scored on the game's very last play, a one-yard quarterback sneak by Bergeron.

Gonvick-Trail was helped out offensively when a blocked punt set up the second touchdown for the Bulldogs and a recovered fumble set up their third score.

Oklee, 1-3, visits Plummer Friday.

Kennedy 32
Middle River 0

Mistake-prone Middle River lost its homecoming game by a lopsided 32-0 margin to Kennedy in a Saturday night Northern Lights Conference game.

"We were out-manned, but not 32-0," explained Middle River coach Eldon Sparby, whose team was hit by 15 penalties — 10 of them illegal procedure calls. "It was a comedy of errors, the worst I've ever seen," he said.

Kennedy took a 12-0 first quarter lead on a one-yard run by Jarod Hagen after a Middle River fumble, and on an 11-yard Hagen touchdown pass to Tim Rynning.

The league-leading Rockets waited until the second half to score again, taking a 20-0 lead on an eight-yard Brian Dahl third quarter run. The winners tacked on two more fourth quarter scores, including a 30-yard punt return for a touchdown by Phillip Hebert.

"I wasn't upset with our defense," noted Sparby. But the Skippers' offense provided little support. They spent much of the night pinned back in their own end because of a strong Kennedy kicking game.

Defensive end Michael Nelson led the Skippers with 13 tackles, while Tom Gullikson had nine and Bruce Thygeson had eight.

Middle River, 2-2, travels to Kittson County North Friday.

An awards presentation will take place after each grade level has completed their races.

Swimmers Place Third At Shanley Relays Meet

Team depth proved to be Thief River Falls' biggest asset Saturday as the Prowlers turned in a solid fourth place finish in the 12-team Fargo Shanley Relays high school swimming meet at North Dakota State University.

Mandan girls won the event with 128 points, followed by Jamestown with 121, Minot 119 and Thief River Falls 94. Fargo South was a distant fifth with 75 points to lead the rest of the field, which included Fargo North with 69 points, Park Rapids 66, West Fargo 59, Grand Forks Central 41, Bismarck Century 39, Fargo Shanley 37 and Bismarck 34.

Thief River Falls' highest finish was a third, but the Prowlers had six of them in a nine-race field of relay events.

"It was a good meet for us after a hard week of practice," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Jay Forney. "Those third place finishes tell us that our depth is starting to develop.

The Prowlers host Detroit Lakes Tuesday in a 5 p.m. dual at the Franklin Middle School pool. The Prowlers are 3-0 in dual meet outings to date.

Jason Kempert scored on a six-yard run with about five minutes remaining in the fourth quarter Thursday to give the Thief River Falls freshmen football team a 14-8 win over South Junior High in Grand Forks.

The two teams played to an 8-8 halftime tie. Thief River Falls scored in the first quarter when Kurt Kainz and Kempert hooked up on a 40-yard touchdown pass. Kempert added the two-point conversion.

South tied it in the second quarter.

Thief River Falls freshmen, coached by Glen Peters, will host Crookston Thursday in a 4:15 p.m. make-up game at Prowler Field. Thief River Falls is 1-1 for the year.

MCC Girls Rally To Win 3-2

Unbeaten Marshall County Central had to come from behind Thursday to pull out a 3-2 high school volleyball win over upset-minded Badger.

"It was probably not the best volleyball we've played all year, but it was exciting," reported Marshall County Central coach Tom Mjelde after the Nordics won out 15-12, 11-15, 7-15, 15-9, 16-14. "We were in a real dog fight. Of the five teams we've played, they're the best we've seen."

Marshall County Central overcame a 12-3 deficit with a string of 12 straight points to win the first game, and twice broke Badger service when the host Rockets had a 14-13 lead in the fifth game.

"The kids did a nice job coming back in that first game, but then we let up," said Mjelde. "But overall, I thought it was a real good effort for us. It was tense at the end, but it was fun with fans from both sides screaming and hollering."

Junior Nikki Leach had 20 service points for the winners, including 10 aces. Senior Jodi Foss was 31-for-37 in spike attempts, including 16 kills.

The Nordics face a tough week, hosting Warren tonight (Monday), entertaining Middle River Tuesday and visiting Grygla Thursday.

Goodridge — Gonvick-Trail

Goodridge jumped out to a 2-0 lead in games, but was extended into a full five-game match, and then some, before beating Gonvick-Trail 3-2 Thursday.

The Huskies outlasted the Bulldogs 16-14, 15-6, 10-15, 8-15, 16-14 to put their season record at 2-3.

"It was a barn-burner," pointed out Goodridge coach Patti Johnson "That was a season-maker for us. I felt pretty god about the way we played."

Junior Tracy Bishop had 18 last-touch points for the host Huskies and freshman Sandy Johnson had 12.

Goodridge hosts Argyle tonight (Monday) and visits Fisher Tuesday.

Grygla — LOW

Grygla ran into a hot Lake of the Woods volleyball team Thursday and absorbed a 3-1 loss at Baudette.

Lake of the Woods won 16-14, 15-8, 4-15, 15-9.

"I'm not going to knock my team," said Grygla coach Mike Gast. "Our serving was sub-par, but other than that, I thought we played well. We had a good floor game and we did well at the net. But we ran into a buzz saw. I don't think they (LOW) made a mistake all night. They really played well."

Grygla fell to 4-3 with the loss after starting the year 3-0.

The Eagles will participate in the Win-E-Mac Invitational tonight (Monday) and Tuesday. The four-team event, featuring Grygla, Plummer, Oklee and Win-E-Mac, will present a round-robin format tonight, with Tuesday pairings based upon Monday results.

Northland Volleyball Team Has Busy Weekend Schedule At UMC

A busy weekend for the Northland Community College volleyball team found the Pioneers playing eight matches Friday and Saturday in back-to-back trips to the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

Annual Northwest Division Quadrangular was held Friday night, and the UMC Invitational was staged Saturday.

Northland lost all three starts in the Northwest Division Quadrangular, but by close margins in the abbreviated two-out-of three game matches. UMC beat the pioneers 15-10, 15-7; Fergus Falls won 15-8, 15-13; and Brainerd triumphed 13-15, 15-12, 15-13.

"I think Fergus Falls was the best-looking team Friday night," reported Northland coach Deb Jacobson. "Other than that, we're all pretty even."

Saturday matches were compacted affairs — 15-point games, but a 15-minute time limit and a sudden death ending when time ran out.

"The time situation makes it a different game," acknowledged Jacobson. "It really gets rushed."

During the day-long event Northland split with UMC, winning 12-11 and losing 15-7; lost to Rainy River 12-7, 15-14; fell to NDSU-Bottineau 12-6, 15-7; lost to the Moorhead State University junior varsity 13-6, 15-7; and split with Mesabi, losing 11-9 and winning 13-8.

Despite the scores, Jacobson said the Pioneers' best match came against Moorhead. "There were a lot of long rallies and good plays," she said.

It was a good weekend of volleyball, she noted, and a learning experience for many of the Pioneers. "They learned they can't just put the ball over the net. It's how you get it over that counts," said Jacobson.

Northland will participate in the Itasca Invitational Saturday in Grand Rapids.

MSHSL Task Force Meeting Scheduled To Be Held Here

Thief River Falls will be the site of a Minnesota State High School League (MSHSL) Tas Force meeting Tuesday, September 30, from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Lincoln High School cafeteria.

Sixteen MSHSL-conducted public meetings will be held throughout the state during September and October to receive testimony regarding the issues being addressed by the Task Force members.

Purpose of the Task Force, according to MSHSL officials, is to study the athletic competition and training rules which define a student's participation and training in a school and non-school activity during the school year and summer.

Goal of the Task Force is to ensure that athletic competition and training rules are consistent with the stated philosophy of the member schools and their communities.

Members of the Task Force include superintendents, principals, athletic directors, school board members, coaches, state legislators and representatives of the public sector from all geographical areas of the state.

Dr. Joan Parent, school board member from Foley, and Kenneth LaCroix, superintendent at Hastings, have been appointed by the MSHSL board of directors to chair the 40-member Task Force.

Public hearings, all scheduled to run from 7 to 9 p.m., are planned for the following dates and sites:

Sept. 23 — Mankato West; Sept. 25 — Minnetonka; Sept. 25 — Moorhead; Sept. 29 — Brainerd; Sept. 30 — Thief River Falls; Oct. 2 — Richfield; Oct. 6 — Bemidji; Oct. 7 — Marshall; Oct. 9 — Rosemount; Oct. 13 — Rochester John Marshall; Oct. 14 — Willmar; Oct. 20 — Duluth Central; Oct. 21 — Hibbing; Oct. 23 — Roseville; Oct. 27 — Alexandria; and Oct. 28 — St. Cloud Apollo.

Task Force members will solicit written responses to questionnaires and oral testimony received at the public hearings, and identify the major issues presented. It will review these findings and develop a report to the MSHSL board of directors. The Board will determine if any rule changes should be recommended for the consideration of the MSHSL Representative Assembly.

All interested persons are urged to attend and actively participate in expressing individual recommendations and concerns regarding the role of the Minnesota State High School League in defining those rules and standards for high school students.

the Lakers will be able to retain Thief River Falls on the schedule, although the Prowlers must do the switching because the only open spot on the Lakers' schedule next fall is a final regular-season date (Thursday, October 22).

Thief River Falls can ill-afford to lose Detroit Lakes as a football opponent. The Prowlers are hard-pressed now to come up with a full eight-game schedule. An open date this year prompted mailings to every similar-size school within a 200-mile radius of Thief River Falls advertising for a football opponent, and only Valley City, ND responded. Now Thief River Falls officials must check with other schools to see if they're willing to flop dates around to accommodate the Prowlers and Lakers.

Baked goods, garden produce, handcrafted items and a variety of other goods were offered for sale during the event.

TIMES AROUND THE REGION

Sister Citizen

Crookston — Sister Margaret Mary DeGagne has recently been named Crookston Park and Recreation Experienced Citizen of the month. She joined the Mt. St. Benedict convent in Crookston 66 years ago, at the age of 14. She has been a teaching sister in several area schools, including St. Bernard's Catholic school in Thief River Falls. The Experienced Citizen of the month award is a monthly honor in which nominees are chosen for variety of experience. Sr. Margaret Mary said she was happy to be recognized for this award, but it was a bit unusual for a sister to be chosen. "Most of the time we are left up here in our building, which is, after all, what life is supposed to be — prayer, work and communion with the Lord — but it's still nice to be recognized."

Fatal Accident

Roseau — A 78-year-old Roseau man died September 8 when the pickup he was driving went out of control on a gravel road and into a field. Lars Lundemo was dead at the scene, according to the Roseau County Sheriff's department. He was driving a 1985 Ford pickup on county road 31 southeast of Roseau when the accident occured, about 6:45 p.m. The accident is still under investigation.

Up-Side-Down

Holt — 550 bushels of wheat were a total loss when a tandem grain truck completely overturned in the owner's driveway crossing September 8. Donald Larson, rural Holt, escaped injury when the motor of his truck stalled, causing power steering and brakes on the truck to fail while he was turning into his driveway about 11 p.m. He crawled out of the truck through the passenger side window. The grain was considered a total loss, landing in a ditch full of water.

1200 Caring Hands

Grand Forks — 600 people joined hands September 16 at the Medical Park in Grand Forks in a Caring Hands celebeation. The event was designed to improve communication and cooperation among health care facilities, social workers and other related resources in the Greater Grand Forks area.

Go Directly To This Jail

Warren — The Marshall county jail received a 98 per cent rating from the State of Minnesota Jail Inspection unit in their annual inspection. The Department of Corrections inspects all holding facilities in the state in areas of personal standards, staff training, policy and procedures, reports, records, prisoner welfare, food service, security procedures and environmental health and safety. The Marshall county jail is a state approved one-year jail in which inmates may be housed for a period up to a year. It is also approved to hold juvenile and female inmates, has a 12-bed capacity, and is authorized to hold up to 16 inmates per day under peak periods. It has been in operation since January of 1986, with an average daily population of just under 10 inmates, which means the facility is being used at a 75 per cent capacity rate. According to Dennis Falenschek, director of the jail inspection unit, "The inspection results this year indicate a continued compliance with mandatory and non-mandatory standards at an excellent level. The continued improvements that have occurred in the past two to three years are significant and a credit to the efforts of Sheriff Brekke and jail administrator Mike Johnson." He said the sheriff, his staff, the county board, and the people of Marshall county should be commended for the continued support to a safe, clean, secure and well-run facility.

WEIGHING TOMATOES was one of the tasks of Marie Hvidsten as she presided over sale of produce from her family's farm during Everybody's Market in Thief River Falls. The Hvidsten stand offered tomatoes, pumpkins, sweet corn, cabbage and other garden produce.

No "Cuppa" This Tea

Bemidji — City council members agreed recently to put the problem of discolored city water on their agenda every meeting until a solution is found. Some residents of Bemidji are complaining about the tea-colored water coming from their faucets. The city engineer, Don Boell, blames the problem on manganese deposits in the water, and says it will take two to five years for the mains to clear. Meanwhile, the city council plans on checking how many complaints have come in and from where in the city so they can begin action to alleviate the problem.

Fizzled Fest

Red Lake Falls — The Red Lakes Falls Women of Today have announced that they will not be putting on a Halloween party in that city this year. The announcement was made because of the low membership of the organization, and lack of help available from other groups in Red Lake Falls. Kathy Cota, representative of the Women of Today in Red Lake Falls, said at least 30 people would be needed to make the party a success. "There is still the possibility that it (the Halloween party) will be held if enough volunteers can be gathered up." If enough volunteers are found, planning for the event will begin immediately.

No Way To Start A Day

Middle River — Lee Carriere suffered second degree burns on his hand, singed eyebrows and lashes, facial burns and a burn to the armpit when the carburetor of the car on which he was working backfired and caught fire. He was attempting to start a customer's car on his job at the Middle River Co-Op station. He was hospitalized at Northwest Medical center in Thief River Falls, and expects to return to work soon.

Community Job, Not DAC

Warren — The Marshall county developmental achievement center (DAC) in Warren recently received notice it has been awarded a grant of $8,000 to expand work opportunities for people with severe handicaps. The grant will be used to develop and expand supported work opportunities for people who have never had the opportunity to work in a community job. John Flanders, of the Supported Employment Program for the Minnesota Department of Jobs and Training, said there is a trend away from keeping disabled adults in sheltered workshops such as the DAC and toward getting them into supported jobs. The Marshall county DAC hopes to place three severely and profoundly handicapped adults in jobs within the next year, according to Pat Thorsen, director of the Marshall county DAC. The DAC is assessing client job skills and interests and will be looking into jobs in the community and seeking to match clients to jobs. The DAC plans to provide guarantees to employers that the work will be done satisfactorily and will supervise and support the DAC clients placed on the jobs.

Sandes Speak On Smells

Clearbrook — Mr. and Mrs. Rolland Sande of Thief River Falls testified at a city council meeting in Clearbrook on their opinions of the Thief River Falls lagoon sewage treatment plant. The city of Clearbrook is planning construction of a lagoon in Leo township. Most citizens at the meeting were opposed to the lagoon system. The Sandes said that the smell from the lagoon in Thief River Falls is "unbelievable," and insects in the area are so thick they stick to the walls and will not wash off. Mr. Sande said, "Look around the room. If they're your friends and you put the lagoon in, you're putting your friends' faces in a toilet." One of the engineers working on the project, Omar Rood, with Widseth, Smith and Nolting, replied that he was unfamiliar with the Thief River Falls lagoon, but a properly working lagoon will not smell.

Bike-For-Life And $5,500

Warroad — A bike-a-thon, Bike-For-Life, sponsored by the Warroad ambulance crew, raised approximately $5,500 September 13 for the ambulance service. Forty bikers covered 1,054 miles, with several prize winners for pledges and miles ridden. Doc Hughes and Evelyn Myers, ages 73 and 71, respectively, were the oldest bikers, and Jared Powell, 5, and Mindy Thompson, 6, were the youngest boy and girl entrants.

Permanent Art Work

Erskine — Erik Budd, instructor in the Erskine public school, has had one of his art works purchased by the University of Minnesota-Duluth as a part of its permanent collection. Budd was one of three artists in the 27th Midwestern Invitational Art Exhibition having work purchased for the collection.

Firemen Get Ball Rolling

Roseau — A Fireman's Ball will be held October 17 at the Roseau city auditorium with funds received to be used to build a new fire station. Food and meat have been donated for the evening meal, and tickets will be sent to everyone in the fire district. It is hoped that the affair will become an annual event.

Keeping Score

Lancaster — The city hall will have a permanent scoreboard for the football field by Homecoming September 26. Several organizations and businesses have contributed toward the purchase and installation of the scoreboard, but the goal has not been reached as of the September 17 edition of the Kittson County Enterprise.

Cash and Carry

Hallock — Eukel's Hartz Market in Hallock was robbed of an undisclosed amount of cash September 11 after the store closed for the night. The thief or thieves evidently hid in the store, remaining there after closing and rifling the tills of all cash. The owner of the store, Ken Eukel, discovered the theft when he returned to the store later that same evening. According to city patrolman, Dale Hanson, the police have a suspect in the case and an arrest will be forthcoming. Fingerprints lifted at the scene of the robbery have been sent to the Bureau of Criminal Apprehension lab in St. Paul.

Over And Over

Kennedy — A one-vehicle rollover on highway 75 south of Kennedy September 14 totalled a 1973 Pontiac and sent two passengers to the Kittson Memorial hospital to be treated for cuts and bruises and released. The vehicle, driven by Joyce Waale of Lancaster, rolled over in a ditch after the driver lost control. She and a passenger, Judy Lindholm, were transported to the hospital by ambulance.

Use A Bucket

Middle River — Construction of a new fire hall for the city of Middle River will begin in October. In the meantime, the city council discussed ways of repairing the leaking roof of the existing fire hall. A local roofing company gave them an estimate of $4,500, and the council decided that figure was more than the facility is worth. Alternative methods of repair will be considered.

Welcome To Roseau

Roseau — Winners of a Welcome Sign Contest for the city of Roseau were announced at a Roseau city council meeting September 8. First prize winner of $100 is Stacy Gross, and second place prize of $50 will be awarded to Shelly McMillan. Both live in rural Roseau.

Making Hannah Happy

Red Lake Falls — The Red Lake Falls VFW post 5628 has begun a medical fund drive with a donation of $200 toward medical expenses incurred by Hannah Pahlen, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tim Pahlen of Red Lake Falls. Hannah received an injury to her spinal column in a fall from a tractor in late August that has left her with limited movement in her legs and a lacerated liver. The post will also sponsor a Halloween party to raise funds for Hannah.

Swim Picture Mix-Up

Laura Beito appeared to have invented a new swimming stroke when her picture was printed upside down in the sports pages of Monday's Thief River Falls Times.

The Thief River Falls senior was photographed by Times sports editor Mike Lundgren as she swam the 200-yard freestyle race during the Prowlers' Tuesday evening triangular meet with Grand Forks Red River and Grand Forks Central in the Franklin Middle School pool. But unless you turned the paper upside down, you wouldn't recognize it as a freestyle event. It was something else; a mistake.

It's the kind of mistake that causes a great deal of anguish and embarrassment to a newspaper staff, while the party responsible for the error escapes in the anonymity of the back shop. It's the kind of careless mistake that should never happen, but unfortunately does on occasion, like the time an Iron Range sportswriter had to convince a high school football coach that it was a typesetting error he read in the paper; that the writer's article was describing his team in complimentary fashion in saying it was a "scrappy outfit." Unfortunately, the letter "s" was lost between the time the article was written and it hit the streets.

We're not happy with the mistake, obviously, but people make them all the time, everywhere. It's just that when an error is made in the newspaper business, it's there in black and white — forever.

Outdoor News

Lymes disease is an infection transmitted by the black-legged tick (Ixodes Dammini). The tick is small, only about on-16th of an inch long. It lacks distinct markings on its back in contrast to the normal dog tick.

Black-legged tick is found on chipmunks, gray squirrels, white-foot mice, raccoons, short tail shrews, striped skunks and white-tailed deer. It typically occurs during the summer months. Lymes disease was first recognized in 1975 at Oldy Lyme, CT.

Currently, 17 states have reported Lymes disease. In Minnesota, 19 counties (mostly central) have reported the disease.

An early symptom of Lymes disease is the formation of a red ring around the tick bite which is hot to the touch. The ring can enlarge to six inches and the center usually returns to normal color. Fatigue, chills, fever, headache, sore throat, muscular pain and nausea or vomiting may or may not accompany the red ring. Multiple skin lesions, generally small, may occur several days to several months later. If left untreated Lymes disease can lead to arthritis, heart abnormalities and neurological disorders such as meningitis, encephalitis and Bell's palsy.

History Of TRF Library Begins 85 Years Ago

(1986 marks the 20th anniversary of the Thief River Falls public library in its present building. To celebrate this event, the library is holding an open house during the week of October 6-11 with special programming and the introduction of a new service: Toddler books.

1986 also marks the 85th anniversary of the public library's existence in Thief River Falls. The story of Thief River Falls library is told in a booklet dedicated in 1966 to the "new" library building. Below is one chapter from that booklet, written by Mrs. Norman A. (Grace) Holen:

Our story opens in the year 1900, twenty years after the first permanent white settler homesteaded on the present site of Thief River Falls. From this humble beginning had grown an incorporated city in 1896 and by the turn of the century it had become a bustling community with a population of some 1800 souls.

Surrounding farmland attracted buyers from more settled areas and the frontier town presented opportunities to doctors, lawyers, ministers, bankers, real estate agents and many others who foresaw a bright future here. The big industry was the saw and planing mill east of the river above the dam which was owned and operated by Meehan Brothers and later sold to the Wintons. Logs were floated downstream from Red Lake; additional timber was shipped from the north on Great Northern logging trains and dumped into the river.

A few public spirited wives of civic leaders decided that a book collection was needed for everyone to use. They organized a group to take care of this important venture in the cultural life of the community. Actual formation of the first library board took place April 13, 1901 with Mrs. James Meehan as president; she was later succeeded by Mrs. C.L. Dobner.

Most sources of information pertaining to organization and early work of the library have been lost or carelessly destroyed but it is known that $500 was raised by public subscription to purchase the first books. Thereafter the library was supported by subscription plus proceeds from teas, balls and suppers. The little library was located on the north side of Second street, west of the alley between Main and LaBree avenues, in a small frame building which was loaned to the group rent free by Sherman F. Staples, an early real estate man. This site was later occupied by the Dobner-Meehan block.

In the spring of 1902 a one story library annex was built on the north side of the old city fire hall at First street and Main avenue, which is the present site of Pennington county courthouse. The city appropriated $200 for this little structure (the first financial aid received from the city). The building was divided into two rooms: one for books, the other for reading and the office of the librarian. The reading room contained three tables: two served as stands for the traveling library, the third table was to sit at while reading. Mr. L.G. Browning was the first librarian, hired at the munificent salary of $14 per month.

In 1904 the busy little city welcomed two important developments: the first was the building of the Soo Line Railroad with divisional offices to be established in Thief River Falls, the second was the opening of the Red Lake Indian Reservation to settlers. The reservation had bounded the city closely on the east and the north. Redefining reservation boundaries and the resultant land sale brought a huge influx of pioneers which gave added growth and activity to the community.

Older residents will remember the Indian cemetery with its little "houses of the dead" at the east end of wooden Eighth street bridge; all the Indian graves were moved to Red Lake. The bridge, known then as the Indian Bridge, spanned the Thief River from the north end of town to Squaw Point where Chippewa Indians lived year around in their teepees.

By May, 1906, the library had become such an asset to the community that it was attached to the city government as a separate department and reorganized under the Minnesota Library commission. The first official library board was appointed by Mayor Dr. Henry Grundy, a local physician from 1893 to 1911. Doctor Grundy will also be remembered as the man who built a modern business block on the north side of Third street, east of the alley between LaBree and Horace Avenues. This is where the Fountain Cafe and Paint & Glass Supply are located today. (now Country Class Arts and Midwest Vision Center)

The first official library board consisted of:

Dr. George Tupper, president, and local physician who erected a business block across the alley from the Grundy Block, where Montgomery Ward and Ole's Northern Supply are now.

Mr. G.K. Fargo, secretary, who was a realtor and investor;

Mr. J.H. Hay, superintendent of schools from 1905-1919;

Mr. L.M. Hoag, in real estate and investments;

Mrs. C.C. Jackson, whose husband was co-owner of the Jackson-McGinn Hardware Store which occupied the business block built by them on the southwest corner of LaBree and Third — Ben Franklin today (now Lori's Hallmark);

Mrs. T.L. Melgaard, wife of the local banker who built the Citizens State Bank at the northwest corner of Third and LaBree (now owned by the Elks);

Mrs. D.K. Bryant, wife of the pharmacist at Stebbins Drug Store;

Mrs. E.M. Stanton, whose husband was a local attorney;

Mrs, J.M. Bishop, wife of the municipal judge.

Mr. Browning retired as librarian in July of 1906; Mrs. Elizabeth Blanchard was appointed to succeed him at a salary of $16 per month. Library hours were from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. and 7 p.m. to 9 p.m., seven days a week. Money was none too plentiful, therefore each book had to be chosen carefully and each item of repair or addition was fully considered before a nickel could be spent. There was no local provision for repairing worn books; they were sent away for rebinding. Miss Clara Baldwin, longtime head of the Minnesota Library commission, catalogued the books and gave valuable advice and assistance from time to time.

When the city was incorporated in 1896, it was situated in Polk county which encompassed the present counties of Red Lake, Polk and Pennington. The big county was divided in 1897; the northern half became Red Lake county with the county seat in Red Lake Falls. After an argument over the county seat in 1910, Red Lake county was divided and the northern part was named Pennington county with the county seat in Thief River Falls. The old city hall was turned over to the county and remodeled to serve as a court house until the present Pennington county courthouse was built in 1954.

A fine civic auditorium was constructed in 1910, north of the city hall at Main avenue and Second street. City offices were moved into the new building where the library occupied a large room in the basement until Carnegie library was completed in 1915.

DONOVAN DYRDAL looks out over his land and land in the distance which may be part of the U.S. government's backscatter radar system. Dyrdahl had developed his land and farming operation to just about where he wants it and wonders at the time when his sons are beginning to join him if it is fair to ask him to give up his land and livelihood in the name of national defense. And he wonders why, if it is needed so badly, it isn't built where the land is unproductive.

Local Farmer States Opposition To OTH-B

by David Hill
Times Reporter

Opposition to the backscatter radar system near Thief River Falls would seem almost non-existent if it weren't for the testimony and questions raised by Donovan Dyrdal. Dyrdal and his two sons own farms on the edge of the proposed over-the-horizon backscatter (OTH-B) radar site and either own or lease land within the area also.

Dyrdal is concerned with the lack of vocal opposition to a central radar site near Thief River Falls which he believes would take valuable agricultural land out of production, and destroy wetland and wooded areas, but he knows opposition exits. Lack of valuable information from which to make a decision may be one reason for the silence.

One concern Dyrdal has involves the lack of information provided the rural area. When the environmental draft became available there were less than 30 days in which to study the voluminous edition before the last public hearing September 9. He does not take issue with the results of the environmental draft study except that it was not available until August 15 and it could not have arrived until at least five days later. (The last day for comment is October 6.)

Dyrdal has strong feelings about the radar receiver site but also does not take issue on whether it is needed. He believes in national defense, but wonders why the system couldn't be placed in an area not so productive, or an entirely different and safer alternative to this system be found.

At a time when farmers are finding it difficult to make a living, the government comes in to take advantage of depressed land values and take 2,400 acres of productive farmland out of production. Dyrdal believes the loss would primarily be felt by townships in which the receiver site would be located. Government land cannot be taxed and the burden involved in the loss of that taxable land would probably be shifted to residents within the township. "At a time when local farmers are having a difficult time financially, this increased cost is potentially devastating," Dyrdal said.

Implied in some of the meetings, Dyrdal said, is that the air force may plow snow, clear roads and perform other maintenance but it was not clearly stated or supported. Dyrdal wonders whether it is true or whether it was offered in an effort to entice support and lessen concern about the tax loss.

Drydal believes the loss would be felt in a more indirect way for local businesses by a potential $240,000 less in spendable income for farmers (40 bushels per acre of wheat at $2.50 per bushel) on an annual basis. Could that loss be made up by the people the system employs? The environmental impact states that the effect on area communities would be less than one per cent. No guarantee has been made that states people it would hire would live within one community.

But loss of income would not be restricted to townships and farmers. Dyrdal believes farmer income is different than wage earner income. For the most part farmers spend their money in area communities and on big ticket items like tractors, machinery and crop production input such as seed, chemicals, fertilizer, and livestock industry needs. Dyrdal

SHIFTING TAX BURDEN

Simulated Fire At TRF Hospital Tests Emergency Teams

by David Hill
Times Reporter

Bells rang and sirens sounded early Monday afternoon in Thief River Falls. By all appearances a fire threatened Northwest Medical center — but where there's smoke, there isn't always a fire.

"I was surprised how fast hospital personnel reacted," said Rick Kuhnley, Northwest Medical center emergency drill coordinator.

"It appears all victims were saved and in case of a real emergency the hospital personnel would probably be responsible for removing victims," Kuhnley added at the review session of the emergency drill Monday.

All victims were removed from the smoke filled fire zone, room 101 at the hospital, within four and one-half minutes. Police and fire department personnel were also at the fire zone within minutes.

It was originally thought that the emergency phone number 911 would be used. However, when smoke was discovered the fire alarm was pulled, which automatically rang at the fire department and the police department. Within minutes both departments were represented at the hospital and emergency procedures were underway.

Most of the hospital was closed off to normal pedestrian traffic and cleared floors echoed the sound of the

Ice Rink Discussion Turns Hot At Council

Discussion on who was going to pay for a $63,100 heat recovery system for the ice skating arena turned into a heated argument at the Thief River Falls city council meeting Tuesday night.

Alderman Dale Wennberg read a recommendation from the park and recreation board to accept the one bid of $63,100 from Farm and Sheet Metal of Grand Forks for the heat recovery system, but it was not warmly received. Mayor Bob Carlson said he had hoped the project would be put on hold until spring and also stated that once a budget is set it should be stuck to. But he was taking issue with where the money to pay for the heat recovery system would come from.

Mayor Carlson proposed the money should come from the healthy reserves of $2.5 million built up by the utilities department, claiming that "it's all one city." Alderman Kenneth Murphy, representing the utilities department, argued the reserves were built up by rate payers and should not be intermingled with the general fund, to which the department transfers about $250,000 each year. He also argued that the reserves are needed to maintain the comparatively low rates that utility payers are experiencing.

In the end, the project was approved along with a loan from the utility department which would be paid back.

Businesses in violation of city sign ordinances may get a different kind of sign from the city if they do not comply with city ordinances. Don Stewart, zoning administrator, came before the city council to discover whether and how he should enforce the sign ordinances. He reported that he had sent out four letters early in August requesting business operators to comply with the ordinances, but only one so far had complied. He added that since then he has become aware of at least six or seven more violations.

Alderman Don Laden said that an ordinance, any ordinance, should be enforced if they plan to keep it. Action should begin, he urged, with a signed complaint, not by sending letters.

But Mayor Carlson wondered whether the city is over-signing or if the ordinance was created because other cities have it.

In reply to the Mayor's question, Stewart said he didn't believe Thief River Falls has a problem with its signs and doesn't believe the ordinance is any tougher than other cities. But he would not like to see the ordinance completely "trashed" because there are times when it is needed and should be used as a guideline.

Mayor Carlson suggested that a permit system be set up, but should be examined by the planning commission first. The ordinance for all temporary signs allows for the sign to be up 20 days and then must be down 20 days and rests on the good faith of the business operator. The matter was referred to the planning commission and in the meantime the ordinance will be enforced.

Approval to employ a contractor to conduct a water supply system survey to discover water leaks in Thief River Falls will cost a minimum of $3,500 and $350 per leak up to a maximum of $13,500. The city attorney and Mayor Carlson criticized the contract because it does not adequately describe the duties of the contractor. The city attorney asked why the contractor would continue once he reached the $13,500 maximum.

Alderman Don Barron and Murphy supported the effort to locate leaks

Land O' Lakes To Remodel Fluid Milk Plant Here

Commitment to long-term location of its fluid milk bottling plant in Thief River Falls is being demonstrated by Land O'Lakes, Inc., which has undertaken a $1.7 million major remodeling of its Bridgeman's plant here, according to Ken Wahlin, general manager of the Dakota division of Land O'Lakes in Grand Forks, ND.

Wahlin said the overhaul of the more than 50-year-old processing plant will be conducted over a four-year period and will include reconstruction of the walls, floors and ceilings while the plant remains in operation. Addition of new equipment will include a pasteurizer and cooler expansion which would accomdate greater volume.

With the addition of equipment will be a more efficient alignment of equipment for handling of product. The plant receives whole milk through Land O'Lakes from northwestern Minnesota and eastern North Dakota producers and distributed milk, cream, buttermilk, ice cream mix and other fluid products in essentially the same area.

The plant employs about 71 people with Wally Torkelson as sales manager, Dennis Gaalswyk as production manager and Ted Lester as office manager.

COLLECTING MATERIALS from colleges and trade schools of interest was made easier Tuesday with the provision of bags clearly labeled for that purpose. This scene is from the Minnesota Education fair at Northland community college which attracted many hundreds of students from approximately 40 area high schools. Representatives of about 70 colleges, trade schools and military services visited with students, provided information and hand-out materials and answered questions about their programs and activities.

Marjorie Iverson, godmother and aunt of the bride, and Mary Giese; aunt of the groom, served the white, three-tiered wedding cake. The cake was decorated with purple flowers and topped with a miniature bride and groom. Marilyn Zutz, aunt of the groom, and Marlys Bakken, aunt of the bride, poured.

Punch was served by Pam Hulslander and Roxanne Harris, both friends of the groom. Kimberly and Christina Dahlquist provided guests with satin, rice-filled flowers, and Chad Pruden and Jesse Gerads distributed groom's kisses. Serving as waitresses were Sandy Zutz and Lori Giese.

A groom's supper was hosted by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Gerads, at the Sunset Ridge supper club in Milaca following rehearsal Friday evening. Gifts were opened the Sunday following the wedding at the home of the groom's parents with his mother hosting a luncheon for the guests.

After a honeymoon trip to New York city, and the Pocano Mountains in Pennsylvania, the couple is at home at 396 Arian Street East, West St. Paul, where the groom is employed at Wayne Transport and the bride works at the St. Paul Fire and Marine insurance company.

that cost the city an estimated $36,500 each year at this time because it would be better to find them now than sometime in the winter when lines burst. Murphy estimated that the leaks, although low comparatively, reach about 100,000 gallons of water each day.

In other action, the council: Approved permission to cut deadfall and dead leaves on the Mickelson property; gave a first reading and adopted an ordinance that inserts ATVs into the city snowmobile ordinance; granted an easement across Julian Gunderson's property; granted a variance to build a garage to Kermit and Peggy Genereux; granted a variance to side wall requirements for a single-stall garage to Lester and Janet Schneider; granted a variance to frontage requirements to Julian Gunderson.

Simulated Fire At TRF Hospital Tests Emergency Teams

emergency bell. Essential emergency personnel removed victims and checked rooms.

Kuhnley explained the fire emergency was modeled after the type of internal emergency most often found in hospitals. Ninety-five per cent of the time, disaster that strikes hospitals is a fire. This exercise simulated a bed fire and toxic smoke coming from a bed pad. For the record, the hospital in Thief River Falls has only had three fires in the past 30 years.

Actual smoke was generated with a device called Roscoe Smoke. It leaves no residue, is a non-irritant, and has been approved by the FDA as a food additive. Many movies use the same type of smoke generator.

The purpose of the test was to test the fire department and its ability to search for and extricate patients, and secondly, test the hospital staff in handling the emergency and removing and caring for the patients. The entire drill, replete with bandaged victims, lasted about 20 minutes. It was completely videotaped and reviewed by staff members later that afternoon.

As in all such tests the purpose is to find out what would happen and what corrections if any would have to be made to minimize danger and damage.

Kuhnley reported that he was generally pleased with the test. Had the simulated fire been real, all victims probably would have been saved and the fire quickly brought under control. He noted that some personnel tested doors for heat, but some did not; some went around the fire area, but some did not.

He also noted that unfortunately some equipment was moved through the fire area when it should have been either taken from a different area or rerouted; and, some wrong codes were issued. As a result of the test the method of marking which room has been searched will be changed (some rooms were searched several times).

Kuhnley reported the test a success and also praised the actors for a good job.

SD Board Accepts Insurance Quotes, Acts On Personnel

Thief River Falls board of education accepted quotations on several insurance policies and handled a number of personnel matters among business Monday evening at its regular meeting in the school district service center board room.

Jeff Lannoye was approved as permanent custodian after completing his probationary period and a leave of absence without pay was granted to bus driver Lester Sunram.

Extra-curricular assignments approved included Clay Houselog and Marc Anderson, sixth grade football; Katherine Neumann, sixth grade girls basketball, Michelle Geske, seventh grade girls basketball, Clay Houselog, eighth grade girls basketball, Walt Redinger, sixth grade boys basketball, Marc Anderson, seventh grade boys basketball, Roger Rivera, eighth grade boys basketball, Andrew Holmes, high school photography advisor, and Brett Carter, high school fall play.

Authorization was given to post for a part-time fifth grade band instructor for 10 hours per week for the first semester of the current school year and for an AVTI architectural drafting and design instructor Nov 24, 1986 through June 30, 1987. A part-time teacher aide at the AVTI will also be hired soon to serve through November 21. Tammy Swick was hired as half-time sales and marketing instructor effective August 28-November 21.

A committee established to review use of Franklin pool included Dr. Leo Ruberto, Jerry Prickett, Dr. Milton Hoff, Dale Folger, Jane Mackenroth, Jay Forney, Josh Bendickson and Maryel Anderson.

Board members were shown a sample of new uniforms to be worn by the school district custodial staff and a report was given on the presentation by Keith Nord to a meeting on drug and alcohol abuse. It was also noted that Sally Wiltse, adaptive physical education instructor, had been elected to serve on the Region 8AA committee of the Minnesota state high school league.

In 1931, he came with his family to a farm in Lincoln township of Marshall county, near Strandquist. Later the family moved to the present farm in East Park township of Marshall county, near Strandquist, where he farmed with his brothers and sisters for many years.

He served with the U.S. Army during World War II, and after his discharge in November of 1945, returned to the farm where he has since made his home. He was a member of the Strandquist American Legion post and of the VFW.

Local Farmer States Opposition To OTH-B Site

believes farmer income is spent as many as seven times before it leaves a community; not so with the income of wage earners. Hiring a few more wage earners and taking some farmland out of production will not solve the town's economic problems, he said.

The environmental impact on farmers and area communitites would be a serious loss also. Wildlife is important to the balance of nature and man in this area. Creation of a radar receiver site would further offset the balance of man and nature, but calculation of the loss would be difficult at best. Draining and grading wetlands will destroy wildlife areas and disrupt their feeding patterns. It could also mean increased erosion and wind damage to crops.

"This part of Minnesota supports a large number of deer, moose and many species of smaller animals. This project would interrupt feeding patterns and natural treks and flight paths. It would also destroy many of the wooded areas that these animals use as shelter," Dyrdal said.

"A more indirect result of this destruction would be felt in a possible decrease in the number of large game and waterfowl hunters from other parts of Minnesota coming to this area. Those who use the wetland and wooded areas for recreactional hunting will probably be less likely to choose Pennington county if the feeding sites and habitat have been disrupted," Dyrdal said.

"As a family we enjoy farming and like the area for the wildlife. And we are in a unique area — not quite in prairie or in the forested area. We enjoy the best of two worlds and I feel we don't need the delicate balance of nature here upset," Dyrdal said.

The environmental impact statement states that one possible mitigation procedure for drained wetlands is to establish new wetlands in the surrounding area. These new wetlands would be located on "disturbed" agricultural land.

It concerns Dyrdal that the environmental impact statement addresses many issues but one area which it remains vague on is the impact on human health at the receiver sites. It does discuss the dangers at transmitter sites and the dangers to people who come in contact with the path of the transmitter signals. It concerns Dyrdal that people who live near the receiver site and workers inside the security enclosure will be in the path of the transmitter signals and they are not aware of the dangers to them.

Building the radar site would mean more than the loss of someone's farmland, loss of wetland and woodlands, loss of income to towns and townships, it would mean that the residents would have to live with whatever it would bring, whatever would be left after it was decommissioned, and whatever might be put in its place.

The environmental impact statement states that if the land was purchased it would be made available for other federal use when the radar project is decommissioned, which could be in 20 years. After such a difficult struggle to prevent the location of a nuclear waste disposal site near Thief River Falls, Dyrdal wonders whether the nuclear waste site could be put there despite opposition because the land is owned by the government

Comparatively quick decisions on a project that could last 20 years and forever change the area combined with a lack of knowledge among those it will affect most are major concerns for Dyrdal. He views the less than one month period between release of the environmental impact statement and the September 9 public hearing, which fell on election primary eve, as hardly enough time to become informed, especially for such a significant project

Assurances from the government that the people will not be exposed to hazardous materials nor restricted from pursuing a relatively normal livelihood do not exist. Dyrdal plans to address four specific concerns in a letter to the governor.

First, what assurances do citizens in the area around the receiver site have from the government that the site will not revert to a nuclear waste repository?

Second, what assurances do citizens have that the site would not be converted to an Extremely Low Frequency (ELF) radar site, which is extremely dangerous to human existence?

Third, what assurances do citizens have that restrictions would not be put on the use of rapidly developing technology in the farming industry?

Fourth, what restrictions would be placed on surrounding wetlands and woodlands?

Dyrdal agrees that "those opposed to the project are not being too vocal; maybe they would be inclined to sign a petition."

"Maybe people are writing to put their comments in the record Maybe people are concerned," he added

As Dyrdal sees it too many people criticize without offering a solution Even within this area there are places which are non-productive for agriculture and wildlife These areas, more than the areas under consideration, should be placed in the forefront of decisions which could be irrevocable, he believes.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

The next two weeks may be the most important of your life if you farm west of Thief River Falls.

You are in the area for a receiver site for the OTH-B radar system. I live and farm in the transmitter site area near Wheaton.

There are some very serious questions that people in both areas should be asking and it is very important that they should be asked of the air force before Monday, October 6. After that time it will be too late. I question whether your area really realizes the total impact of that date.

As part of the environmental impact analysis, do you realize that any questions the air force receives before October 6 must be answered, and it will be in writing? I feel this is very important. If you feel you do not have the facts, please find them out for yourself. Write the air force.

Some of the items regarding the receiver and the transmit site are similar, yet many are not. We, for example, will be putting out the power, and in turn radiation; you will not. Your antennas will be twice as long (10,000 feet) and are taller than ours, but in both areas they will be sitting at exact angles. Both areas require from 2,400 trn 4,000 acres. The transmitter site cannot have a town for 10 miles in the direction of radiation, but the air force does not want you in the receiver site to have any electromagnetic interference, such as welders, for a distance of 5 to 25 miles from the site. So you see, as farmers, we have a lot of concerns which must be answered.

For example, I feel the area of rerouting of water is very incomplete in the draft environmental impact statement (EIS). Because of the length (10,560 feet) and the exact angles of placement (85 degrees compass direction E, 145 degrees SE, 205 degrees SW and 265 degrees W), definitely roads and ditches will have to be blocked and water will have to be rerouted, causing new water stress to the adjoining land. There is no mention of compensation to the surrounding landowners in the EIS, so we must assume there is non, and no doubt there will be a drop in their land values.

Throughout the EIS it states the air force will use fair market value, and on Page 2-8 of the EIS it states "Whether the land were purchased in fee, or leased, the air force would offer fair market value as established by independent appraisers" (by the U.S. Corp. of Engineers) "and negotiation would be conducted with each landowner." Go ask your local appraisers what fair market value is for your area today. If your neighbor is willing to sell, and you are not, what will happen? If you paid more than what is today's fair market value, who makes up the difference? Remember you are not dealing with private industry, but our own government which we all know has the right of condemnation. Ask anyone who has dealt with the government's terms of fair market value, and their right of eminent domain, and see if they felt they were treated fairly by "their government."

On page 2-9 of the EIS under decommissioning, it states "If the land was purchased, it would be made available for other federal use." This past week the department of energy stated it could not find a site for the nuclear waste dumpsite, and they want help from Congress locating one. Isn't it ironic that there was a potentially acceptable site for nuclear waste in the Thief River Falls area, and also a potential site only eight miles from one of our Wheaton sites? If you were Congress and no state wanted a dumpsite, where would you first look? Common sense would tell me to first look at the land the government already owns. When the government already owns square miles of Minnesota farmland, I feel we will no longer have any control. What do you think?

I could go on and on but I will not; there just isn't the time, but you should also know that I have been in contact with citizens of towns near the site in Maine and they said there was very very little, if any, economic benefit to their communities. When the air force says they will buy locally, they really mean within the state.

At our public hearing it was mentioned that Col. Lee could probably sell sand to an Arab. I agree that he definitely is a professional. But on the other hand, I ask that you remember the air force makes the rules, and they can change the rules at any time! I suggest that if you have gotten any promises, you get them in writing from the air force. If you have any questions, or comments, or petitions from residents or landowners, etc., that you write the air force so they receive them before October 6. The address is: Lt. V. G. Brown, ESD-SCO. Hanscom AFB, MA 01731

The time to move is now.

If you feel there is nothing that can be done if the air force wants to come to your area, and you do nothing before October 6, I guess we will never know, and then again, if it comes and you have done nothing, you will never know if you could have prevented it either, will you?

Sincerely,
-s- Marcie Conroy
Wheaton, MN

The following letter was received recently and should be shared with the public in this area.

Mr. Larry Belmont
Chamber of Commerce
P.O. Box 514
Thief River Falls, MN 56701

Dear Mr. Belmont:

The Minnesota hay was received in time and was instrumental in seeing our farmers through a period of despair. I cannot express the feeling of all those who benefited from your most generous gift, but I can tell you as the Mayor of Waynesboro, that the citizens of my community hold Thief River Falls and Pennington county close to their hearts for such a gesture of benevolence. Surely you have added "stars in your crown" for the compassion and caring displayed in this project.

Hopefully, we will be able to return the favor some day, but do not wish for you any of the hardships that my beloved friends have recently endured. Be assured that we also care for our newly acquired friends in Minnesota and ask God's richest blessings in all of your future endeavors.

Again, please convey our heartfelt thanks for all who participated in making our plight more bearable.

M.E.A. PRESIDENT Bob Astrup (right) of Mounds View visited with James Fremstad (left), president of the Thief River Falls Education association and Dr. Leo Ruberto, superintendent of Thief River Falls public schools, following his presentation to a local TRFEA meeting Wednesday in the Lincoln high school cafeteria. Astrup recently began his two-year term as head of the state education organization.

MEA President Astrup Urges Local Cooperation

"If you're on the ship when the tide comes in you rise with it," newly-installed president Robert Astrup of the Minnesota Education association told Thief River Falls Education association members at a meeting last week in the Lincoln high school cafeteria, encouraging them to cooperate in efforts to improve education in Minnesota.

"MEA needs to be more positive and more professional and more student centered," the Mounds View social studies teacher told the local membership. He is on two-year leave of absence from his teaching post to serve as head of the education association during that time.

"This is going to be an interesting and exciting school year," he said, noting that it seemed a little strange at first to get up in the morning and not clip articles from the newspaper for use in class.

"Education reform is in full bloom and education is on the front burner of every governor's program across the United States," he said.

Admitting that reports on education cause his blood pressure to rise a little, Astrup suggested that teachers and others in education should give the reports a fair hearing and a fair reading. The results should be positive, he said, because both the persons creating the reports and the educational community want to improve education.

"It is the job of the MEA to help public policy makers sort out the good ideas from the bad ideas," he said. "All of the reports say the involvement of teachers is needed for educational improvement, and that is what we have been saying for years.

"What happens in Minnesota is up to you and me," Astrup added. "The biggest contribution we can make is to read and analyze the reports and to make the good ideas work."

Astrup also said the MEA had endorsed Gov. Rudy Perpich for reelection, although the governor had been adamant some months ago that he didn't want teacher endorsement. The MEA president said he had met with the governor on five different occasions and that Perpich had pledged to work with MEA issues.

"I intend to pull on his coattail at least once a week until he gets out of office," Astrup said. "We need to work with those who have the authority to change things."

Astrup also said he and a panel of teachers had met with leaders in the Minnesota Business Partnership and that the leaders had been impressed with the insight teachers had shown into the business plan. He had suggested, he said, that teachers be allowed to put some time and study into the report and identify two or three areas where the educators and business group could work on jointly.

"We don't want to fight you, we want to move ahead for education," he said he had told the business leaders. And he pointed out to the TRFEA members that next to parents, business has the greatest interest in education.

Astrup said he is also emphasizing working with the state department of education to effect change in Minnesota. "We suffer from the Minnesota Vikings syndrome of being 'good, but...,'" he said. "We want to make Minnesota schools the best there are anywhere."

In so doing, he said, educators will have to "walk and chew gum" — continuing to emphasize areas of importance that have been identified while adding emphasis in new areas where change would be beneficial.

He said going before legislative commissions would be scary during normal times, but these are not normal times. He asked local educators to help him and thereby help themselves by providing ideas and input and providing support for programs identified as being important to education.

Thief River Falls Education association officers for this year include James Fremstad, president; Polly Reed, president-elect; Pat Johnson, secretary; and Loren Weigand, treasurer.

Committee chairmen include Pat Johnson, communications; Al Krause, economic services; Jane Oberg, field services; Jane Miller, instruction and professional development; Darwin Boutiette, governmental relations; Edith Etter, teacher rights; Kate Campbell, Day Star; Polly Reed, meet and confer; and Bob Michalicek, negotiations (past chairman).

Building or division representatives on the negotiations committee are Edith Etter, Barry Liimatainen, Don Schoonhoven, Norm Halsa (Jim Hahn, alternate), Ruth Klosterman, Elaine Grovum, John Wallberg and Ken Johnson.

Meet and confer committee in addition to Reed are Mike Lehrer, Jim Han, Cal Lindberg, Cheryl Hinschberger and Nancy Skime. Insurance committee includes Reed, Al Krause and Lynn Dyer.

Building representatives are Jim Goldseberry, Darwin Boutiette, Janet Shaw, Jan Anton and Mary Forney, Lincoln; Walt Redinger, Ginger Bendickson, Sharon Stauss and Al Krause, Franklin; Bev Kays and Donna Poole, Northrop; Jim Hahn, Roger Peterson, Carl Reed and Loren Weigand, AVTI; Diane McKeever and Pat Beauchane, Washington; Lambert Brunkhorst and Tim Olson, center school; Diane Marshall and Deb Fulton, Knox; and Edith Etter and Jodi Carter, Mark Twain.

Accompanying MEA president Astrup to Thief River Falls and a later meeting of the Kramer-Brown Uniserv unit at Middle River were Charles Purfeerst, Region I MEA manager, Bemidji; Bob Larson, field representative, Bemidji; Diane Larson, Faribault, NEA director (the office previously held by Edith Etter); Sue Lynch, MEA governmental relations chairman, St. Paul; Judy Schaubach, Red Wing, representing the State Residential Schools Education association; and Judy Rohde, North St. Paul, instruction professional development chairman.

Trapping Program At Agassiz NWR Is Open For Bids

Furbearer trapping opportunities are again available this fall at Agassiz national wildlife refuge in accordance with the 1985 revised trapping policy aimed at increasing fur harvest. A total of seven trapping units will be awarded to qualified trappers through a sealed bid system.

Under this system, applicants make a sealed monetary bid on one or all units open for trapping. Exclusive trapping rights will be awarded to the qualified trapper(s) who submits the highest bid for a particular unit. Only one unit will be awarded to the highest bidder. Partial payment of 25 per cent must be made concurrent with the bid award and final payment will be due by January 20, 1987. This system, successfully used last year, is favored by the majority of refuge trappers.

Applicants must have at least two seasons of trapping experience as well as appropriate state licenses. One important rule change has been made this year. Permittees must trap a minimum of seven days prior to November 8. This change is aimed at increasing harvest of predators such as raccoon and mink.

Species authorized for trapping include muskrat, mink, beaver, raccoon, skunk and fox. Unauthorized species include coyote, timber wolf, bobcat, fisher, river otter and badger.

Interested trappers will be able to inspect the proposed trap units September 25-30 between 7:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. Sealed bids will be accepted from September 25 to October 4. Application forms are available at refuge headquarters. Successful permittees will be notified by October 11.

The 1986 refuge trapping season extends from October 24 through December 31. Information relative to special permit conditions may be obtained by contacting Refuge Manager, Agassiz NWR, Middle River, MN (218) 449-4115.

School Librarians Are Quiet Teachers

by Sharon LaCoursiere
Times Reporter

You never receive notes from these teachers — never see them at a parent-teacher conference — and they don't send home grades on students' progress. Yet they are a vital part of a school district. So much so, that Governor Perpich has proclaimed this week of September "School Librarian Week."

The proclamation states, "Whereas: America's school libraries are an invaluable national resource providing education, ideas, information and intellectual stimulation to our children; and Whereas: School library media specialists play a vital role in helping our schools provide a quality education for all children; and Whereas: The American Association of School Librarians and its more than 6,000 members have made valuable contributions to America's education system; and Whereas: The American Association of School Librarians will hold its Fourth National Conference in Minneapolis on September 24-28, 1986: Now, therefore, I, Rudy Perpich, Governor of the State of Minnesota, do hereby proclaim the fourth week of September to be School Librarian Week in Minnesota."

Virgil Burger has served as Lincoln high school librarian since 1959. He is originally from St. Cloud, having taught for two years in Holloway and four years in Holdingford, as well as spending two years as librarian there before taking the position of full-time librarian at Lincoln. He and his wife, Bernie, have four children, "all living in different places," he said, and five grandchildren.

He has seen many changes in the Lincoln library in 27 years, but he stated the most noticeable was the utilization of computers. Burger is computer utilization chairman for the school district, head of a committee of representatives of the local schools that is in the process of utilizing a four-year plan to upgrade computer programming in Thief River Falls.

The goal of the plan, which has nearly been completed, is to have a consistency in computer utilization in elementary schools so that the students entering sixth grade at Franklin middle school may all be ready for the same level of computer classes. To accomplish this, it is part of the long range plan to have a computer lab in each elementary school and two each in the middle school and high school.

Burger said most students entering Lincoln have had their basic library training in elementary school. He provides an orientation for the ninth graders, and thereafter works closely with teachers to provide material for research projects and keep library supplies up-to-date. He also keeps and presents special instruction in these certain areas.

He is also advisor of the library club at Lincoln, which currently has 19 members. Burger said he has never had an over-abundance of boys in the library club but this year has four, so he hopes this is the beginning of a trend toward more male participation. Library club members help with clerical work, cataloging, filing and the like, he said, "but we don't overwork them. After all, they don't get paid." Students participating in library club do receive pin awards upon graduation and are rewarded with a trip at the end of the year.

Ginger Bendickson is the librarian at Franklin middle school. She is a math teacher, too, so parents may get a note or two from her once in awhile. She said she enjoys her day spent as librarian in the morning and teacher of mathematics in the afternoon. "It's fun to shift gears in the middle of the day," she said. "It keeps me from getting bored." She has been shifting her gears at Franklin for the past three years.

Before serving double duty at Franklin, she was strictly a math teacher there, having come to the school district in 1976. She is originally from Napoleon, ND, and taught in Mott, ND and Gettysburg, SD before spending 20 months teaching in Australia. She and her husband, Robert, live a few miles out of town, sometimes sharing their home with his two sons, Rich and Mike, who are a college freshman and high school junior, respectively.

Last, but not least, we have Jane Oberg, who has served as librarian in School District 564 a total of 16 years, since 1969, except for one year spent teaching second grade at Washington school. She served as Franklin middle school librarian from 1969 to 1982, and from 1983 to the present as librarian of all four elementary schools, grades one to five. Her schedule takes her to Mark Twain, Monday; Washington, Tuesday; Knox, Wednesday; Northrop, Thursday; and "wherever I'm needed the most" on Friday.

Originally from Fargo, ND, Jane attended Mayville state college and the University of North Dakota to receive degrees in elementary education and library science. Before coming to Thief River Falls, she taught second grade in East Grand Forks and was a librarian in the Ashley, ND, school, which served grades one through 12.

She stated her objective as librarian is to put children and reading together, so they learn to enjoy reading books as well as learning to use them for school work. "And I want the children to use the library so they won't be afraid of it — and teach them to adjust to new libraries they may use," she said.

As far as being a librarian, she said, "I enjoy it — very, very much!" These words sum up the attitude projected by all three of the school district's librarians. During School Librarian Week we salute our unsung, dedicated school librarians who play a vital role in the education and inspiration of our children.

Parent, Teacher, Student Group To Spring Into Action

Parents, teachers and students will soon have a new vehicle of communication within school district 564. The informal organization is similar to PTA, but it hasn't aligned itself with the national organization.

Sue Kotz, parent liaison at Washington elementary school, said the new organization is primarily for elementary parents, teachers and students. The mission of the new organization which recognizes children as the most valuable resource, is to work together with the elementary schools for the sake of the children.

An active PTA in Thief River Falls has not existed for some time, according to Kotz. The organization recognizes a need for a PTA type of organization, but would rather have it on a local and strictly elementary basis. At this time they aren't sure they will formally become part of the large PTA organization. They do plan, however, to have a formal organization set up by next spring.

One of the first activities that the organization plans to communicate to parents is the area school open houses from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at the following dates: Northrop elementary school on September 29; Knox elementary school on September 29; Mark Twain elementary school on September 30; and Washington elementary school on October 2.

The new organization plans to encourage parents to attend five special programs designed to increase communication between home and school during the year. During September, open house meetings will be held. During November a program called project Charlie for building self-esteem is planned. A science, space and computer program to show parents the world their children live in, will be held in January. The importance of reading and writing will be stressed in March, and in April a night of collaboration to discuss educational ideas from other communities and evaluation of school programs in Thief River Falls will be held.

The new organization is looking for input by interested parents and teachers. For further information contact one of the following representatives: Gloria Kildahl, at Knox, 681-7177; Muriel Olin, Mark Twain, 681-7216; Judy Johnson, Mark Twain, 681-6644; Ruth Hasnedl, Northrop, 964-5369; Sue Kotz, Washington, 681-1938.

Grygla Farmers Union To Hold Annual Meeting

Grygla Farmers Union will hold its annual meeting on September 29 at 8 p.m. in the Grygla community building.

The program will feature candidates running for public office in Marshall county. Those who have accepted an invitation to participate include Del Ray Larson, county commissioner; Roy Swanson, candidate for auditor-treasurer; Dwight Peterson, candidate for county recorder; Marion Halvorson, candidate for county recorder; and Bruce Erickson, candidate for county sheriff.

The business meeting will be presided over by Steve Sparby, local president, and will include election of officers and delegates to the state convention of the Minnesota Farmers Union. Resolutions to be passed and sent on to the county convention will be considered at this time.

Lunch will be served following the meeting.

Dist. 12 Scout Leaders Attend Training Program

District 12 scout leaders and senior scouts were in Rollag September 19, 20 and 21 to attend an inter-district junior leader training program.

The group from District 12 included Peter Willis, Greenbush, scoutmaster; Bob Nowacki, Warren, scoutmaster; Jerome Cota, Troop 57 scoutmaster, Jim Giles, Troop 59 scoutmaster, and a delegation from Troop 199 including Jim Fisher, scoutmaster, Art Heinze and Roger Golby, all of Thief River Falls. A number of senior patrol members from each of the troops were also in attendance.

The training program was designed to indoctrinate leaders in the duties of troop leadership using the patrol method of scouting.

"Although the weekend weather proved to be cloudy and dreary, everyone's spirits were not dampened. By Saturday evening the camaraderie of scouting could be felt throughout the training camp," Roger Golby said.

County Board Hears Library Budget Woes

Pennington County Board Tuesday night passed a resolution leasing parking lots owned by the American Legion adjacent to the county-city law enforcement building. The terms of the lease provide for an advance payment of $5,000, which prepays said lease for a period of 10 years. It was further agreed that the county would pay that portion of the real estate taxes on said lots which exceeds $500 per year.

The board tabled a request for Pennington county funding for the Northwest Regional library. This action followed a presentation of the 1987 library budget by Regional Library Director Barb Kalinowski when several board members requested additional information about the fund for replacement and repair of bookmobiles.

Mrs. Kalinowski informed the board that the state portion of the library's funding for 1987 has been cut by approximately 10 per cent which mandates a cutback in some hours and services and a freeze in salary levels for library personnel. Her budget calls for the following cutbacks: freeze all salaries; transfer of part-time headquarters employee to Thief River Falls library; transfer expenses of Thief River Falls pages to Thief River Falls expenses, reduce branch hours two hours per week (branch librarians in Warroad, Roseau and Greenbush secured funding from their city councils to restore these hours), reduce Hallock and Warren library hours an additional four hours per week. (This was based on circulation per hour in each branch. These two branch librarians will be on the bookmobile two days each per month. This allows bookmobile librarian to do the bookmobile overdues that the part-time headquarters employee is doing.);

Also reduce bookmobile stops (Reductions were based on circulation statistics. This brings bookmobile in earlier. They can process their own work which eliminates the bookmobile page position.) and transfer savings of director maternity leave to 1987 payroll.

Mrs. Kalinowski reported that the Northwest Regional Library just recently received a grant of $10,000 from the Hartz Foundation to place public-access micro-computers in branch libraries.

RECORD DISTRIBUTION of clothing items was set locally by the Seventh-day Adventist community services center this year. One of the events which helped establish the record was a one and one-half day "Clothes-a-Rama" distribution in August. Clothing was put out in the SDA school gymnasium (photo above) and the public was invited to come and get what could be put to good use. In the last eight months the center provided assistance to 2,258 people and distributed 37,490 articles of clothing.

ASCS Office To Shorten Hours Due To Work Backlog

Executive director Phil Bergland of the Pennington County office of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation service reports that the large volume of program activity has created a backlog of paperwork at the county office.

"This has been brought about because a large number of important programs now require action at the same time," Bergland reports, "and the staff cannot deliver the timely service which Pennington county agricultural producers deserve."

All of these programs, such as advance PIK payments, loans on recently harvested grain, storage payments on reserve contracts, CRP payments, and the settlement of loans on delivered grain mean cash payments to participating farmers. The traffic through the office has made it impossible to keep on schedule.

"We are falling further behind every day," Bergland continued, "and the situation will become more complicated with the start of the sign-up for the 1987 program, which will start on October 1."

As of Friday, September 26, the Pennington county ASCS office will be closed to the public at 2:30 p.m. each day. "This will give the staff the necessary time to complete project work without interruption, and eventually to clean up the back-log of paper work," Bergland said.

"We hope this will not be a serious inconvenience to any farmers, and we are confident that it will enable us to give faster and better service. If you have any questions, complaints or comments, please call me at 681-1612," Bergland concluded.

Gophers Scheduled To Make Appearance At TRF Sports Arena Saturday

Northwestern Minnesota hockey fans will have the first look at the 1986-87 University of Minnesota hockey team when the Gophers, led by co-captains Tim Bergland of Thief River Falls and Corey Millen of Cloquet, will put their talents on display in a 7 p.m. intrasquad game Saturday at the Thief River Falls Sports Arena.

Second-year Minnesota head coach Doug Woog greeted 38 varsity candidates September 10 for the beginning of dryland training, with the Gophers starting their on-ice drills four days later.

First public appearance by the Gophers will be the Saturday night scrimmage in Thief River Falls, followed by a Sunday rematch in St. Cloud. Final preseason outing for the Gophers will be an October 2 scrimmage in Blaine. Minnesota opens its 1986-87 WCHA schedule October 10-11 at Colorado College.

Last year Minnesota won more games than any other Gopher hockey team en route to a 35-13-0 record. The Gophers finished one point behind Denver in the WCHA race with a 24-10 record and went on to place third at the NCAA tournament in Providence, RI.

There are 19 lettermen back from last year's squad, including goalie John Blue (Jr., San Jose, CA); defensemen Craig Mack (Sr., East Grand Forks), Gary Shopek (Sr., Minneapolis), Eric Dornfeld (Sr., Stillwater), Todd Richards (So., Armstrong), Frank Gersich (So., Duluth), Brett Nelson (So., White Bear Lake) and David Espe (So., White Bear Lake); left wingers Tom Chorske (So., Minneapolis), Steve MacSwain (Sr., Anchorage, AK) and David Snuggerud (So., Minnetonka); centers Paul Broten (Jr., Roseau), Steve Orth (Jr., St. Cloud), Jay Cates (Jr., Stillwater) and Millen; and right wingers Todd Okerlund (Sr., Burnsville), David Grannis (Jr., South St. Paul), Marty Nanne (So., Edina) and Bergland.

Incoming freshmen signed to tenders are forwards Scott Bloom, Burnsville; Peter Hankinson, Edina; and Blaine Rude, Fergus Falls; defensemen Jeff Pauletti, Hastings; Lance Pitlick, New Hope; and Randy Skarda, West St. Paul; and goalie Robb Stauber, Duluth.

Millen led last year's team in scoring with 83 points (41 goals, 42 assists). MacSwain was No. 3 on the scoring list with 61 points (26-35), behind graduated Pat Micheletti's 80 points. Cates had 53 points (20-33) and Okerlund had 49 points (17-32) to rank among the Gophers' scoring leaders last winter.

Bergland made his mark with his strong all-round play, going into the corners for pucks, killing penalties and setting up teammates. He finished his junior year with 11 goals and 16 assists for 27 points. A three-year letterman with the Gophers, Bergland had four goals and 11 assists as a freshman in 1983-84 and finished with seven goals and 12 assists for 19 points as a sophomore in 1984-85.

Mack is also a three-year letterman on defense. He scored two goals and had 15 assists for 17 points last year.

Broten has lettered in both the first two years with the Gophers, scoring six goals and collecting 16 assists for 22 points last winter.

Minnesota lost four senior starts from last year's team, including defenseman Tony Kellin, goalie Frank Pietrangelo and high-scoring forwards Wally Chapman and Micheletti, who ended his career as the second highest career scorer in Minnesota hockey history.

Tickets remain on sale for the Saturday scrimmage. Advance sale tickets are priced at $4 for adults and $2 for students ages 14-under. They are available at Erl's Market, Farmer's Union Oil, Pizza Hut and TG Sporting Goods. Tickets at the door will be priced at $5 and $3.

Evening activity will begin at 5:45 p.m. with a picture and autograph session. Youngsters are urged to arrive early to participate in the half-hour session. Woog and assistant coaches Dean Talafous and Bill Butters will present a clinic beginning at 6:15 p.m., using the Gophers in explaining and demonstrating a variety of drills the team uses. The 7 p.m. game will consist of two 30 minute periods.

Thief River Falls mayor Bob Carlson will be on hand to drop the opening face-off puck and will present the Gophers and their coaches with a special gift from the city. The Lincoln High School band will also be on hand to perform during the game, and the high school hockey team members will serve as ushers and door guards.

The game is sponsored by the Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association.

PARK AND RECREATION Department personnel were busy Tuesday morning spraying a white paint on the ice surface in the Thief River Falls Sports Arena. The artificial ice plant was turned on this week in preparation for the University of Minnesota hockey team intrasquad scrimmage, scheduled to be held here Saturday. Working on the ice surface were Curt Howe, Kent LeMoine, Brad Brouse and Martin Nelson. Saturday's schedule will include a picture and autograph session at 5:45 p.m. a clinic performed by the Gophers and their coaches at 6:15 and the scrimmage at 7. Tickets remain on sale at several Thief River Falls locations.

Prowlers Host Pirates Friday

There are two sets of numbers Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm is looking at this week — one that has the Prowlers 1-3 overall, but another that shows them 1-0 against Section 8A high school football opponents.

He's not satisfied with the first figure, but it's the record within Section 8A that carries the most weight at this point.

Both sets of Thief River Falls numbers will be affected Friday when the Prowlers, after opening the 1986 season with four straight road games, will host Crookston in a key 7:30 p.m. Section 8A contest that starts a string of four straight regular season-ending home games.

With the defection of Perham to Class B ball this fall, Section 8A offers a tidy, easy-to-operate eight-team line-up for the post-season Minnesota State High School League playoffs. Thief River Falls, Crookston, East Grand Forks and Fergus Falls are grouped in the North Half, while Detroit Lakes, Staples, Wadena and Park Rapids make up the South Half.

Based upon regular season results, opening round Section 8A playoff quarterfinals next month will find the No. 4 seed in the South at North No. 1; No. 4 seed in the North at South No. 1; No. 3 seed in the South at North No. 2; and No. 3 seed in the North at South No. 2.

A year ago the winless Prowlers were excluded from post-season play by a vote of the coaches who had to pare a nine-team field down the eight for the playoffs.

With three of their remaining four regular season games matching them against Section 8A North Half teams, the Prowlers' post-season position will be on the line when they face Crookston, Fergus Falls and East Grand Forks. Thief River Falls beat Detroit Lakes 39-15 in an earlier sectional draw.

"We're not satisfied with one win," acknowledged Mumm, "but we're 1-0 in Section 8A, and if we win those other three games, we'll have the home field for the playoffs. If we win this one (Crookston), we'll be in the driver's seat the rest of the way".

But to do that, the Prowlers will have to rebound from a sub-par performance they had last week in a 30-12 loss at Valley City, ND. Thief River Falls had showed signs of being able to shake a losing image that has dogged the team for several years by playing competitive football against Class AA-size Grand Forks Red River and Bemidji while beating Detroit Lakes, but reverted back to old form against the Hi-Liners.

A combination of things played a role in the Prowlers' performance last week, said Mumm. Hit by injuries and illness, the team was certainly not at full strength, and they saw the game as a meaningless affair against somebody they had never played before and probably will never play again.

"This game means something to the kids," noted Mumm, looking ahead to Friday's meeting with the rival Pirates. "I don't think we'll have any trouble getting our enthusiasm and intensity back for this one. And we should be healthy."

Crookston is 3-1 for the year, beating Mound-Westonka 26-6, Barnesville 33-30 and Fergus Falls 13-0 while stumbing against Park Rapids 29-6. In last week's homecoming victory over the Otters, the Pirates' Chip Brekken scored both touchdowns as he returned the game-opening kickoff 80 yards and clinched the defensive struggle with a 50-yard pass interception return in the fourth quarter.

"Crookston has a nice ball club," said Mumm. "Defensively they're tough."

Thief River Falls had trouble moving the football offensively last week against a 4-4 Valley City defense, and with Crookston expected to use the 4-4 again this Friday, Mumm and his coaching staff have been experimenting with some changes that would make the Prowlers bigger in the offensive line.

"We had trouble up front against the bigger defensive tackles on our guards," explained Mumm, "so we've moved some of our bigger kids to guards in practice this week to see how that would work."

The changes, if they stick, would mean 6-2, 236-pound Joe Drevlow and 5-9, 187-pound Rod Hinrichs, a pair of seniors, would be switched from tackles to guards, while 6-1, 200-pound junior Bill Dicken and 6-0, 218-pound senior Elliot Baker take over the tackle spots. Dicken has been playing tight end and teamming with Baker to give the Prowlers a strong set of tackles on defense.

Those changes, though, would necessitate more players being used as two-way starters. Mumm would rather have most of his players go just one way — offense or defense — since that will rest them, and also provide playing time for more people.

Juniors Tom Anderson, a 5-11, 160 pounder and Paul Spyhalski, a 5-8, 170-pounder were the starting offensive guards. Mumm was quick to point out they were in position to retain their jobs if the practice moves didn't pan out, and most certainly would be playing some even if Drevlow and Hinrichs stay at guards.

The other two remaining Section 8A Thief River Falls foes — East Grand Forks and Fergus Falls — are 3-1 and 2-2, respectively. Grafton, next week's Thief River Falls homecoming opponent, is 1-3.

Pioneers' Home Opener; Pepsi Bowl . . .

Northland Hosts Itasca In Homecoming Football Game

Rick Nelson isn't pulling any punches. He says his Northland Community College football team has an important assignment Saturday when the the Pioneers host Itasca in a 1:30 p.m. Minnesota Community College Conference game at Prowler Field in Thief River Falls. Real important.

After beating the Moorhead State University 14-13 in a nonconference game to open the 1986 season, and after knocking off Mesabi 20-0 last Saturday to start the MCCC schedule, Northland is 2-0 for the first time in the history of the 11-year-old football program at the school. So the opportunity to go 3-0 for the first time significantly increases the importance of the game, he said.

"Right now it's the biggest game in Northland football history," says Nelson. "As long as you keep winning, the next game will always be the biggest game."

It will also be the Pioneers' toughest test to date in a still-young 1986 season. The Vikings, after losing a 38-21 season-opening decision to the Itasca Alumni, began MCCC play with an impressive 38-21 victory over the University of Minnesota-Crookston Saturday.

"Itasca will be tough," warned Nelson, "but I think our kids are ready for the challenge.

To win, said Nelson, the Pioneers must do three things: 1) keep the other team from making a big play; 2) eliminate foolish and unneccessary penalties; and 3) finish off potential scoring drives.

"If we can do those three things, we can be competitive," Nelson noted. "If we don't, it could be messy."

Nelson is concerned because the Pioneers have had three touchdowns called back due to penalties in two games. They've also had several promising scoring drives come up short at the opposition's 5-10-15-yard lines.

But they've also played very well defensively, forcing the opposition into 11 turnovers in two games.

It'll be the home opener for the Pioneers, their homecoming game and Pepsi Bowl, too. Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company of Thief River Falls will be on hand and giving out free products to fans attending the game.

Health-wise, Nelson isn't sure whether Thief River Falls sophomore wide receiver Dean Brandon will be able to play Saturday. He suffered a severe bruise in the side area after taking a hard hit at Mesabi last week. If he's unable to play, freshman Darrin Elliot of Fargo North will start in his spot.

Quarterback Scott Willoughby of Erskine isn't at full strength, either, suffering from a sore arm. But he will probably start Saturday. If not, Mike Coffield of Lancaster will call signals.

On the plus side, sophomore center Chad Swendseid of Grand Forks Central will be in uniform this week after missing the Mesabi game because of back problems. But freshman David Kochmstedt of Middle River will retain his starting status at center vs. Itasca after earning Pepsi-Cola Player of the Week honors on offense last week. Linebacker Steve Wiskow of Thief River Falls earned similar honors on defense and Dean Zimmel of Dilworth was recognized for his work on the specialty teams.

Rest of the Northland offense will have Steve Ristau (EGF) and Deon Schmidt (Fargo South) as the runningbacks, with Darrin Johnson (Kennedy) filling in at both spots, Scott Groven (Goodridge) at slotback, Dorran Anderson (Lancaster) at tight end, Regie Berger (Dilworth) and either Eric Hegna (Detroit Lakes) or Rodney Gill (Inkster, MI) at tackles, with Greg Bieganek (Kellìher), Steve Porter (Lancaster) and Tom McGlynn (Mentor) rotating at the two guard positions.

Joining Wiskow on defense will be Tim Wayne (Goodridge) and Zimmel at the ends, with Mark Bieganek (Kellìher) also expect to play there, Jeff Johnson, (TRF) and Anthony McCullough (Canton, OH) at tackles, Mike Stennes (Erskine), Henry Collier Orlando, FL) and Steve Boushee (EGF) or Coffield at linebacker, Bill Neuschwander (Grygla), Mike Zelinski (Fargo North) and Chad Ekeberg (McIntosh) in the secondary.

Elsewhere in the MCCC Northwest-Northeast Division match-ups Saturday, Brainerd will be at Hibbing, UMC at Vermilion and Mesabi at Fergus Falls.

Last week, Vermilion shut out Brainerd 8-0 and Fergus Falls outscored Hibbing 43-21.

Plummer Oklee To Meet Friday Night

Neighboring rivals Plummer and Oklee will get together Friday when the Cardinals host the Bobcats in a 7:30 p.m. North Tri-County Conference nine-man high school football game that will highlight 1986 Plummer homecoming activities.

Both teams lost last week. Plummer had its season-opening three-game winning streak snapped by Fisher-Climax 26-20, while Oklee fell to 1-3 following a 28-8 setback at the hands of unbeaten conference power Gonvick-Trail.

It'll be a match-up of a smaller, but quicker Plummer squad against a bigger, but slower Oklee team. The Bobcats have one of the league's top players in Greg Bishop, a 5-7, 170-pound senior who can dominate play both on offense as a runningback and defense as a linebacker. The Cardinals will answer with one of the league's top passing combinations that features 6-4, 175-pound quarterback Wade Grinde and 6-4, 205-pound wide receiver Shane Freyholtz, a pair of juniors.

Elsewhere in the North Tri-County Conference Friday, Fisher-Climax (2-2) will be at Clearbrook (1-3) and Gary (1-2) visits Gonvick-Trail (4-0), while Redlake (0-4) plays a non-conference game at Kelliher-Northome.

In addition to the Gonvick-Trail and Fisher-Climax wins over Oklee and Plummer, respectively, Clearbrook edged Redlake 14-12 last week. Gary had an open date.

Marshall County Central will also be observing homecoming activities this week, with the Norides hosting Tri-County in a 7 p.m. Top of the State Conference nine-man football game Saturday. Marshall County Central broke into the win column for the first time after three straight season-opening losses Friday by beating Goodridge-Grygla 24-12. Tri-County fell to 3-2 following a 33-0 drubbing at the hands of Hallock.

League-leading Argyle remained unbeaten by drilling Stephen 42-6.

Stephen (2-2) will be at Hallock (3-1) in a Friday Top of the State Conference game, while winless Goodridge-Grygla (0-4) has a 7:30 p.m. game Saturday at Argyle (4-0).

Friday Northern Lights Conference nine-man match-ups will find Kittson County North (2-2) hosting Middle River (2-2) in a 3:30 p.m. rematch of a 1986 season-opener won by the Skippers 8-0, while Badger (0-4) visits Oslo-Alvarado (2-2). Kennedy has a bye.

Last Saturday, Kittson County North got by Badger 20-16 and Kennedy shut out Middle River 32-0.

Volleyball Team Is Winner Over Pirates

A slow start didn't stop Thief River Falls from beating Crookston Tuesday, it just delayed the Prowlers' eventual 8-15, 15-7, 15-10, 15-3 high school volleyball victory over the visiting Pirates.

Slow starts have been commonplace for the Prowlers this fall, acknowledged Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson, but once the team play begins to form, she said, they flash signs of being a pretty good volleyball team.

"We kept feeding Crookston the ball in that first game," explained Anderson. "But in Games 2-3-4, we got things going, set it up and played well as a team."

Susie Ulrich came off the bench and played a strong match, according to Anderson. Vikki Weigand was once again a force at the net, connecting on 25 of 27 spike attempts, while Jodi Anderson and Bobbi Thompson also had solid performances, she said. Weigand led the Prowlers with 10 service points, while Ulrich and Bekah Bortnem both had nine.

Crookston won both preliminary matches to end Thief River Falls' unbeaten status at the C squad and junior varsity levels. Crookston won the C squad match 15-8, 15-6 and took the junior varsity match 15-13 10-15, 15-8. Both Thief River Falls teams are now 4-1. The Thief River Falls varsity is 6-2 overall.

Player of the night honors went to Leigh Solheim on the C squad, Karen Kvick on the junior varsity and was shared by Weigand and Stephanie Benson at the varsity level.

DUCKS UNLIMITED regional director Bill Peabody addressed a group of Mark Twain students in the Franklin Middle School library Monday afternoon to complete a series of slide presentations and lectures that he gave at each of the Thief River Falls elementary schools that day. He described the Ducks Unlimited operation to the youngsters, inviting them to participate in the Ducks Unlimited Greenwings banquet scheduled to be held Sunday at 1 p.m. in the Thief River Falls National Guard Armory.

Ducks Unlimited Event For Youngsters . . .

Greenwings Banquet Scheduled Sunday

One youngster identified a great blue heron as a flamingo and another mis-named a ruddy duck as a rudder duck, but Bill Peabody, a regional director for Ducks Unlimited, took it all in stride Monday as he presented a series of wildlife programs at each of the Thief River Falls elementary schools.

The responses brought smiles from Peabody and the teachers who were looking on.

Peabody offered a slide program and gave a short lecture concerning the importance of wetland habitat to a variety of wildlife, and the need to maintain those areas for waterfowl nesting sites — a prime objective of his Ducks Unlimited group.

He was actually trying to drum up interest and enthusiasm from the youngsters for the upcoming Ducks Unlimited Greenwings banquet, scheduled to be held Sunday, September 28, at 1 p.m. in the Thief River Falls National Guard Armory.

Designed for youngsters up to 17-year-olds, the Greenwings are a branch of the Ducks Unlimited parent organization, a nationwide operation throughout the United States and Canada that stages yearly fund-raising banquets within each chapter area. Thief River Falls Chapter of Ducks Unlimited banquet was held earlier this month.

Greenwings offer youngsters an opportunity to be part of the wildlife program, introducing them to a segment of the outdoors.

Cost of the Greenwings banquet is $8, which includes the banquet meal, club membership, a Greenwings hat, magazine and decal, an 18x20 poster and a waterfowl I.D. book for new members. There will also be dog training and waterfowl banding demonstrations, along with other activities.

Tickets are available at Thune-Upham & Associates and TG Sporting Goods in Thief River Falls.

Last year Thief River Falls Greenwings banquet drew what was then recognized as a national-record 350 youngsters. That mark was topped later, however, by a southern Minnesota crowd of 500 at New London-Spicer.

Denny Bakke is heading the local Greenwings banquet arrangements.

Nordics Sweep Ponies 3-0 In Volleyball Match-Up

Marshall County Central, facing what was expected to be the Nordics' stiffest test to date, responded to the challenge by sweeping Warren 15-8, 16-14, 15-8 Monday in a high school volleyball match at Newfolden.

The winners started with a 14-1 first game lead, overcame a 14-9 second game deficit and then put the third game away in workmanlike fashion.

"We started out really well," acknowledged Marshall County Central coach Tom Mjelde, "but the real turning point came when we were behind in the second game and came back. The girls didn't quit."

Junior Nikki Leach played a strong match, said Mjelde, serving a team-high 14 points in the process.

"The difference in the match," said Mjelde, "was that we were real consistent in our serving. Everybody served well. Overall, it was a good team effort. I was real happy with the way they played."

Goodridge - Argyle

Goodridge was on an emotional high last Thursday following a 3-2 upset win over Gonvick-Trail, but the Huskies were brought back to earth Monday in a 3-0 loss at home against Argyle.

The Eagles won easily, 15-2, 15-3, 15-4.

"Not a good night for the Huskies," admitted Goodridge coach Patti Johnson, who figured the Huskies' youthful and inexperienced squad is experiencing a series of ups and downs that a veteran team avoids.

MCC - Middle River

Marshall County Central ran its record to 7-0 Tuesday with a 15-6, 15-8, 15-0 sweep over visiting Middle River.

"I thought we played real well as a team," stated Marshall County Central coach Tom Mjelde. "Fundamentally, it was probably our best game of the year."

Jodi Foss, Kelli Anderson and Nikki Leach led the way, according to Mjelde. Foss was 11-for-11 in the spike department. Anderson led the Nordics with 14 service points.

"Newfolden has a good team," acknowledged Middle River coach Steve Holmes after watching his Skippers fall to 4-3 for the year. "You have to be ready to play well against them or you're in trouble."

Marshall County Central has a Thursday assignment at Grygla. Middle River hosts Lake of the Woods the same night.

Bemidji Girls Win Tennis Title

Bemidji girls out-pointed Crookston and Thief River Falls Tuesday to win the annual Northwest Quadrangular high school tennis tournament played in Thief River Falls.

The Lumberjacks won it with 16 points, followed by the Pirates with 13 and the Prowlers with 11. East Grand Forks was a distant fourth with three points.

It was a bit of a setback for the Prowlers, who have been beating area teams throughout much of the 1986 fall season, but Thief River Falls coach Whitey Olson wasn't upset with the results.

"We played as well as we could play on that particular day," he explained, "but I think we can play better tennis, overall."

Thief River Falls had a pair of individual winners as juniors Kelly Cornell and Sharon Dosser both went 3-0 at No. 1 and No. 4 singles, respectively.

The Prowlers lost out on an opportunity to win team honors through a series of close losses at No. 1 and No. 2 doubles. Amy Isaacson and Stacy Breuer were tantalizingly close, losing by 10-8, 10-8, 10-9 margins at No. 2 doubles. Kristy Maidment and Vicki Grovum lost 10-8, 10-7, 10-3 decision at No. 1 doubles.

"We were close in those matches, but we didn't get any cake," said Olson.

Weather-wise, it was a perfect day for tennis, Olson noted. "It was just a super day. I can't imagine anyone wanting to do anything else if they were tennis players," he said.

Thief River Falls was scheduled to close out its 1986 regular season home schedule today (Monday) with a 3:30 p.m. dual against Waubun.

Runners Will Carry Pigskin From Crookston To TRF . . .

Cross Country Team Members Will Deliver Game Ball Friday

Both sides will be trying to break a long run Friday when Thief River Falls hosts Crookston in an important Section 8A high school football game.

But neither the Prowlers or Pirates will be able to match the length of a run planned by the Thief River Falls cross country team that day as coach Lynn Dyer's troops lend their talents to a school spirit-boosting effort that will find them running the game ball and school colors from Crookston to Thief River Falls in time for the 7:30 p.m. kickoff.

It's an idea Dyer has brought with him from his high school days in Staples. It was well-received there, and he's hoping for the same results here.

Thief River Falls cross country team members in grades 9-12 will bus to Crookstoon Friday afternoon, and will run one-mile intervals in pairs as the bus and their teammates accompany them.

Between 16-to-18 runners are expected to participate in the cross country run, with each team member totaling about six miles of running during the trip, which will end with the entire team entering the gates of Prowler Field at approximately 7:15.

A large Staples Invitational field Tuesday included the Thief River Falls boys and girls. Bemidji won both races. The Bemidji boys edged Long Prairie 62-70 for top honors, while the Bemidji girls easily beat runner-up St. Cloud Cathedral 43-83. Thief River Falls boys finished tenth in a 17-team field. The Thief River Falls girls fielded an incomplete team.

Thief River Falls' Lynn Mueller, a freshman, placed fourth in a field of 95 girls with a 12:34 two-mile run. The winner was Nicole Scherr of Morris in 12:08.

Junior Shayne Anderson led the Thief River Falls boys with a 33rd place finish in a field of 104 runners with an 18:40 three-mile run. Leif Larson of Bemidji won it in 16:51.

The Prowlers will participate in the Fergus Falls Invitational Thursday and will host their annual Thief River Falls Invitational Tuesday at 4 p.m. at the Thief River Golf Club.

Football Send-Off

All Thief River Falls elementary school students are being invited to be a special part of the high school football crowd at all of the Prowlers' home games this fall, said head coach Jeff Mumm.

In cooperation with the Touchdown Club, the elementary school students are being asked to form a pre-game introduction line to help send off the Prowlers at the start of each game at Prowler Field. The students are asked to form the line in front of the Thief River Falls lockerroom facility near the end of the bleachers just as the team leaves the field after completing the pre-game warm-ups.

A member of the Touchdown Club will be on hand to help line-up the youngsters, who will greet, and cheer on the Prowlers when the line-ups are announced over the public address system.

You do not have to be involved in the elementary school football program to be part of the pre-game activities, stressed Mumm. Boys and girls are invited to participate.

Thief River Falls opens its 1986 home schedule Friday with a 7:30 p.m. game against Crookston.

Swimmers Defeat Lakers By 106-65

Detroit Lakes was dual meet victim No. 4 Tuesday for the Thief River Falls girls as the Prowlers remained unbeaten in head-to-head high school swimming competition with a 106-65 victory over the Lakers at the Franklin Middle School pool.

"It was a very good effort by the girls," said Thief River Falls coach Jay Forney. The Prowlers turned in 15 personal career bests during the meet and 10 personal season bests. Laura Belto (200 I.M.), Karla Espe (100 butterfly) and Christy Puetz (100 freestyle) met Section 8 qualifying times last night.

Other meet highlights, according to Forney:

+ Puetz is closing in on breaking the 27-second barrier in the 50 freestyle.

+ Jenny Nelson had a solid diving performance.

+ Butterfly swimmers Marci Turenne, Michelle Turenne and Espe went 1-2-3.

+ Brenda Russell and Puetz both broke the one-minute mark in the 100 freestyle.

+ 400 freestyle relay team swam well.

Forney adds, however, that the Prowlers are gearing up for three weeks of good, solid workouts to improve upon starts, turns and stroke technique as they take aim at Fergus Falls, a perennial Section 8 power.

Area Teams Participate In Win-E-Mac Volleyball Event

Area teams Grygla, Oklee and Plummer participated in the two-day, four-team Win-E-Mac Invitational high school volleyball tournament at McIntosh Monday and Tuesday.

First day of competition featured a round-robin format to set the stage for Tuesday's match-ups. Plummer drew the top seed for Tuesday's finals with a 5-1 Monday-night record, followed by Win-E-Mac at 4-2, Grygla 2-4 and Oklee 1-5.

Oklee upset Plummer 15-3, 8-15, 15-10 while Win-E-Mac handled Grygla 15-3, 15-1 in Tuesday's semifinals.

Win-E-Mac then breezed by Oklee 15-1, 15-3 for the title and Grygla beating slumping Plummer 15-4, 15-7 for third place.

Oklee coach Brad Borene was impressed with the play of Win-E-Mac. "We didn't play that poorly against them," he explained. "They were just overpowering. They're really tough. They don't make any mistakes. They're definitely the class of the region in my mind."

Borene was real happy with the Bobcats' performance against a strong Plummer team, especially since Oklee overcame a 10-5 third game deficit to win. Julie Murack played well, he said, with 11 kill spikes and four kill blocks, while Cici Olson, Lisa Chaput and Cheri Hanson all performed well.

Grygla coach Mike Gast said his team also played well in beating Plummer. "We proved we can compete with the good teams," he noted.

Grygla hosts Marshall County Central Thursday and Warroad Monday. Oklee entertains Waubun Thursday.

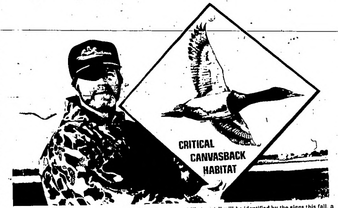
Sixth annual Headwaters Hundred bike ride is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 27.

The ride begins and ends in Park Rapids and follows a 100-mile or 100-kilometer route, which includes scenic Itasca State Park.

Events are the 100-mile citizens race which starts at 9 a.m. Three awards are given in each age-sex class with trophies to the first man and first woman overall and T-shirts to all finishers. The 100-mile or 100-kilometer (62-plus mile) tour offers an early start (between 7 and 8:30 a.m.) or a 9 a.m. beginning.

Both routes take riders along Highway 71 north to Itasca State Park and include more than 20 miles through the park where they can rest beneath majestic 250-year-old pines at Preacher's Grove, view Lake Itasca, cross the tiny stream that is the beginning of the mighty Mississippi and continue through Wilderness Drive.

For more information about the Headwaters 100 contact the Chamber of Commerce, Park Rapids, MN 56470; phone 732-4111.



THERE WILL BE a closed season on canvasbacks during the upcoming 1986 Minnesota waterfowl hunting season, and signs like these will help hunters identify the bird and those rivers, lakes and marshes that draw the attention of most of the canvasback in Minnesota. Canvasback harvest "hot spots" will be identified by the signs this fall, a result of a joint effort by Minnesota Waterfowl Association's Operation Canvasback chairman Don Helmeke (pictured) and noted wildlife artist Jim Meger, who designed the artwork for the sign.

For some members of the animal kingdom good acting can mean the difference between life or death, reports National Wildlife magazine. For example, the bombardier beetle, which lives in the Arizona desert, fights off predators by spraying an irritant from its abdomen while doing a headstand. A related beetle, which has no poison but good acting skills, manages to scare off enemies by imitating the same headstand position.

Canvasbacks Draw Attention

Minnesota Waterfowl Association, a 4,000 member organization of volunteers, in conjunction with the Department of Natural Resources and Turn In Poachers, recently launched the Critical Canvasback Habitat phase of its Operation Canvasback.

One of the goals of Operation Canvasback is to inventory and identify those rivers, lakes, and marshes in Minnesota that play host to the majority of North America's canvasback each spring and fall. Since Minnesota is one of the top canvasback harvest states top priority will be given to placing signs at can harvest "hot spots" this fall. Next spring the emphasis will shift to inventorying and placing signs on can breeding habitats in Minnesota.

The unique black and red on white sign featuring a dynamic drake canvasback is the result of a joint effort by MWA's Operation Canvasback chairman Don Helmcke and noted wildlife artist Jim Meger of Edina. Meger's dynamic, life-sized drake can will alert hunters to the presence of cans in the vicinity, remind hunters of their greater identification responsibilities during the canvasback closed season this fall, and will actually aid them in the development of their can identification skills. Perhaps the most important function of the signs will be to educate both hunters and the general public alike as to the critical state that the canvasback and its habitat are in.

Diamond shape background and flying can is the official logo of MWA's Operation Canvasback and fittingly symbolizes the "King" of waterfowl surrounded by his increasingly rare and valuable habitats — nature's true gems. Closer inspection of the unique 20-inch sign reveals the following messages along the margin: Turn In Poachers 800-652-9093 Metro 297-3999 Rewards! Report Violations: Habitat Destruction, Waterfowl Harrassment, Excessive Harvest, Vandalism. MN Waterfowl Assn. — Operation Canvasback.

Minnesota Waterfowl Association is a non-profit conservation organization concentrating its efforts in Minnesota's waterfowl resource and is supported by memberships and donations.

A $20 tax deductible donation to MWA — Operation Canvasback will receive an actual 20-inch square Critical Canvasback Habitat sign intended for use in hunting camps, sporting goods stores, schools, offices, rec rooms, etc. A collectors edition sign personally autographed by Meger is available for a $50 donation. Send donations to MWA—Operation Canvasback, 5701 Normandale Road, Edina, MN 55424. The Minnesota Waterfowl Association believes that the impact of our actions now will affect many future generations of canvasbacks and waterfowl enthusiasts all over North America and together, we can make a difference.

LAKEVIEW CONSTRUCTION Company from Glenwood recently completed First street bridge in Thief River Falls within contract guidelines and timetable. The old bridge has a six-foot sidewalk and two traffic lanes totaling 32 feet. With an average traffic count of about 11,000 vehicles per day on the old bridge, safety standards required traffic lights at Horace avenue. Now with four lanes of traffic on a 53 foot, five-inch roadway, the signals at Horace are no longer warranted and will not be reinstalled.

1st Street Bridge Nears Completion

After nearly 12 years of reports, hearings and project justifications First street bridge is officially completed. According to County Engineer Wayne Olson, work began on the project in 1975 when they started filing reports and working on receiving federal funds.

Lakeview Construction company from Glenwood was awarded the $774,505.30 contract to widen and rehabilitate the bridge and allowed 130 working days to complete the work. All that is left to complete that project is minor finishing and site cleanup.

"The contractor has been very good to work with and was concerned with convenience to the public. Last winter, the contractor decided to open the bridge to the old width — something that was not a part of the construction requirements and slowed his progress somewhat at that time. In light of this and other small changes, traffic moved quite smoothly considering the work that had to be done," Olson said.

A wider bridge will allow traffic to flow unimpeded by obstacles including traffic lights at Horace avenue. Safety standards required traffic lights at Horace avenue because of the size of the bridge and the fact that about 11,000 vehicles traveled across the bridge each day. Now with four lanes of traffic on a roadway that is 53 feet and five inches wide, the signals at Horace are no longer warranted and will not be put back in, according to Olson.

Such a large project means several contractors were involved. Approach work was done by Christiunson construction company of Bemidji. That contract, for $29,115 included repair of storm sewers, adjusting manholes and placing of approaches to the new bridge. Only minor work remains to complete that project also.

Other construction work included utility line modifications by the city of Thief River Falls and telephone line additions by Northwestern Bell.

Olson said a major portion of structure cost comes as allocation from the gas tax funds of the federal highway administration, a total, of $478,573.63; $119,643.41 came from the Minnesota bridge bonding fund, which gets paid back by state gas tax and license fees; $149,664 is regular state aid dollars of the Pennington county share of highway user fund that again is gas tax and license fees; and there was $21,299.41, and $5,324.85 of the contract costs paid by Northwestern Bell and the City of Thief River Falls — both had additional work done by their own crews.

The preliminary design services and approach design included the talent of Stewart and Walker engineering. Erickson Engineering of St. Louis Park completed the structural design.

In all, the county will have spent approximately $62,000 of county road and bridge funds for design services and the engineering and inspection done by the county highway department, Olson said.

Gilman And Davis Brought Eleanor To Life

by Sharon LaCoursiere
Times Reporter

The stage at Northland community college became Eleanor Roosevelt's sitting room for two short hours Saturday evening as Toni Gillman and her husband, Gordon Davis, brought "Eleanor: a celebration" to Thief River Falls. Gillman was Eleanor — Eleanor as gracious hostess — inviting the audience into her home to reminisce about her life.

Gillman presented us with Eleanor at age 64, but before our eyes turned the years back to become the "ugly duckling" little girl whose beautiful society matron mother called "granny," the orphan adolescent living with strict, religious grandparents, a young woman performing charity work in "Hell's Kitchen" of New York city; then led us skillfully through courtship and marriage to a far-removed cousin, a rising young politician named Franklin Delano Roosevelt; into the years of a wife, mother and First lady in the White House; and finally allowing us the privilege of meeting the Eleanor who has come to be known as "the greatest woman America has produced."

Off stage, Toni Gillman does not physically resemble Eleanor Roosevelt in the least. She is a bright-eyed, rosy-cheeked woman with short, curly, salt-and-pepper hair and a lovely, even-toothed smile. To become Eleanor, she uses curlers to straighten her naturally curly hair into the servere waves and bun of Eleanor, tones down her naturally ruddy cheeks with pancake, uses no eye make-up, and wears a specially fitted set of teeth over her own to produce Eleanor's toothy smile, as well as restricting some of nature's more prominent curves with bindings to imitate Eleanor's straighter figure.

Dresses worn by Eleanor in the production are not specially made, but purchased by Gillman in the "matron's" section of a clothing store, chosen for Eleanor's style and favorite blue color. Shoes are the heavy, black, "old lady" type that Eleanor favored, with nearly opaque stockings. Eleanor's jewelry consists of many rings and necklaces, no earrings, and a watch brooch that was a gift from Franklin.

All set materials and props are either authentic reproductions or actual antiques, chosen to enhance the mood and texture of the production. Gillman supervises careful placement of the set materials while Davis is in charge of unloading 500 pounds of equipment from a rented van they use for their travels.

Since their itinerary takes them to 11 states, a considerable amount of time is spent in travel, which they both enjoy. "we seem to run into quite a few wonderful things," remarked Toni. "And I love meeting the people

AN EXPRESSIVE FACE is seen, but hardly that of Eleanor Roosevelt. Toni Gillman chats while she and her husband, Gordon Davis, set up 500 pounds of props before their Saturday performance at the Northland community college theater. Toni became Eleanor by uncurling her hair to produce Eleanor's severe bun, avoiding all make-up except that needed to disguise her naturally ruddy complexion, adding specially designed teeth, and binding some of her natural curves.

Loeslie Elected To Ag Council Board

Don Loeslie, a member of the Minnesota wheat research and promotion council from Warren, has been elected to the board of directors of the Agricultural Council of America during the ACA's annual meeting in Washington.

Loeslie, who is the immediate past president of the Minnesota Association of Wheat Growers and a former president of the National Association of Wheat Growers, attended the ACA meeting representing both Minnesota and the national wheat growers organizations.

According to Loeslie, the ACA is the only organization that brings together under one umbrella the diverse sectors of America's largest industry, from farm organizations and commodity groups to processors, manufacturers and financial institutions. He said the priority issue selected for action by the ACA board is restoring prosperity to rural America by expanding demand for U.S. agricultural exports.

The national commission on agricultural exports and trade policy, selected the ACA as the action organization to follow through on its July recommendations on policy and administrative changes that would restimulate export markets, Loeslie said.

Leading the ACA is former U.S. secretary of agriculture and Minnesota Governor, Orville Freeman.

At a special White House briefing on the negotiations for a possible new round of global trade talks, Reagan administration officials told Loeslie and other directors of the ACA that they are determined to have agriculture fully on the talks' agenda for the first time in the post war era.

Loeslie helped evaluate the officials' comments during strategy sessions led by Freeman, and challenged the speakers at the White House briefing on their concern only on the markets that export competitors have taken from the United States.

"The real competitor for overseas markets is not other agricultural exporters, but rather it is the international banks," he said. "Our growth is in the developing nations, however the debt is also in the developing nations and the money they spend is spent for interest on their national debt. The banks are extracting an interest dollar at the expense of a food dollar and it is being perpetrated by the currency exchange," Loeslie emphasized.

FIRST LUTHERAN CHURCH in Middle River has been undergoing some major changes structurally. Rev. Mark Gehrke said the church reinsulated, had stucco removed, resided and will add a 24 foot by 40 foot addition which will be handicapped accessible. The extra room will allow for fellowship after services. He also said that it will eventually have a spot for a handicapped and wheelchair lift. Jimmy Sorter and Darell Severts are doing the construction work, and Richard Kruta did the design for the new addition. The church recently celebrated its 90th anniversary. Its theme, which ties in nicely with the new addition, was "Visions of Growth," 2 Peter 3:18.

TONI GILLMAN brought Eleanor Roosevelt to Northland community college theater Saturday evening as she and her husband, Gordon Davis, presented "Eleanor: a Celebration" to an enthusiastic audience. The authentic history lesson was enjoyably disguised in a touching, professional performance by Gillman. As she said, "a spoonful of sugar surely helps the medicine go down." The presentation was written by Gordon Davis and opened in St. Paul on the 100th anniversary of Eleanor's birth, Oct. 11, 1984, and has since toured the country playing to capacity crowds.

Library Built In 1966 Is Reviewed

(Editor's Note: This year on October 6-11 the Thief River Falls public library is observing the 20th anniversary of the opening of the present library building and the 85th anniversary of the founding of the local library. The following article was taken from a publication prepared in 1966 for the opening of the new library and contains information about the building and program at that time.)

In July of 1964 the federal government passed a bill establishing funds for building new libraries or expanding existing facilities and services. The library division of the Minnesota State Department of Education is responsible for distributing these funds in the state. Thief River Falls was high on the list of communities desiring and needing such financial assistance. Money became available to the city on a matching fund basis.

Prompt action was taken by the city council; our appropriation amounted to $80,000 from the state, matched with an equal amount by the city. The site was purchased on the southeast corner of Main avenue and First street at an additional cost to the city of $20,000. The library board chose the architectural firm of Hammel, Green & Abrahamson, Inc. of St. Paul to design the new building. Dean L. Wichter, Inc. of Minneapolis was the contracting firm.

The new location is south of Carnegie library, across first street. The lot measures 100 ft. by 140 ft. Exterior dimensions of the structure are 96 ft. by 112 ft., which gives an area of 10,752 square feet compared with 4,800 square feet (basement included) in the old library. Construction began during October of 1965 and was completed in June of 1966.

Total cost of the new facility was $233,000; the federal grant was increased to $133,000, the city portion was $80,000 plus $20,000 for the land. Pennington county contributed $6,000, a sum without which we could not have qualified for federal funds.

Interior decorating and purchasing of new equipment were done by Robert H. Rolf, library consultant, and Hammel, Green & Abrahamson, Inc. The exterior red brick is used on the interior walls; a wooden beamed ceiling, narrow arched windows facing west and six exterior archways so prominent through the north glass wall enhance the pleasant interior.

In addition to the roomy main section, the floor plan includes a children's area, a multi-purpose room to be used for meetings or showing films, large workroom, lounge and kitchenette for the staff, librarian's office, cloakroom, furnace and store room, and public restrooms; there is a garage on the east side to accommodate a bookmobile.

The main floor section is carpeted and tile covers the remaining areas. The library division stipulated that the new library have air conditioning, sprinkling system and a wheel chair ramp into the building.

The Minnesota Public Library Film circuit will be offered in the fall of 1966. The library will receive 20 films every six weeks on a revolving basis with other subscribing libraries. These films will be free of charge to the residents of Pennington county.

The library staff, library board, city council and Friends of the Library are extremely pleased with the new Thief River Falls public library.

Farmers Working To Prepare Land For Spring Crops

Most area landowners are rushing now with their fall field work to get the fields in shape for spring planting. Proper fall field work means fewer problems come spring planting time. This holds true for nearly all spring seeded crops. Those farmers who have land going into the conservation reserve for 1987 should be preparing their land in the same way.

Conservation reserve (CR) contracts require acceptable cover for the duration of the contract. The keys to getting an adequate cover include: (1) Good field preparation, which means tearing up or burying a stubble or soddy cover and working the field enough to have a clean and smooth field; (2) good seed with high germination and purity; and (3) seeding and covering the correct seed mixture to the proper depth and density.

There is cost share money available to defray some of the costs of establishing conservation reserve cover. This will be available only after seeding is completed into an adequately prepared seedbed. Annual payments are also contingent on meeting all program requirements.

Those who have a question on field preparation or seeding method, may contact your local SWCD office for assistance. In Marshall county, call 745-4351 in Warren or 294-6144 in Grygla; and in Pennington county, call 681-3348.

Marshall May Add 41,000 Acres To Reserve Program

Minnesota's farmers continue to participate strongly in the U.S. department of agriculture's (USDA) conservation reserve program (CRP).

Figures just released from the third CRP signup, which ended August 14, show that 368,112 more acres of highly erodible land in Minnesota have been accepted by the USDA's agricultural stabilization and conservation service (ASCS) according to Don Friedrich, ASCS state executive director.

Adding that figure to the first two CRP signups in 1986, Minnesota now has 661,179 acres enrolled in the C RP by 7,308 landowners.

Marshall county was again well represented in acres of land bid into the conservation reserve. According to Marshall county ASCS director Jerome Turgeon, over 190 bids on 41,000 acres were in the acceptable dollar range. The SCS is still working on checking the soil to determine which fields are highly erosive.

Nationally, for the third signup, USDA officials in Minnesota said that Minnesota ranked first in total number of farms bid into the CRP; first in the number of acceptable bids; third in total cost (dollars coming into Minnesota) of the CRP; and fourth in total acres accepted into the CRP. Only Texas, Colorado and Kansas have enrolled more acres into CRP than Minnesota.

The CRP is a voluntary, environmental program aimed at reducing excessive soil erosion from cropland and improving water quality be reducing sedimentation. On and off-site erosion effects will be reduced. Wildlife habitat and forest land will be developed and increased through the CRP.

To participate in CRP, a land user must sign a 10-year rental contract with the USDA, agreeing to take eligible land out of crop production and put it into perennial grass, wildlife plantings, windbreaks or trees.

For more information about the USDA's CRP, land user-operators should contact their local USDA offices of ASCS and SCS or the Minnesota department of natural resources, forestry and wildlife divisions.

Need Volunteers For Marshall Co. Transportation

Marshall county social services is in the process of recruiting volunteer drivers for the transportation program. Requirements include carrying automobile insurance as required by the state of Minnesota, notifying the insurance company and maintaining the car in safe working conditions, including functional seat belts.

All volunteers 60 years of age or older may become RSVP (Retired Senior Volunteer Program) drivers. Volunteers are desperately needed. Further information about this program may be obtained by contacting Bruce Elseth, Volunteer Services Coordinator, at Marshall county social services, phone 745-5124.

His Tomorrow . . . . . . Our Today

"I'm on my way!" Such is the confidence his eyes as well as his lips express. If all youngsters could be certain an exciting destiny is theirs. . .

Many aspects of our children's tomorrow depend on our today. Are we instilling a right sense of values? Cultivating spiritual and moral awareness? Setting an example of responsible living? Encouraging the development of strong character, firm faith?

Conscientious parents rely upon the religious institutions of our community for support. Family worship, Bible study, wholesome service activities have a vital influence in shaping a youngster's future.

Praying that God will guide our children's tomorrow—naturally we turn to Him for guidance today.

THE VOICE of BUSINESS

by Richard L. Lesher, President
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

In 1983, Congressman Bob Wise (D-W. Va.) tried to kill a $26 million federal dam project for his district, an almost unheard of political gesture. A year later his share of the vote rose by 10 per cent over the previous election.

In 1984, Congressman Dan Lungren (R-Calif.) sought to torpedo construction of a $20 million federal building in his district. He also saw his share of the vote increase by four per cent from 1982.

The experiences of Wise and Lundgren are notable because they fly in the face of conventional political wisdom. Bringing home the bacon has long been a sacred cow of politics. It is assumed that any member of Congress who wants to get reelected must grab a share of the pork barrel.

But the conventional wisdom is wrong. Two recent studies, one by a Washington, D.C. research firm and another by political scientists from Texas A&M university, suggest there is no correlation between the pork barrel and the voting booth. In separate analyses of voting trends, researchers discovered that few voters attempt to reward politicians who obtain federal money for their districts, or punish those who do not.

And we are not talking just about pork barrel projects, either. For example, social security has long been regarded as the "third rail" of American politics; anyone who trifled with it was assumed to be dead political meat.

But Congressman Connie Mack (R-Fla.) whose sidtrict includes a disproportionate number of retirees, has encountered remarkable flexibility on the subject from his elderly consituents. Many who attend meetings with him in his district have stated their willingness to forego cost-of-living increases to help trim the federal deficit.

All of which suggests Congress has much more leeway to confront the deficit than is commonly believed. Voters are a savvy lot, aware of the dangers of runaway deficits, and concerned about the future of our country. They will support legislators who resist the pork barrel mentality.

The notion that our elected representatives must buy votes with federal dollars is obsolete and offensive. The time has come to grind this sacred cow into hamburger.

Gilman And Davis Brought Eleanor To Life For Audience

—especially the young people — the students." Students comprise the greater part of their audiences since they play to colleges, universities, community education centers and art councils, also offering workshops on theater.

The couple makes their home, when they find time, in Cloquet, MN. A year of retirement there ended when they were asked to consider "Eleanor: a celebration." After a year of research and preparation, the play opened exactly 100 years from the date of Eleanor's birth, October 11, 1984, at the Chimera Theatre in St. Paul. The seven or eight one-night stands originally predicted have become presentations in 11 states from Huntinton, WV, to Santa Fe, NM, extending over 11 months. The Davises said they like to spend December at home if possible.

Gordon Davis is the writer-director of "Eleanor: a celebration." He and Toni Gillman have been married six years, his second marriage, her third. Together they have 10 children and 15 grandchildren, and will become great-grandparents in the spring. His career listing includes actor, writer, director, producer, novelist and journalist, in fields of stage, television and radio. He is the author of the novel, "The Face of Chalk."

Toni Gillman maintains she "puts Eleanor on with the make up" and "leaves her on the stage" after a performance. Though the physical Eleanor disappers, we see her zest for life in Toni. Like Eleanor, Toni enjoys people. She has the facility of empathizing entirely with those she meets, her expressive face revealing child-like interest, and a smile illuminating every other sentence. She bubbles with enthusiasm and energy, names of famous actors and actresses casually dropping from her lips while relating incidents of her career. Toni is a woman in total control of her life who knows just where she's going — much like Eleanor's purposeful stride toward set goals and objectives.

Member of a fifth generation theatrical family, Toni's career began at the age of four. She has performed in theater, movies, radio and television, with the likes of Jackie Gleason, Joan Caulfield, Imogene Coca, Will Geer, Henny Youngman, Betty Furness, Celeste Holm, Joan Fontaine, Humphrey Bogart, Fredric March, Spencer Tracy, Myrna Loy, William Powell, Miriam Hopkins, and most recently with Ben Vereen, Rory Calhoun and Colleen Dewhurst. Before performing as Eleanor, she directed the play, "Morning's At Seven," for the Chimera Theatre in St. Paul.

Next stop for the Davises is Ashland, Wisconsin. They leave those who attended "Eleanor: a celebration" with an accurate history lesson disguised by a most enjoyable, well presented, professional performance.

Map Last Acre Of Soil Test In Beltrami County

A "Last Acre" ceremony was held at Bemidji September 15 to signify the completion of field mapping for the Beltrami county soil survey.

Participants included Paul Sandstrom, soil conservation service; Dave Krystosek and Kitura Ricci, Beltrami.

Soil and water coservation district employees; John Cronemiller, Beltami soil and water conservation district board; Dave Larson, SCS soil scientist; Peter Bates, MAES soil scientist; Kenneth Glidden, Beltrami county commissioner; Cheryl Sistad, Marshall-Beltrami soil and water conservation district employee, Grygla; Bill Patenaude, Beltrami county planning and zoning; and Rod Heschke, SCS area soil scientist.

The day began with a bus tour to Otto Schmunk park for a discussion of groundwater concerns by Dale Krystosek and Kitura Ricci. They showed how groundwater moves and is affected by pollution and how pollution spreads through the aquifier. The bus tour continued to a farm east of Bemidji to view and hear how the soil survey helped in presenting alternatives and helping a farmer make decisions on how to treat a gully problem on a sloping field. The group then proceeded to Bemidji state park for a presentation on uses for the soil survey in managing forested acres owned by Beltrami county.

Following a luncheon sponsored by the Beltrami soil and water conservation district, the official ceremony began. The welcome was given by John Cronemiller of the district. "How the Survey was Made" was discussed by Peter Bates and Dave Larson. Paul Sandstrom explained some of the ways the survey will be used by various people and agencies.

Comments on the survey were made by Kenneth Glidden for the county board; Cheryl Sistad for the Marshall-Beltrami soil and water conservation District; Bill Patenaude for the county planning and zoning group and Rod Heschke for the SCS. Closing remarks were made by John Cronemiller.

The last acre mapping was completed in the state park at this time. The printed soil survey will be available in 1989 but the soils information is available at the present time. Anyone wanting soils information in Beltrami county should contact the NE Beltrami SWCD in Bemidji or the Marshall-Beltrami SWCD in Grygla.

Ideas Given To Help Qualify For Loan At Bank

For those considering applying for a loan, advance planning, a carefully filled out application and a good banking relationship can tip the odds in their favor, says the Minnesota Society of CPAs.

Before you talk to a loan officer about a personal loan, it might be smart to review your credt report, especially if you have ever been delinquent in paying bills. Find out from the bank which credit-reporting bureau it works with. Contact that bureau and ask for a written copy of your credit report. The fee will be about $8. Any blemishes, such as late payments or unpaid balances, which could hinder your chances of getting a loan, will be outlined in the report.

If you find any creditor's complaints in the report, contact those creditors and discuss paying any remaining bills. Your objective is to have then withdraw their complaints, leaving your credit report in good order.

Also make an appointment to talk to your banker or loan officer to discuss your needs. He or she will tell you what kinds of loans might be appropriate for your situation, such as a term or line-of-credit loan.

Fill out a loan application with great care and as completely as possible. Don't rush; a polished, complete application will help create a favorable impression.

You may want to have a CPA assist you by reviewing your application and, if needed, by helping you prepare a personal financial statement.

Remember, your banker may verify any information you put on your application, so be sure you've accurately recorded all information.

The loan officer will make sure your application is in order and forward it to a loan committee for a decision. However, for smaller loans, the loan officer will usually make the decision personally.

Establish a good rapport with your banker. If your banker is familiar with your financial situation, he or she may be able to swing a borderline loan decision in your favor.

Also, banks and savings and loan institutions aren't the only sources for a loan. Credit unions, loans against your insurance policies and brokerage firms offer certain opportunities to borrow money. Your employer may have a retirement fund that allows you to borrow a certain amount against your fund balance.

What if you are turned down? Find out why. According to CPAs, a bank is obligated to tell you why it rejected your application. If you meet the basic qualifications, you and your banker may be able to work out an agreement.

Common Science

by Joe Jeffers, Ph.D.

Americans consume more than 20 tons of aspirin each day. Why? It is excellent as a fever reducer and a pain reliever. Aspirin works because it blocks the production of prostaglandins. Prostaglandins are hormone-like materials made in every tissue in the body. They are involved in numerous functions. They regulate blood pressure and affect clotting; they promote conception and stimulate labor; they regulate transmission of nerve impulses and inhibit the flow of gastric juices. New uses are being found every year. Excessive amounts of prostaglandins produce pain, inflammation and fever. That's where aspirin comes in. By blocking prostaglandin formation, the fever, pain and inflammation can be reduced.

Recent studies seem to indicate that aspirin may be effective in preventing the formation of deadly clots that can lead to heart attacks and strokes. Some doctors are now recommending an aspirin a day to patients with severe heart pains or those who have had an earlier heart attack. The studies are not conclusive, so it may be too early to hail aspirin as the great life saver

There is a dark side to the aspirin story. It causes more persons to be hospitalized due to adverse reactions than any other over-the-counter drug. Certain persons are very allergic to aspirin. They may have difficulty breathing or develop abdominal pain. Their heart beats may become irregular. They may go into shock and die.

These highly susceptible persons are often those with asthma or other severe allergies. Obviously, they must avoid aspirin. For the rest of us there may be other problems. Aspirin is hard on the stomach. It breaks down the barrier that protects the stomach against its own acid. It can, therefore, lead to stomach bleeding and promote the formation of ulcers. This effect is even greater if alcohol is in the stomach at the same time as aspirin.

If a person who is taking large doses of aspirin (six tablets per day for two or more days) is exposed to loud sounds, some temporary loss of hearing may result. There is a concern that repeated episodes in sensitive persons may lead to permanent hearing loss.

Studies have also implicated aspirin in the development of Reye's Syndrome in children and teenagers who have recently had the chicken pox or flu. A swelling of the brain combined with liver and blood problems can lead to a coma and death. It is not known what causes Reye's Syndrome, but studies indicate that young people who take aspirin when they have the flu or chicken pox are 25 times more likely to develop Reye's.

High doses of aspirin in animals have led to birth defects. There is no evidence, however, that normal doses of aspirin cause birth defects in humans. It can alter the effects of certain prescription drugs. Check with your doctor before taking aspirin while on other medication.

When certain types of bacteria or viruses invade the body and live off it like a parasite, an infection results. Unbroken skin is a barrier to such disease causing organisms, and to a certain extent so are the mucous membranes of the digestive system and the lungs. Certain microbes, however, can penetrate the mucous membranes. Others can pass through breaks in the skin. If microbes get by this first line of defense, types of white blood cells are rushed in to attack.

In addition to these general defenses against foreign invaders, the body also reacts in a very specific way to each separate type of infection. It produces antibodies, protein molecules that specifically fit each infecting agent and cause it to be neutralized. This reaction is called an immune response. Unfortunately, the immune response is at times too little and too late to prevent an infection.

However, once we have had a disease we may find that we do not get it again. In effect, we are immune to it. Ideally it would be nice to gain this immunity before we get the disease, since the effects of certain diseases like polio or typhoid can be catastrophic. That is where vaccinations come in.

In the early 1700s, England's Lady Montagu, who had been severly scarred by small pox, accompanied her husband to Turkey. She discovered that Turks rarely got small pox. Turkish women collected material from the sores of persons with mild cases of small pox and placed it in walnut shells. Then they had "parties" where whole families would get the treatment. A needle was used to open a vein in a person and a small amount of material was removed from the walnut shell and placed in the vein. A very mild case of small pox would develop, but no scarring would occur and afterward, the person was immune to small pox. The Turks were vaccinating against small pox

In 1796 an Englishman named Edward Jenner vaccinated a small boy with material from a cowpox sore. Several weeks later Jenner infected the boy with small pox and the boy did not get the disease. The extremely mild reaction to the cowpox was enough to provide immunity to small pox. Today vaccinia virus, a laboratory developed virus similar to small pox and cowpox, is used for small pox vaccinations.

How does the vaccination work? The foreign invader, whether it be small pox virus or the bacteria that causes typhoid fever, is generally called an antigen. When an antigen enters the body, a type of white blood cells known as lymphocytes encounters the antigen. The body has millions of different types of lymphocytes. Only those few types that match precisely with the antigen will be stimulated to develop. Some of these cells will produce antibodies to neutralize the antigens.

The process, however, is slow and the amount of antibody produced is not very much. That is the reason that a person generally gets a disease the first time it strikes. However, other lymphocytes will multiply and become memory cells. These cells "remember" the antigen. The next time the disease enters the body, the specific antibodies are made very rapidly and in large amounts. They neutralize the antigens and one does not get the disease.

The idea behind the vaccination, is to give one a mild case of the disease to stimulate the production of memory cells for that disease. If the disease is caused by a virus, the virus can be weakened by heat or chemicals where it will cause little or no infection and yet still stimulate the formation of memory cells. If the disease is caused by bacteria, either heat-killed bacteria or their chemically weakened toxins can be used as vaccines. Since the memory cells are specific only to that one disease, different vaccines must be given for each disease against which one wishes to be immune. Even then the immunity may not last a lifetime. If not, booster shots must be taken.

Going To The Trenches

"In the war on drugs, no combatants are so fierce as congressmen with their jobs at stake," writes columnist Sandy Grady in the St. Paul Pioneer Press.

His assessment was made about the apparent enthusiasm with which members of congress agreed to pull out all stops in combatting illegal drugs. Actions considered, and some approved, included such as using the military against drug dealers, allowing police to use illegally gained evidence in court against pushers, mandatory life sentences for those caught twice selling drugs to children and the death penalty for those drug "kingpins" who caused anybody else's death.

Rep. John Conyers of Michigan referred to legislation passed by the House of Representatives as the "fry 'em bill". Rep. Claude Pepper, 86, Florida, stated that "In this atmosphere, a bill to draw and quarter drug pushers would pass in an instant." Rep. Bill Hughes of New Jersey, who drafted the original bill, cautioned that "Everybody wants to be tough on crime, but we've got a steamroller going here — we're doing some very questionable things."

Managing editor Larry C. Simons of the Grand Rapids Herald-Review puts his finger on the pulse of the situation when he notes: "One must remember that this is an election year and woe be unto the politico who is viewed as being soft on drug peddlers, even if what he is really concerned about is maintaining the rights promised under the Constitution."

He also pointed out that there has been a serious drug problem in the nation for years and that Congress has paid no particular attention until the bandwagon started rolling. Suddenly everyone seemed to be afraid there wouldn't be a seat on the bandwagon for them.

What it all boils down to is that to safeguard individual freedom for everyone, freedom must be extended to even the law-breakers. That is difficult for most people to understand, and especially hard for those who have seen family members damaged by drugs or the people who abuse drugs.

It is particularly hard to show sympathy or compassion toward people who seek to profit off the misery of their fellow human beings. The drug pusher, the dealer, the transporter, the manufacturer and the producer are all similarly dispicable characters who traffic in pain, suffering and human weakness. The tendency is to want to place these people below the law of the land and make them ineligible for constitutional rights.

Every American has been encouraged by President and Mrs. Ronald Reagan to join in the fight against drugs. Editor Larry Simons is right when he says, "Sign us up, but only if it is a clean fight — one which does not trample on the rights of all of us."

Producers Need Bigger Share

In a recent guest column in "Communicating for Agriculture", Rep. Byron Dorgan of North Dakota said, "The farmers who grow the corn, wheat and rice . . . are going broke. But the people who puff it, crisp it, flake it, shred it . . . are going to the bank with full pockets."

A later CA editorial noted: "In other words, to quote an old song line, 'the middleman's the man who gets it all'. We don't want to take potshots at the much-maligned middlemen, who take a lot of flak the way it is. The processing, packaging and transporting that they do have given a pretty good standard of living to all of us as consumers.

"But they wouldn't have any product to work with if it weren't for the farmers and ranchers who do the original producing of our food and fiber. So something is drastically wrong here. Why do the people who play the most vital role in our food and fiber cycle keep getting relegated to lower and lower positions in terms of economic return?"

The editorial pointed out that the farmers' share of each food dollar spent by U.S. consumers for food last year has dropped to 31 cents, breaking a 52-year-old record.

"Let's assume for a moment," the editorial states, "that trends keep going the way they have been. Pretty soon the farmers will only get 21 cents out of the consumer food dollar . . . then 11 cents . . . then one cent . . . then no cents. They who will produce our food and fiber? The middlemen? If it gets to that, consumers will have some very difficult adjustments to make, because production won't be handled nearly as efficiently nor economically as now."

It is likely true that non-producers would have a difficult time doing a good job of production agriculture, just as most farmers with expertise in tilling, planting, harvesting, haying, feeding or milking would find difficulty adjusting to processing and marketing.

We recall an area hog producer who did a pretty good job of raising hogs but wasn't making any money. He figured the "middleman" was taking his profit so he decided to become a "middleman". It was his idea to do the processing of his hogs and get them directly to the customer.

He soon found that he needed access to a retailing system to get that job done, because of the volume needed. And the governmental requirements and regulations which made acquisition of facilities and equipment prohibitive kept him out of processing. So he decided to contract for processing and sell to the retailer, as well as doing some wholesaling to large volume users in the area.

It wasn't long before he came to the realization that he was doing a lot more work and not making any more money. The "middleman" was really many people doing specialized jobs well — better than the farmer could do any of them himself. His problem wasn't the middleman's profit, it was not getting a sufficient price for the hogs he raised — the job he did best. Sadly, he went out of the hog business and left the area.

Communicating for Agriculture notes that in Texas assistance is being made available to farmer groups for getting cooperative processing facilities going. One of them is an onion ring processing facility that onion farmers are operating. Another approach suggested is a one per cent tax on groceries with the proceeds going directly to farmers and ranchers.

Rep. Dorgan is quoted as saying that it's time to "take a few bucks from those who puff the wheat and give it to those who grow the wheat."

If you're a grower, that may sound like a fair proposal. If you're one who puffs the wheat, it might not sound as fair. Taking from one and giving to the other is not the answer. Eliminating the middlemen is not the answer. The farmer must be able to price his product to allow for a profit over cost of production. That is the answer to increase his share of the food dollar. A fair price for a good product isn't too much to expect.

Loans Must Be Repaid

Following editorial comment is from the Red Wing Republican Eagle:

As repugnant as it may seem, the Agriculture Department is doing the right thing in hiring private bill collectors to pursue delinquent federal farm loans. In the interest of fair play and sound business practices, every effort must be made to collect from those who can pay.

The Farmers Home Administration — the department's rural credit office — has announced that 6,500 delinquent federal farm loans have been turned over to a commercial bill collector. This is in line with the aggressive stance taken by other federal agencies, particularly the Department of Education, which is going after delinquent college tuition loans.

Because the farm situation is difficult and farmers are special in the heart of many Americans, it is not easy to accept the use of private bill collectors. Some Farm Belt leaders are so angry, in fact, that they predict some congressmen who supported the present farm program will be former congressmen after the November elections.

But it seems even more difficult to accept the discriminatory practice of pursuing loan payments from one group of people while letting another group slide by. It is high time the federal government became aggressive in collecting delinquent loans.

A Farmer's Creed

The following creed penned by an unidentified author was printed in a recent issue of "Dairymen's Digest":

I believe a man's greatest possession is his dignity and that no calling bestows this more abundantly than farming.

I believe hard work and honest sweat are the building blocks of a person's character.

I believe that farming, despite its hardships and disappointments, is the most honorable and honest way a man can spend his days on this earth.

I believe farming nurtures the close family ties that make life rich in ways money can't buy.

I believe my children are learning values that will last a lifetime and can be earned in no other way.

I believe farming provides education for life, and that no other occupation teaches so much about birth, growth and maturity in such a variety of ways.

I believe when a man grows old and sums up his days, he should be able to stand tall and feel pride in the life he lived.

I believe in farming because it makes all things possible.

Borrowed Nonsense

"We have a scenic checkbook," the wife explained to a friend. "Every time I write a check he makes a scene."

"To the bold and innovative, change is an opportunity, but it's a problem to the insecure. Those who develop strategies for survival and strength will reap the rewards. Those who don't will look for scapegoats and conspiracies."

N.A.H.

The September 26, 1946 Times informed readers that the 1947 license plates must be purchased by November 15 to avoid penalty, and they were available from A.F. Berge, deputy register. This was the first year since 1942 that the state motor vehicle department had issued two plates. The plates for passenger cars would have black figures on an aluminum-colored background; plates for trucks, tractors and trailers would have chrome letters on a black background.

The Plummer Village Council published a "Warning to Plummer Motorists: Notice is hereby given to all motorists to comply with the following traffic regulations set up and adopted by the Village Council of Plummer to safeguard human lives and property in order to avoid accidents as much as possible:

-Reduce speed limits to 20 miles per hour in village limits;

-To make complete stops at all stop signs.

-Make U turns only in intersections;

-Park cars at 45 degree angle to right side of street;

-To refrain from an illegal backing away from the curb;

-Use every precaution to comply with all traffic regulations local or state.

Police officers have been notified to patrol all streets and make arrests of all violators and punish according to law."

Speaking of cars, it seems that there was some difficulty in obtaining a new car. Both C. Gustafson and Son, Inc., the Nash dealer, and Northern Chevrolet Company had ads asking their customers who were awaiting the arrival of new cars to be patient and understanding. It seems production of new cars was far below the level the companies had expected after the war — demand was exceeding production. Purchasers were advised to maintain their old car with a tune up at the Chevy shop.

Meat was also at a premium. Price controls on meat were restored in August and all of the local grocery stores avoided mentioning it in sale ads except the L.B. Hartz store, whose meat department advised customers, "We will have as complete a stock (of meat) as possible under present conditions. You can be sure that what we have will be Good Quality and will be priced as low as possible." The Red Owl super market had a "3 Cheers for Chick'n Eatin' " sale with fryers for 52 cents a pound, roasters for 47 cents, and stewers for 45 cents. They also advertised salmon steaks for 39 cents a pound, and walleyed pike and rosefish for 43 cents. The L.B. Hartz store did offer "canned FISH, use like salmon," one pound can for 25 cents. (One can't help but wonder about that!)

If a housewife couldn't find meat to feed the family, she might just as well fill them up with bread, since Fleischman's yeast had a new product: "No more worry about yeast getting stale." New, fast-rising dry yeast would keep full-strength for weeks on the pantry shelf, and she could "Make delicious bread any time at a moment's notice." (Just takes a few short hours to beat, knead and raise, right?)

STRAIGHT TALK

Albert D. Hattis, Associate Professor of Business and Holder of the Schwan Endowed Chair for Free Enterprise, Southwest State University, Marshall

For a couple of years we have been bombarded on the subject of tax reform to achieve tax fairness. I don't know what fairness means. I live in a home with a market value of about $160,000, and our real estate tax for this year, after a homestead exemption deduction, was over $4,000.

Before retiring from business to become a teacher, I lived in a brand new home adjoining a golf course that had a market value of about $250,000 and paid a real estate tax of about $2,000. I have two family cars with about the same deflated value as what I formerly owned, and yet I now pay an auto license tax on my two cars that's seven times what I paid in the past. With salary as a teacher about a third what it was in business, my state income taxes today almost equal what I was paying at the past higher earnings rate.

Are my real estate, auto license and state income taxes fair in 1986? Were they fair in 1980?

The point: "Fairness' is whatever our legislators, state and federal, define it to be.

The so-called reform tax proposals eliminate interest payment deductions on consumer purchases, other than house mortgages. They do allow mortgage interest on second, third, fourth and fifth houses. Since the average American family buys a lot on credit, this lost interest deductibility is significant. The so-called reform tax proposals elimminate the individual retirement account deduction for those who have an employer retirement program, that could be cancelled or may not be vested, and that affects millions of Americans who were saving for their retirement. Are either of these modifications fair? While these two deductions were supposedly offset by lower tax rates, a lot of testing indicates to me that this isn't true!

The real estate industry is in big trouble. Too many office buildings, hotels and apartments have been built. Now we are changing the rules on deductions for depreciation and other aspects of real estate, including tax shelters. I don't know whether the original rules were fair, but I do know that decisions were made based on those existing rules and changing them in mid-stream is causing a lot of pain — although I have never had a tax shelter.

One of the proposed changes is wrong. It will create more problems for our manufacturing industries that have already lost millions of jobs. This change will make us less able to compete in a world that is increasingly cost conscious and where American prices and costs are way out of line. We were just beginning to achieve competitive costs, aided by a cheaper dollar, that have just started encouraging American companies to sell more overseas and import less because American products of quality were cost-equal or cheaper then foreign products.

This change is elimination of the investment tax credit and fast depreciation. About 25 years ago we recognized that we had to do something to lower American product costs and make American products competitive. Companies had allowed their labor costs to get way out of line with excessively high wage and benefit costs and work rules and procedures that added to the problem. The investment tax credit and fast depreciation encouraged American business to invest in improved factories and up-to-date equipment. Elimination of this investment tax credit and fast depreciation will discourage this investment and set back the effort to make American business competitive.

All other "Fairness" questions are a matter of debate as revenue generating decisions. The investment tax credit and accelerated depreciation have proven their value. Elimination of these two productivity improvement tools is stupid!.

That's Straight Talk!

Three years ago, a reader had a two day hospital stay for a cataract operation. His bill, more than $4,000 shocked him. He checked with the U.S. department of health and human services, and found health care costs had skyrocketed more than five times faster than inflation from 1950 through 1983, with doctor's fees up eight times faster, dentist's fees up six times faster, hospital charges up 11 times faster, and medicine up four times faster. When I mentioned this, I was flooded with horror stories from thousands of people.

My reader took a special interest in his local hospital and found it overloaded with high paid staff and infrequently used beds and expensive equipment. He found the average doctor was earning more than $100,000 a year, after expenses but before income taxes. He found that, while inflation had come down, in 1983 health care costs were inflating at a double digit rate. He was angry at the health care industry. He found studies indicating that the general public had little respect for the "gougers" they perceived the health care people to be.

I checked the readers' statistics and found that he was right, the health care industry was either gouging or careless. The health care people claimed that this higher cost was the result of an aging population, but a look at the data from 1950 to 1985, indicated that our 55 to 64 year old group has only gone from 8.8 per cent of the people to 9.6 per cent, and that our 65 and over population has only risen from 8.1 per cent to 11.3 per cent of the population. That aging population excuse doesn't explain away what has happened.

The doctors, dentists, hospitals and their trade associations sent the lots of nasty notes, but the facts were clear. The doctors and hospitals were the principal gougers, but the dentists and pharmaceutical industry were not too far behind. Some of these gougers even attempted to apply pressures on the university to squelch my health care cost columns.

In 1983, the federal government and insurance carriers started campaigns to cut health care costs. The result, health care cost inflation, almost 13 per cent each year, went down to six per cent in 1984. It appeared that the fight for fair and reasonable health care charges had been won. It wasn't. Inflation reports for 1986 indicate that health care cost is going up at an annual rate of about nine per cent at the same time that general inflation is going down to a minus rate of almost two per cent. Health care cost is skyrocketing, again, at a rate 11 per cent higher than average inflation.

Why?

Well, doctors are pushing up charges, again. They blame malpractice insurance rates. Malpractice insurance claims result from unhappy and unsatisfied patients. Many years of high charges and indifference, as well as high living tastes developed during the "sock it to 'em" double digit percentage fee increase years, are no justification for maintaining or increasing income levels. That's true for all health care providers. They have been living "high off the hog" and now must face the consequences, living on less. Where is it written that doctors, dentists and other health care industry workers are entitled to wages based on increases five to 11 times faster than everyone else in the country?

The general public wants the health care industry to straighten up and fly right. If it won't do that, the general public wants legislative action to assure fair pricing.

I was visiting a hospital which had gone for more than three weeks without a patient. No one had gotten sick enough to justify hospitalization. The hospital was fully staffed and hemorhaging money. It was a public hospital and the loss was being made up by taxpayers. The continued operation of this hospital, with ever increasing rates and little or no occupancy symbolizes a health care industry that isn't facing up to the economic and emotional facts of life.

Carnegie Library Building Described

(Editor's Note: Thief River Falls public library is observing the 85th anniversary of its founding this year and the following article about the Carnegie Public library building — written by Mrs. Norman A. (Grace) Holen — was published in an informational booklet prepared for the opening of the new library building in 1966.)

The following article is a description of newly dedicated Carnegie Library, quoted from the special edition of the Thief River Falls "News-Press;' Thursday, October 14, 1915:

"The new building is located on the northeast corner of Main Avenue and First Street and faces west with a large lawn at the rear. The lot is 75 ft. by 140 ft. The building has a frontage of 60 ft. and runs back 40 ft. on First street. The lawn is terraced two feet above the sidewalk and is very nicely arranged with numerous beds of flowers, and the entrance steps lined with an evergreen hedge. The rear lawn is neatly arranged with trees under which lawn seats will be placed; making the city's first park.

"The main library floor is in one room, the different departments being divided by a colonnade of pillars in the center of the floor. The librarian's desk stands directly under a skylight which is very tastily beamed off and panelled with amber glass. The sashes are fastened on hinges and are operated by cords running down the pillars and can be opened for ventilating purposes.

"The book cases were designed by the architect and built into place by the Thief River Falls Manufacturing company and are of beautiful design. They are large enough for 25,000 volumes. The furniture was designed by the architect and built by the Manufacturing company and will accommodate 100 persons. The entire floor is covered with a cork carpet in dark green color.

"The cost of the building is as follows: architect's fee $600; general contract, $12,201.70; plumbing $356; heating, $830; electrical, $385; price of lot, $2,000; furniture, $975; total, $17,347.70, of which Andrew Carnegie donated $12,500 and the city paid the balance.

"The building was contracted by Northern Construction company, Isak Helseth, manager; the plumbing was done by Holt & George, heating system by Ed A. Lee, electrical work by the city electricians, and all the millwork by the Thief River Falls Manufacturing company. The architect in charge of the work (who also drew the plans) was Joseph C. Lutz of this city."

To illustrate changes made over the past 20 years to accommodate growing numbers of patrons, books and expanded services, items of the preceding article will be dealt with in turn.

The lot now measures 100 ft. by 140 ft.; the land north of the building was purchased by the city in 1939 for $400. The lawn failed to materialize as a real city park but has been maintained with plantings by the park board from time to time. In 1963 the back and side lawns were regraded to slope away from the basement which developed water leakage during the years; new trees were also planted. Sidewalk and curbing were replaced and a center rail on the front steps was installed several years ago.

In 1941 a new roof was built at a cost of several thousand dollars and the skylight boarded over as it was not needed for ventilation; in a hard shower it proved nothing but a 'drip' to the librarian's desk below.

The basement rooms have undergone several changes. The large room was used by the Women's Club for puppet shows and other entertainment but in 1930 a part of the basement was partitioned and shelves were built for the rural school library. In 1947, rural services had expanded so much that the entire area was used for their needs. The smaller room was converted into a library board room in 1940 with new furniture purchased from special funds. A stoker was added to the heating plant in 1947.

Changes most in evidence are on the first floor. At various times the board commissioned Mr. M.M. Johnson, a longtime resident of the city and a fine cabinet maker, to supply book stacks. He made 32 stacks in all at a cost of $40 each.

By 1950 still more space was needed. The original estimate of a library with a 25,000 volume capacity proved incorrect; the shelves were filled with 15,000 books. Mr. Anton Hall, board member, drew plans for further remodeling. Many shelves were again added plus an enlarged check out desk with a magazine rack. New desks and chairs were purchased for the librarian and staff; a small sink was installed in the workroom.

In 1957 a Gaylord book-charging machine was installed to facilitate checking out books. The fireplace and colonnades were painted a light color to brighten the room and new light fixtures were installed. Mr. Hall presented the library with a large picture entitled, "The Source of the Mississippi." This lovely work, painted by Mr. Hall himself, is framed and lighted and graces the south wall of the main floor.

The cork carpet referred to in the newspaper article was taken up in 1927 to install an extra layer of flooring to prevent creaking. The cork carpet (actually battleship linoleum) was recemented into place. It is still serviceable after 50 years of use. A drinking fountain was installed in 1964 and the electrical system was rewired after years of blowing fuses frequently.

Latest additions for holding books are two metal stacks. The last stack, installed in 1963, was paid for and presented by Friends of the Library. The library also has a memorial shelf; these fine books are given in memory of loved ones with the honored persons and donors identified on book name plates.

The book collection has grown from a handful in 1902 to 5,000 in 1920 and to 27,000 in 1965. This number is increased each month by an average of 150 new books, a quantity equal to the yearly purchase in 1907. The budget has grown from the original $250 to $24,000 per year; Pennington county contributes $2,000 per year for rural services. In 1907 library patrons numbered more than 600; today there are almost 6,400 borrowers. In 1907 there were 12 magazines in the reading room; today the library subscribes to 121 periodicals and six newspapers.

Services of the library are free to all residents of Pennington county. Book patrons living in other counties may use our facilities for a small fee. Discussions to develop a multi-county library have continued since 1957. The Minnesota regional library program has been adopted by many counties and there is hope it will succeed in our region soon.

The present staff who makes the library an inviting place in which to read and study are Miss Bertha Hastad, head librarian who has been on the staff for 18 years; Mrs. Flora Allison, assistant librarian, and Miss Patricia Rustad, clerk librarian. The present members of the library board are Ray Ulferts, president; Richard Mabey, secretary; Mrs. Lloyd Bennes, Mrs. Hans Chommie, Mrs. Lester Hartz, Mrs. Stanton Dahlen, Gene Beito, Mrs. Clarence Isaacson and Eric Hammershoy.

Collectibles Can Be An Enjoyable Way To Invest

What may have started out as a hobby a few years ago can turn out to be an interesting way to invest your money today. Coins, stamps, antiques and other art objects can be a profitable way to spend your leisure hours if you invest wisely and have the patience to await the returns, according to the Minnesota Society of CPAs.

Patience is the key to just about any investment. However, experts familiar with the investment potential of collectibles agree that predicting growth in value is risky. The prudent collector must thoroughly research his or her intended collection and patiently await the reward. Nonetheless, a serious interest in collectibles can be a fun way to garner tangible, practical assets.

The value of certain collectibles, such as limited edition figurines, china, plates and paintings, increases over time. The holding period for a recognized piece of art is generally from five to 10 years, with the value increasing considerably 30 to 40 years after the initial purchase.

Before you buy, it is wise to ask the dealer how many of the edition are available, if it is the only edition and whether any reproductions have been done by the original artist. Some states require dealers to inform customers of these facts.

Another consideration in estimating the value of your collection is its quality; generally, the better the quality the more marketable the item. In addition to quality, the attractiveness, perfection and rarity of an object make it desirable. And, the more desirable an item, the higher its value.

To make the most of any opportunity for growth in your collectible's value, CPAs say you should consult a catalogue and an expert in the field. Read all the information you can about collectibles you are considering purchasing. Check collectors' newsletters, trade magazines and books. Remember to include the cost of these publications when you are estimating the expenses of collecting. Also, keep in mind that optimistic reports in these publications are not a guarantee that your collectible will appreciate in value.

To actually get a return on your investment, you must sell it. An auction gallery might be a wise choice since it presents the opportunity for competitive bidding. Keep in mind that dealers and galleries can charge anywhere from five per cent to 25 per cent commission, which sometimes, but not always, is split between the seller and the buyer. An item sold on consignment may take several months or longer to sell. Thus, if you want readily convertible assets and a highly liquid investment, certain collectibles may not fit your needs.

Profits from the resale of a collectible generally qualify for capital gains treatment on your tax return. Before selling a collectible, check with a CPA on the tax consequences of losses or gains that may result from that sale. He or she can also advise you on whether or not that collectible is classified as an investment in the eyes of the IRS.

If you are thinking about collectibles as a way to protect your money and to enjoy your free time, follow the approach taken by successful collectors. Carefully decide which collectibles you like and research their possibilities for appreciation before you buy.

With the right approach and advice from experts, collecting can turn out to be a fun way to earn a return on an investment.

CPAs advise, however, that if you are interested in investing in collectibles, it should only be one part of your investment strategy.

Daycare children Have Higher Rate Of Disease Spread

Recent studies show children enrolled in daycare centers stand a better chance of passing a number of illnesses among themselves, from sniffles to Hepatitis A, then spreading the illnesses onto their families, according to the Minnesota Medical association.

Health researchers say it is very difficult to control infectious diseases in daycare age groups, with babies and tots still in diapers and in close daily contact while at daycare. Physicians say the main culprit in disease transmission is through hand-to-hand, or fecal-to-hand contact. Daycare children are often too young to know about personal hygiene and will put almost anything into their mouths, which can aid in the spreading of illnesses.

The types of diseases being transmitted in daycare environments go beyond the common childhood diseases of chicken pox, colds or flu. Researchers at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill say three diseases — "H" flu, Hepatitis A and giardiasis — are now the most common ailments at daycares.

"H" flue, or Hemophilus influenzae Type B, has as its most serious complication, bacterial meningitis, an inflammation of the brain. One common symptom of "H" flu is fever. Last fall, however, an "H" flu vaccine was introduced. Physicians recommend vaccinations for daycare tots who are as young as 18 months old, but the vaccine seems to work most effectively if given after 24 months.

Hepatitis A has, as one of its symptoms, the yellow skin color of jaundice, which is usually associated with hepatitis. The disease spreads quickly from tots to their families and adults, if infected, will become quite ill, while preschool children usually contract milder cases.

Giardiasis is a parasitic disease that can cause diarrhea and is a very common infection among the diaper age group at daycares. Often though, giardiasis does not produce any obvious symptoms in youngsters. Soft stools or mild abdominal pain seem to be the most common complaints.

Despite the problem of disease transmission because of the large amount of physical contact at daycares, physicians do not suggest that children be kept out of daycare centers. The medical risks can be minimized by: (1) Making sure children are properly immunized. Most state-licenses daycare centers require children to be examined by a physician and immunized before being enrolled.

(1) Making sure children are properly immunized. Most state-licensed daycare centers require children to be examined by a physician and immunized before being enrolled.

(2) Check the hygiene practices of the daycare center. Ask if there is a separate place for diaper changing. Changing tables should have disposable covers, and toys should be disinfected often to limit the spread of germs from playmate to playmate.

(3) Check the hygiene practices of the daycare providers. Do they wash their hands after diaper changing? Do they encourage their young charges to do the same?

Finally, the American Academy of Pediatrics recommends avoiding daycares where the staff is allowed to smoke. Studies show children exposed to smoke have a greater chance of developing upper respiratory infections and inner ear infections.

Also, if the child is sick, many daycare centers will ask that the child stay at home so as not to infect other children. Recently, a number of daycares have begun to offer special "sick rooms" for tots who are ill.

Again, physicians are not suggesting children be kept out of daycares, because daycare offers many beneficial experiences to a child's social and educational development. But the key to healthier daycare lies in the cooperation between the daycare provider, parents and physicians.

Middle River's Goose Festival Next Saturday

Middle River's annual salute to goose hunting will be celebrated October 3-5 with the 12th annual Goose Festival. Middle River community club, sponsor of the annual event, invites area residents to come to Middle River and enjoy the wide variety of events and activities.

The 1986 souvenir button features a fire department theme. Joe Biskup, former chief of the Middle River fire department, will be honored as grand marshall of Saturday's festival parade. A new fire station is currently being constructed in the city.

A preliminary event of the annual Goose Festaval is the Miss Middle River pageant Saturday, September 27, in the high school auditorium. Tarayn Hanson, 1985-86 queen, will crown her successor from among candidates, Becky Beito, Rayette Benke, Michelle Burkholder, Karen Dahl, Brenda Olson and Jodi Seaverson. (See separate pageant story in this issue.

The Goose Festival will begin early on Friday, October 3, when the senior citizens will serve pancakes from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the community center. Proceeds will be donated to the fire department.

The three-wheeler pull will start at 5 p.m. Friday. Although divisions will depend on the amount of participation of the various sizes of three and four-wheelers, there will be about three or four categories. Chairman Clayton Troskey says participants can expect a 100 per cent payback from the $5 entry fee. Four-wheel-drive machines will not compete with the other machines, but if enough interest is shown, there will be a separate 4X4 category.

Women of the American Legion auxiliary will serve a swiss steak supper from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. Friday at the Legion club rooms.

The first of three presentations of "Our Town" by the newly established Middle River community theatre is Friday at 8 p.m. in the former hardware store building. Tickets are $3 at the door, $2 in advance and $1.50 for students. Advance sale tickets for the Thornton Wilder play are available at the Rex Cafe, Young's Store, Co-op Oil Ass'n. and school, all in Middle River.

Friday night dances feature Joey Gust at the Middle River American Legion, and Last Resort at Meadow brook ballroom.

Saturday's schedule of Goose Festaval events includes activities

Community Theater In Middle River To Present 'Our Town'

Art lovers will have another reason for going to the Middle River Goose festival this year. Middle River area residents have formed a community theater.

"Our Town," a Thorton Wilder Pulitzer prize winning play, will be the community theater's first performance. It will be performed 8 p.m. October 3, and 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. on October 5, at the former Hardware Hank building in Middle River.

Production manager and director Rev. Mark E. Gehrke describes the presentation as a play about real people. "As I view it in rehearsals, I often feel as though I'm looking into a mirror of myself, partly because the cast is made up of real people we know and live with. Although the play does uplift the importance of living, it tickles the tummy for a laugh, or two, or three, or more," Gerke said.

Several area residents are cast in the play: Armand Westlund of Strathcona is Howie Newsome, the milkman; Marlowe Myer, the history teacher of Middle River high school, if Professor Willard; Kay Dell Super, another teacher portrays Mrs. Gibbs; Rev. Mark Gehrke is "Doc" Gibbs; Stacie Sparby is Rebbecca Gibb; Shawn Wagner is George Gibb; Tammy Cwikla is Emily Webb; Kenny Beito is Charles Webb; Kelly Ness is Myrtle Webb; Larry Korpi is Wally Webb; Vicki Gehrke is Mrs. Soames; Jerome Henning, choir director is Simon Stimson; Nathan Dyrud is Constable Warren; and other performers include Reuben "Jay" Wappula, Loyd Wagner, Sharon Henning, Sharron Wagner, Lorrie Sorter and many others.

There are only 300 tickets available for each performance, and they can be purchased for $2 in advance, and $3 at the door. The following Middle River establishments have tickets to sell: the Rex cafe at 222-3763, Young's store at 222-3513, the Co-op at 222-3311, Middle River school 222-3310, and members of the cast.

All funds will be used to support the theatrical arts in Middle River. This activity is made possible in part by a grant provided by the Northwest Regional Development commission through funding from the Minnesota state arts board and the Minnesota State legislature, along with local support by the Middle River community club, the Legion, and the Kickoff Tuesday For Concert Ass'n.

Thief River Falls Concert association annual kick-off dinner was held Tuesday evening at the Best Western with volunteer workers and the complete board of directors present. Packets with tickets and information about the concerts for the coming season were distributed. John Folin, Allied Artists representative gave a summary of the scheduled concerts.

A mail order campaign was held earlier for last year's ticket holders. Since not everyone has renewed membership and other people have moved to the area, volunteers are needed to help make a successful sales campaign.

Season tickets may be purchased up to that time, but the association would like to close its drive October 7. Those who would like membership and have not been contacted may call any of the following volunteers directly or call the Chamber office, 681-3720.

Gramm-Rudman-Hollings Act In Effect . . .

CCC Payments In Area Reduced By $2 Million

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

While federal budget balancing has been applauded as an admirable goal, the already struggling agricultural sector of the country may have a tendency to feel a disproportionate part of the load is being balanced on their backs. Of immediate impact is a reduction in payments being made by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation service under its Commodity Credit Corporation loan program.

On the basis of best estimates in Pennington, Marshall and Red Lake counties alone, the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings budget balancing act will deprive farmers of approximately $2 million in spendable income from their 1986 crops. That will be $2 million unavailable for spending to meet debt retirement, provide living expense and pay bills or make purchases for farm operations.

Under provisions of the act, farmers placing their 1986 crop grain under the CCC loan program will have 4.3 per cent of the payment deducted from their checks. In Pennington county, that means 11 cents for each bushel of wheat, six cents for barley, four cents for oats, eight cents for corn, seven cents for rye and 20 cents for soybeans placed under loan which will not be paid to participating farmers. Loan rates in Red Lake and Marshall counties are similar.

In Pennington county to date, about 600 loans have been made on 1986 crop grain and another 200 to 300 loans are considered likely to be made. So far the 4.3 per cent reduction has reduced $6.2 million in wheat loans by $266,000 and $2.6 million in barley loans by $111,000.

In Red Lake county to date about 400 loans have been made with $1.9 million in wheat loans reduced by $81,700 and $2.1 million in barley loans reduced by $90,300. Sandra Giese, executive director of the Red Lake county ASCS committee, said that last year there were about 800 CCC loans in that county, indicating a large number of loans yet to be made.

Marshall county ASCS officials have been too swamped with work in the past few weeks to total their CCC loans, but director Jerry Turgeon said the reduction there for wheat and barley alone could be over one and one-quarter million dollars.

If 75 per cent of the county's 440,000 acre wheat base was harvested at an average of 30 bushels per acre, the wheat available for loan would be nearly 10 million bushels. A 4.3 per cent reduction on 10 million bushels at a loan rate of $2.47 would result in $1,062,100 being withheld from farmers' checks.

If 100,000 acres of barley yielded 40 bushels per acre on the average, the loss based on a loan value of $1.50 per bushel would be $258,000.

Pennington and Red Lake county figures are incomplete and the Marshall county numbers are estimates based on last year's loan figures and this year's crop expectations. Not considered in the totals listed are the other loan crops of oats, corn, rye and soybeans, none of which are grown in large volume in these counties.

Phil Bergland, executive director of the Pennington county ASCS office, said notice of the required reduction was received in April. He noted that such programs as the dairy termination program which was already under contract would have their con-

Employees At Area Restaurants Learn Heimlich Maneuver

Emergency medical services week at Northwest Medical center included some lifesaving hugs being shared all around town. Professionals from Northwest Medical center, Lifestar ambulance service and the Thief River Falls police department visited local restaurants to teach employees the Heimlich maneuver last week.

While finding belly buttons and rib cages caused a few giggles, the participants may someday be able to save someone's life by performing the Heimlich maneuver.

"All of us at Northwest Medical center are pleased to assist in teaching the Heimlich maneuver. At some future date, this procedure may result in a life being saved," said Richard Spyhalski, president and chief executive officer.

September 21 through 27 was declared Emergency Medical services week at Northwest Medical center. Sponsred by the American college of Emergency Physicians, emergency medical services week was designed to encourage the public to learn more about the emergency medical resources in their communities.

By training employees of several restaurants to perform the simple maneuver it is hoped that employees will be able to administer the necessary treatment in the event one of the patrons should choke. Following is a list of all of the facilities emergency personnel visited: The Club, The Lantern, Best Western, Hardee's, Taco John's, Woolworth's, Lon's, Pizza Hut, Godfather's, Dietary center at Northwest Medical center, Kentucky Fried Chicken, Handy Farms, The Rex, McDonald's, Kmart, VFW, American Legion, Highway 59 Cafe and Florence's.

Believe it or not the average size of food that people choke on is the size of a pack of cigarette, said Sharon Russell, inservice director, and team member visiting the restaurants. The longer the food is lodged in the throat the larger it gets by absorbing fluid, she added.

According to diagrams presented to employees, food-choking is caused by a piece of food lodging in the throat creating a blockage of the airway, and making it impossible for the victim to breathe or speak. The victim will die of strangulations in four minutes if someone does not act to save him or her.

The Heimlich maneuver exerts pressure that forces the diaphragm upward, compressing the air in the tracts paid in full. Under the conservation reserve program, farmers will get whatever they bid for 1987 in PIK certificates but would be subject to a 4.3 per cent reduction if cashed out at the ASCS office. The agricultural conservation program (ACP) payments are to be made in full.

CCC Loans Cut 4.3 Per Cent By Gramm-Rudman

Bergland said that most of the grain crop in the three counties will be placed under loan because of discounts in market prices due to protein levels or bushel weight below market standards. Loan rates are listed as follows with Friday's market prices listed in parentheses: Wheat, $2.47 ($2.41 for 14 per cent protein content); barley, $1.50 ($1.20 for No. 1 malting quality); oats, 91 cents ($1 for 38-pounds per bushel); corn, $1.78 ($1.16); rye, $1.64 ($1.20); and soybeans, $4.58 ($4.38).

While the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings actr deduction of 4.3 per cent is not listed as a reduction in payment on the form which farmers receive for their grain loans, they are informed of the reduction when they make the loan application, Bergland said. In most cases, even with the reduction, the per bushel price is higher under the loan program than the commodity could be sold for on the market.

For the farmer struggling with low prices in the first place, the reduction in payment is especially hard to swallow.

And Bergland believes the worst may be yet to come. Budget balancing directives under the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings act place constraints on all departments to reduce expenditures on a graduated scale. If departments are not able to make the adjustments necessary to reduce costs, the reduction becomes automatic. This may result in even greater percentages being deducted in future years.

Dear Readers,
How long is it normal to mourn the loss of a loved one? Not for a week or two, as some people think. The first few weeks are the most painful, however the process of accepting the reality of death, and adjusting to the loss, usually requires months — often up to two years. It takes considerable time to rebuild ones life after the death of a dearly loved one.
Respectfully,
Belmont Funeral Home

LEAF VACUUM pickup service will begin October 2. Thief River Falls residents can expect to see the leaf vacuum in operation on regular garbage pick-up days, but only in the afternoons and evenings. Bob Jablinske, sanitation department superintendent, said he is not sure they will get to every house during the day of one section's garbage pickup, but they will eventually get to each residence. He asks that leaves be raked to the berm, close to the road. They can be watered down and they can be covered, but do not put them in bags. they will not be picked up unless they are next to the berm. The purchase-lease of the leaf vacuum does not mean residents are discouraged from burning leaves. One worker will operate the truck and one will operate the funnel of the vacuum. They will communicate with each other via radio headset so the operation will proceed smoothly and quickly, Jablinske said.

Recreational Skating Registration Thursday

Registration for the Thief River Falls recreational skating program and advanced skating levels will take place Thursday from 5 to 8 p.m. in the sports arena. Free skating will be offered and a skate exchange conducted during those hours. Parents are encouraged to skate with their children.

Again this year the program will be using the United States Figure Skating association (USFSA) skill level program and those who paid the $3 USFSA fee last year will not need to pay it again. Registration cards for USFSA participation will be available during the sign-up for skating lessons Thursday evening.

Pre-school and kindergarten age children will continue with the TOT program. When they have completed the four TOT ribbon levels they will move to the USFSA Basic 1 level where the $3 fee will apply.

Thief River Falls parks and recreation department will charge a $5 user fee per participant from kindergarten through adults who participate in the program in addition to the regular fees.

There are six basic badge levels in the USFSA program. When a skater completes these six, he or she moves into the dance, patch or figure and free style (DPFS) program, in which two classes will be offered locally.

The pre-preliminary DPFS program will be an accelerated system of group lessons teaching preliminary tests. Skaters will receive an hour lesson each session and will need to practice. A test session will be offered in the spring with USFSA certified judges used for those skaters ready to take their preliminary tests. The skater will need to participate in the DPFS skating times and join the club, and may stay in this class for two years or until passing the preliminary tests. Fee for this class — which includes 20 lessons, DPFS skating times on the schedule and club membership — is $50, which may be payable in installments. When there is more than one skater involved in a family, the fee is $7 less for the club membership. First class in this program will start Monday, October 6, at 5:30 p.m. with enrollment limited to 25 skaters.

Advanced recreational skating is the second class offered and is a half-hour class concentrating on freestyle and some dance steps. Cost of this class is $5 for the clinic and $6 for the season and includes no practice time.

Two precision lines will be arranged this year. The senior line will be continued and a novice line added for all skaters who have completed their basic six badges and are under 15 years of age as of Jan. 1, 1987. Both lines will compete at North Country competition in East Grand Forks in February.

Private lessons are also available on a first-come, first-served basis with a fee paid to the teaching professional. Lessons are available Thursday evenings and Friday mornings before school. Persons interested may sign up at registration Thursday.

Persons unable to be present for registration Thursday evening may register at the park and recreation office or on the first day of the clinic. Class times for the clinic will be available at registration and published before the start of the clinic.

The Rainbow Yacht club held their fall meeting on September 16th at the American Legion at Thief River Falls. The main business was a report by Jennifer Springsteen on the accommodations available at Sugar Hills for the club's winter outing. A skiing trip is planned for February after several members return from their Caribbean cruises. Leslie Bowes has designed the official winter attire for the group's ski trip. It was voted on to accept black and white as the theme in clothing to be carried through for the event. All members are to get their material to the designers as soon as possible. Entertainment for the weekend will be planned by Chun Joppru and she will announce what events are available for members to attend. Peggy Bregsnev will be sent a special invitation since she was unable to attend many functions on the cruise. Annette Hendrickx and helper will plan the menus to be approved by the group at the December meeting. Chun Joppru and Annette Hendrickx were selected as hostesses for the December Christmas ball. Mary Wang (Mrs Woo) the honored queen of the cruise was again complimented by the membership by announcing she will reign for one full year. Her personal interview with the judges on the cruise certainly was the deciding factor in their selection of her over the other seven beautiful candidates. The entertainment after dinner included a show by several photography artists who had filmed the cruises in July. Many members made requests to have the artists reproduce pictures for their own collections. The scenery was outstanding especially some of the back views on the ship cruise. Anita Hendrickson attracted the photographer's attention by winning the fishing contest and the group had no problem identifying her in all the other pictures. Chun Joppru was not selected for the most unusual catch with her clam but the group has it on record. The evening ended in a surprise birthday party for Anita Hendrickson and the cruise captain Ernie. No Official Language

What is the official language of the United States? That's an easy question, you say. Everybody knows that. English, of course, is our official language.

Wrong!

Surprising as it may seem, the United States has no official language. Even more surprising is the opposition to an effort to pass a Constitutional amendment to make English the official language of the United States.

Is it necessary to have an official designation of English as our national language? Perhaps not essential, as we have survived a couple of hundred years without it, but it might not be a bad idea.

"There ought to be no confusion or embarrassment over our goal," states U.S. secretary of education William Bennett. "The rise in ethnic consciousness, the resurgence of cultural pride in recent decades is a healthy thing; the traditions we bring with us, that our forefathers brought with them to this land, are too worthwhile to be discarded. But a sense of cultural pride cannot come at the price of proficiency in English, our common language."

Lawrence D. Pratt, president of a group called "English First", notes that the world bilingual has come to mean contradictory things.

"In Canada," he writes, "the bilingual laws resulted in a French-only policy in the province of Quebec. The divisiveness that resulted became so oppressive that businesses fled in droves to Ontario. Finally, the economic downturn was so severe that the French-speaking voters of Quebec decided that they were tired of starving in French, and wanted to get back to work in English. They threw the Anglophobe government out."

Pratt correctly notes that bilingual should not become a code word for refusal to speak English. "To continue with the current failed policies characterizing much of bilingual education will produce a growing number of high school graduates who cannot speak English," he said. "They will not be bilingual and they will not be employable. For the sake of our nation's unity and economic prosperity, let's make English first."

It's Good To Burn Wood

"We need to cut many stands now, to allow better management in the future. There are stands which have little or no value to the traditional users, so they simply stand there and deteriorate further. If the trees are harvested now, the stand will replenish itself so that in two or three decades we can get the maximum value out of the acreage. We're inefficient now in the way we utilize our timber stands. If we remain inefficient, it will mean higher costs for wood in the future."

That is a statement by Mark Berndt, an energy specialist with the Minnesota department of energy and economic development, following review of a study of wood supply and demand made by the U.S. forest service and several departments at the University of Minnesota.

In essence, the study concludes that use of Minnesota wood for fuel is good and that increased use would be even better. The study was made in northeastern Minnesota where the timber industry is most active, but the conclusions would appear to be applicable to other areas as well where aspen (popple) is the main species used for fuel.

"Using wood for energy in Minnesota is a natural because it is one of the few indigenous energy resources we possess," Berndt said. "Of all the energy we use, only about four per cent of it actually comes from inside Minnesota; all the rest we have to import at a heavy cost. So using wood for energy to decrease our imports is clearly a way to strengthen our native economy."

Use of wood fuel has long been a tradition in Minnesota, superseding necessity in a number of cases because many people just plain like to burn wood for heat. Use of fuel wood took an upswing during the energy crunch a few years ago when heating oil and gas prices skyrocketed. In modern day use, the gathering and handling of wood is recreational for many people who are otherwise involved in less active employment.

"But there have been concerns from the more traditional users of our wood that increased wood fuel consumption would increase the demands on supply to the point that their operations could be damaged, or even destroyed," Berndt said. "The study addressed that question and concluded that, in general, there is potential supply to support both energy use and traditional uses. It also showed that using wood for energy can be beneficial to both areas."

A major point in the study is that tomorrow's forests will take shape from current actions. Much of our current timber supply is very mature or over mature, with little value to the traditional wood users. It is too old to have much harvest value, other than for use as energy. Continuing present levels of harvest, which Berndt believes are low, will cause the stands to deteriorate further.

He points out that in the short run (20 to 30 years), increased levels of wood energy demand would allow unwanted or previously uneconomic stands of trees to be harvested profitably. In the longer run, all levels of wood energy demand, by permitting the removal of unwanted or uneconomic stands now, would allow rapidly growing, fully stocked, desirable stands to be established for expected larger future needs.

Because the locations of wood energy markets often differ from traditional markets, and because transport costs are so significant, a stand's location may result in all of its wood being burned for energy. Small amounts of higher value material may be burned because they are not worth the costs of sorting and handling.

"Wood energy demands of up to 3.5 million dry tons a year created competitive effects in the short run, Berndt pointed out, "but in the long term were more complementary than lower energy use levels. It was found (in the study) that energy demands at that level had more beneficial effects for both parts of the industry than if energy demands remained low. That is a very important finding."

As the winter heating season again approaches, it is reassuring to be informed that using wood fuel is proper economically as well as environmentally. Harvest of mature aspen makes room for regrowth which is beneficial for wildlife of many species and allows a renewable resource to be effectively cycled. True conservation is the wise use of our natural resources and it would appear — as affirmed by the study — that use of fuel wood is a wise use of product. It's good to burn wood.

Grape Juice And Sauerkraut

Free-lance writer Gary Severson of Ferndale, WA, had the following article published in "Liberty" magazine:

My good buddy says that with the present interpretation of church-state laws, it's best not to share the gospel, even with your bathroom mirror. He preaches caution. He claims that when you're in deep religious water, it's a good idea to keep your mouth shut. Any idiot knows that.

Now, I'm not into idiocy. But I am a fool for Jesus, and no law can stop that. Nor can the constitutionalists who've been standing on the First Amendment so long they've about smothered its last gasp. Maybe our Founding Fathers didn't intend for God to go public, but they didn't intend for Him to simply go, either.

Besides, my buddy carts no authority. Jobwise, all he does is carry legal documents from one messy government desk to another. The only time those judicial treasures rubbed off on him was when he forgot to dust the files.

Well, anyway, I obey the Bible, and it says, Go, teach! Since the university types on the south side need the lifesaving blood of Jesus Christ more than a life-savings bank account, I got off my duff to tell them. I picked my tracts, practiced my strategy, and boldly stepped onto a public sidewalk where the students pass. The fresh air gave me a lift, and I preached Jesus like I meant it. I dealt my tracts like a winning poker hand. If some poor soul sought to pass me by, I waved a dollar bill in his face and reeled my catch in.

I'd about evangelized every passerby when I saw my buddy trudging along with a bag of groceries from Bernie's delicatessen under each arm. I crossed over and took a bag. As we walked, I told him about my evangelistic mission. He responded at last with a question.

"Where precisely did you engage in witnessing?"

"Where? Back there, on the sidewalks, on the grass, wherever it was good."

"Were you mostly on private or public property?"

"Both. Why?"

He thought. "If you witness on private property, you need to use material from all religions so you won't be establishing any one religion."

"Hey, all I was doing was preaching to a few guys."

"Which, of course, is discrimination on public sidewalks and streets. You should have witnessed to men and women, and if possible, to all races."

We strolled a stretch before I turned to him. "What about the dollars I gave out?"

"The sum is too trivial to be a determining factor in bribery."

"Bribery?"

"Yes, using money to persuade unsuspecting people to join a particular religion."

I kicked a beer bottle. We passed a church whose sign announcing its services touched the sidewalk. I hoped my buddy wouldn't notice it.

He noticed it.

"That sign should be moved back," he insisted.

"Move it back, then!" I shouted.

"Not possible. State and church cannot mix."

"Huh? Hey, you sound like your work is getting to you."

"Hardly." He grinned suavely. "I'm only repeating what's right."

Oh, yeah!" I handed him his bag — emphatically. "Don't get church and state mixed up," I told him. "There's no law against it, but church's grape juice might not go very well with Caesar's sauerkraut."

On my way back I preached Jesus by a public library parking meter. People have got to know what's right.

Howard Elected As President Of NAWG Foundation

Harry Howard, a wheat producer from Warren, has been named president of the NAWG foundation, the research and education arm of the National Association of Wheat Growers. Formerly the foundation vice president, Howard took over the presidency when former president Jim Billington of Altus, OK, resigned to become one of the three directors of the Farm Credit administration in Washington, D.C.

According to Howard, the National Association of Wheat Growers started its foundation in 1978 and through contributions from wheat producers and key associate industry members, was able to purchase a headquarters building in Washington and initiate many self-help programs.

Among the programs conducted by the foundation are the wheat export trade education committee, young farmer awards program, leadership training programs and a national wheat research conference.

New projects that Howard is particularly pleased with include WheatNet, an electronic agricultural and educational database being established in cooperation with one of the largest agricultural database services in the Unites States, and the new wheat products development project aimed at increasing domestic consumption of wheat for both food and industrial uses, which has remained virtually stable over the past 10 years.

Howard has been a member of the Minnesota Association of Wheat Growers board of directors since 1977 and served as president for 1983 and 1984. He has represented Minnesota on the NAWG foundation board since 1983, was elected foundation secretary in 1985 and vice president in January.

Motorists Advised Of Three Steps To Prevent Injuries

There are three simple ways to help prevent car injuries in a collision or sudden stop: (1) Adjust seat-belts properly; (2) adjust head-rests correctly; (3) don't carry loose objects in your vehicle.

"An increasing number of people are wearing shoulder belts under their arms, instead of across their shoulder," said Barbara Mittelstadt, Minnesota AAA traffic safety coordinator. "In a crash this could result in serious injury or death."

Mittelstradt said that most newer cars are equipped with a tension relieving device that allows the user to set a small amount of slack in the shoulder belt. This lessens pressure on the neck. Always wear the belt over the shoulder, never under the arms.

In addition, the lap belt should be worn as low as possible on the abdomen and fit snugly across the hip bones. Be sure to avoid wearing the lap belt loosely or with slack. Never use one belt for more than one person.

The head-rest should be high enough to prevent your head from going back too far and too fast in a collision. Normally, the top of the head-rest should be slightly above the ears.

"The combination of a properly adjusted head-rest and seat-belt can greatly reduce the probability of injuries," Mittelstadt said.

One additional measure can also make a big difference in preventing serious injuries — not carrying loose objects in your vehicle.

Bags of groceries, shoes, cameras, pop bottles, umbrellas, books, briefcases, bowling balls and even kleenex boxes can become deadly missiles in a crash or sudden stop.

If a motorist is driving 55 mph and hits something or has to slam on the brakes, the car will slow down or stop immediately. However, everything inside that's not tied down — or belted in — will continue to move at terrific speed and with tremendous force.

"Getting hit in the head by a flying object such as an umbrella or pop bottle could be fatal," Mittelstadt said. "The best advice is to keep loose objects in the trunk, not the passenger compartment."

BSU Enrollment Up First Time In Past Six Years

Number of students attending classes offered by Bemidji state university is larger this fall than 1985, giving the university its first enrollment increase since 1980.

The headcount of students attending classes on and off campus is 4,547, or 12 more than attending in the fall of 1985. The enrollment represents an increase of 2.2 per cent over earlier projections which had estimated a figure of 4,449.

The entering student class of freshmen and transfers rose to a total of 1,017, up one per cent from last fall, while the graduate enrollment increased by 15 per cent to 221.

Student population served through classes conducted by the university at off campus sites is 45, larger than in 1985. This increase is due in large part to the introduction of a new elementary education program and the continuation of a business administration program on the Iron Range.

The headcount figures were tallied after the 10th day of classes.

COREY MILLEN (8) tried to slip the puck past goalie Robb Stauber Saturday during the University of Minnesota hockey intrasquad game played in the Thief River Falls Sports Arena. Mike Luckraft (22) of the White team tried to stay with Millen, a member of the Maroon team, on the play.

Gophers, Fans Enjoy Scrimmage

An early start to the 1986-87 hockey season locally aturday featured the University of Minnesota Golden Gophers, who staged an intrasquad scrimmage in front of a Thief River Falls Sports Arena crowd.

By all accounts, the undertaking appeared to be a success. Sponsoring Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association officials were satisfied with the turn-out of fans, and Minnesota head coach Doug Woog was happy with his team's performance on the ice, plus the opportunity to showcase the Gophers to area fans and potential future recruits.

"I was real pleased with the turn-out," said Woog after the Minnesota players and coaches had been treated to a pot-luck supper following the scrimmage, compliments of TRFAHA members. "It really enhances the play. The kids like to play in front of people. We were treated very well, and it was an opportunity for us to expose our hockey program to this part of the state."

And it was a chance, said Woog, for former Section 8 high school products Tim Bergland (Thief River Falls), Craig Mack (East Grand Forks), Paul Broten (Roseau) and Blaine Rude (Fergus Falls) to perform as Gophers in front of friends and neighbors who followed them during their high school careers.

Bergland, a senior wing and one of the Gophers' co-captains, scored a goal and Mack, a senior defenseman, had three assists as their Maroon team beat the White team 8-5 in a pair of 30-minute periods. Broten, a junior, and Rude, a freshman, were forwards on the White team.

Corey Millen and Jay Cates both had four-point games for the winners. Millen was an attention-grabber. The senior co-captain from Cloquet and a former Olympian, scored once with one of his quick-release bullet shots and collected three assists. Cates, a junior from Stillwater, had two goals and two assists.

Jon Anderson, a freshman from White Bear Lake, also scored twice for the Maroon team, while single goals were added by Tom Chorske, a sophomore from Minneapolis Southwest, and Marty Nanne, a sophomore from Edina.

For the White team, senior Todd Okerlund of Burnsville scored twice, while non-rostered players Trevor Nelco and Tim Busby, along with senior Steve MacSwain of Anchorage, AK, scored one goal each.

Veteran John Blue, a junior from San Jose, CA, started in goal for the Maroon team and freshman Robb Stauber of Duluth Denfeld started for the White Team. Non-rostered Dave Lamb and Tim Cortez played the second period in goal for the Maroon and White teams, respectively.

The White team led 3-1 near the mid-way point of the first period and had a 4-2 edge early in the second period before the Maroon shooters, starting with Bergland, broke through.

"I was real pleased with the first 30 minutes," said Woog. "The puck was moving around, we were skating and moving the puck. It was a little ragged the last half."

The players went at it hard, knowing that varsity positions were up for grabs.

"It's a factor," acknowledged Woog when asked if the scrimmage performances played a major role in the make-up of the Gophers, "You have to make some decisions, and drills are not games."

Minnesota used the Sports Arena ice for a Sunday practice before leaving by bus for St. Cloud and a Sunday evening scrimmage. They'll also scrimmage in Blaine before opening the 1986-87 WCHA season October 10-11 at Colorado College.

TIM BERGLAND, a Lincoln High School graduate who is a senior co-captain on the 1986-87 University of Minnesota hockey team, drew a crowd of autograph-seekers Saturday before the Gophers took to the Thief River Falls Sports Arena ice for an intrasquad scrimmage. Bergland scored once as his Maroon team beat the White team 8-5.

Volleyball Rally Nets 3-2 Win

A couple of years ago the Minnesota State High School League switched its regular season high school volleyball format from 2-out-of-3 game matches to 3-out-of-5 game sets. Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson is certainly happy with the change, because for the second time this fall the Prowlers rallied from an 0-2 deficit to win 3-2 Saturday night at Detroit Lakes.

The Lakers breezed to a 15-8 first game win and broke a 13-13 second game tie to win 15-13 for a 2-0 lead. But the Prowlers finished strong, winning 15-7, 15-9, 15-0 to hike their season record to 7-2.

"Thank goodness for 3-out-of-5," said Anderson. "We really played bad the first game, but after that, things seemed to work out. I really have to hand it to the girls for coming back to win like they did."

Earlier this year the Prowlers did the same thing in a 3-2 home-opening win over Fisher, winning 13-15, 5-15, 15-6, 15-9, 15-3.

"This was a repeat of the Fisher match," noted Anderson.

Serving was a Thief River Falls strong suit Saturday, led by Jodi Anderson, who was a near-perfect 24-for-25 at the service line for 24 points, including six aces. She closed out the fifth game win with six straight points, including three aces.

Jill Olson was 10-for-10 at the service line for 10 points, Vikki Weigand was 12-for-12 for six points and Bekah Bortnem collected 13 service points for the Prowlers.

Thief River Falls junior vearsity (15-8, 15-8) and C squad (15-13, 15-11) were both 2-0 winners at Detroit Lakes to stand 5-1 for the year at both levels.

Player of the Night honors were presented to Anderson, varsity; Missy Hanson, junior varsity; and Leigh Solheim, C squad.

Thief River Falls hosts Bemidji tonight (Monday), visits Red Lake Falls Thursday and will host the ninth annual Northern Lights Invitational Saturday.

MSHSL Task Force Meets On Tuesday

Minnesota State High School League (MSHSL) will conduct a public hearing in Thief River Falls Tuesday from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Lincoln High School cafeteria to receive testimony regarding a Task Force study of athletic competition and training rules which define a student's participation and training in school and non-school activities during the school year and summer.

Goal of the Task Force, according to MSHSL officials, is to ensure that athletic competition and training rules are consistent with the stated philosophy of MSHSL member schools and their communities.

Members of the task force include superintendents, principals, athletic directors, school board members, coaches, state legislators and representatives of the public sector from all geographical areas of the state.

Dr. Joan Parent, school board member from Foley, and Kenneth LaCroix, superintendent of schools at Hastings, have been appointed by the Board of Directors of the MSHSL to chair the 40-member Task Force.

Task Force members attending the meeting in Thief River Falls include Herbert Bentz, Roseau and Howard Emerson, Warren. In addition, members of the League's Board of Directors and Executive Staff will also attend.

The Task Force will solicit written responses to questionnaires and oral testimony received at the 16 public hearings to be held in September and October, and identify the major issues presented. The Task Force will review these findings and develop a report to the MSHSL Board of Directors. The Board will review the findings and make recommendations to the League's Representative Assembly.

The MSHSL urges all interested persons to attend and actively participate in expressing individual recommendations and concerns regarding the role of the League in defining those rules and standards for high school students.

Crookston 30, Thief River Falls 11 . . .

Pirates Run By Prowlers

Crookston and Thief River Falls runners both covered a lot of ground Friday. However, the Prowlers did it with their cross country team members, who carried the school colors and game ball from Crookston to Thief River Falls in a school spirit-building promotion prior to the Section 8A high school football match-up between the two schools, while the Pirates did it with their runningbacks during the game itself, rushing for 313 yards in a 30-11 victory.

Results of the 1986 Thief River Falls home opener left the two teams heading in opposite directions record-wise. The Prowlers are struggling with a 1-4 mark, while the Pirates are coasting with a 4-1 figure.

Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm didn't offer any excuses. "They're just a better ball club," he said. "We did some nice things, but they were the better team tonight."

Actually, the final point spread was a bit misleading. The Prowlers trailed only 16-11 with 9:20 remaining before Crookston broke it open with a pair of late scores.

Leading the Pirates were runningbacks Todd Miner, Joe Stone and Mark Amon. Miner, an impressive-looking 6-1, 200-pound sophomore, carried 13 times for 116 yards, while Stone, a 5-8, 162-pound senior, carried 19 times for 106 yards and Amon, a 5-6, 156-pound junior, added 77 yards on 13 carries. They all scored, too, with Stone getting a pair of touchdowns.

All of the Crookston yards came on the ground behind a hole-producing front line. Quarterback Chris Trostad, although he ran the Crookston option well, was 0-for-5 passing, with an interception — all in the first half.

"They're strong up front," acknowledged Mumm.

That Crookston line was also tough defensively, limiting the Prowlers to just 156 yards for the night. The Prowlers musters just 113 yards rushing, and quarterback Chris Bjorgaard watched receivers drop balls on a 4-for-15 passing performance that belied his play. "Chris played a great game," said Mumm. "He threw the ball well. He's going to be a good one."

It was a hard-hitting, penalty-filled game. Both sides had players go down with injuries, the most serious being a broken leg suffered by the Pirates' Steve Johnson, a 5-8, 157-pound senior starter in the defensive backfield. The injury occurred as he returned a punt late in the third quarter. He was taken from the field in an ambulance.

The two long-time rivals split 22 penalties.

"I hate to dwell on mistakes, but that's five games in a row now where we've done stupid things," said Mumm.

One of those mistakes cost Thief River Falls an early touchdown when an illegal procedure penalty wiped out a 15-yard touchdown run by fullback Mike Bendickson. The Prowlers still scored on the drive, but it was on a 37-yard field goal by Chris Nelson with 5:11 remaining in the first quarter.

Another mistake cost them that lead when punter Rick Rosetta dropped the snap in the end zone and was forced to throw a desperation pass on the play from the Thief River Falls 13-yard line. Amon scored on first down as he went to the right side, made two nice cuts to elude tacklers and reached the end zone with 9:28 left in the first half. Stone took the option pitch to the left for the two-point conversion.

Crookston showed its strength when the Pirates took the second half kick-off and put together a 90-yard touchdown drive in 13 plays, capped by a 27-yard sprint around the right side by Stone. Trostad ran the option into the end zone for the two-point conversion and a 16-3 cushion with 5:21 left in the third quarter.

A botched punt by Crookston wound up costing the Pirates just as much as it did the Prowlers earlier when a snap sailed over the head of Miner, who was tackled for a 23-yard loss back to the Crookston 18-yard line on the second play of the fourth quarter.

Five plays later Paul Brandt sprinted hard to the left and beat two Crookston defenders to the corner of the end zone from eight yards out. Bjorgaard, after dropping back to pass for the two-point conversion, scrambled into the end zone himself for a 16-11 game with 9:20 to play.

Crookston cemented the lead, though, by answering with a 60-yard touchdown drive in 11 plays, helped out in part by Thief River Falls mistakes. Facing a fourth-and-one call from the Thief River Falls 31-yard line with 6:05 remaining, the Pirates picked up the first down the easy way when the Prowlers were penalized five yards for defensive encroachment. Two plays later another five-yarder against the Prowlers had an unsportsmanlike conduct call tacked on, taking the ball to the Thief River Falls 8-yard line. Stone scored from the five as the Crookston offensive line blew away the Thief River Falls defense with 4:31 left.

Thief River Falls still tried to make it close again on the ensuing drive, but Bjorgaard, forced to scramble out of the pocket, wound up a yard short on a fourth-and-ten snap that reached the Crookston 8-yard line with 2:05 on the close.

Miner then inflated the score by breaking off a 78-yard touchdown run with just 25 seconds showing on the clock. He appeared to stop after a short gain, but shed the tacklers and then out-ran a flat-footed defense that had expected a play-ending whistle to sound.

Thief River Falls will host Grafton Friday in the Prowlers' 1986 homecoming game.

Wednesday Scrimmage . . .

UND Hockey Team Will Appear In TRF

Thief River Falls Sports Arena, site of a Saturday night University of Minnesota hockey intrasquad game, will host another WCHA scrimmage Wednesday when the University of North Dakota Sioux will make the trip here from Grand Forks for a 7 p.m. performance.

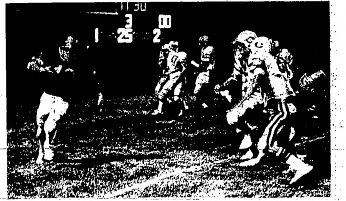
Sponsored by the Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association, the UND scrimmage has received far less hype than the Minnesota game because TRFAHA officials worked hard to meet the sizeable expenses involved in bringing the Gophers to Thief River Falls from Minneapolis. The Sioux were late in accepting a TRFAHA invitation to appear here, and promoters of the Gophers' scrimmage kept the UND information quiet for fear of interferring with their Minnesota ticket sales.

Tickets for the Gophers were priced at $4 for adults and $2 for students 14-under in advance; $5 and $3 at the door. There will be no advance ticket sales for the Sioux, with admission set at $2 for adults and $1 for students 14-under at the door only.

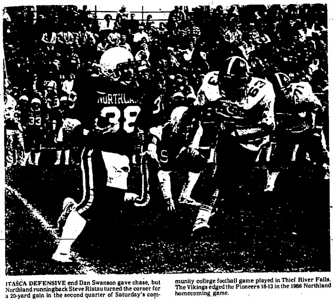
UND head coach Gino Gasparini and assistants Dean Blais, John Marks and Cary Eades began preseason practice drills with 43 players, including 19 letter winners from last year's 24-16-1 team when the Sioux finished sixth in the WCHA race with a 19-14-1 record. The Sioux begin WCHA play October 10-11 at the University of Minnesota-Duluth.

Letter winners back for the Sioux include goalies Scott Brower (Jr., Viking, AB) and Greg Strome (Sr., Muenster, SK); defensemen Tom Benson (Jr., Victoria, BC), Tarek Howard (Sr., Olds, AB), Ian Kidd (So., Gresham, OR) and Mike LaMoine (So., Grand Forks, ND); plus forwards Jeff Bowen (Sr., East Grand Forks), Bill Claviter (Sr., Virginia), Scott Dub (Jr., Park River, ND), Rick Forst (Jr., Esterhazy, SK), Tony Hrkac (So., Thunder Bay, ON), Steve Johnson (Jr., Grand Forks, ND), Bob Joyce (Jr., Winnipeg, MB), Scott Koberinski (So., North Battleford, SK), Mickey Krampotich (Sr., Hibbing), Perry Nakonechny (Sr., Dauphin, MB), Grant Paranica (So., North Battleford, SK) and Malcolm Parks (Sr., Edmonton, AB).

Others reporting for the start of practice were goalies Steve Peters (Fr., Bemidji) and Ed Belfour (Fr., Carman, MB); defensemen Darryn Fossand (Fr., Bemidji), Gary Kaiser (Fr., Fargo, ND), Murray Baron (Fr., Kamloops, BC), Edward Dockus (Fr., Glendora, CA) David Esse (Fr., Cloquet), Neil O'Donnell (Fr., Virginia), Russ Parent (Fr., Winnipeg, MB), Brian Staub (Fr., Saskatoon, S) and Robert Williams (Fr., Hastings); plus forwards Jeff Mehl (Fr., Fergus Falls), Jim Steen (So., Moorhead), Travis Shold (Fr., International Falls), Brian Staub (Fr., Bozeman, MT), Andy Noah (So., Fargo, ND), Brent Bobyck (Fr., Regina, SK), Michael Brickey (Fr., nipeg, MB), Brian Staub (Fr., Saskatoon, SK) and Robert Williams (Fr., Hastings); plus forwards Jeff Mehl (Fr., Fergus Falls), Jim Steen (So., Moorhead), Travis Shold (Fr., International Falls), Brain Staub (Fr., Bozeman, MT), Andy Noah (So., Fargo, ND), Brent Bobyck (Fr., Regina, SK), Michael Brickey (Fr., Port Huron, MI), Daniel Brooks (Fr., Canton, MA), Lee Davidson (Fr., Winnipeg, MB), Matthew Halleck (Fr., Mankato), Ted Hamlin (Fr., South St. Paul), Bliss Littler (Fr., Minot, ND), Dean Novick (Fr., Saskatoon, SK) and Peter Pappin (Fr., Chicago, IL).



THIEF RIVER FALLS halfback Paul Brandt tried to get to the outside as Crookston's defense closed in during the second quarter of Friday's high school football game played here. Brandt's yardage was reduced on the play when fullback Mike Bendickson (46) was penalized for holding as he tried to block the Pirates on the sweep.



ITASCA DEFENSIVE end Dan Swanson gave chase, but Northland runningback Steve Ristau turned the corner for a 20-yard gain in the second quarter of Saturday's community college football game played in Thief River Falls. The Vikings edged the Pioneers 16-13 in the 1986 Northland homecoming game.

Itasca Tops Northland 16-13 . . .

Vikings Edge Pioneers

Failure to accomplish a list of pre-game goals cost the Northland Community College football team its unbeaten status Saturday as the Pioneers lost a 16-13 Minnesota Community College Conference decision to Itasca in front of a good-size homecoming and Pepsi Bowl crowd at Prowler Field.

Northland coach Rick Nelson said earlier in the week the Pioneers would have to eliminate foolish penalties, keep Itasca from coming up with a big play and to capitalize on any scoring opportunity that would present itself.

They failed on all three accounts.

"Those were the things that beat us," acknowledged Nelson.

Itasca scored on a pair of long pass plays, and then when the Pioneers looked like they had a shot at pulling out a late-game victory or tie, they took themselves out of it with a personal foul penalty that erased a Steve Ristau run to the Vikings' 13-yard line with 4:22 remaining and set Northland back to the 31.

Otherwise, it was a good, solid showing by the Pioneers, who have apparently finally established themselves as a competitive MCCC challenger after ten years of mounting losses.

"We played hard," said Nelson. "The kids gave everything they had. They have nothing to be ashamed of. There's a long ways to go, and we'll be right in there."

A scoreless tie was shattered on the first of those long Itasca pass plays with 12:21 left in the second quarter when quarterback Bill Kinnunen hit wide receiver Barry Shaw between defenders over the middle. The defensive backs were caught in a crossing pattern, and when saftey Chad Ekeberg slipped, Shaw had clear sailing on a 40-yard play.

Defensive tackle Anthony McCullough blocked the extra point kick attempt by Dan Thielen to leave the score 6-0.

Northland tied it late in the first half after linebacker Steve Wiskow intercepted Kinnunen at the Pioneers' 35-yard line and returned it all the way to the Itasca 21 with 3:55 left, setting up a four-yard touchdown run through the middle six plays later by runningback Deon Schmidt. It remained tied at 6-6 with 1:20 on the clock when Ron Dass missed the conversion kick.

They matched touchdowns in the third quarter, too, and this time they both connected on conversion kicks for a 13-13 tie.

Itasca did it in the same fashion that produced the Vikings' first touchdown as Kinnunen went over the middle and hit tight end Steve Anderson between defenders. He went 63 yards for the score with 8:35 remaining.

Northland came right back with the equalizer on the very next possession, going 53 yards in nine plays after a Mike Coffield kickoff return to the 47-yard line.

Big play on the drive was a 38-yard Scott Willoughby pass to Scott Groven, who slipped behind the Itasca secondary, waited for the slightly-underthrown ball and was pulled down inside the Vikings' 1-yard line. It took three plays, but Northland finally scored from there when Ristau reached the end zone off the left side with 4:17 to play.

But the next possession produced the winning Itasca points. Starting from their own 20-yard line after a Deon Schmidt kickoff reached the end zone, the Vikings reached the Northland 9-yard line in nine plays before settling for a 25-yard field goal by Thielen. The drive included a 21-yard Kinnunen pass to Terry Robinson — again over the middle — and a tackle-breaking 41-yard run by Greg Stish that carried to the Northland 14. Thielen kicked his game-winning field goal on the first play of the fourth quarter.

Northland's last-shot effort started when Coffield, a linebacker, blocked a Thielen punt at the Itasca 46-yard line with six minutes to play. A 23-yard Willoughby completion to tight end Dorran Anderson took the Pioneers to the 21 and Ristau carried to the 13. But one of the Pioneers was caught throwing a punch on the play and the ball was brought back to the 31, ending the Northland come-back hopes.

"It was a tough one to lose," said Nelson. "The kids did everything we asked them to."

Northland, 2-1 and 1-1 in the MCCC, will host Vermillon Saturday in a 2 p.m. game at Prowler Field.

Area Sports Briefs

Alexandria girls have won six straight Section 8 high school swimming titles, and a sure bet will have the Cardinals making it eight-in-a-row this fall. A current listing of top Section 8 performers finds Alexandria swimmers with the fastest times in six of the ten swimming events, and the second-fastest times in seven events.

Moorhead swimmers have three top Section 8 times, while Fergus Falls has the other current best time.

Thief River Falls' top position right now is in the 200-yard medley relay, where Marci Turenne, Jennifer Ness, Christy Puetz and Heidi Tofte's 2:04.88 is second to a 2:02.25 — by Alexandria, of course.

Thief River Falls also has a current No. 3 ranking in diving with Jenny Nelson, who has a season-best 172.50-point outing to rank behind Kelli Sutton of Detroit Lakes, who has a 181.15 to her credit.

Larry Peterson To Coach

Thief River Falls native Larry Peterson has been named as the new head high school basketball coach for the Twin Valley boys.

Peterson, already serving as Twin Valley principal and athletic director, previously coached at Roseau and Appleton.

Former Dilworth standout Dave Varriano has been named Peterson's assistant coach.

Crookston Wins Title

It was incorrectly reported in The Times Wednesday that Bemidji won the annual Northwest Quadrangular high school tennis tournament played in Thief River Falls Tuesday.

Finald point standings should have read Crookston the winner with 16 points, followed by Bemidji with 13, Thief River Falls 11 and East Grand Forks 3.

Skating Registration

Registration for the 1986-87 Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association and Thief River Falls Recreational Skating programs, along with the annual skate exchange, will be held Thursday, October 2, from 5 to 8 p.m. at the Thief River Falls Sports Arena.

Dahl Plauing Football

Jeff Dahl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dahl of Newfolden, is playing football for northwestern College in St. Paul.

Dahl is a senior playing wide receiver for the Eagles. He is majoring in physical education and looks to be a key link to Northwestern football.

Last year the Eagles were second in the Upper Midwest Conference, posting a 4-2 record.

Cross Country Races At Golf Club . . .

TRF Invitational Is Tuesday

Annual Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Invitational, the Prowlers' lone home appearance of the 1986 cross country season, will take place Tuesday beginning at 4 p.m. at the Thief River Golf Cub.

Most of the Prowlers' season is spent on the road. Thursday they ran at the East Grand Forks Invitational, a change in the Thief River Falls schedule that showed the Prowlers traveling to Fergus Falls that afternoon.

Fort Totten boys and Grand Forks Red River girls won team titles in a small East Grand Forks field. Fort Totten boys edged runner-up Red River 44-49 in a four-team race, while the Red River girls defeated Grand Forks Central 66-92 in what proved to be just a two-team race since the rest of the field featured incomplete teams.

Thief River Falls boys trailed the field with a fourth place finish and the Thief River girls fielded an incomplete team.

But despite lack of team honors, the Prowlers came out a winner Thursday when freshman Lynn Mueller led the girls with a 12:07 first place finish, 17 seconds ahead of second place Gina Hann of Ada. Thief River Falls girls had four top-ten finishes, with Peggy Cruz placing sixth, Rhonda Rothschadl ninth and Cindy Kruta tenth, but the shorthanded Prowlers don't have a fifth runner to make a full point-counting team.

Todd Szczepanski of Red River led the boys with a 16:34. Thief River Falls' Shayne Anderson was eighth in 17:53.

Run, Pass, Punt Football Event Slated Saturday

Thief River Falls Jaycees Chapter will be sponsoring the Minnesota Jaycees Run, Pass and Punt football competition Saturday, October 4, in Thief River Falls.

The running, punting and passing competition will be divided into six age categories - ages 8, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13, determined by the contestant's age on September 1, 1986.

Competition is open to both boys and girls beginning at 10 a.m. at the football practice field located next to Prowler Field. All equipment will be supplied. Participants may not wear football shoes, spikes or soccer shoes.

Awards will be presented in each age category. First, second and third place finishers will advance to regional competition, where first and second place finishers will move on to the state finals.

There is no entry fee for the event. Registration forms will be available at the practice field Saturday morning. The registration form must be signed by a parent or guardian, so if the parent is not able to accompany the youngster, they may pick up a registration form at KTRF-KSNR this week.

For additional information contact Brent Waale at 681-3304 after 6 p.m., or Peggy Mehrkens at 681-3541.

TRF Football JV 20-12 Winner Over Crookston Friday

Rick Looker threw a pair of touchdown passes Friday afternoon as Thief River Falls defeated Crookston 20-12 in a junior varsity high school football game at Prowler Field.

Looker and Jay Bergland hooked up on a 58-yard touchdown pass with just two seconds left in the first half and then hit Sean Krepp with an eight-yard scoring toss in the third quarter, followed by a two-point conversion pass to Rob Coltom.

The two teams were tied at 6-6 at halftime and were deadlocked at 12-12 through three quarters. Thief River Falls' game-winning touchdown was a 33-yard return of a fumble by Jeff Brouse.

Thief River Falls, 2-2, and Crookston will meet against Thursday at 4:15 p.m. in Crookston.

Bobcats Have 7-4 Volleyball Record

Oklee improved its record to 7-4 Thursday with a 15-3, 15-3, 15-13 high school volleyball win over visiting Waubun.

"It was a good match for us," said Oklee coach Brad Borene, citing the play of junior Nancy Osbjornson at the net, where she had three kill spikes and three kill blocks.

Senior Julie Murack, the team's leading hitter, watched part of the match from the bench along with the rest of the starters, but still collected five kill spikes. Senior Ciel Olson and junior Lonie Bishop both played well as setters, said Borene.

Oklee visits Mahnomen Tuesday and hosts Plummer Thursday before participating in the Pine to Prairie Conference tournament Saturday at Mahnomen.

MCC - Grygla

Marshall County Central made it through what coach Tom Mjelde figured was going to be a demanding week in fine fashion to remain unbeaten for the year at 8-0.

The Nordics swept Warren, Middle River and Grygla by 3-0 scores in a four-day span, capped by a 15-7, 15-11, 15-10 win at Grygla Thursday.

"They (Grygla) played real well," acknowledged Mjelde, "so naturally we had to work hard. But I was pleased with our effort. I thought we played well. Our serving (close to 90 per cent) was good, and we set the ball up well. It was a real good team effort."

Marshall County Central will host Greenbush Thursday and will participate in the Thief River Falls Northern Lights Invitational Saturday.

"We played better than we did against them at Newfolden," mentioned Grygla coach Mike Gast, "but, then, that wouldn't have been hard to do. I still don't think we played all that well. Our setting wasn't real good and our bumps were poor."

Nikki Lian was the lone Grygla bright spot at the service line for the Eagles, who host Warroad Monday and visit Middle River Thursday.

Plummer - RLF

Plummer rebounded from its first two losses of the year suffered at the Win-E-Mac Invitational earlier in the week to sweep Red Lake Falls 15-1, 17-15, 15-12 Thursday, putting the host Cardinals at 9-2 for the year.

Junior Jodi Konickson and sophomore Angie Delage both had nine last touch points to lead the winners, who are without the services of standout senior hitter Robin Brantl, sidelined two weeks by an ankle injury.

Plummer hosts Warren Tuesday and visits Oklee Thursday.

Middle River - LOW

Middle River lost its third straight match Thursday, a 3-0 decision at home against Lake of the Woods.

The Bears won it 15-9, 16-14, 15-9, including a second-game rally from a ten-point deficit.

"We've still got problems," acknowledged Middle River coach Steve Holmes. "We've got to learn how to win."

Rayette Benke played an aggressive volleyball game for the Skippers, said Holmes, but they need more than one player to do that, he pointed out.

Middle River hosts Greenbush Tuesday and entertains Grygla Thursday.

The Thief River Falls runners will have their own attraction Tuesday when they host the annual Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Invitational cross country meet at the Thief River Golf Club.

Skippers Lose 11-8 Game To Cougars

Middle River's defense did not surrender a touchdown Friday afternoon, but the Skippers still would up losing an 11-8 Northern Lights Conference nine-man high school football game to Kittson County North at Lancaster.

"We played well enough to win," reported Middle River coach Eldon Sparby. "The breaks just went their way."

Kittson County North scored on a blocked punt that was recovered in the end One, on a field goal to end the first half and on a safety in the game's final seconds.

"It was a good ball game," said Sparby. "We just made some critical mistakes that cost us the game."

The field goal, for example, came on an extra play at the end of the first half. The Skippers were called for a roughing-the-passer penalty as time expired, and the additional snap for the Cougers produced a 25-yard Dan Carlson field goal.

Middle River, which scored on a two-yard Mark Gram touchdown run in the third quarter, also had a fourth quarter touchdown erased on an illegal procedure penalty.

"I was real pleased with our defense," noted Sparby. "They didn't move the ball on us at all."

Tom Gullikson had 11 tackles to lead the Skippers, and safety Jeff Foss had an "excellent game, said Sparby, as he came up to make nine tackles.

Offensively the Skippers were limited by a sore arm on quarterback Tom Blazek, who was just 2-for-8 for 10 yards in the wind, and an injury that slowed Gram, who still led the team with 80 yards rushing.

Middle River, 2-3, will host Oslo-Alvarado in a 7:30 p.m. game Tuesday and will visit Badger for a 3:30 p.m. game Saturday.

Both sides scored four touchdowns, but Oklee was 2-for-4 in the conversion department, while Plummer was just 1-for-4, giving the Bobcats a 28-26 North Tri-County Conference nine-man win over the host Cardinals Friday night.

"It was a very hard-hitting football game; very physical," said Plummer coach Gary Brantl, whose team had a 20-6 halftime lead. "First half we played very well defensively and moved the ball on offense. But in the second half, Oklee came out fired up and we didn't. They out-played us in the second half. Our defense let us down."

Greg Bishop scored on three touchdown runs for the Bobcats, whose offense got a big boost from the passing of quarterback Todd Bergeron. He hit Kyle Cantwell with a 50-yard scoring pass and also completed a pair of crucial two-point conversion tosses.

"Todd Bergeron had an excellent night throwing the ball," pointed out Brantl.

Plummer had a shot at pulling out a last-minute homecoming victory, but watched as Shane Freyholtz narrowly missed a 35-yard field goal try with 55 seconds remaining.

Wayne Erickson, in his first start, gained 136 yards on 20 carries for the Cardinals, scoring twice. Quarterback Wade Grinde was 14-for-24 passing for 144 yards and two touchdowns — to Joe Peters and Craig Brantl. Peters caught six passes for 72 yards and Brantl caught four for 32 yards. The Cardinals collected 325 yards worth of offense.

"We moved the ball," acknowledged Brantl, but defensively, he said, only Neil Huotari played up to his potential as he came up with eight tackles, a fumble recovery and a pass interception.

Plummer, 3-2, will have a bye this week. Oklee, 2-3, will be at Fisher-Climax Friday.

MCC 13
Tri-County 12

Marshall County Central celebrated homecoming with a 13-12 Saturday night Top of the State Conference nine-man win over Tri-County.

It was the Nordics' second straight victory after three season-opening losses.

"Overall it was a pretty good defensive effort," reported Marshall County Central coach Sam Gebhart. "We came up with a couple of big defensive plays when we had to, especially on their extra point attempts."

Tri-County scored on a 2-yard Steve Sele run with less than three minutes remaining to pull within 13-12, but for the second time in the game the Rabbits failed to tack on the conversion points.

Marshall County Central scored first when Corey Green recovered a teammate's fumble in the end zone and Tom Bolstad added what would later prove to be the winning conversion kick.

Tri-County capitalized on a high punt snap in the Marshall County Central end zone that was downed at the one-yard line to pull within 7-6, but when the Rabbits failed to convert a fourth down shot at a first down late in the first half, the Nordics were in position to score on a 9-yard Danni Halvorson pass to Bolstad with just 30 seconds left.

Bolstad led the Nordics with 79 yards rushing on 19 carries, and caught four passes for 40 yards. Halvorson was 6-for-14 in the air for 60 yards.

"Our line did a good job blocking," mentioned Gebhart.

Halvorson led the Nordics defensively with 13 unassisted tackles, eight assisted stops and an interception. Greg Graham was in on ten tackles.

Marshall County Central visits Stephen Friday.

Beltrami Island Forest

Several roads in the Beltrami Island State Forest have or are presently undergoing various stages of reconstruction.

Morehouse Forest Road has been renovated this past summer. The 13-mile road has been disced, rotovated (to break up sod) and sloped. Perennially troublesome sections of the road have been reconstructed and graveled. For those not familiar with the Morehouse, it stretches from County Road 18 in Reine Township southeast to Dick's Parkway Forest Road in Beltrami County. Barring heavy rains, this road should be in excellent condition for the fall hunting season.

Dick's Parkway Forest Road, which extends 31 miles from the Clear River Forestry Station south to Malcolm in Beltrami County, is presently undergoing reconstruction. The road's shoulders are being cut and worked into the road bed. Consequently, the road is quite treacherous at this time and those using the road should use caution. Beginning late this fall and extending into next year, gravel will be applied to the entire 31 miles. Culverts will also be installed as needed. The Division of Forestry recommends not using the parkway for the next year if at all possible.

Three additonal road projects are currently underway. They are: the Penturen Road, located 3½ miles east of the Winner Silo and extending three miles south, the Black's-Winner Road extending two miles south of the silo, the Stotts Road located one mile west of the silo and extending south. Work will consist of discing, reshaping and graveling portions of these roads. As needed, culverts will also be installed. The above projects should be completed by deer season. In addition, this should provide access to isolated cemetaries.

Majority of the reconstruction projects have been contracted out to local firms. The Division of Forestry has undertaken some projects with state equipment and manpower.

TRF, Crookston Freshmen Play To 20-20 Draw

Crookston overcame a 20-6 fourth quarter deficit to gain a 20-20 tie with Thief River Falls Thursday in a freshman high school football game at Prowler Field.

Thief River Falls had a 6-0 first quarter lead on a 40-yard Kurt Kainz pass to Jason Kempert and led 14-6 at halftime on a 1-yard touchdown plunge by Paul Kezar, plus his two-point conversion run.

It became 20-6 in the third quarter on a 25-yard open field touchdown scamper by Kempert.

Thief River Falls is 1-1-1 for the year. The Glen Peters-coached freshmen host Valley Junior High of Grand Forks Thursday at 4:15 p.m.

DNR NEWS

Bird Numbers Decline

An August survey conducted on 4,000 miles of Minnesota roadways revealed that the state's population of Hungarian partridge and pheasants has declined from last year.

Department of Natural Resources reports that the annual survey recorded 47 per cent fewer Huns, but for the second consecutive year more Huns were counted than pheasants.

Wildlife biologists said Huns entered the breeding season in good shape because many farm fields were unharvested and unplowed last fall and there were timely thaws last winter. But unusually wet weather during the early brood period resulted in poor survival of chicks.

They said the southwest and south central regions of the state have the best populations of Hungarian partridge and experienced a less severe decline than other areas.

(Two Department biologists, Dick Kimmel and Rick Erpelding, are presenting research papers this month at a wildlife conference in Regina, Saskatchewan, devoted to Hungarian partridge and prairie grouse.)

August census produced an all time low count of 21.6 pheasants seen per 100 miles of survey route — a 42 per cent decline from last year. The average brood size of 4.5 chicks per brood was the lowest recorded in the 31 years of the census.

"Wet weather, increased use of pesticides and continued distrubance of lands retired under the federal farm programs are all contributing to this dramatic reduction...," said the report.

Catfish Released

Lurking somewhere in the depths of the St. Croix river is the 64-pound catfish waiting to tear up some angler's fishing tackle.

The big "cat" was a star attraction at the Department of Natural Resources' state fair exhibit.

Regarded with awe by fair visitors and given a wide berth by other fish in the DNR state fair fish pond, it was returned to its natural habitat by DNR fisheries workers Sept. 2 near the Highway 12 bridge at Lakeland.

It's down there somewhere, waiting.

TIP Lands Gill Netters

An excessive appetite for steelhead trout cost two Grand Marais men $3,040.

A call to the Turn In Poachers (TIP) program helped DNR Conservation Officer Jim Forbord of East Grand Marais apprehend the two gill netters in the act of pulling their net from Lake Superior at Kadunce Creek. Forbord was assisted by Cook County Sheriff's deputies.

Forbord confiscated 12 steelhead, one lake trout, one coho salmon and a sucker along with 200 feet of gill net and a 12-foot Crestliner boat.

Anthony Wayne Smith pleaded guilty to illegally taking game fish with a gill net. He was sentenced to six months in jail with the sentence stayed on condition there are no further violations for two years. He was fined $1,000. In addition, he paid a $100 surcharge and court costs and was ordered to pay $240 reimbursement fee for a public defender.

Keith Timothy Anderson pleaded guilty to unlawfully taking gamefish with a gill net and possession of a gill net without a tag. He was sentenced on August 28 to serve six months in jail. The sentence was stayed for two years and he was placed on probation on condition he commits no further game law violations. He was fined $1,500 plus a $150 surcharge and court costs.

Fishing privileges for both men were revoked for three years.

A continuing investigation into the arrests led to the filing of gross misdemeanor gill netting charges on a third person in Cook County Court on September 3 according to Forbord.

"The local reaction to the arrests has been very positive and supportive," said Forbord. "Law abiding people realize that we can't continue to let poachers rob us of our resources."

The TIP program is a joint venture between TIP, Inc. and the DNR Division of Enforcement.

TIP, Inc. is a private, nonprofit organization dedicated to curbing the illegal taking of Minnesota's fish and wildlife resources.

TIP, Inc. offers rewards for information leading to the arrest of poachers. Persons with information on poaching activities should call their local conservation officer or the TIP hotline at 800-652-9747.

"The majority of callers are concerned citizens who don't want a reward," said TIP, Inc. president Glenn Nyquist. "They just want the poacher stopped.

Conservation Corps Unit

Natural resource needs around Lake Superior recently received special attention from an unusual Conservation Corps unit — comprised of 18 young adults from Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan.

The nine week demonstration program began July 28 and it is the first tri-state venture of its kind in the United States, according to Larry Fonnest, acting director of the Minnesota Conservation Corps.

Lake Superior Conservation Corps crew was stationed at Minnesota's Tettegouche State Park from August 18 to Sept. 5. During the three weeks they were based at the park, the crew surveyed shoreline erosion problems from Duluth to the Canadian border and constructed a 270-foot erosion control wall at Temperance River State Park on Minnesota's North Shore near Tofte.

While in Wisconsin, the crew rerouted a hiking trail on Madoline Island and in Michigan they carried out park land rehabilitation for the city of Marquette.

Fonnest said the projects provide important benefits to the public and natural resources at a minimum cost. Workers earn $3.35 per hour and learn new job skills.

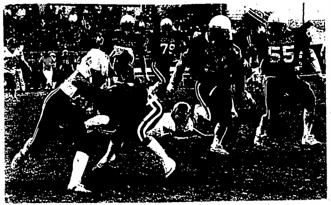
The Thief River Falls Greenwing chapter is one of the largest in the nation and 352 members were present Sunday with over 475 dinners in all being served.



EVEN THOUGH he was hit early and several Northland defenders were closing in, Itasca runningback Tony DeZurik bounced away and picked up 18 yards on this play in the first quarter of Saturday's Minnesota Community College Conference football game played at Prowler Field. Giving chase for the Pioneers were Mike Stennes (30), Jeff Johnson (79), Steve Boushee (92) and Steve Wiskow (55). The Vikings won the game 16-13.

Pioneers Play In Itasca-Volleyball Event Saturday

Northland Community College volleyball team participated in the Itasca Invitational Saturday in Grand Rapids.

It was an eight-team field, divided into a pair of four-team round-robin pools.

Despite playing well, according to coach Deb Jacobson, the Pioneers finished fourth in the pool play before beating Rainy River in a match-up of last place finishers in the day's final round of matches.

In the round-robin competition, the University of Minnesota-Crookston beat Northland 15-2, 15-6 and Hibbing topped Northland 15-9, 15-10. The Pioneers split their two-game match with Mesabi, winning 15-4 but losing 14-16.

Northland beat Rainy River 15-5, 15-11 in the first two games of the 2-out-of-3 game seventh place match and trailed 8-7 in Game Three before the six-member Rainy River squad was forced to surrender a 10-8 decision when an injury left them shorthanded.

"We played well," said Jacobson. "We're beginning to play together as a team. It was a good day for us."

Northland will visit Rainy River Wednesday for a 6 p.m. dual outing.

A USUALLY quiet Tim Bergland was handed the microphone and called upon to address the crowd Saturday prior to the University of Minnesota hockey intrasquad scrimmage in the Thief River Falls Sports Arena. The former Prowler standout, now one of the Gophers' co-captains, was preceded in the pre-game ceremonies by, left to right, Thief River Falls mayor Bob Carlson, game-organizer John Michael Anderson and Minnesota Head coach Doug Woog.

TIP Program Aiding DNR Personnel

Turn In Poachers (TIP) program has racked up an impressive 1,588 arrests in its first five years which ended September 1....

The program is a joint venture between TIP, Inc., a private, nonprofit organization, and the Department of Natural Resources Division of Enforcement.

Through TIP, concerned citizens can report poaching activities by calling a toll-free hotline. TIP, Inc. offers cash rewards for information leading to the arrest of poachers of Minnesota's fish and wildlife resources.

"The 1,588 arrests made through TIP probably would not have been possible without the program," said Glenn Nyquist, president of TIP, Inc.

Since 1981, TIP, Inc. has paid 643 rewards amounting to a total of $111,020.

"The majority of tipsters don't want a cash reward," Nyquist said. "The personal satisfaction of stopping the poacher is enough for them. Many of those who do accept a reward donate the money to a favorite charity or a local sportsman's club."

DNR officials say that poaching is a serious problem in Minnesota. It is depleting our fish and wildlife resources and has an economic impact on the state.

TIP allows citizens to help enforce our fish and wildlife laws. The extensive citizen participation and support is helping to curb the illegal taking of our resources according to DNR officials.

"Because of TIP, many poachers who would have gotten away before are being caught — and successfully prosecuted," said Jerry Kittridge, DNR director of Enforcement. "Our officers report that 98 per cent of all TIP arrests result in convictions. The program has proven to be a very valuable tool in alleviating poaching."

Callers provided enough information for field officers to make investigations of 1,967 separate cases in the first five years of the program.

"Over the years, the quality of information provided has improved dramatically," Kittridge said. "Where they used to say that someone in a truck had 50 walleyes over the limit, they now tell us the color, make, model and license number of the truck plus a good description of the violator and where we can find him or her."

TIP's main aim is to control the persistent poaching rings in Minnesota. However, no good leads are turned down. If a caller reports someone shooting songbirds, taking a fawn or catching bass out of season, the report will be pursued. In the eyes of the law, a violation is a violation.

Conservation officers report that callers are very concerned about having their resources stolen by fish and game hogs. They want the blatant violators caught. Many callers provide more than information. They assist officers in a number of other ways.

One man, after leading the officer to the poacher's camp, helped him pick up six miles of set lines placed by the poachers. Another group of concerned citizens used their own money to buy fish from a poacher, detaining him until officers could arrive on the scene to witness the transactions. Still others agree to testify in court about the poacher's activities.

TIP callers can remain anonymous. If the caller desires a reward or needs to identify himself to the DNR again, he will be given a code number. The only way he, or anyone else, can find out about the outcome of a case is to give this code number. Without the code, all callers will be refused any information on a case.

TIP offers rewards of up to $1,000 for information leading to the arrest of poachers. Generally, $100 is paid for fish, small game and nongame species violations, $250 for big game and endangered species and up to $1,000 for flagrant or commercial violations.

"Poachers think they have the right to take more than the legal limit and to hunt, fish or trap wherever and whenever they please. They somehow feel they are above the law, that it doesn't apply to them," Nyquist said.

"The poacher is stealing from all of us. He has no respect for our laws. To ensure that our wildlife will be here for future generations, people must get involved."

"You don't have to hunt or fish to support TIP. Our members and supporters enjoy a variety of outdoor pursuits — what we have in common is our enjoyment of our fish and wildlife resources," he stated.

Anyone with information on poaching activities in Minnesota should call their local conservation officer or the TIP hotline at 800-652-9747

TIP, Inc. is a statewide organization of concerned citizens dedicated to curbing the illegal taking of Minnesota's fish and wildlife resources.

TIP reward and educational programs are supported by membership donations. Three types of membership are available: Associate - $10, Sustaining - $100 or Sponsor - $500. Membership donations may be sent to TIP, Inc., 5701 Normandale Road, Minneapolis, MN 55424.

Seventh Grade Football

A 20-point second half outburst carried the Franklin Middle School seventh grade football team to a 28-8 win at Warroad Thursday. The two teams were tied 8-8 at halftime.

Thane Espe and Matt Kaushagen both scored two touchdowns for the Spartans. Espe had a 25-yard run and caught a 30-yard scoring pass from Russ Bjorgaard, while Kaushagen scored on runs of 15 and 10 yards.

Franklin coaches Floyd Erickson and Lambert Brunkhorst said the Spartans' play improved considerably over a season-opening 18-12 loss at Crookston earlier in the week. Erickson also mentioned that the Spartans were appreciative of the fan support that accompanied them to Warroad.

The seventh graders will be at Grand Forks Twinning Junior High in their next outing, but not until Tuesday, October 7.

Volleyball

Crookston won both the A and B matches Thursday as the Franklin Middle School seventh and eighth grade volleyball teams resumed play after a week-long schedule break.

Host Crookston beat the Franklin A team 15-6, 7-15, 15-10 and Crookston defeated the Franklin B team 15-13, 8-15, 16-5.

Franklin A team is 1-3 for the year and the B team is 2-2. They are scheduled to host Bemidji today (Monday) at 4:15 p.m. and will visit East Grand Forks Tuesday for another 4:15 p.m. outing.

Outdoor News

Boating Safety

Outdoor enthusiasts often save a chunk of their annual vacation to take their boats to the wilderness for a week or two of autumn hunting and fishing. But these people seldom observe the same safety practices in the wild as they did during the summer boating season.

Disregard for safety often leads to tragedy. The Coast Guard's Boating Safety Division in Cleveland offers the following tips to help have a safe trip:

Many hunters and anglers use small utility boats as a platform because they are easy to handle, portable, inexpensive and available most everywhere. Your best bet is to use a stable, flat-bottom boat with built-in flotation. Skiffs, prams, or jon boats are good buys because they carry a lot of weight for their size and are easy to maneuver. Canoes are not recommended; they're just plain too unstable, say safety officials.

But even the flattest of the flat-bottom boats can be tipsy. Check the boat's capacity plate to be sure your not exceeding the maximum safe load. Distribute the load evenly fore and aft, right and left, and as low as possible. That includes people. Standing to shoot, pry a hook from your leg, or relieve yourself over the side is not worth the added risk. Stay low.

Accidents do happen, though. To increase your chances of survival, wear a Coast Guard-approved personal flotation device (PFD). Don't think you have to compromise your camouflage's integrity by wearing one of those, big bulky, orange life preservers. Life jackets, vest-type PFSs, and float coats are now being manufactured in more subtle colors such as "forest green," "marsh brown" and "camouflage."

More important than comfort and unobtrusiveness, these PFDs will keep you warm, afloat, and alive should you end up in the water. The foam or fiber fillers used in PFDs trap body heat. And the PFD will repel water rather than absorbing it (keeping you drier during the rainer fall months).

Coast Guard also warns to be extra careful now that the air and water temperature is starting to decrease. Hypothermia can set in quicker than you realize. And don't rely on a shot of alcohol to keep you warm. It doesn't warm you up. Drink hot coffee, tea, or soup.

Take care, not chances. You'll have more fun — you'll come home alive and dry.

PARENTS SCURRIED through halls Tuesday in a Back-to-School evening at Franklin Middle school. Parents of sixth, seventh and eighth graders were given their child's class schedule, locker number and combination and sent merrily on their way to follow the same route their child does each day with the same three minutes' passing time between classes. They also had the opportunity to meet teachers in their home classrooms for 10 minute periods. At first, many bewildered parents wandered the lonely halls, being reprimanded as they tried to sneak into back row seats after "classes" had begun. A spirit of fun prevailed, however, with most parents becoming experienced navigators of Franklin's halls by the end of the evening.

STEVE KUHNLEY, emergency drill coordinator at Northwest Medical center demonstrated Roscoe Smoke, which generates a safe smoke. The smoke does not leave a residue, is a non-irritant, and is FDA approved as a food additive. The smoke created a measure or realism to the disaster drill conducted at Northwest Medical center in Thief River Falls Monday.

Business Survey To Assist Businesses

Creating a better climate for cooperation and communication between business and city government is one goal of a survey conducted of Thief River Falls manufacturing business beginning Monday.

"Our best chance of developing jobs in Thief River Falls exists in Thief River Falls," said community development director Don Stewart.

Stewart, who is also the Jobs Inc. executive director, said ever since he began working with Jobs Inc., and the city, the message has been not only to attract outside businesses to locate or relocate in Thief River Falls, but assist local small businesses where an estimated 50 per cent of all jobs in the community are created. It's all part of a newly created business retention and expansion program.

"A major portion of the economic well-being of our city and county comes from our manufacturing, processing, distributing, wholesaling and professional services," Stewart said. "Because of their importance to our community, positive steps are being taken to identify and meet the needs of these firms."

The key element of the business retention and expansion program will be an in-depth, confidential survey of all manufacturers and processors and a cross section of local distributors, wholesalers, professional services and some agricultural-related firms. Trained interviewers will conduct the survey and members of the business retention and expansion task force will analyze the survey data and recommend actions according to the findings.

The Minnesota Department of Energy and Economic Development (DEED) provides the training manual, video tapes and slide presentations to assist Jobs Inc. to successfully conduct the survey at no cost. The only cost to the city will be the cost of the one interviewer and stamps.

Stewart said he expects to use one interviewer. That interviewer will conduct the survey of 33 area businesses after an introductory letter from the mayor and an interview date is established. Businesses will also receive the list of survey questions prior to the interview so they can be ready with all the necessary information. Individual survey information will be strictly confidential.

Results, after all the surveys are completed which is expected by the end of October, will be compiled and collated by DEED and Jobs Inc. General local results compiled by Jobs Inc. will be made public when completed. Results compiled by DEED will be mainly of regional and statewide interest and also made public.

In the approximately one-hour long survey, business executives will be asked their opinion of the city's economy, whether relocation or expansion of their business is being considered; and if their business has problems the city might help them solve, such as finding financing for expansion or technical assistance.

"When the survey was conducted in Onamia (one of two surveys conducted in Minnesota so far), results uncovered that three businesses were considering expansion. Some assistance from the community was forthcoming. The information could also uncover some problems that could serve as a red flag to us," Stewart said. But the information collected could also indicate a problem as simple to solve as a stop sign in a poor place, he added.

In a letter to the newly created business retention and expansion task force, Governor Rudy Perpich wrote, "It has been demonstrated that the majority of new jobs created in a community come from the expansion of existing businesses. New jobs in a community and the personal income they generate result in increased retail sales, new home and business construction, a larger local tax base and, in turn, more jobs. Keeping Minnesota businesses healthy and growing means listening to their concerns and forming partnerships to solve potential problems. This is the goal before the business retention and expansion task force."

Raccoon Visits SDA School With Keith Hagens

Students at the Thief River Falls Seventh-day Adventist elementary school were excited about a special guest which came to visit them on Thursday.

"Skipper," a four-month-old raccoon and his friends, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Hagen of rural Gatzke, spent about an hour and one-half at the school.

Hagen stated that the raccoon was found while the Hagen family was picking wild raspberries this summer. "Skipper" and his brother "Snoopy" were showing obvious signs that their mother had either abandoned them or had come upon misfortune. Until the raccoons weaned themselves, the Hagens fed them milk out of a baby bottle. They also gave them lots of attention.

"They've never been caged," Mrs. Hagen said, "and they are now too mischievous to have in the house. So they've made a home for themselves underneath an old granary and they come up to the house whenever they want to eat or play."

While the raccoon was at the school, the students were allowed to feed it some of its favorite foods — grapes and chocolate candy. "Skipper" seemed quite pleased with all the attention and even gave a demonstration of how he can purr. Mr. and Mrs. Hagen said that the raccoons are fascinating animals with personalities and personal preferences all their own.

"I guess they think I'm their mother," Shirley Hagen says. "But I know that someday they will probably strike out on their own back to their life in the wild. But for now, we are best of friends."

Testing Kits For Colon-Rectal Cancer Offered

For the sixth consecutive year, AMC cancer research center and Medicine Shoppe pharmacies are joining forces in the battle against colon-rectal cancer. October 9-11 the pharmacies will give away free, take-home test kits to help detect this disease in its earliest stages. Test kits detect hidden blood in the stool — an early indicator of colon-rectal cancer.

Completed tests are mailed to AMC cancer research center in Denver, CO, for free analysis. If a potential problem is detected, a second free test is sent to verify initial results. Test results are sent to all participants, and those with positive readings are strongly advised to consult their physician for further testing and final diagnosis.

Free colon-rectal cancer kits are available at the Medicine Shoppe in Thief River Falls.

H.S. Vocational Training Adds To Wages Of Women

Women high school graduates who have recieved vocational training while in high school are twice as likely to earn more than women who have received no vocational training in high school.

According to the 1985 Minnesota high school follow-up report about the class of 1984, 49 per cent of all women graduates who had received vocational education in high school were earning $6 per hour or more. Only 23 per cent of women graduates who had no vocational training in high school were earning $6 or more.

"Students with job skills are more competitive in the employment market. Therefore, they can earn higher wages," said Dolores Pospesel, student follow-up specialist for the state board of vocational technical education.

High school follow-up samplings for the Class of 1984 include 22,955 students assessed from a total of 58,940 students. A federal mandate requiring information is collected from 20 per cent of all high school seniors each year in each high school district.

The percentage of seniors assessed in Minnesota in 1985 was 39 per cent. "This percentage is growing each year as the need for accountability in education increases," Pospesel said.

Georgraphic distribution and the sizes of districts are balanced. There is an 80 per cent response rate.

United Way Opens Drive To Raise $75,000 Goal

Encouraged by the success of the 1985 campaign, the Thief River Falls United Way board kicked off its 1986 fund drive for $75,000 with a dinner September 22 at Redeemer Lutheran church. Last year the organization set a $67,500 goal and collected more than $70,000.

"It appears that the requests for funding will be even greater this year than a year ago," said Sharon Fugleberg, executive secretary of the organization. "Last year $60,000 was allocated to 30 different agencies and some funds were held in reserve for operation and emergencies. Although we allocate funds after our drive, there are already requests being received from charities that were not a part of the distribution a year ago."

Norwest Bank sponsored the kickoff dinner at which a training session for United Way volunteers was conducted. Board chairman Keith Steva opened the meeting with a welcome and introduction of board members. Peter Lavalier and Darla Twomey presented a skit and Linda Wallerich Nelson of the Ripley shelter told what United Way means to that agency. Dave Odette, past United Way chairman, conducted the training session.

Bob Wold, vice chairman of the board, is in charge of city, county and state employee solicitation. Mrs. Lloyd (Dory) VeVea is treasurer of the organization. Directors Lana Sandahl, Peter Lavalier, Darrell Bakke and Kathy Carriere are in charge of business collections, Ron Winter and Lois Janes in charge of contacting corporations and nursing homes, Lambert Brunkhorst in charge of schools, Dr Bryce Bray in charge of professional collections and Marcie Swanson handling rural solicitation.

There will be no residential door to door campaign again this year although a mail campaign to selected participants is being conducted. Volunteers serving in collection for the 1986 campaign include the following:

Alice Kirby, Cherilyn Sorum, Deb Bergeron, Rod Sletten, Rick Gustafson, Don Schoenheyan, Val Larson, Paul Ihle, John Michael Anderson, Mary Ann Hodge, Diane Stokke, Carolyn Haugen, Danica Robson, Irene Ellingson, Peggy Loberg, Grace Ortloff, Mike LaSalle, Vicky Lindberg and Deb Bruer.

Also Linda Wallerich Nelson, Laurie Anderson, Barb Novak, Julie Bakke, Shelly Steva, Gordon Peterson, Cindy Johnson, Owen Bendickson, Deb Zak, Marcie Lavalier, Charlie Oakes, Lynne Rylander, Bruce Gerardy, Kris Gerardy, Lynn Pederson, Barb LaSalle, Tim Erickson, Cliff Swanson, Kyle Anderson, Cindy Meyers, Lori Carpenter, Morris Roadfeldt, Kenneth Kohler, Chuck Erickson and Judy Pinkerton.

City Council Looks At '87 Preliminary Budget And Deficit

Budgetary concerns were stated at a special Thief River Falls city council meeting Tuesday night. The 1987 preliminary budget estimates a deficit of $591,109 and does not include any public employee wage increase that may occur.

"The large deficit is not something new. It isn't something we can't work with," said Jerry Wigness, city clerk.

Considerable discussion was devoted to how to reduce the estimated deficit. Several suggestions were offered and then changed, but no firm decision as to where the money would come from to pay for the deficit was found. Most of the discussion revolved around elimination of some capital outlay projects or rate increases. At issue when discussing what to cut is the necessity of each item and how that item could affect the city in the future.

The preliminary budget summary estimated Thief River Falls' revenue with the highest levy possible at $9,549,719 and expenses at $10,140,828, leaving a deficit of $591,109. If everything goes as planned for the rest of this year the city will have a budgeted deficit of $348,772, which will be covered by reserves.

Revenue increases are expected next year from the liquor dispensary, the sanitation department and the electric department. One obvious loss this year will be revenue sharing funds. Wigness and Roger DeLap, assistant city clerk, said they have talked with legislators and have been told not to expect any revenue sharing funds this year at all.

A summary of capital outlay projects in the 1987 preliminary budget includes new carpet at the library, a new police patrol vehicle, moving radar, video recorder for the police department, a one-ton truck and two half-ton trucks with box and hoists for the street department, a new brush chipper for the forestry department, a Zamboni ice surfacer for the arena, a plow for the arena and parks, a new fire truck, repairs, land and work on buildings for the water department, a small trencher with backfill blade, thumper, electronic meter reading, gas pump, used vehicle and equipment and tools for the electric department, and also many underground projects.

No firm decisions were reached and more meetings are planned.

In other matters under discussion during the special meeting of the city council, city property upon which a garage had been built without the knowledge of the city and then sold to Wallace Heaton was sold to Heaton by the city for $250 to clear the title, an ordinance pertaining to pawn shops which changed the period of redemption from 90 days to 30 days was given a first reading and then adopted, and operation of the leaf loader was discussed. Operation begins October 2 on regularly scheduled garbage days during the afternoons.

Plan Ag Outlook Meeting Oct. 10 At Best Western

An ag outlook meeting has been scheduled for Friday, October 10 at 1:30 p.m. at the Best Western inn of Thief River Falls. Phil Bergland, Pennington county ASCS director, will be on hand to discuss PIK certificates and some of the rules and regulations behind them, as well as some of the unusual ways they are being handled.

Outlook for the coming year will also be discussed, including beef, dairy and hogs on the livestock side and wheat, feed grains and oilseeds on the field crop side.

"The meeting should give producers a good idea as to what they can expect in the coming year for commodity prices, and some thoughts on how to plan their farming operations to best take advantage of prices and opportunities over the coming year," states Howard Person, Pennington county extension agent.

The meeting is being conducted by Person along with area marketing agent Sam Bigger and farm management agent Bill Penning. The Pennington County Extension Service and the Area Ag Information Center are jointly sponsoring the meeting.

(Editor's Note: Reinvest in Minnesota (RIM) reserve program has far-reaching implications for marginal land in Minnesota, the people who own it and the wildlife which can benefit from it. RIM reserve sign-up is open through October 10. The following questions and answers about the program were provided by the Marshall-Beltrami soil and water conservation district.)

Q. What is the RIM reserve program?

A. RIM reserve is a state funded program to retire marginal agricultural land from crop production, using 10-year or perpetual easements. The purpose of RIM reserve is to reduce erosion, protect water quality and develop and enhance valuable fish and wildlife habitat.

Q. Who is eligible to enroll?

A. A Minnesota resident who owns, or is a buyer under contract for deed, may enroll land that is a family farm, family farm corporation or an authorized corporation. Hobby farmers and absentee landowners who are Minnesota residents are also eligible to enroll.

Q. What land are eligible for enrollment?

A. Eligible land:

(1) Must be marginal agricultural land or agricultural land adjacent to marginal agricultural land. At least 50 per cent of the enrolled acreage must be marginal ag land;

(2) Was in agricultural crop production or rotation pasture for at least two years during the period 1981 through 1985 (Rotation pasture must have been cultivated or interseeded two of the last 10 years);

(3) Was owned by the applicant on Jan. 1, 1985,

(4) Is at least five acres or a whole field as defined by ASCS;

(7) Does not exceed 20 per cent of the landowner's total agricultural property in the state.

Q. What is the smallest eligible acreage I can sign up?

A. The acreage to be enrolled must be at least five acres in size or be a whole field as indicated by ASCS records.

Q. If I have a field with some eligible land, is it all eligible?

A. Possibly. At least 50 per cent of the enrolled field must be marginal agricultural land.

Q. What is a RIM reserve easement?

A. A RIM reserve easement is either a 10-year or perpetual conservation restriction on the enrolled acres. The easement will be recorded on the land title at the county court house.

Q. How will the RIM reserve acres be managed?

A. A permanent vegetative cover is required on RIM reserve lands. Other practices including trees may also be a part of the conservation plan. The landowner is responsible for establishing and maintaining the vegetative cover, trees and any other conservation practices applied. Cropping and grazing will not be allowed on enrolled acres. Noxious weed control and pest control is the landowner's

Cast Is Selected For Lincoln Play; Carter To Direct

Now that the cast has been chosen the work begins for the 1986 fall play at Lincoln high school, "Don't Tell Mother," written by Monk Ferris, under the direction of Lincoln high school alumnus Brett Carter. Production dates have been set for November 21 and 22 with a V.I.P. performance on November 20. Curtain each night will be at 7:28 p.m.

"Over 30 students auditioned for the farcical comedy that will provide an evening of good clean fun for the entire family," Carter said. "Action of the play centers on the only witness of a bank robbery, the first dinner with opposite parents for a newly-engaged couple, and a terrible case of mistaken identity for almost everyone on stage."

Playing Cinnamon Schmidt, a librarian who witnesses the bank robbery, is Karina Krepp. Gina Olmstead plays her mother, not exactly a stay-at-home lady. DeeDee Malone, Cinnamon's friend, will be protrayed by Petrina Kuyath. Government agent Joe Shimko, there to investigate the Schmidt family, will be played by Sean Krepp.

Cinnamon's fiance will be dining with his wife-to-be's family for the first time during the play. He is Hobart Berelzheimer and will be portrayed by Dean Fugleberg. His mother, Magda, will join him in meeting Cinnamon's mother for dinner. Erin Shoberg takes this motherly roll.

Rounding out the cast are Krista Trontvet as Rikki Tickey and Mark Olson as Orville Maddox. Rikki and Orville give the play a pair of unique comic criminals. Kraig Anderson will fill the role of the play's soapy (you'll know why when you see the play) radio announcer, Derwood Ettlebower.

Other Lincoln high school students will fill the technical and backstage positions of the play.

20th Anniversary Of Library Slated

Twentieth anniversary celebration for the Thief River Falls public library building will be conducted next Monday through Friday, according to Deanna Swanson, librarian. Special activities are planned throughout the week.

A special program Monday from 7 to 7:30 p.m. is called "Time Out for Toddlers" and is intended for parents and toddlers. A new collection of books for children 0-2 years of age will be introduced to the public — toddler board books which will be housed in plastic hanging bags in the library.

During the special program Monday evening parents will be given toddler reading lists and shown ways to work with their children to encourage reading. Their toddlers will be treated to a half hour of songs, games, stories and a puppet show, and the toddlers are encouraged to bring older brothers or sisters with them.

For those unable to attend Monday night, reading lists will be available at the library's front desk beginning October 7. Further information is available from Heidi Hoks at the Northwest regional library headquarters.

Tuesday from 3 to 5 p.m. a March of Dimes display will be arranged at the library and coffee and cookies will be served.

Wednesday will feature story time from 10 to 10:45 a.m. and film showing from 3 to 5 p.m. Coffee and cookies will again be served.

Thursday the Pennington county historical society will have a display at the library from 3 to 5 p.m. with coffee and cookies to be served during those hours.

Coffee and cake will be served from 3 to 5 p.m. Friday and the public is encouraged to visit the library, meet the new librarian and have questions about the building or its operations answered. This year is also the 85th anniversary of the organization of a library in Thief River Falls.

DEED Has $3 Million To Spend On Energy Grants

MARK SCHOENBAUM, manager, community services, DEED, presented background information and answered questions about $3 million available for grants to local government during a public hearing Monday night at the Northwest Regional Development Commission in Thief River Falls. The $3 million is part of $36 million given to Minnesota as its share of a $2.1 billion fine against the Exxon corporation for oil overcharges.

Representatives of the Minnesota department of energy and economic development (DEED) held a public meeting here Monday to solicit outside opinion regarding proposed amendments to rules governing community energy council grants for distribution of oil overcharge funds. The community energy initiative grants total $3 million.

The meeting was held Monday night at the Northwest Regional Development commission (NWRDC) offices in Thief River Falls and was the third meeting of five the representatives had scheduled.

Mark Schoenbaum, manager of community services for DEED, said they were primarily interested in what changes the public thought they should make to their current education program. In the past the energy education program of DEED was given only $150,000 to $200,000 per year. The $3 million grant significantly enlarges the scope of the department.

Most of the responses so far, Schoenbaum said, include requests for larger grants than the $1,000 the department has been giving and for longer grant periods.

Projects already funded under the program include neighborhood energy workshops and home energy inspections, as well as small business energy management, rental energy conservation and carpooling programs.

The $3 million came from the $36 million share in Exxon oil overcharge funds paid to Minnesota. Exxon was assessed a $2.1 billion penalty for pricing violations during the period from 1973 to 1981 when federal price controls were in effect. Minnesota's share of the penalty was $36 million.

Of the $36 million, $11 million will go into the state's [illegible]

Melanie Thompson Wed To Brian Mills August 30

Melanie Ann Thompson and Brian Scott Mills were married August 30 at a 1:30 p.m. lawn wedding at the Clayton Thompson residence in Thief River Falls. Rev. C.L. Kalmoe of Zion Lutheran church officiated at the double ring ceremony, which took place under a bridal arch.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Thompson of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Miller of St. Hilaire.

Guitarist at the ceremony was Mary Rogalla, with vocalists, Lisa Grisanti, Shelli Defreece, Tracy Langston and Lee Kaml. Songs were "If" and "Wedding Song."

The bride was escorted to the bridal arch by her father. She wore a white gown of Chantilly lace featuring an off-the-shoulder, ruffle-trimmed bodice with Chantilly lace yoke and high collar. Venise lace applique decorated the yoke. A satin tie and bow accented the waistline, leading to a ruffle-trimmed, floor-length skirt. The bride wore a lace hat matching her dress and a cameo necklace belonging to her mother. She carried a colonial bouquet of white silk roses, pale pink carnations, deep pink azaleas and greenery on a lace backing.

Serving as matron of honor was the bride's sister, Deb Mathson. Other bridesmaids were aunts of the groom, Sonia Iverson and Sharon Wold. They wore sheer white gowns with pink floral print over white underdresses featuring puffed sleeves and lace ruffled yokes. In their hair they wore babies' breath. Their pearl necklaces tied with a back bow. They carried white baskets filled with white roses, pink carnations and deep pink azaleas, trimmed with pink satin ribbon.

Acting as junior bridesmaid was Stacy Ratliff, niece of the groom. Flower girl was Jenny Wold, cousin of the groom. Both wore pink gowns with scalloped skirts over ruffled, lace underskirts with white ribbon accents. They carried white baskets of flowers similar to those of the other bridesmaids and wore babies' breath in their hair.

Justin Iverson, cousin of the groom, was ring bearer. He wore gray trousers and bow tie with a white shirt and a miniature pink carnation boutonniere.

The groom was attired in a white tuxedo with corresponding shirt, tie and cummerbund, and a pink double rose boutonniere.

His best man was his uncle, Lee Wold, St. Hilaire. Other groomsmen were Myron Iverson, Thief River Falls, and Ed Wold, St. Paul, both uncles of the groom. Junior groomsman was the groom's brother, Brett Miles.

Ushering the guests were David Hoefer, Blaine, Bill Vedbraten, Red Lake Falls, and Shane Wold, Thief River Falls. All gentlemen of the wedding party wore gray tuxedos and cummerbunds with pink-striped white shirts and pink carnation boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride wore a soft pink chiffon gown with scoop neckline and sheer sleeves. The groom's mother was attired in a two-piece pink lace gown with pearl accessories. Their corsages were white roses and pink azaleas.

Honored guests were grandmothers of the couple, Gunda Thompson, Anne VanderWeg and Jean Wold; grandfather, Vernon Wold; and godparents, Harold and Verna Thompson and Vernon and Jean Wold.

The three-tiered wedding cake was baked and decorated by the groom's grandmother, Jean Wold. The cake featured a flowing fountain at the base, topped with cupids and doves and trimmed in pink roses. Two heart-shaped side cakes were also trimmed with pink roses.

Host couples at the reception that followed the ceremony were aunts and uncles of the couple, Gary and Diane VanderWeg and Lloyd and Kathy Hoefer. Grandmothers of the bride and groom, Jean Wold and Anne VanderWeg, cut and served the wedding cake, and the groom's aunt, Dorothy Wold, and bride's aunt, Joan Robson, poured.

Lisa Grisanti and Pennie Mills presided at the punch bowl; programs, rice packets and scrolls were distributed by Bryan Cleven, Brad Ingels and Shannon Ratliff; and Nadine Sorvig was in charge of the guest book. DEED To Spread $3 Million For Energy Grants weatherization program which is operated by the department of jobs and training and local Community Action programs.

Another $7.5 million was designated for an energy loan revolving fund for the Minnesota housing finance agency; $3 million was designated for community energy initiatives; $4.9 million was designated for building an energy research center at the university of Minnesota; $2.75 million was designated for a center for transportation studies at the University of Minnesota; $6.8 million was designated for a state energy loan program for schools, hospitals and public buildings; and $500,000 was designated to the state department of agriculture for on-farm energy audits.

Schoenbaum said the $3 million will not be ready for distribution until next spring or early summer. However, he expects $300,000 of the $3 million to be made available for communities and projects ready to use the money this fall.

The department, Schoenbaum said, believes local government knows best what energy and economic problems exist in a community. Therefore, it will only work with community energy councils or any other body formed by a city or county to address local energy issues. The department also encourages cooperative agreements between different groups to complete a project.

For further information, or help preparing a grant request or to add comments to the public hearing record, contact Susan Moore at (612) 296-1848; or Mark Schoenbaum, manager, community services, (612) 297-3602.

Today marks the beginning of the 78th annual community service appeal of the Thief River Falls Seventh-day Adventist church. Volunteers will be ringing doorbells and making appeals between now and Christmas in the fund-raising program.

According to Rev. Phil Young, interim pastor of the local congregation, each volunteer will be identified by a lapel badge and will be distributing this year's pictorial report of the church's community service program.

"More than 90 cents of every dollar received is used in community service programs," he said. "About 10 per cent of the total budget for the church's humanitarian projects come from this appeal. The rest is provided by church members."

Rev. Young noted that funds received are divided among local, state and international community service programs. The SDA center at 1004 Tim[illegible] av. Stumpf And Butler Debate Major Issues

Candidates for Senate District 1, Senator LeRoy Stumpf (DFL) and Jim Butler (IR), answered political issues in a brief debate sponsored by the Amrican Association of University Women (AAUW) Monday evening at Franklin middle school in Thief River Falls.

The two candidates faced and answered a variety of questions in the one hour debate, with each candidate beginning with a brief review of his background and qualifications for the office of Minnesota state senator. Questions in the debate ranged from agricultural to welfare reform.

Shelley Steva, legislative chairperson for the AAUW's Thief River Falls branch, was the moderator.

To the first question on what each candidate would do to aid farmers, Stumpf responded by explaining what the legislature did last year and why it was such a difficult problem. Stumpf saw the problem as a composite of many, many smaller problems, but he saw the federal government's policies as one of the bigger problems. He said Washington has created a bi-coastal economy, an east coast and west coast economy without the midwest economy. It seems, he said, that Washington directs when to sow and when to reap. The midwest economy should not be forgotten, he said. In the limited time he had to respond he also said that legislators should look at tax deliquencies and keeping farmers in their business and working.

To the same question Butler said the farm problem was a bipartisan one, with enough blame to go around for everyone. He saw three major contributing factors to the farm crisis: (1) Liberal lending policies. Realizing that there had to be a willing lender and borrower, he said it wasn't fair to drop it all on the farmer; (2) The grain embargo and grain handling strikes; (3) A necessary recession which helped America but hurt farmers. He added that one solution would be to reduce the cost of farming in Minnesota.

The second question given to the candidates was: "One of the big issues from the last session was welfare reform. Some wished to reduce the payments given to aid to dependent children clients; others wish for Minnesota to try workfare as has been done in other states — noticeably Massachusetts. A committee was appointed to look into this very serious matter. What do you feel should be done?"

Butler broke the problem down into five areas. The first surplus, he said, was senior citizens. With the apparent food surplus, he said, there is no reason why senior citizens should go hungry. Programs for children, he said, are doing a good job. But he feels welfare reform is needed especially where the family is concerned because he believes present legislation is anti-family, and makes it more profitable to be divorced or separated.

Able-bodied welfare recipients should do something for their community and Butler said he is all in favor of workfare. Butler also said he was all in favor of programs and legislation that allows mentally and physically handicapped welfare recipients to work in programs similar to the ODC in Thief River Falls.

Stumpf again explained what happened in actual legislation last year with AFDC and able-bodied welfare recipients, and explained that because of a deadlock, a task force was established to study the problem. "The rational approach," he said, "was to look at all different avenues. The results will be better in the long run.

"The basic problem," Stumpf said, "is how to give these individuals the opportunity to be productive in the state." He believes they will take the chance to work and be productive even if they have to be given a little incentive.

The third question was a two-part question dealing with education: "How far do you feel the state should go in setting higher educational standards for Minnesota's children? Are you in favor of allowing children of high school age to attend schools in other parts of their district or go to college?"

Stumpf said Minnesota's education is a good system, but can be improved. He said Minnesota is a good example of what to do in many respects. The high number of students that graduate and passing scores on SAT and ACT tests are prime examples of a good system.

Despite good results he believes there is room for two areas of improvement. First, partnerships with business should be encouraged. It is something that is being talked about all across the nation and can open up new opportunities to students, he said. Second, teachers should adopt efforts that encourage planning, evaluation and reporting and set goals to motivate students. Stumpf strongly believes that standardized tests across Minnesota are not the answer because there are too many different teaching methods and all students and teaching methods cannot be treated the same.

Butler also believes the education system is good but does not believe an opportunity exists for gifted students to excel. He believes the gifted-student program can be expanded by schools sharing teachers and creating packages of taped studies. But he does not believe the money should follow the student, because it would seriously hurt smaller schools.

The fourth question discussed by the candidates was: "There was legislation introduced last year that would have drastically changed the organization of the Minnesota department of natural resources. Among other provisions, this bill would have given local citizens much greater say over the local offices of the DNR and have taken many of the personnel from the state office and transferred them to the field offices. There is now a legislative committee looking into how the DNR may best serve the public. How do you feel this could be accomplished best?"

Butler responded stating that the agriculture and natural resources committee should be divided into separate committees. The department of natural resources commissioner should be an elected official reponsible to the public, he said. Another improvement could be made just by making all of the department's long range plans available to the public, Butler added.

Stumpf said there had been heavy discussion in the legislature and a consultant was hired to do an in-depth study on the DNR. He said there was no doubt that some reform was necessary. Because the DNR encompasses so many different divisions they can end up acting against one another. Because so much is bundled up together it is also confusing to individuals, Stumpf said. He believes the solution is coordination and cooperation and does not want to see the committees split up because many problems over-lap in agriculture and the department of natural resources.

Questions from the audience of 30 to 40 people were also presented to the moderator and then presented to the candidates for discussion. One such question was, "Do you see a renewal of waste disposal depositories in Minnesota?"

If hazardous waste depositories in Minnesota are necessary, Butler anticipates the legislature taking a close look at it. But he said he has no answer to the problem. Stumpf said two sites were dropped recently. The reasons they were dropped were updated information and that technology removed the need. He said it was an exciting time because it got rid of the sites.

In response to a question from the audience asking how they would improve the tax situation for business, and esecially workman's compenstaion, both thought work on it would be necessary. But Butler called it "the most anti business situation in the state and a major reason for businesses leaving the state.

"The Best Is Now" is the theme for the Northwest region's 12th annual fall conference on aging to be held October 14 at the University of Minnesota, Crookston. Sessions will emphasize the positive aspects of the later years and how to enhance them further. Registration begins at 8:30 a.m.; activities end following evaluation at 4:30 p.m.

"Mr. Roger's Neighborhood" or "Throw Away People" addresses the needs of those who fall outside existing programs and social acceptance. He points out the value of each person providing humanitarian efforts to foster caring and acceptance among all humans.

Merrilyn Belgum's presentation, "The Lighter Side of Aging" will address herself, aging, family relationships and everyday life from a humorous point of view. Belgum has been making professional comedy appearances for the past year and a half. Beginning her comedy career in Cleveland, OH, she has appeared in two Dudley Riggs Theatre productions and starred in a recent ITCA-TV comedy special "Land O'Loons" as well as made several personal conference appearances.

Registration is $6.50 for seniors and $10 for service providers. The fee covers a continental breakfast, buffet luncheon and afternoon refreshments. Those attending will have the opportunity to meet Jay A. Brunner, new executive director of the Northwest Regional Development commission; Faith Rud, director of aging programs; and other new staff members.

Transportation for seniors is available through the Tri-Valley Transportation program. Travel arrangements can be made by contacting Liz Bergman at 281-5832, or the county transportation coordinator.

Test Of Hardness In Wheat Kernel May Help Quality

Grain quality continues to be a concern, especially with large harvests coming in this year. Experts generally agree that grain quality problems are not the fault of any one segment of the industry but lie with the entire system and are therefore the concern and responsibility of everyone within the system, according to the Minnesota Agricultural Statistics service.

One way to help — at least in the case of wheat — is with a desk-top testing device which electronically registers the grain vibrations. Wheat grains — ground one by one in a cylinder — give off vibrations with this device. A computer then quickly prints hardness scores on a read-out tape. Hard grains grind slightly louder than soft ones. . . so USDA engineers can measure for hardness, a key to grading and pricing wheat.

The new method solves two problems:

(1) Hardness is now determined visually by the size, shape, length, and other visible features of individual grains. However, crossbreeding of traditional soft and hard wheats make new wheat varieties hard to judge by sight. The new testing device eliminates the visible guesswork.

(2) Wheat may be mixed at sometime during the marketing process. The hardness test could help U.S. sellers confirm their grain's quality.

USDA feels this device — if adopted nationally — could help raise both the quality of domestic wheat flour and the value of wheat exports.

Stangeland Votes For Tax Reform Bill In House

Congressman Arlan Stangeland voted for the House-Senate conference committee report on tax reform (HR 2828) which passed the House 292 to 136 and now awaits final Senate action.

Speaking after the vote, Congressman Stangeland said, "I like many of HR 3838's provisions, but I especially like the consolidation of tax brackets which offers simplicity, and the generally lower marginal tax rates for all taxpayers which makes for fairness."

The congressman was referring to portions of the conference report which combine the 15 tax brackets for single people and 14 for couples filing a joint return, to only two of 15 per cent and 28 per cent.

"It was important the bill included a stiff minimum tax on high income individuals and corporations. For far too long, people and business have avoided paying federal income taxes by legally using tax loopholes. Therefore, this minimum tax ensures that all Americans, except the approximately six million "working poor" who are removed from the tax roll by this bill, will contribute to pay for services provided by the federal government," he said.

In a procedural move before final passage of the conference report, Congressman Stangeland voted for a motion to recommit the bill to a House-Senate conference, for further consideration. "By sending the bill back to committee," he said, "we could have resolved problems concerning the retroactive repeal of the investment tax credit, the double taxation of certain government pensions, changes in IRA deduction and a few other details. However, once the motion failed, I felt the overall economic good of the proposal outweighed these reservations." The motion to recommit was defeated 160 to 268.

DOT Offers Free Support Plans For Mailboxes

Does your list of jobs this fall include replacing your rickety mailbox support? If so, the Minnesota department of transportation has a few suggestions.

Mailbox supports have to be strong enough to stand up to flying snow from snowplows and must also be designed so that they don't present a hazard to out-of-control vehicles. Unsuitable supports can cause serious injuries and fatalities.

The department of transportation has developed two standard mailbox support plans which address the need for strength and safety. The two installations use either steel pipe or a wood post and are simple, durable and inexpensive. Anyone planning to replace a mailbox support is urged to write for a free copy of the plans from Minnesota Department of Transportation, P.O. Box 490, Bemidji, MN 56601.

Day Care Topics To Be Presented At Program Mon.

Working parents and representatives of day care programs are encouraged to attend a program on "Child Care: Knowing the Issues and Making an Impact" to be conducted Monday at 3 p.m. in the NCC-AVTI cafeteria in Thief River Falls.

Presenting information and answering questions will be Dale Anderson, executive director of the Minneapolis day care association and Faith Zwemke, governmental affairs coordinator for Child Care WORKS, a statewide coalition of individuals and organizations committed to improving the quality of child care and services to families in Minnesota.

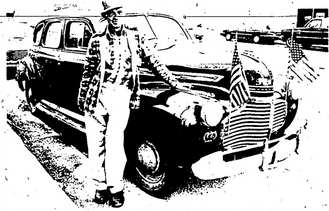
Zwemke said the coalition's expressed beliefs are that no Minnesotans should be denied the right to work because of their inability to afford or find good child care and that no children should have their health and safety placed at risk because their parents are working to support them.

The presentation Monday afternoon is planned to last about an hour with an unlimited question and answer period to follow. Sen. LeRoy Stumpf of Plummer and Rep. Wally Sparby of Thief River Falls have agreed to attend to answer legislative questions which may arise. Coffee will be provided by the AVTI New Start program, Arlette Abrahamson, coordinator.

Issues to be covered at the meeting include child care money for low income people, guidance for parents seeking child care, money for providers to meet safety codes, licensing, parental leave, workers' wages and related items. Other topics may include review of the legislative process, tapping the information network and success as a stay-at-home lobbyist.

Dale Anderson, who will be one of the two presenters Monday, is the son of Paul Anderson, assistant superintendent of schools in Thief River Falls in 1957-58. Dale attended Lincoln high school at that time. Since 1978 he has been director of the day care association which provides training, information and referral, advocacy and broad technical assistance to the metropolitan area child care community.

Faith Zwemke has been hired full-time by the Child Care WORKS organization for organizing, staff work and support for volunteers. A former mayor of Princeton she was more recently executive director of the St. Paul league of women voters.



FRANK BOTKO of Warren drove this 45-year-old Chevrolet in the Newfolden Newfest fall festival parade Saturday. The car is in all original condition, showing only signs of wear produced by the 235,000 miles it has been driven. Botko purchased the car in 1941, trading in a 1935 standard Chevrolet. List price on the 1941 model shown was $1,101.80 and Frank received $444.30 for this 1935 model as a trade-in. The car was used as a family vehicle for a number of years and for the first several years did not have benefit of a garage.

MAJESTY SINGERS from Winnipeg, Man., Canada will be featured at the Northern Bible Conference association fall conference to be conducted at the Evangelical Free church in Thief River Falls. The group will be included in the Friday service at 7:30 p.m. along with conference speaker Rev. H. H. Barber.

Area Delegates At State NFO Meeting

Nine delegates were among 11 area residents attending the Minnesota convention of the National Farmers organization (NFO) Saturday in St. Cloud. National treasurer Rene Niese told the 400 in attendance that "contrary to pupular criticism, farmers and farm organizations can work together and they are."

Delegates attending from Pennington county were Bill Peterson and Don Erickson, Plummer; Mr. and Mrs. Merle Lundeen, Trail; Mr. and Mrs. Orlan Stolaas, Oklee; Tim Lundeen and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stucy, Goodridge. Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Boucher, Brooks.

Niese said that in early September leaders of Nebraska Farmers Union and NFO unveiled a joint livestock marketing plan and that Minnesota FU and NFO announced a joint plan in February, the first attempt by major farm organizations to cooperate in a livestock marketing effort.

Niese cited the Family Farm Defense fund and joint trips to Washington by FU, NFO, WIFE (Women Involved in Farm Economics) and other farm groups as further signs of unity.

He said such efforts at unity must extend to the individual farmer and his banker. Today the farmer tends to view his banker with mistrust, Niese said, but bankers in the independent agricultural banks believe in the family farm system and know their fate depends on that of the farmer.

"In NFO we have concentrated in the marketplace. Today we find it just as necessary to keep the banker informed," Niese said. "With forward contracts, for example, a farmer can demonstrate his ability to cash flow and make a profit on his commodities."

Dennis Sjodin, Cambridge, assistant to Minnesota FU president Willis Eken, spoke about the progress of the MFU-NFO joint livestock marketing venture in Minnesota.

During the afternoon business session Jerry P. Blonigen of Paynesville was nominated national director to be seated during the national convention December 3-5 at Nashville, TN. He replaces Al "Butch" Mueller who did not seek another term. Dale Snesrud of Webster is Blonigen's alternate.

Dave Kaseno, Minneiska, of the NFO dairy department told the group, "The NFO's price goal of $13.50 per hundred weight for manufactured milk is obtainable in a few months if farmers want it and go for it." He reported that in the first 11 months of this fiscal year 36 per cent more milk moved through NFO in Minnesota than during the same period last year.

"All producers should become familiar with Payment in Kind (PIK) certificates," Mark Rohlfing of the NFO grain department in Corning, Iowa urged. "Where certificates are used and by whom is very important. By keeping them out of the hands of the grain trade, the trade will not be able to get their supply from the Commodity Credit corporation (CCC) stocks but will have to buy on the open market," he said. "In the hands of NFO, grain from farmer-held stocks will be sold leaving CCC stocks in storage instead of allowing them to be used to depress prices." He added that with NFO active in selling, upward pressure can be applied on markets.

Mike Lamp, Ogilvie, of the NFO hog division said, "Because of the uncertainty of what happens in the markets, it is necessary for producers to contract a portion of their production for a cost of production plus a reasonable profit, and that is possible at this time." He also explained how farmers can utilize PIK certificates in the NFO livestock program.

Minnesota commissioner of agriculture Jim Nichols also addressed the convention.

Interior Dep't. Continues Effort Against Marijuana

Secretary of the interior Don Hodel has pledged his department's support and active participation in President Reagan's war on drugs.

"The land managing agenices of the interior department long have waged a battle of eradicating marijuana growing on federal lands. Now, as a result of the impetus given the war on drugs by the President, we have added incentive to continue our efforts. We are going to fight this battle until it is won, because we are going to return our national parks and public lands to the American people.

"Americans take great pride in their parks, wildlife refuges and public lands. The public's awareness of the threats by drug abuse to values we cherish has been accentuated by the recent appeal by the President and Mrs. Reagan. Those of us responsible for the maintenance of our lands are going to make sure this public trust is upheld."

Hodel noted that his deaprtment spent almost $17 million last year in "widespread and successful" efforts to rid public lands of marijuana and to carry out other anti-drug efforts.

Wet Fields Result In Little Work To Complete Harvest

Very little fieldwork was accomplished last week because of wet soil conditions, according to the Minnesota agricultural statistics service. There were a few good days during the week over most of the state but continued shower activity added to previous wet conditions, keeping heavy equipment out of the fields.

Corn frozen earlier in the northern districts will most likely be cut for silage. Drying conditions will have to improve to allow normal fall field work to resume. Topsoil moisture as of September 26 was rated one per cent short, 15 per cent adequate and 84 per cent surplus. The number of days suitable for fieldwork during the week averaged 1.1.

A small percentage of small grain remains in the field to be harvested. Wet weather continues to delay the completion of harvest. Row crops continue to look good. Soybean harvest got underway during the weekend. Farmers are getting uneasy as silo filling could be underway if they were able to get into the fields. Warm, sunny weather is still very much in demand to advance maturity and begin harvest operations.

Spring wheat combined at 95 per cent compares with 91 per cent last year and 97 per cent for the five year average. Corn in the denting stage and beyond at 97 per cent compares with 98 per cent for both last year and the five-year average. An estimated 41 per cent of the crop is mature versus 62 per cent for a year ago and 69 per cent for the five year average.

Field corn cut for silage at [illegible] per cent compares with 22 per cent last year and 18 per cent for the five year average.

Soybeans turning yellow and beyond are estimated at 98 per cent compared with 97 per cent last year and equal to the five year average. An estimated 79 per cent dropping leaves and beyond compares with 83 per cent a year ago and 92 per cent for the five year average. Soybeans mature accounted for 30 per cent compared with 40 per cent last year and 56 per cent for the five year average.

Flax harvested at [illegible] per cent compares with [illegible] per cent last year and 68 per cent for the five year average. Potatoes harvested are estimated at [illegible] per cent compared with [illegible] per cent last year and 57 per cent for the five year average. Dry edible beans harvested at [illegible] per cent compares with [illegible] per cent last year and 16 per cent for the five year average. Sugarbeets harvested at 13 per cent compares with 12 per cent for both last year and the five year average.

Winter wheat seeded for the 1987 crop at 78 per cent compares with 61 per cent last year and 85 per cent for the five year average. Rye seeded for the 1987 crop at 71 per cent compares with 68 per cent a year ago and 86 per cent for the five year average. Small grain and hay stubble plowed or tilled totaled [illegible] per cent compared with 50 per cent last year and 66 per cent for the five year average.

RIM Program To Accept Sign-Up Until October 10

responsibility. Spot mowing and spot spraying will be allowed for noxious weed control.

Q. What is the payment rate for a 10-year Rim reserve easement?

A. The 10-year easement payment is 90 per cent of the average accepted bids for the federal conservation reserve program in your SWCD. Payment is made as a lump sum discounted to present value. Contact your local SWCD office for more information concerning the payment amount.

Q. What is the perpetual (permanent) easement payment rate?

A. The perpetual easement payment is 70 per cent of the average equalized estimated market value of the agricultural property in the township. This is also a lump sum payment, but is not discounted as is the 10-year payment. Contact your SWCD office for township value information.

Q. When will payments be made?

A. Easement payments will be made soon after the easement process is completed and the easement is recorded on the land title in the county courthouse. The landowner will have the option of one lump sum payment or up to four equal payments.

Q. Is there a maximum payment?

A. Yes. The maximum payment is $50,000 annually to a landowner for the vegetative cover and/ conservation easement.

Q. How many acres will be enrolled under the present funding?

A. The 1986 funding of $9.4 million for RIM Reserve easements will enroll approximately 20,000 acres statewide.

Q. How will the parcels be selected?

A. After the signup, a local screening committee, chaired by the SWCD, will review the applications, prioritize them and select the enrollees. This prioritization will be based on erosion reduction, water quality impacts and fish and wildlife habitat potential.

Q. Who pays the property taxes on RIM reserve easement lands?

A. The landowner is responsible for paying all taxes and any other levies that may be assessed on the enrolled acres. While the real estate tax determinations will continue to be made by the county assessor, these taxes may be reduced due to the conservation restrictions or non-cropland status. Contact your local assessor for more information.

Q. What are the other obligations of the landowner?

A. The landowner agrees that other land supporting natural vegetation owned or leased as part of the same farm operation will not be converted to agricultural crop production or rotation pasture during the term of the easement.

Q. Is there any financial assistance for establishing the vegetative cover and other conservation measures?

A. Yes. The RIM reserve provides 100 per cent payment of the aqual cost up to $75 per acre for establishing permanent cover. In addition, RIM reserve will pay for 100 per cent of the actual cost up to $75 per acre for planting trees and-or shrubs. Available funds from other agencies and-or organizations may be applied to those costs exceeding the $75 amount.

Q. Can I sell lands under a RIM reserve easement?

A. Yes. The easement is recorded on the land title and transfers with the land when sold.

Q. How will enrollment of acres in the RIM reserve program affect base acreage protection under the USDA-ASCS acreage reduction program?

A. Under current ASCS procedures, RIM reserve program participation will not result in reduction of a crop acreage base provided the crop is enrolled annually in the acreage reduction program or the planted and reported crop acreage is zero. The 1985 farm bill allowed this ruling. It is reasonable to assume the current rules will be used through 1990, the expiration of the farm bill. Base acreage protection, therefore, cannot be guaranteed past 1990.

Q. If my application is accepted, what documents will I be required to provide?

A. The RIM law requires that easement acres shall not be subject to any prior title, lien or encumbrance. The land must have an up-to-date history of title (abstract) for review by the state. All encumbrances must be released by the encumbrance holder(s) before a RIM reserve easement can be finalized.

Q. When is sign-up?

A. The RIM reserve sign-up will be September 29 through October 10. A second sign-up may take place this winter if funds are not totally allocated during the September-October sign-up.

Q. Where can I get more information?

A. You are encouraged to contact your local soil and water conservation district office for details if you are interested in or have questions about the RIM reserve program.

IT WAS A close race between these two girls Tuesday during the annual Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Invitational cross country meet as Heather Aubol of Crookston (right) edged Lynn Mueller of Thief River Falls by a two-second margin. Aubol ran an 11:37 race over a 2-mile course, with Mueller right behind at 11:39. Crookston girls won team honors.

TRF Cross Country Meet Held Tuesday

Most of the excitement was provided by the girls Tuesday as Heather Aubol of Crookston edged Lynn Mueller of Thief River Falls by two seconds in winning a down-to-the-wire race that highlighted the annual Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Club Invitational cross country meet at the Thief River Golf Club.

Aubol had an 11:37 two-mile run, with Mueller right behind at 11:39.

"They were side-by-side the whole race," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Lynn Dyer, the meet director. "Heather just started striding out with about 200 yards to go and Lynn wasn't able to stay with her. They both ran well."

Troy Larson of Park Rapids led the boys with a 15:42 three-mile run. Shannon Sersland of East Grand Forks was second in 16:08.

Team-wise, the Crookston girls won top honors with 42 points, followed by Detroit Lakes with 71, Bagley 92 and Park Rapids 105, while the Detroit Lakes boys were winners with 37 points, followed by Park Rapids with 60, Fort Totten 61, East Grand Forks 96, Thief River Falls 121, Bagley 167 and Crookston 174.

Thief River Falls girls, with just three runners, fielded an incomplete team, as did the East Grand Forks, Roseau and Grafton girls.

Shayne Anderson led the Thief River Falls boys with a 14th place 17:02, while Lucas Soine won the junior varsity race with a 17:48 three-mile run and Mike Howe was second in the junior high race with an 11:11 two-mile run.

"Our junior and our girls have probably improved more than anybody," noted Dyer. "The guys are running fairly consistent, but not as well as we would like them to. But they're working hard and they're maintaining their enthusiasm."

Thief River Falls will compete at the Park Rapids Invitational Tuesday at 4:15 p.m.

Bobcats Tackle Knights In Nine-Man Football

Oklee, fresh from a 28-26 come-from-behind win over Plummer, will try to reach the .500 level Friday when the 2-3 Bobcats visit Fisher-Climax for a 4:15 p.m. North Tri-County Conference nine-man high school football game.

Down 20-6 at halftime, Oklee rallied behind the offensive efforts of Todd Bergeron, Kyle Cantwell and Greg Bishop to overtake the Cardinals last week. Bergeron was 8-for-15 passing for 173 yards, Cantwell caught four passes for 132 yards and Bishop gained 107 yards on 30 carries against a defense that was stacked against the run.

It was a costly win, however, as the Bobcats lost the services of guard Jeff Johnson to a knee injury. He will be out of the line-up indefinitely.

In Fisher-Climax, Oklee will probably be facing the best 3-2 team around. The Knights beat Clearbrook 38-10 last week.

"They're a real physical club," pointed out Svaren. "We're going to have to try to neutralize them on the line of scrimmage if we're going to be successful."

Elsewhere in the North Tri-County Conference Friday, Clearbrook (1-4) will be at Gonvick-Trail (5-0) and Redlake (0-5) visits Gary (1-3). Plummer (3-2) draws a bye.

Gonvick-Trail continues to rank as the class of the North Tri-County Conference this fall, remaining unbeaten Friday with a 24-0 win over Gary.

A key Top of the State Conference [illegible] place Friday at Argyle when the unbeaten Eagles host once-beaten Hallock. The Bears were given a shot to unseat Argyle atop the conference standings this season, but the Eagles won in surprisingly easy 36-8 fashion when the two teams met each other in an August 29 season-opener.

Argyle had no trouble reaching the 5-0 level Saturday with a 40-0 win over Goodridge-Grygla. Hallock was equally as impressive in a 41-0 Friday night romp over Stephen. Marshall County Central edged Tri-County 13-12 Saturday in the only close Top of the State Conference match-up of the weekend.

Elsewhere this Friday, Marshall County Central (2-3) for a 7 p.m. game and Goodridge-Grygla (0-5) plays Tri-County (2-3) in a 7:30 p.m. contest at Karlstad.

1986 TRF Homecoming Football Game . . .

Prowlers Face Herbel, Spoilers Friday

Football is a team sport. You win or lose as a team. It's a concept stressed by coaches everywhere.

But on occasion an individual will rise above the team, and this week Thief River Falls will get a look at one of those special individuals when the Prowlers' 1986 high school homecoming football game Friday will feature Wade Herbel and his Grafton Spoilers teammates. Game time is 7:30 p.m. at Prowler Field.

"That Herbel kid is something else," said Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm, quick to recognize the talents of the 6-0, 178-pound senior. "He's fun to watch."

Herbel's talents rest in his leg and hands. He's an outstanding kicker, a Division I college prospect capable of kicking 50-yard field goals. And his pass-catching abilities as a receiver are only slightly less than his kicking talents.

"He's the best kicker we'll see, and he's an excellent receiver, too," said Mumm. "It'll be a big challenge for us trying to defend him."

With Herbel as a target, quarterback Bill Momerak, a 5-10, 150-pound junior, will put the ball in the air often, warned Mumm. "Heck, the game probably won't get over 'till 11 o'clock," he said, knowing a passing game takes longer to complete than a game featuring mostly running plays.

Mumm says the Prowlers will be trying a couple of different wrinkles defensively to combat Herbel's game-breaking abilities, but it won't be a complete revamp of things. "You can't go way out of your game plan to defend one kid," he pointed out. "That would just open up something else."

Best pass defense, acknowledged Mumm, is a strong pass rush, something the Prowlers will be stressing in practice this week.

Despite Herbel's talents, the Spoilers are just 1-4 for the year — the same as the Prowlers. Grafton lost to Grand Forks Central 8-7, Cavalier 22-7 and Rugby 32-11 before beating Bottineau 19-0. Last week the Spoilers lost to Valley City 40-3. The Hi-Liners beat the Prowlers 30-12 the week before.

While Grafton relies heavily on the kicking and pass-catching abilities of Herbel, the Prowlers have a similar talent in Chris Nelson, noted Mumm. The 6-4, 180-pound junior is 2-for-2 in the field goal department this fall, including a 37-yarder against Crookston in Friday's 30-11 loss. He's a fine receiver, too, although his figures are about half of what they could be at this point because of numerous near-misses between himself and quarterback Chris Bjorgaard.

While Mumm works on getting the Prowlers fired up to face the Spoilers, he's also challenging Nelson in a little one-on-one side duel against Herbel.

"It should be a good game," Mumm said.

Swimmers Meet Moorhead Challenge

Undefeated dual meet status of the Thief River Falls girls will be on the line Thursday when the Prowlers host Moorhead in a 5 p.m. high school swimming meet at the Franklin Middle School pool.

Thief River Falls was an easy 113-58 winner over Park Rapids Tuesday, putting the Prowlers at 5-0 in dual meet competition for the year.

"This was a meet where we had a chance for a lot of the girls to try different events," explained Thief River Falls coach Jay Forney. "We'll need to swim our strongest line-up against Moorhead," he acknowledge. "This will be our toughest dual meet to date. To win, the key will be how well our depth does."

Thief River Falls hasn't beaten Moorhead in dual meet competition the past six years, according to Forney.

The Prowlers turned in 11 career personal-best times against Park Rapids Tuesday and 17 season personal-best efforts. Four Prowlers matched sectional qualifying times — Jenny Ness, 200 I.M.; Pete Kuyath, 500 freestyle; Laura Beito, 100 backstroke; and Heidi Gunderson, 100 backstroke.

"They all had good efforts," noted Forney, who also cited the performances of Christy Puetz in the individual medley and butterfly, and Brenda Russel in the 50 and 100 freestyle sprints.

Thief River Falls edged Park Rapids 78-77 in a junior varsity match-up that went down to the final event before a winner emerged.

"Very good progress is being made by the younger swimmers," mentioned Forney.

The Prowlers will compete in the Grand Forks Red River Invitational Saturday at the University of North Dakota, beginning at 11 a.m.

Prowlers Sweep Bemidji 3-0

A 3-0 sweep over Bemidji Monday gave the Thief River Falls girls their second high school volleyball win over a North Sub-Region 8AA opponent in three days and lifted the Prowlers' overall record to 8-2 for the year.

Thief River Falls dispatched Bemidji 16-14, 15-10, 15-9 in the Lincoln gym. Saturday the Prowlers rallied to win 3-2 at Detroit Lakes. Only other North Sub-Region 8AA opponent on the 1986 Thief River Falls regular season schedule is a Tuesday, October 7, match here vs. Fergus Falls. A win over the Otters would put the Prowlers in good position for a favorable post-season tournament seed.

"I was happy with the win, but I was not real excited about the way we played," said Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson after the victory over Bemidji.

Bekah Bortnem, Stephanie Benson and Vikki Weigand all had eight service points for the Prowlers, who won their fourth straight match. They visit Red Lake Falls Thursday and host their Northern Lights Invitational Saturday before meeting the Otters.

Thief River Falls junior varsity beat Bemidji 15-13, 15-7 for a 6-1 season record, but Bemidji won the C squad match 15-6, 15-13 to drop Thief River Falls to 5-2 at that level.

Player of the Night honors Monday went to Jodi Anderson, varsity; Tammy Ortloff, junior varsity; and Nicole Dimich, C squad.

Northland Faces Vermilion In Key MCCC Football Game

Last week the Northland Community College football team was fighting to remain unbeaten. This week the Pioneers will be fighting to stay in the 1986 Minnesota Community College Conference playoff picture.

It's a little early to write anybody out of the MCCC playoffs, but after a 16-13 loss last week to Itasca, Northland would certainly face an up-hill struggle if the Pioneers drop another conference start Saturday when they host Vermilion in a 2 p.m. game at Prowler Field in Thief River Falls.

There are four football divisions in the MCCC — the Northwest, Northeast, Southern and Central. Across the northern part of the state, the first four weeks of conference-counting games match Northwest and Northeast Division teams against each other. Those games are worth one-half point in the divisional standings. Final three weeks of regular season play are confined to divisional games when Northland, Brainerd, Fergus Falls and the University of Minnesota-Crookston will be after the Northwest Division title, while Hibbing, Itasca, Mesabi and Vermilion compete for the Northeast Division crown. Those games are all worth one full point in the standings.

MCCC state playoff semifinals November 8 will have the Northwest and Northeast Divisional winners meeting at the site of the Northeast champion, while the Southern and Central Division winners square off at the site of the Southern champion. Winners meet for the state title a week later.

Northland is 2-1 for the year, 1-1 in the MCCC. Vermilion is 3-0 overall, and 2-0 in league play, including a big 50-24 victory over the University of Minnesota-Crookston Saturday.

"Vermilion has a big-play offense, and their defense is as good as we'll face all year," pointed out Northland coach Rick Nelson, obviously expecting the Pioneers to have their hands full with the Ironmen from Ely.

Kevin Johnson, a 5-7, 180-pound runningback, heads the explosive offense that racked up 422 yards against UMC. Johnson started it with a bang by returning the game-opening kickoff 85 yards for a touchdown.

"Time of possession will be a real key to the game," pointed out Nelson. "If we can control the ball, put some drives together and keep the ball away from them as much as possible, we'll be all right."

At the risk of sounding repetitious, Nelson said the Pioneers' success against Vermilion will depend upon their ability to avoid foolish penalties, finish off drives that reach Vermilion territory and keep the Ironmen from breaking a big play or two. They faced the same tasks against Itasca and failed on each account as their brief two-game season-opening winning streak ended.

"We don't have to change a whole lot," Nelson said. "We just have to do those three things we talked about before."

But it won't be easy. Vermilion isn't the only problem the Pioneers face this week. Injuries are also causing some concern, especially on defense where three of last week's starters were sidelined when practice resumed Monday — linebackers Henry Collier and Mike Coffield and tackle Anthony McCullough. Coffield and McCullough earned two of the three Pepsi-Cola Player of the week awards announced after the Itasca game.

"We're really banged up right now," admitted Nelson. Collier appeared to be in the toughest shape with a severe ankle sprain. Coffield has a bruised shoulder and McCullough stretched a muscle in the knee area against the Vikings. "And we've got a lot of other bumps and bruises to heal," Nelson offered.

McCullough had an outstanding game against Itasca. He was credited with seven unassisted tackles (three behind the line of scrimmage), was in on 14 other tackles, had a hand in a blocked conversion kick, knocked down two passes and hurried quarterback Bill Kinnunen into quick-release incompletions on three occasions. The 6-4, 255-pound sophomore from Canton, OH was a dominant figure.

Coffield earned honors for his work on the specialty teams, including a blocked punt and a long kickoff return he nearly broke for a touchdown. He's a 6-1, 170-pound freshman from Lancaster, who is also listed as the Pioneers' back-up quarterback to Scott Willoughby.

Steve Ristau, a 5-10, 195-pound sophomore runningback from East Grand Forks, earned Player of the Week honors on offense. Early in the game his outstanding blocking helped open holes for backfield partner Deon Schmidt, and as the game progressed, he showed his prowess as a runner.

In other Northwest-Northeast match-ups last week, Fergus Falls beat Mesabi 35-13 and Brainerd defeated Hibbing 16-9.

Elsewhere Saturday, Brainerd (1-1 in the MCCC, 1-2 overall) will be at Mesabi (0-2, 0-3), Fergus Falls (2-0, 2-1) at Itasca (2-0, 3-0); and Hibbing (0-2, 1-2) at UMC (0-2, 1-2).

Prowlers Threatened

Hunting season opens this weekend, says Thief River Falls football coach Jeff Mumm. But while most figure he's talking about the 1986 Minnesota waterfowl season, which opens at 12-noon Saturday, Mumm is actually talking about a different kind of target — Prowlers. And not the kind that break into homes when you're away.

Frustrated by repeated mistakes week after week by his 1-4 football team, Mumm said he has tried several different approaches to correct those errors, most of which are reflected in the penalty column by game's end.

First the mistakes were explained, and Mumm figured they wouldn't be repeated. When they were, he used the raised-voice approach along with long hours of repetitious practice drills in an attempt to iron out the problems. Finally, the coaches tried to ignore the mistakes, figuring maybe they were harping on them too much. If they let up, they thought, the problems might just disappear on their own.

But going into the fifth week of the 1986 season the mistakes are still costing the Prowlers ball games. And Mumm is getting desperate. He's threatening the players this week.

"I'm going to get a gun and shoot them," he warns, "if they keep making those same stupid mistakes."

Relax Prowlers. He laughed when he said that. He was joking. . . I think.

But it is a serious problem. Thief River Falls opened the 1986 season with a 39-15 loss to Grand Forks Red River. The Prowlers did play better than what the score would indicate, though, and when they beat Detroit Lakes 39-15 a week later to end a 13-game losing streak, optimism reigned supreme.

However, three more losses have followed, putting the Prowlers at 1-16 over their past 17 games. They've played hard, but they've lost. They gave a strong Bemidji team a run in losing 12-3, then lost by nearly-identical scores to Valley City 30-12 and Crookston 30-11.

Mumm is worried the players were satisfied simply to end the losing streak. "They forgot what it took to win that first one," he said. "It took an awful lot of hard work, enthusiasm and dedication. We have to get that back if we're going to be successful."

The team's spirit isn't broken, though, and the Prowlers have received tremendous backing from the Lincoln High School student body and the community.

"The kids are still fired up," pointed out Mumm. "The school spirit has turned around 100 per cent over last year."

But to keep that kind of interest going, he admitted, the team must start winning. Friday's homecoming game against Grafton would be a good place to start, Mumm figures.

Bad Taste

Mick Garry, sports editor of the Crookston Daily Times, took a nasty swipe at Thief River Falls in his Monday write-up of the 30-11 Crookston high school football victory over Thief River Falls at Prowler Field.

The game was marred by a broken leg suffered by Crookston kick returner Steve Johnson. The game was delayed several minutes as Johnson was tended to before being lifted into an ambulance and taken to Northwestern Medical Center.

"Johnson returned the ball into a pile," reported Garry. "When the bodies cleared, Johnson lay on the ground, his leg and ankle obviously hurt. It took the Thief River ambulance crew around five minutes to negotiate the 80 yards between the spot it was parked and the spot where Johnson was down. If you plan on moving to Thief River, it would be wise to find a place within walking distance of the hospital, then hope you never break a leg."

Tasteless, Mick . . .

1986 Fun Run Is Postponed Until Monday, Oct. 6

Wet weather earlier in the day prompted the postponement of Monday's Thief River Falls elementary school cross country fun run.

The event, designed for boys and girls in grades 3-6, has been rescheduled for Monday, October 6.

Third and fourth graders will run a half-mile, while fifth and sixth graders cover a course measuring three-fourths of a mile.

Conducted behind the Franklin Middle School building, the fun run starts with the third grade girls at 4 p.m., followed by the third grade boys at 4:10, fourth grade girls at 4:20, and fourth grade boys at 4:30, fifth grade girls at 4:45, fifth grade boys at 5, sixth grade girls at 5:10 and sixth grade boys at 5:20.

Those starting times are tentative, noted meet director Lynn Dyer, who said the races have started slightly ahead of time in past years. Awards presentations will be made after each race. Ribbons will be given to all participants, and the individual winner of each race will receive an Elementary Fun Run Champion T-shirt.

Tuesday Night Nine-Man Football Game . . .

Quick Scores Beat Middle River

Middle River surrendered two touchdowns in the game's first minute Tuesday night and never recovered, losing a 28-0 Northern Lights Conference nine-man high school football game to visiting Oslo-Alvarado.

It started with a poor game-opening Middle River kickoff that set up Oslo-Alvarado at midfield. Chad Korynta promptly went 40 yards for a touchdown on a first down sweep for a quick score.

Middle River handed Oslo-Alvarado another first-minute score when the Skippers, after losing some 20 yards on a second down sweep attempt, lost a fumble on a third down draw play and Alan Zola recovered, going three yards for the touchdown and a 14-0 headstart.

Quarterback Shawn Havis produced a pair of third quarter scores as Oslo-Alvarado pulled away, scoring himself on a 5-yard run and hitting Korynta with a 40-yard touchdown pass.

Middle River coach Eldon Sparby was not at all happy with the Skippers' performance. "Our blocking was terrible and we couldn't catch the ball. We had three opportunities to score, but our guys just dropped passes. It was an embarrassment."

Third straight loss dropped Middle River to 2-4 for the year. They play again Saturday with a 7:30 p.m. assignment at winless Badger (0-5).

Kennedy beat Kittson County North 36-6 in another Northern Lights Conference Tuesday match-up. Badger had a bye.

Friday, Kennedy (5-0) will be at Oslo-Alvarado (4-2). Kittson County North (3-3) has a weekend bye.

Last Friday, Oslo-Alvarado beat Badger 38-6 and Kittson County North edged Middle River 11-8, while Kennedy drew a bye.

UND Sioux Play Tonight In TRF

A 33-man University of North Dakota hockey team is now in its second week of daily on-ice drills, and head coach Gino Gasparini, who will bring the Sioux to the Thief River Falls Sports Arena for a 7 p.m. intrasquad scrimmage tonight (Wednesday), says the team is improving.

"The first days of last week," Gasparini said, "we were trying to get our skating legs. Our off-ice dry land training certainly helps in that respect, but you need to spend time getting your skating endurance and legs conditioned."

North Dakota will have less than two weeks to prepare for its Western Collegiate Hockey Association season-openers Oct. 10-11 at Minnesota-Duluth.

"We have less than two weeks now to create a hockey team capable of playing in the WCHA. And we don't have the luxury of an early season exhibition game like our first opponent, Minnesota-Duluth." The Bulldogs will play an exhibition game at Eveleth Saturday, the annual U.S. Hockey Hall of Fame game.

"We are steadily improving. Some of our new players are getting better daily and some of our veterans are doing well. But we need a lot of intense work for this entire team," Gasparini added.

"Right now we are holding 33 players, but after our intrasquad game at Thief River Falls, we will be cutting our squad to between 25 and 28 players," the Sioux coach reported.

Gasparini and his three assistants — Dean Blais, John Marks and Cary Eades — have been working with 18 letterwinners from last season's 24-16-1 squad that finished sixth in the WCHA. There are seven seniors, six juniors, six sophomores and 14 freshmen.

Junior wing Bob Joyce of Winnipeg, who had 31 goals and 28 assists for 59 points to rank third on last year's Sioux scoring list, is the leading UND point-producer back from that 1985-86 season. Senior center Mickey Krampotich of Hibbing ranked fifth on last year's scoring chart with 18 goals, 17 assists and 36 points while playing 34 of the 40 games.

Seventeen UND players have been drafted by NHL teams.

The game is being sponsored by the Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association. Tickets being sold at the door only will be priced at $2 for adults and $1 for students 14-under. Saturday TRFAHA sponsored an intrasquad game here for the University of Minnesota, one of the top UND rivals in WCHA play.

Grygla Girls Win 3-0 Match

Grygla stayed above the .500 mark Monday with a 3-0 North Border Conference high school volleyball win over visiting Warroad.

The Eagles won 15-3, 16-14, 16-14 to climb to 6-5 for the year. The Warriors entered the match with a 7-2 mark and a second place position behind unbeaten Marshall county Central in conference play.

"We played a real good first game," reported Grygla coach Mike Gast, "and we played pretty decent the next two games."

Seniors Nikki Lian and Michelle Jelle, plus junior Wendy Lawrence led the Eagles with aggressive play at the net, said Gast.

Grygla visits Middle River Thursday and will host Roseau Tuesday.

Oklee - Mahnomen

A strong serving performance sparked Oklee past host Mahnomen 15-5, 15-5, 15-1 Tuesday.

Senior Michelle Skallet led the way with a 15-for-15 night at the service line, and excelled in the back row as a passer, too, according to Oklee coach Brad Borene.

Sophomore Lisa Chaput and seniors Cici Olson, Julie Murack and Kari Sebenaler also received post-match praise. Chaput had a good night at the service line, where the Bobcats were 69-for-71 for the night, Olson played well as a setter, Sebenaler passed well and Murack led with nine kill spikes.

"It was a good match for us," said Borene. "The kids did a nice job. Our serving was excellent, and our passing has really been improving."

Oklee, 8-4, hosts a strong Plummer team Thursday and will participate in the Pine to Prairie Conference tournament at Mahnomen Saturday.

TRFAHA Sign-Up, Skate Exchange Will Be Held Thursday

Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association (TRFAHA) 1986-87 registration and skate exchange will take place Thursday, in conjunction with the Recreational Skating Program registration, from 5 to 8 p.m. at the Thief River Falls Sports ASrena.

There will be public skating offered during the registration and skate exchange.

TRFAHA age groups this year include Bantams — players born on Sept. 1, 1971 or thereafter; Pee-Wees — players born on Sept. 1, 1973 or thereafter; Squirts — players born on Sept. 1, 1975 or thereafter; and Tiny Mites — divided into 7-8 and 5-6-year-old groups for players born during the years 1978-1981.

Thief River Falls Park and Recreation Department participation fee due at registration time is $5 for Tiny Mites and $10 for Squirts, Pee-Wees and Bantams.

A one-week preseason hockey clinic for Squirts, Pee-Wees and Bantams will be held Monday through Friday, October 20-25, conducted by Tom Goddard and TRFAHA at the Sports Arena. Cost of the Clinic iss $10 per player. Clinic registrations will be accepted at the TRFAHA registration.

During the 1985 fiscal year, the U.S. Department of Labor's Office of Labor-Management Standards closed 460 embezzlement cases involving all types and sizes of unions located throughout the country.

New Walking Program Will Start Monday Inside TRF Sports Arena

"Walk for the Health of It" program begins Monday, October 6, at the Thief River Falls Sports Arena. Sponsored by Northwest Medical Center, Falls Clinic, div. of Dakota Clinic Ltd; Northwest Radiology Associates and the Ramsay Eye Clinic, this program is open to walkers of all ages.

This walking-exercise program, the first of its kind in this area, has been designed and implemented to encourage people to walk on a regular basis as part of their exercise and fitness program. "Walk for the Health of It" is being sponsored within the Thief River Falls Sports Arena so that anyone, no matter what their age, may undertake a walking exercise program no matter what the weather.

Many physicians are prescribing a walking program for their patients because of the cardiovascular benefits. Walking also increases endurance and stamina, improves muscle tone, maintains joint flexibility and helps control weight.

Studies have shown that people with positive health habits such as regular exercise have fewer health problems, feel better, are more productive and perhaps live longer.

Thief River Falls Sports Arena provides a place which is protected from the wind and weather and is a comfortable temperature for walking.

"The arena will be available for walking Sunday through Friday (no Saturdays) from 7:30 a.m. until closing," according to Mike Mongoven, Director of the Thief River Falls City Park and Recreation Department. The Arena may be closed for walking during heat recovery installation and depending on scheduled events. Participants are encouraged to call the arena office if they have questions, or watch the newspaper for announcements.

People interested in this program may register at the arena office the first day of their walking program. There will be a $1 registration fee. Participants will be requested to log their own miles in a log book provided at the arena office. Awards will be presented for 10, 100 and 500 miles.

Canvasbacks Protected During 1986

Wildlife officials are urging hunters to avoid accidentally shooting canvasback ducks during the 1986-87 hunting season. Canvasbacks cannot be taken legally in the three eastern flyways this year, including Minnesota, where the 1986 waterfowl season starts at 12-noon Saturday.

In early August, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service proposed that the 1986-87 hunting season be closed on canvasbacks in the Atlantic, Mississippi, and Central Flyways (basically every state east of the Rocky Mountains). The closure was confirmed in the Federal Register on September 12, 1986.

U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service Director Frank Dunkle says he is confident waterfowl hunters will make every effort to comply with the canvasback closure and attempt to avoid accidental shootings. "Traditionally, waterfowl hunters try to comply with regulations needed to protect the waterfowl resource, especially canvasbacks, and we have every reason to believe they will do this time," he says.

For the past three years, the canvasback population in the three affected flyways has been below target levels established by the Service. Habitat losses, drought, and predation in the bird's main nesting grounds are the major causes. Hunting may contribute to population declines of canvasbacks, and it is believed the closure will contribute to a more rapid recovery of the bird.

An environmental assessment issued in 1983 emphasizes the management of canvasbacks by western and eastern populations and established three-year average minimum breeding population levels of 360,000 birds in the East and 140,000 in the West, below which season closures should be considered. Currently the eastern population is 303,000 and is below the minimum level for the second consecutive year. The Service feels hunting of the eastern population should not continue until alternative conservation strategies can be fully developed.

Breeding population in the Pacific Flyway, the western portion of the bird's range, is at or above the levels established as acceptable so canvasback hunting in that flyway will be allowed during the coming season.

Fish and Wildlife Service officials are urging that hunters in areas closed to canvasback hunting improve their ability to identify canvasbacks in flight this season. The male canvasbck is a large-bodied duck, with a reddish brown head and a black breast and tail. The female has a brown head and breast and her body is darker than that of the male. Both sexes can be distinguished from their more abundant and similar-appearing relative, the redhead duck, by their long, black, wedge-shaped bills and elongated heads which are especially noticeable in flight.

Canvasback, never as plentiful as many other species of ducks, is a prized quarry among waterfowl hunters. It is a large duck and a very fast flyer. It belongs to a group of waterfowl known as "divers." These ducks feed by diving to considerable depths to reach food, both plant and animal life. Diving ducks often inhabit larger, deeper bodies of water than the group of ducks known as dabblers, or puddle ducks, which find food in shallow waters without diving. The canvasback is considered more specialized than many other species in its habitat needs — food supply, nesting conditions, wintering grounds, etc. This characteristic contributes to the periodic declines in the bird's population levels.

Eastern population of canvasbacks nests throughout the prairie pothole region of western Minnesota, the Dakotas, and the Canadian provinces of Manitoba and Saskatchewan. Part of this population migrates to the Atlantic coast for the winer, with resting and feeding stops in North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, along the upper Mississippi River, the Great Lakes, the Finger Lakes region of New York and the Chesapeake Bay. Others follow the Mississippi River to wintering areas along the Gulf Coast.

For several reasons, the hunting closure should help bring about a more rapid recovery of the canvasback population. The canvasback hen and young are especially vulnerable to hunting. The species requires two years to reach sexual maturity. It is hoped that the closure will allow more young hens to reach reproductive age. Water conditions in the nesting regions also have begun to improve during the past two years so breeding adults returning next spring should have a better chance to nest successfully.

Various restrictions have been placed on canvasback hunting since the mid-1930's in response to population fluctuations. The most recent complete closure was in 1972 when the national population dipped to 429,000.

Another Reduction Made In ICG Gas Rates For TRF

Another natural gas cost reduction by one of ICG Utilities' suppliers, Northern Natural Gas company, will result in a reduction of 40 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of gas (Mcf) effective October 1, according to Fred Little, vice president and general manager of the utility which serves Thief River Falls.

This means the annual bill of a typical ICG customer who uses 115 Mcf of gas a year will decrease by $46. This is one of a series of decreases since November of 1985 which total $128 annually. A typical ICG customer will now pay $615 per year for gas.

Northern Natural provides approximately 50 per cent of ICG's gas supply. Little said it is expected that this decrease will trigger additional decreases in Canadian gas which makes up the balance of ICG's gas supply.

NICKEL SCRAMBLE involved youngsters of all ages during the Newfest fall festival celebration in Newfolden Saturday. In this particular portion of the event, participation was limited to children in kindergarten only. Other games for children were conducted during the afternoon while adults took part in horseshoe and tennis tournaments.

Le Festival Set At Red Lake Falls Sat.

Le Festival: A rural celebration of French cultures, will highlight "an important part of this area's history when it opens to the public at 10 a.m. Sautrday at the community hall in Red Lake Falls. The festival will begin with the unveiling of a 30-foot-long painting depicting scenes from along the ox cart trails of the 1840s.

The large mural is now being completed by Brenda Plante Harmon, one of the Northwest Regional French club members. Brenda has been working on the painting since January. Following unveiling of the painting the artist will speak on how she arrived at her concept and design.

Other members of the club will speak about trade during the period from the 1840s to the 1870s when the carts creaked across the prairies from the Northwest to St. Paul. Included in the historical presentations will be information about trade, cart making, ox training, buffalo hunting, preparation of pemmican, women of the era and general living conditions on the trails, the treaty of 1863 and intercultural relations. An authentic cart made by Vay Rawerts of Red Lake Falls will be on display. Vay will explain how the carts were made without metal and used on the trails.

A humanities conference on culture as a community resource will begin at 1 p.m. It will feature Winston Wuttunee who works in Canada as a Native American cross cultural consultant to educational programs. He will talk about Native American roots and the advantages of communities which actually succeed in understanding racial differences.

Leslie LaFountaine and Jenny Schindler of the North Dakota Turtle Mountains will discuss the reasons why their community recently built a cultural center. David and Huguette Dandeneau of Saint Boniface are to address the question of art and music as forces of culture. Jacqueline Peterson will discuss French-Canadian and Native Metis cultures and histories as a way of understanding community and ethnicity in the Unites States and Canada.

Jacqueline Peterson has received much recognition for her writing and speaking. She is one of North America's outstanding scholars. Wintston Wuttunee is known for his ability to understand different cultural perspectives. He has studied Native American and white societies and has spoken and illustrated through mime, music and song many of his ideas about Native American and white communities.

Leslie LaFountaine is a teacher in Dunseith, ND. He grew up in the Turtle Mountains and is committed to transmitting an understanding of the people he knows best. Jenny Schindler has taught Mitchif language and culture in Belcourt. The Dandeneaus have worked in education in the Winnipeg area all of their lives.

The conference is free and open to the public. It is sponsored in part by the Minnesota Humanities commission through funds by the National Endowment for the Humanities and the BRENDA PLANTE HARMON has painted a mural over 30 feet long that [illegible] on display during Le Festival in Red Lake Falls. The mural depicts the [illegible] period in the Red River Valley and is on display in the community hall [illegible] Lake Falls.

Le Festival Mural Displays History

Brenda Plante Harmon has been at work creating a painting depicting scenes along the Red River trails since mid January. She has talked to people, read books and articles, searched for information in museums and libraries. She has attended history sessions offered by the local French club of which she is a member and she has patiently listened to suggestions. But most of all Brenda has sketched and painted on a mural that is now over 30 feet long and eight feet high.

Visitors to her studio have wondered about her inspiration, motivation, and patience, but all of them have wanted to see more and some have requested paintings for themselves. "My gosh, let me finish this!" has been a frequent remark.

The giant painting will be the back drop for a humanities conference and cultural program to be presented on October 4 in the community hall at Red Lake Falls from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. The program will feature historical presentations, a thought-provoking conference, music, song, drama and folk presentations as well as food, games, contests and a book fair.

At 10 a.m. the mural will be unveiled and Brenda will discuss her work. Brenda has been interested in history, and a painting depicting the ox cart period raised a number of questions. How do you convey a sense of the past in a painting? How can the artist help the viewer enter into the past?" Brenda's painting is [illegible] give a sense of the land. Wheat Stocks At Record Level As Harvest Concludes

Despite a smaller harvest this year, a record 4.07 billion bushels of wheat are available for the 1986-87 marketing year. The lowest wheat disappearance in the last nine years has caused a record high wheat carry-in this season, according to the Minnesota Agricultural Statistics Service.

The rise in June 1 stocks covered all wheat classes: Bread wheat stocks up over 400 million bushes, soft wheat up 40 million, and durum up 23 million. Those stocks, added to the expected 1986 record hard red winter crop, spell a record supply.

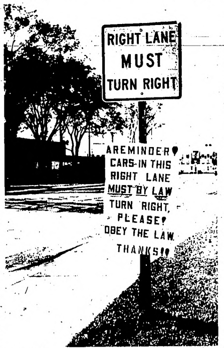
The "marketability" of these stocks can be misleading, however. That's because of the large quantity of farmer generic certificates and export bonus payments in the marketplace.

The certificates entitle the holder to redeem stocks from the CCC inventory and producer loans — which adds to the free stock supply. On June 1, 1986, 54 of every 100 bushels were isolated from the market because the grain was obligated to the farmer-owned reserve (FOR), the special producer storage loan program, or owned by CCC.

FOR wheat can't be released for sale on the commercial market until farm prices go above $4.50 per bushel — highly unlikely in the near future — so forfeitures to CCC and placement in the special producer storage loan program seem to be the only outlet. Also, unrestricted sales of CCC stocks could normally only take place when market prices hit $5 per bushel; but producer deficiency payments and the export bonus program allow the market to dispose of some CCC and producer loan wheat through certificate disbursement, adding to marketable supplies.

'The remaining crop is readily marketable but a large part needs to be redeemed from CCC loan obligations (a grower needs to receive a market price that will justify paying off the loan plus interest — approximately $3.55 per bushel). Going prices have been far below redemption value, menaning that most of this grain will be forfeited to CCC or placed in the FOR.

Consequently, government wheat stocks could climb to over 875 million bushels by the end of the season, the highest since the early 1960s, the statistics service reports.



RIGHT LANE, RIGHT MESSAGE. Some citizen didn't feel one sign between the Third street bridge and Davis avenue was quite enough. Police Chief Froschheiser is aware that some people are ignoring the right turn only lane coming off Third street bridge into downtown Thief River Falls and causing close calls. He believes people are beginning to get used to it, however. No accidents have been reported. He does plan to enforce the right turn only signal and an ordinance that prohibits unauthorized signs on public property.

No Parking Allowed On First Street

Last week the Thief River Falls city council adopted a recommendation by the Pennington county safety council to not permit parking on First street from Main avenue to the bridge.

The recommendation however, excludes 30 feet east of Main to the alley on the south side of First street for one hour library parking, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., and one loading zone directly in front of the North entrance to Northwest Medical center.

Eken To Address Farmers Union

Willis Eken, president of Minnesota Farmers Union will be guest speaker at the East Marshall county Farmers Union annual convention on Friday, October 10, starting with a banquet to be served in the Grygla community center at 7 p.m.

The business meeting will include an election of county officers, adoption of resolutions to be forwarded to the state resolutions committee and a brief report from the county president.

At a recent meeting of the county board of directors, Gary Anderson was appointed to chair the resolutions committee. Others appointed to the committee were Gloria Holte and Steve Sparby.

Wally Sistad, manager of CENEX in Grygla, will introduce the guest speaker.

Steve Sparby, Julie Sparby, Gloria Holte and Shirley Holte, county Farmers Union youth leaders, will arrange a presentation from the county youth campers at the convention.

Discussion was held at the recent county meeting on the Minnesota Farmers Union farm income plan. The plan includes a dairy base quota plan with increased support levels, targeting of program benefits to small and medium sized farmers based on the number of bushels and a limit on the total amount of CCC loans that any farmer could receive in one year, international discussions with leading agricultural producing countries on the problems of agricultural production and distribution, loan rates set at the cost of production plus a reasonable profit and mandatory supply management program with production based on domestic consumption, existing carryover stocks and required reserves.

Another item discussed at the recent county meeting was to have a ladies luncheon in recognition of Co-op month in October. Grygla CENEX will sponsor the luncheon and more details will be announced at a later date.

The county board of directors includes Norma Hanson, president; Bruce Lunsetter, vice president; Carol Anderson, secretary; Nathalia Orpen, treasurer; Steve Holte, membership director; Gary Anderson, co-op director; Steve Sparby, Gloria Holte and Shirley Holte, youth directors; Vance Wiseth, federal legislation director; Wally Sistad, public relations director; Viola Wikstrom, county activities director, and Leo Orpen, state legislative director.

Ag Commissioner Suggests Sign-up In RIM Reserve

As the sign-up period for the new state RIM (Reinvest in Minnesota) reserve program nears, state agriculture comissioner Jim Nichols encourages all Minnesota farmers to determine if any of their marginal acres are eligible for enrollment in either the 10-year or the permanent easement options through RIM.

"We've been farming marginal land for too long," Nichols said. "This land gives a very low rate of return; in fact, many times a farmer loses money by farming this land."

In addition, he said, Minnesota farmers have consistently produced a surplus of crops. While the purpose of the RIM reserve is not to reduce overproduction, Nichols said, retiring marginal land could ultimately have that effect over the long term.

More importantly, he said, reducing erosion and runoff pollution through the RIM reserve program will benefit the state and the nation, because "it will preserve one of our most precious resources — topsoil — and will promote the development of wildlife habitat.

The sign-up period begins September 29 and will extend through October 10. Farmers interested in the program should visit their local soil and water conservation district office to review their 1981 through 1985 cropping history and soil type criteria.

The RIM reserve program was designed to reduce critical soil erosion, improve wate quality and enhance fish and wildlife habitat throughout the state by retiring marginal croplands from agricultural production. The 1986 Minnesota legislature appropriated $9.4 million for the 10-year and permanent easements which will retire approximately 20,000 to 30,000 acres of land.

Sponsors Sought By IRS Office For Free Tax Clinic

Internal Revenue Service is seeking groups who are interested in sponsoring a free tax clinic through the IRS outreach program.

Under this program, IRS tax specialists will go to convenient community locations to help taxpayers prepare their federal income tax returns for 1986. Several sessions can be conducted during one day and sessions may be held during either daytime or evening hours on both weekdays and weekends.

Last year successful sponsoring groups included libraries, civic organizations, shopping centers, churches, and community centers.

Persons interested in additional information about the IRS outreach program should call their local IRS office.

Sounds and Sights of Fall

Ah, the SOUNDS OF FALL: school bells tolling; leather smacking leather on football fields; children verbally playing in fallen leaves, screaming to catch them as they flutter to Mother Earth..

And the SIGHTS OF FALL: vacations ending; routines resuming, and feelings of nostalgia fighting with feelings of anticipation as the days God has made become clothed in his coats of many colors.

Fall is God's message that he is actively at work in his universe; that change is not all that is permanent, but rather his is creatively at work in us: changing, moving, pulsating, and gearing us toward that maturity of wisdom he promises to those who seek him and will allow him control.

The coming of Fall is not merely a sign that winter is not far behind, but that God is painting universal, multi-colored pictures of his purpose. And he wants to include us.

"Try me," he says, "and see if I will not open the windows of heaven for you and pour down for you an overflowing blessing." (Malachi 3:10b)

As God paints the trees, even so will he paint his purpose in our hearts, making us as beautiful as all nature around us.

Fall is a good time to seek him in his house of worship; and, be picked-up by him there.

painting when she was six years old. At that time she was in Oak-Creek, WI, where she grew up. By the time she was in high school she was painting quite a lot. She never hesitated to undertake this huge project. Her confidence and stamina came from her training and experience. As if the mural were not enough Brenda has also drawn the scene for her club's 1986 souvenir postcard. The card, black ink on antique brown, shows a small group of carts crossing a river. The card and more information are available from AFRAN box 101 Red Lake Falls MN 56750.

How will Brenda spend her free time after Le Festival? She hopes to take courses in art at the University. "You improve by working with good people."

Persons interested in seeing one of our area's most recent pieces of art are invited to attend the unveiling ceremony at 10 a.m. October 4 in the community mall at Red Lake Falls. The restaurant will be open after the ceremony and a pea soup and a French braiding contest will be in full swing.

Farm Bureau Asks Time To Permit Farm Bill To Work

Minnesota Farm Bureau federation is urging Minnesota's Congressional delegation to "allow the 1985 farm bill to work" before dismantling it under the Harkin-Gephardt proposal introduced in Congress September 23.

In a letter to the state's U.S. senators, representatives and Congressional candidates, MFBF president Merlyn Lokensgard noted that changing the direction of the 1985 farm bill from market orientation to government supply management would be a step backward.

Lokensgard stated that the legislation introduced in Congress by Sen. Tom Harkin (D-Iowa) and Rep. Richard Gephardt (D-Missouri) would represent a dramatic reversal of federal farm programs "less than a year after Congress attempted to set U.S. agriculture on a new, more competitive course in international trade" by passing the 1985 farm bill. The proposed legislation, entitled the "Save the Family Farm Act," would place strict controls on crop production, enact higher guaranteed loan rates on commodities and initiate a debt restructuring plan based on Minnesota's mandatory mediation program.

The export enhancing provisions of the 1985 farm bill have had less than a year to prove their effectiveness, and Congress would not serve farmers or taxpayers well by making major changes in that bill at this point, Lokensgard said.

"Already other countries are getting the message that American farmers intend to win back their share of foreing markets," he said. "Australia, Argentina and even some European countries are already talking about acreage cutbacks, but talk of production and marketing controls in the U.S. will send foreign farmers scurrying to expand their plantings."

The high loan rates under the Harkin-Gephardt proposal would "virtually eliminate our foreign markets by overpricing our commodities," the Farm Bureau leader added.

"Farm families stand a much better chance of improving their net incomes under the 1985 farm bill than under the supply management route," he said. "By returning the U.S. to a more market-oriented farm policy and at the same time guaranteeing adequate income through deficiency payments, the farm bill that is in place promises much more for the future of family farming. Let's give it time to work."

U of M Crime Report On Youth Shows Discrepancies

Minority youth are being incarcerated in United States public juvenile correctional facilities at rates three to four times that of whites. Their numbers are growing, even though the overall rate of serious youth crime has declined. Contrary to popular belief, minority youth aren't committing a substantially disproportionate amount of this country's serious youth crime. However, they are more likely to be arrested and charged with more serious offenses than equally delinquent white youth.

These are among the findings in a recent report issued by the University of Minnesota's Hubert H. Humphrey institute of public affairs and the national council on crime and delinquency. The report, the first comprehensive national study on minority youth incarceration, examines the nature and extent of the issue between 1977 and 1982. It ranks minority incarceration rates by state and assesses minority involvement in serious and violent youth crime.

"Until now, this issue has been discussed and debated without hard facts," said Ira M. Schwartz, director of the Humphrey institute's center for the study of youth policy. "The purpose of the study was not only to find out the extent of the problem, but to explore some of the reasons behind this development and what could be done about it."

Schwartz was joined in the study by Barry Krisberg, president of the National council on crime and delinquency; Zvi Eisikovits and Gideon Fishman, senior lecturers at the University of Haifa, Israel; and Edna Guttman, a Ph.D. candidate at Pennsylvania state university.

The report shows a recent and dramatic increase in the number and proportion of minority youth confined in public juvenile detention centers and training schools. It shows that minority youth now account for more than 50 per cent of juveniles incarcerated in these facilities on any given day. It also shows that between 1979 and 1982 — when the numbers of youth confined in public facilities were climbing — children of color accounted for 93 per cent of the total increase in incarcerated youth.

While minorities account for more than half of all the youth incarcerated in public facilities, the opposite is true of private facilities. In 1982, white youth accounted for 65 per cent of all the juveniles confined on any given day in private juvenile detention and correctional facilites, including group homes, shelters, halfway houses, ranches, camps.

"This trend suggests we may be heading towards a two-tiered system of youth corrections in this country," Schwartz said. "It's a system in which minorities are ending up primarily in large, secure public institutions and whites in smaller, non-secure private facilities."

The report reveals wide disparities among states in rates of minority youth incarceration. In some states minority-youth incarceration rates are relatively low compared with whites. In other jurisdictions, rates of minority youth incarceration are four to five times greater than those for white youth. Besides the District of Columbia, states showing the highest rates of incarceration for minority males were Delaware, Nevada, Missouri and Minnesota. The lowest rates of minority male incarceration were in Massachusetts, New Mexico, Wyoming, Hawaii and Idaho.

Researchers examined data on juvenile arrests and self-reported delinquency to evaluate the hypothesis that the high rates of minority-youth incarceration were the result of their greater involvement in serious criminal behavior. The researchers found that, "This hypothesis was not supported by the best available data. Rather, the data on arrests and self-reported crime raised further questions about juvenile justice decision-making processes that may be consciously or unwittingly exacerbating minority youth incarceration."

The data showed that minority youth had a much greater chance of being arrested than white youth, given equal amounts of delinquent behavior, and that minorities appear to be at greater risk for being charged with more serious offenses than whites involved in comparable levels of delinquent behavior.

Said Schwartz: "These findings explode the myth that minorities commit a substantially disproportionate amount of serious juvenile crime and that their rates of offending are significantly higher than whites. The findings also raise serious questions about police arrest practices as well as our juvenile justice system's processing and handling of kids."

The report recommends that future research explore police surveillance and apprehension practices as well as youth behavior patterns to understand why minority youth are at greater risk of being arrested.

The report also urges raising public awareness about high incarceration rates of minority youth. "This consciousness-raising should be focused on stimulating a broad-based community dialogue about both governmental policies and self-help strategies that might change existing incarceration trends," the report says. "There is a pressing need to conduct well-structured research and development efforts to discover policies and programs that will effectively reduce minority incarceration.

"We know that some jursidictions have less of a disproportionate incarcerated minority population than others....In particular it is important to explore if jurisdictions that are explicitly choosing to reduce their overall juvenile incarceration rates such as Massachusetts, Utah, Pennsylvania and Colorado, are also successful in curtaining rates of minority youth confinement."

Students Invited To Apply Now For Capitol Workshop

State Senator LeRoy Stumpf of Plummer reminds students interested in participating in the Project 120 urban concerns workshop at the State Capitol next session to send their applications in by November 30.

"All high school students interested in this program, which brings them to St. Paul for a week-long learning experience on state government and politics, should apply now in order to be considered among those 250 chosen for this annual program," Stumpf said.

Under the program, students are given the opportunity to get a close look at the inner workings of the legislative process and meet with state decision-makers to observe how these decisions are made.

They attend legislative floor sessions, committee meetings and supreme court sessions and meet with elected officials, political party leaders, lobbyists, reporters and legislative staff, as well as tour various state departments and resource centers.

Cost of the 10-week long session is $175, which includes meals, lodging, special events and transportation. Scholarships are also available for needy students.

For more information about Project 120, students are urged to contact their high school Social Studies teacher or the Urban Concerns Workshop at 1821 University Avenue, Suite 222, St. Paul, MN 55104 or phone (612) 645-0853.

Politicians Should Observe Political Sign Limitations

Minnesota department of transportation reminds 1986 candidates and their workers that political signs should not be placed on the state highway right of way. According to Ron Studer, Minnesota Department of Transportation land management engineer in Bemidji, signs should be posted on private land and only with owner's consent.

"Several state and federal laws govern roadside signing and the Minnesota Department of Transportation is required to enforce these regulations in an impartial manner. Political signs are treated on an equal basis with signs that are placed by businesses, realtors, churches, private citizens and service organizations," Studer said.

Highway right of way limits are marked by white triangular markers. Specific locations can be determined by contacting the Mn-DOT permit officer in Bemidji (218) 755-2942 or Crookston (218) 281-3503.

"Mn-DOT employees will remove campaign signs that are placed on highway right of way and will attempt to notify the affected candidate so that the signs can be retrieved," Studer said.

Humphrey Urges Support For Farm Legislation

Attorney General Hubert Humphrey III is urging support for farm legislation being proposed in Congress which includes mandatory farmer-lender mediation programs in the states.

The mediation proposal, part of a federal farm bill intorduced by Congressman Richard Gephardt (D-Missouri) and Senator Tom Harkin (D-Iowa), is modeled after the mediation system in Minnesota, the first state to adopt a mandatory farm mediation law. Humphrey urges Minnesota's congressional delegation to support this provision, which would require the farm credit system and the Farmers Home administration to mediate with farmers.

Humphrey said that requirement would "put more teeth" in state mediation laws. "At present," Humphrey said, "Farmers Home administration refuses to comply with our state's mediation law and the farm credit system has brought a lawsuit challenging Minnesota's law."

In addition, the federal legislation would provide more tools to help the mediation process work by lengthening the mediation periods and by providing federal assistance for debt restructuring, Humphrey pointed out.

He suggests that Congress also provide federal funding for state mediation programs. "The farm problem is not just a state problem," Humphrey emphasized. "It is a national problem which requires national solutions and assistance. The Minnesota mediation program, which the agricultural extension service has administered so successfully, needs financial support. Although the state legislature should provide some of that support, the federal government, which has contributed to the problem, should also contribute to the solution.

Humphrey said a federal mandate for mediation efforts could result in better lender participation in mediation programs. He notes that his office is increasingly receiving reports that the farm credit system's lenders are less than cooperative in mediation.

"Last week, the government accounting office reported that farm credit will soon need a financial bailout from the federal government. I believe that any additional government assistance to farm credit should be conditioned on its good faith participation, cooperation and willingness to reach reasonable agreements with its farmer-borrowers in mediation," the attorney general said.

FACTUAL NEWS REPORTING EFFECTIVE ADVERTISING

Not A 3M Bill

While 3M company of Minneapolis has been criticized for self-serving activity in promotion of license plate replacement laws in the legislature, the company denies the law would have automatically resulted in additional revenues for the corporation.

"The new law only gave 3M the right to bid for the contract along with several other competitors," states Donald H. Frenette, executive director of public relations for the company. "In this case, eight other companies were invited to bid." He also notes that another company has the contract for validation sticker material in Minnesota and that 3M, if successful in its bid, would only supply reflective materials to the state which would convert them into license plates at the St. Cloud reformatory.

In fact, according to Dennis J. Flaherty, executive director of the Minnesota Police and Peace Officers association, recent attacks on the state license plate renewal law and 3M are uncalled for.

"The 6,000 members of the Minnesota association have been asking for this legislation for years," he states. "We need it to do our jobs, and finally in 1985 the state legislature gave it to us. The fact is, this is a law enforcement bill."

Flaherty said the association has passed unanimous resolutions for periodic license plate renewal three times prior to passage of the legislation. Lobbyists for the association has spent many hours in hearing rooms at the State Capitol testifying in favor of periodic renewal of license plates.

"Reflectorized plates, mounted front and rear on Minnesota vehicles, are the primary means of identification," Flaherty said. "The so-called 'lifetime' plate, clean as it may seem, doesn't do the job after a number of years on the road. Reflectorized plates far exceed nationally recognized standards when they are new, but many drop below that standard after a number of years, due to prolonged exposure to Minnesota weather. For officers and citizens who witness a crime, night time identification is particularly difficult."

Flaherty cited the safety factor for law enforcement officers working on dark streets and highways. They often need license plate identification to determine if the vehicle is stolen or may contain occupants who are wanted by authorities.

"This may be a small edge for safety's sake," he said, "but an important one. Quite frankly, one that we feel entitled to. Does anyone want to argue that point with the families of officers who have been attacked during 'routine' stops?"

The plates will begin being replaced October 1 of this year and then not again until 1992 at a cost of $3. "We feel that 50 cents a year per motorist is a small price to pay when they know that they are helping our officers across the state perform the kind of job, and in the manner, that citizens have come to expect."

Mr. Flaherty and 3M, your point is well taken.

Other Side Of The Coin

As a matter of policy, the Times does not print in its public opinion column letters which are written for publication in a number of papers. Occasionally, however, such a letter has content which we believe to be of sufficient general interest to warrant use. Such is the case with the following comments by Christopher J. Barnier, president of the Minnesota Association of County Supervisors in the Farmers Home administration, which expresses the flip side of the farm credit record:

"Much has been written about the problems and financial stress being experienced by farmers. Little has been said however, about the stress faced by local Farmers Home administration workers and others affected by the downturn in agriculture.

"While the farmer has only his own problems to deal with, a county FmHA official deals with several hundred problems. The stress is compounded because the local supervisor doesn't make the FmHA rules, and has limited control over whether or not to continue with a particular loan.

"Like farming, FmHA work isn't what it used to be either. Most FmHA employees would not put up with the stress caused by complex problems, excessive workload, and constant policy changes if they didn't want to help the rural community and the families they have often known for years.

"Recently letters were circulated in northwestern Minnesota that used threatening language to make demands that included removal of an FmHA employee. This resulted in closing the office for a day as a precautionary measure.

"We do not believe scapegoating or terrorizing an innocent office group is a legitimate way of making a point.

"As FmHA employees, we are proud that we can serve our rural people in 52 local county office in Minnesota and over 1800 offices nationwide. It would be a sad day if this service were not available because of the actions of a misguided few."

TGIF Mentality

Wendell Berry, Kentucky farmer, philosopher, poet and author, maintains that our national motto is "Thank God It's Friday". No longer do people in the United States have a national value which says that doing good work is rewarding in itself.

Our national values have become warped, Berry says, to the point where our national ambition is unemployment. By this, he means that we work only to be able to have enough money to stop working — for a vacation, for retirement, forever.

It's hard to argue with Berry's logic; in fact, we think he hit the nail squarely on the head. The people who are fortunate enough to want to keep on doing their life's work right up to the time they draw their last breath are unique in our country.

Berry was adapting his idea to the family farm, but it applies to any area of endeavor. He described a family farm as one small enough to be farmed by a family, that is farmed by a family, that is both home and workplace, that is properly cared for and that has what he calls "longevity of connection" — both a history and planned multi-generation future.

"Land that is in human use must be lovingly used and intimately known," he said. He referred to another person's "eyes to acres ratio' — the idea that there must be a certain ratio of human eyes to the number of acres farmed in order to know and nurture the land.

Berry contends that a small farm is like the shop of a small craftsman, where quality of the work done is a high value for the operator. The assembly line has a tendency to dismember work into routine, seemingly meaningless tasks. The work of a craftsman or small farmer which is done from start to finish adds meaning, dignity, pride and enjoyment to work well done.

Industrial values are hostile to farming as he believes farming should be. The idea that value is equal to price is a hostile idea in farming, Berry says. That idea portrays that the only measure of the worth of a thing — a career or a person — is measured in dollars. A second hostile idea is that all relations are mechanical, resulting in the notion that a farm is the same as a factory.

Family farming holds that the relationship between people and the land is essential. Industrial values point to a national economy based on the Gross National Product rather than an economy aimed at feeding and clothing people. In that economy, people are no longer valued as children of God nor citizens of a democracy — they are told to get big or get out, to produce or die.

And that type of mentality results in an eagerness to leave the field of work as quickly and permanently as possible . . . the ambition of unemployment. Those who are happy enough in their work to want to be at it as long as they live should count themselves among the fortunate few.

Borrowed Nonsense

After taking a photo of the 98-year-old man, the newspaper photographer commented, "Well, sir, I hope I can come around to take your picture again on your 100th birthday."

"I don't know why not," the 98-year-old said. "You look healthy enough to me."

Proud of his new hearing aid, the man bragged incessantly of how it picked up every word and inflection anywhere in the room. Finally someone broke into the monologue and asked, "What kind is it?" "About a quarter to three," the man responded.

The teenager who checked out the book "How to Hug" at the library was disappointed when he got home and found out he had volume 10 of the encyclopedia.

Topics Of The Times

by Norman A. Holen

(reprinted columns written by Norman A. Holen, longtime city editor of the Times.)

October 3, 1946

— Tut tut! Were you kicking about the price of butter? The stuff was selling in Russia this month for the equivalent of $2.27 per pound.

— Lud Roe of Montevideo reports that a Glenwood marquee bore the sign, "Barbara Stanwyck in the Bride Wore Boots, also Selected Shorts."

— Speaking of consistency, the Detroit Lakes high school team has lost 13 of its 14 games.

— To get rich, they tell us, double your paper money and you'll find it in creases.

— Pretty clever, that sign in a Wadena dry cleaning plant: If your clothes aren't becoming to you, they should be coming to us.

— The man who cried, "A horse a horse, my kingdom for a horse," must have heard about those horsemeat steaks they are serving in the east.

— One of our scouts reports that Al Berge disagrees with squirrel-hating Cedric Adams in that he feeds peanuts to the little creatures in this acorn-less season.

— The two chief causes of divorce, we read, are matrimony and alimony.

— The political opponents of Henry A. Wallace seem to concede that he is a good executive — with the accent on the ex.

N.A.H.

If they were eating horsemeat in the east, no wonder the October 3, 1946 Times seemed to be addressed to hunters. Bet many men in the area were planning on trying the sport just to get meat back on the table. Political ads and church bazaars were also prevalent this week.

Hunters could pick up decoys at The Ace Stores, who wanted to "Help Make Your Hunting More Enjoyable," for $1.19 each, or $1 at Gambles. "Dryback" hunting jackets were $12.95 at The Hub, with other hunting jackets selling for $7.50. They also had navy sweat shirts for 85 cents. Ole's Northern Supply had "great values in Army Surplus Goods": parkas for $4.95, G.I. combat boots for $5.95, overalls, new and used all-wool sweaters, wool blankets, sheepskin coats, new navy jackets, and O.D. trousers and shirts.

Hunters were urged to get their shotgun shells at St. Bernard's basement (?) or Gambles, while The Soo Cafe would be ready to serve them breakfast at 4 a.m and pack a box lunch for later (if the wife wanted to sleep in, I suppose).

Want ads featured a .22 caliber double action 8 shot supersealed revolver with a 6 inch barrel, a 32 revolver, a Remington 12 gauge ventilated rib barrel automatic shotgun and a Winchester Model 12 repeating shotgun; Wetch Appliance and Furniture Company wanted to purchase guns and ammunition; G.O. Vigness offered to clean your ducks at his residence at 121 North Arnold Avenue; and the Times was selling NO HUNTING signs at 10 cents apiece. (Present price is 15 cents — not bad!)

DFL candidates for state office were speaking in town this week: Dr. Theodore Jorgenson, candidate for U.S. senate; Verner Nelson of Underwood, congressional candidate for ninth district; Harold H. Barker of Elbow Lake, gubernatorial candidate; Paul A. Rasmusson, candidate for railroad and warehouse commission.

The Republican rally would be held October 15, with state auditor Stafford King as principal speaker. Area candidates with paid political ads in the Times this week wer Herman J. Day, Herbert E. Olson, Oscar A. Nelson and Edwin Rokke.

If a housewife wanted to escape cooking nearly all week, she could simply take advantage of the luncheons, dinners and afternoon coffees offered at area churches. Trinity church was selling lefse and new and used articles, along with serving coffee all day Friday; and First Lutheran church would have a rummage sale and lunches Friday and Saturday, with a bake sale and pea soup served Saturday.

The Community church bazaar would be held next Wednesday with a "Hand work" sale; cafeteria noon lunch from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. featuring vegetable soup, hot dish, gingerbread and whipped cream, rolls and coffee. Afternoon coffee would be served from 2 to 5 p.m., and an evening dinner from 5 to 7 p.m., consisting of meat loaf, escalloped potatoes, escalloped corn, pickles, rolls, cake and coffee — everything homemade. Prices were 50 and 25 cents.

St. Bernard's planned a dinner next Thursday from 5 to 7 p.m. with a menu of creamed chicken, mashed potatoes, cabbage salad, buttered rutabegas, light and dark bread, pickles, jelly, ice cream, homemade cookies and coffee. Prices there were 50 and 35 cents.

The Rocksbury farm bureau unit was going to meet at Valhall Friday evening for a basket social. "Ladies, show the men you still know how to make those pretty baskets — men be there to do the bidding. There will be fun for all." Ladies, young and old, were urged to bring baskets with lunch for two and get ice cream, cookies and coffee free.

MINNESOTA DEVELOPMENT NOTES

Del Redetzke
Business Finance Specialist
Northwest Region
612/ 762-2131

What does the small Minnesota city have that no larger city can have? An opportunity for a special state grant to spur its economic development.

The smaller projects program is the newest way to make sure that our smaller communities don't get elbowed out by the larger cities just because they don't have professional economic development staffs to prepare applications and work through the time-consuming red tape.

Here's how it works: A community with a population of less than 2,500 is approached for help by a local business that is ready to expand or by a person who wants to start a new business. If there's the potential for creating new jobs and additional private funding is available, the community files a preapplication form with the Minnesota department of energy and economic development (DEED), administrator of the program, where the staff determines the project's feasibility and fundability.

Once the project has the initial go-ahead, DEED field staff members are available to help the community with the application process. Up to $50,000 is available per grant, which the city may then lend to the business at an interest rate negotiated between the city and the business.

There's a catch — and it's a good one. The city must reinvest the funds in other economic development projects as the loan is repaid. In other words, the grant becomes a revolving fund continually being reinvested in the community's future.

"The grant opened the doors for us to become a better company and create the kind of working conditions and environment we wanted," says Roger Dunn, owner of Capacitor Associates in Eitzen and recipient of a $20,000 grant. This electronics component distributor started three years ago with one employee working in a spare bedroom and now has seven employees working in a well equipped office.

"This program gave us a boost when we really needed it," said Dunn. "Doing the work is still up to us, but the grant helped us position ourselves for the next step in our development — giving us more outreach to work with bigger companies."

The program was designed to the recommendations of a handful of people from small cities. Steve Mielke, then Janesville city administrator, was part of the team: "We felt small cities were at a real disadvantage in applying and competing for the state's financial assistance programs. We figured that a project had to be worth close to a quarter of a million dollars to make it worthwhile, and in very small cities, where most projects involve no more than about three people, that just seemed unrealistic," he said.

The pilot grants were successful and led to this fiscal year's assignment of $250,000 to the program. Service, manufacturing and industrial projects are eligible, as well as retail and commercial projects if they don't displace other jobs in the area. The grant cannot exceed half the total project cost, so private funding is necessary. One last stipulation: at least one new full-time job must be created for every $20,000 of state investment.

If your city is interested in a smaller projects program grant, contact me. I'm Del Redetzke, Business Finance Specialist for the Northwest Region. I can be reached at the Department of Energy and Economic Development, 900 American Center Building, 150 E. Kellogg Blvd., St. Paul 55101 or by calling 612-762-2131.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

Are Union Lake and Maple Lake property owners and lake goers in the Thief River Falls area aware of the strong possibility of losing the Emergency Medical Services (EMS) from Fertile?

Consider carefully; this is an advanced life support system — a pre-hospital emergency room on wheels with many trained emergency technicians.

In the event of a serious accident or illness on or near the lake, will you want a very nearby, immediately available advanced life support system to serve your life-threatening needs? If so, will you want to attend the Thursday, October 2 meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the Fertile Community Center Council rooms to give your support to this community service?

Sincerely,
Fran Wahlin

To The Editor:

The tenth annual auction for the Kidney Foundation of Thief River Falls was a success, netting $10,502, but success of this auction can't be measured totally in money. It takes a great community effort. It is a heartwarming experience to be a part of it and observe the community giving of time, talents and money in support of the auction.

We would like to thank people individually, but it's impossible. A special thanks to the auctioneers, the Golden Kiwanis, the media and to all of the businesses and individuals who donated their time, items to be sold and cash donations.

Approximately $900 per month is currently being given to individuals in the area with kidney disease.

We would appreciate continued support from the community. Please consider our organization when giving memorials.

Again, many thanks to all of you who helped to make our auction a success from the executive board of the Kidney Foundation of Thief River Falls.

Sincerely,
Ruth Nepper
Chairman.

To The Editor:

It was a long hot summer for the boy wonders of Minnesota politics. All journalists and political advisors welcomed the prospect of covering an election that included the next generation of Minnesota Miracles. The tempermental David Jennings with a germanic flair launched a late entry under pressure from the party powers. George Latimer surprised everyone, especially the wheels of the DFL, by putting together a money-challenge against the titular head-wheel of the DFL.

Where did all of George Latimer's money come from in the state? Without even begging traditional DFL sources like labor, he raised almost a million dollars. Will this sizable jackpot have a bearing on the General Election in November? Unfortunately, George didn't do a very good job of spending it.

The bearded man of reform politics with nothing but future didn't even come close to taking down Rudy Perpich. Latimer and his staff produced a herky-jerky campaign that defied conventional wisdom in a very conventional business.

Pat Forceia, a political advisor of experience said, "When you are challenging an incumbent, you have to gamble. You have to roll all the dice and if you're going to win, they need to come up all sevens and 11's.

Latimer's big rolls all came up craps. Although Perpich continues to have some significant weaknesses, he was hardly ripe for the picking. Whether it was impatience or impulsiveness, Latimer's campaign seemed premature. It's shortcomings in its execution are a matter of record, but in case you forgot, recall Latimer's state sales tax proposal, his choice for running mate of a person named Fraser, and he never mounted a serious threat.

Consistency is consistently rewarded in politics, and the primary election results attested to that axiom. Rudy Perpich's mercurial inclinations were held in check by his own common sense and the wisdom of his campaign staff. He spent most of the campaing tending to the rose garden just outside hif office, and the public apparently thought that was enough.

Cal Ludeman is coming out of the gate fast, taking a seroed-aim on the incumbent and his record. Ludeman's own track record as a legislator will no doubt be used again and again to pinpoint him as a right-wing demagog orator. Regardless of how quickly Ludeman embraces the mainstream, he will be hounded by his political history. He may have the money and the strategy to go on the offensive against the incumbent, but his own vision of state government is certainly more limited than the average citizen's.

Rudy Perpich presents a difficult target. A friend of mine mentioned her intention to participate in the re-election of the incumbent. She said she had no illusions about the governor's abilities, but was won over by the fact that his tenure had not harmed her in any way, shape or form. That kind of sentiment keeps incumbents employed.

Despite stories from pre-primary election poll-takers and political realities, most folks realized that Perpich had the primary in the bag. The inertia hanging over the electorate will be tough to erase. It will take sustained fireworks from the Ludeman campaign to put the incumbent at risk, but then there's always the possibility that Rudy will make a serious enough misstep to create a horse race. Suffice to say that things will have to heat up quite a bit before a majority of Minnesotans decides to step up to be betting window in November.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Q — I have paid off the mortgage on the home I bought in 1952 with a Veterans Administration loan. May I reinstate my entitlement to buy another house to live in and keep the present one as a rental?

A — No. Your entitlement may be reinstated only if you dispose of the present home by sale. However, when you purchased a home in 1952, the maximum entitlement was $7,500; assuming you used the full amount, your remaining entitlement would now be $20,000. Lenders will occasionally consider a loan based on reduced entitlement and we suggest that you contact lenders in your area as to their policy.

Q — I am currently receiving compensation for a service-connected disability evaluated at 40 per cent. Can the Veterans Administration help me with my 18-year-old daughter's college expenses?

A — Veterans receiving compensation for disabilities evaluated at 30 per cent or greater are entitled to additional compensation for a natural, adopted or stepchild between the ages of 18 and 23 who is unmarried and attending an approved school. For further information and necessary applications, please contact your nearest VA office.

Q — Does the Veterans Administration help veterans find lenders for VA-guaranteed mortgages:

A — No. Eligible veterans must make their own arrangements for loans through the usual lending channels, such as banks, savings and loan associations and mortgage loan companies. Real estate brokers will ordinarily assist the veteran in finding a lender.

Q — How often are the interest rates on Veteran's Administration home loans raised or lowered? Are these rates fixed or variable?

A — The maximum interest rate established for VA home loans may vary due to changes in market conditions. However, once a loan is made the interest remains the same for the life of the loan.

Q — My husband was in the Navy at the time of his death and was buried at sea. Can I obtain a memorial marker from the Veterans Administration to be placed in a private cemetery?

A — A memorial headstone or marker may be furnished by VA to commemorate any eligible veteran or service person who died on active duty and whose remains have not been recovered or were buried at sea.

Q — I recently separated from active duty in the U.S. Armed Forces. Am I eligible for unemployment compensation?

A — The amount and duration of unemployment compensation are governed by federal and state laws and vary considerably. Recent changes in federal law have resulted in eligibility restrictions. Veterans should apply as soon as possible after leaving service at their nearest local state employment service-job service office.

Q — I am currently receiving pension benefit payments from the Veterans Administration for a non-service-connected disability under the Improved Pension Law. My son, age 16, earned $2,460 selling newspapers last year. Will this affect my pension entitlement?

A — No. The earned income of a child that does not exceed $3,300 annually will not be considered in determining the amount of the pension.

Q — What is the current Veterans Administration home loan interest rate?

A — Since March 3, 1986 the home loan interest rate has been 9.5 per cent.

THE VOICE of BUSINESS

by Richard L. Lesher, President
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

There are many peculiar creatures at large in the nation's capital, one of the strangest of which is the oxymoron, a descriptive phrase that contradicts itself.

Some of the more popular Washington oxymorons are military intelligence, bureaucratic efficiency, political wisdom, budget process, and congressional courtesy.

But perhaps the most bizarre of all Washington oxymorons is the phrase "temporary tax." Congress is always on the lookout for new sources of revenue to feed its spending addiction, and routinely tries to justify new tax bites by calling them temporary.

The problem is that temporary taxes, once in place, tend to continue indefinitely. For example, consider an amendment to the federal unemployment tax act (FUTA) enacted by Congress in 1976. The purpose of the amendment was to defray an $8 billion federal debt incurred to finance extended unemployment benefits.

In addition to a 0.2 per cent net tax rate increase for employers, the 1976 law raised the taxable wage base. This tax costs employers $14 per employer per year (0.2 per cent of the first $7,000 of salary).

From the beginning, Congress assured employers this added tax on employees was only a temporary measure. The law states clearly the tax is to expire in the year following the year that the debt is paid off.

Well, the debt now stands at $500 million and should be retired by April of 1987. So the tax should disappear automatically on Jan. 1, 1988, right?

Wrong! The House ways and means committee has voted to extend the FUTA amendment for two more years. If enacted, this means employers will be socked for about $2.5 billion a year in extra taxes through 1989.

The avowed purpose of this outrage is to accumulate surpluses in federal turst fund accounts. But Congress has never been noted for accumulating surpluses, and it is highly likely this money will be squandered on pork barrel waste long before it is ever needed by unemployed workers.

This is another political raid on business treasuries, pure and simple, and it must be stopped. Business would be well advised to follow the voting on this issue closely and respond accordingly during the election season.

Rural Hospitals Would Benefit By Medicare Changes

Rural hospitals would gain needed additional revenue under two amendments to Medicare legislation approved Wednesday by the Senate finance committee, according to Sen. David Durenberger.

The amendments, offered by Sen. Durenberger, would more fairly distribute Medicare funds set aside for cases which significantly exceed Medicare payment levels; and would update data used in setting Medicare payments to more accurately reflect the current costs of each hospital.

Both amendments were added to the Medicare fraud and abuse bill (H.R. 1868), authored by Rep. Hensen Moore of Louisiana.

The first change, Durenberger said, would require the Medicare program to recalculate payment rates to hospitals in 1988 based on the actual costs reported by hospitals in 1985.

Currently, Medicare payment rates are based on cost data from 1981, with the information updated each year based on overall average changes in health care costs.

This process, Durenberger said, favors hospitals which had more room to make cuts, but, discriminates against many rural hospitals which were traditionally more efficient.

By more accurately reflecting cost differences, Durenberger said, rural hospitals should experience a narrowing of the 25 per cent differential which currently exists in urban and rural rates paid under Medicare.

The second change affecting rural hospitals would more fairly finance Medicare's program to help offset the cost of cases which substantially exceed anticipated lengths of stay or average costs for a particular diagnosis.

Each year, Durenberger said, Medicare earmarks between five and six per cent of hospital payments for so-called "outlier" cases which exceed specified length of stay or cost thresholds.

But under current practice, the outlier set-aside is assessed equally to all hospitals, regardless of how much they benefit from the outlier program.

This discriminates against rural hospitals, he said, because they are less likely to have patients with claims meeting the outlier criteria.

Under Durenberger's amendment, the outlier set-aside will be assessed so that rural and urban hospitals within each geographic region pay only their fair share of the cost of the program.

In addition to the amendments favoring rural hospitals, other Durenberger initiatives approved Wednesday by the Senate finance committee would:

(1) Require the secretary of health and human services to conduct a series of studies designed to improve the operation and effectiveness of the Medicare program;

(2) Require the secretary of HHS to coordinate several studies designed to assess the quality of health care being financed by Medicare; and to maintain a clearinghouse on studies done on quality by the department and others;

(3) Provide additional funding for a four-year demonstration of preventive health services being done by the department of health and human services; and

(4) Establish separate payment rates under Medicare to reflect more accurately the cost of dual and single-chamber pacemakers and of penile implants.

Fire Deaths For State Lowest In Years At only 54

Minnesota's 1985 fire death toll of 54 was the lowest in over 20 years, according to the state fire marshal's annual report. The number of deaths compares to 80 in 1984. Minnesota had at least 72 fire deaths annually since 1970.

As in past years, a majority of the deaths, 33, occurred in one and two family dwellings and mobile homes. The major cause of fire deaths was smoking and smoking materials, with woodstoves and fireplaces being the second largest cause.

Total fire dollar loss in the state was $104,495,654, more than $13 million higher than in 1984. The fire marshal's office attributed much of the increase to improved reporting procedures on large dollar loss fires and a substantial increase in the number of reports received.

Minnesota will be observing fire prevention week October 5-11. During that week citizens are encouraged to conduct a thorough fire safety check of their homes and develop and practice emergency exit plans.

According to the fire marshal's report, Minnesota had an average of 4.38 fires for every 1,000 people in the state in 1985. Fire loss per capita was $25.11. The state fire marshal's office conducted 568 fire investigations during 1985. Of those fires, 32 per cent were determined to involve arson.

MEMORIAL to Connie Hagen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Hagen who drowned in Thief River Falls May 30, was presented to the ExCEL program of School District 564 by the Moonlighters Lioness club of Thief River Falls. Club president Christine Burnham (right) presented the $100 check to Carol Tranby, coordinator of the gifted and talented program in School District 564. Connie Hagen had been delighted by the challenge she met through the ExCEL program and the memorial is intended to help that spirit of challenge to continue. Mrs. Tranby said the money will be used for purchase of the Omnibus educational program to challenge high potential elementary students in grades 1-6. The Omnibus program's goals are to provide a specialized curriculum, develop logical and creative thinking skills, promote interaction of students of similar abilities and interests and encourage positive self-concepts.

Clayton Restad, Councilman And Instructor, Retires

Clayton Restad, fifth ward alderman and teacher at Lincoln high school had decided to retire. Mayor Bob Carlson of Thief River Falls said he accepted the resignation of Restad last Friday. He added that the city will be losing a dedicated and respected councilman.

Restad's resignation at Lincoln high school as a driver's education and secondary math instructor will be effective November 15. Restad has worked at Lincoln high school since September 1, 1957. His combined work record as a teacher and his age qualified him for the rule of 85. Under the rule of 85 the educator's age and work record must equal a total of 85.

Mayor Carlson said the resignation will be accepted by the council and someone will be sought to replace Restad on the council for the duration of his term, which is one year. A person must be appointed. An election will be held next year for the fifth ward. Fifth ward is bordered by the Red Lake River in the north and east and Tindolph avenue on the west.

Ag Land Qualifies For Tax Payment Deferral

Second half payment of property taxes is due on Wednesday, October 15, but owners of land with agricultural classification will get a one-month extension to meet their tax obligation, according to Ellsworth Jorgenson, Pennington county treasurer.

Jorgenson said that the law adopted by the 1986 Minnesota legislature does not change the due date for tax payment but does allow 30 days for owners of agricultural property to make that payment without being assessed a penalty for late payment. If the second half taxes are not paid by November 15, the penalty will revert to the original schedule and be assessed as if no grace period had been allowed.

The county treasurer noted that if a taxpayer owns both agricultural and separate residential property, the taxes on the residential property are due as scheduled on October 15. Taxpayers would be eligible for the agricultural deferral if their tax statements list an amount for state school agricultural credit on line 9A.

Jorgenson said that if there is a credit amount on line 9A of the statement, the deferral will be allowed for all of the taxes itemized, including county, township, school district, watershed district and special assessments.

The law will remain in effect for the second half of agricultural tax payments in the future unless changed by the legislature. The first half payment date of May 15 remains unchanged. Taxes due on October 15 (and those deferred to November 15) must be paid at the county treasurer's office or postmarked on or prior to those dates.

Census Figures Reveal Rise In Local Poverty

Number of people below the poverty level in Marshall and Pennington counties has increased in the period from 1979 through 1983 after declining during the previous two decades, according to information compiled by the U.S. census bureau. It may be reasonably expected that further poverty growth has taken place since 1983.

Sources indicate that approximately 2,974 people or 23.6 per cent of Marshall county residents fell below the poverty level in 1984 while about 18.9 per cent of Pennington county residents fell below the poverty level at that time.

The federal government determines poverty status through a formula that takes into consideration both the number of persons living in a household and the size of that household, and utilizes other factors including age. The formula is also updated annually to allow for inflation. A family of four with an income of less than $10,609 was classified as poor in 1984.

Information provided in the 1960 census indicated that poverty was far more widespread at that time than most Americans realized. While the 1960 census did not directly provide information relating to poverty status, it did provide comprehensive information relating to income levels for 1959. According to the 1960 Census, 39.5 million Americans or 22.4 per cent of the national population had incomes that were less than the poverty level in 1959.

Income data from this census indicates that some 5,049 residents of Marshall county or 35.4 per cent of the population would have been classified as poor at that time while 3,715 residents or 29.8 per cent of the population of Pennington county and were poor in 1959. Comparable figures for Minnesota indicate that 21.4 per cent of the state's population was poor in 1959.

The next ten years showed a sharp drop in the incidence of poverty. In 1969, the number of poor Americans had fallen to 24.1 million or 12.1 per cent of the national population. Changes in the poverty level locally were also impressive. In 1969, the number of poor residents in Marshall county had declined to 3,381 or 26.1 per cent of the local population. The rate of poverty in Pennington county had declined very sharply to nine per cent and only 10.7 per cent of the residents of Minnesota were classified as poor at that time.

The following decade showed only minimal changes in the national incidence of poverty. Fluctuations in the poverty rate nationally ranged from a low of 11.1 per cent in 1973 to a high of 12.3 per cent in 1975. By 1979, 26.1 million Americans or 11.7 per cent of the nation's population were classified as poor.

Some 2,087 persons or 16.2 per cent of the residents of Marshall county were poor in 1979 while 1,665 or 11.2 per cent of the residents of Pennington county were poor at that time and 10.1 per cent of the residents of Minnesota were classified as poor in 1979.

From 1979 through 1983 the national poverty level consistently increased. In 1983, the national poverty level was higher than at any time since 1965. 35.5 million Americans or 15.3 per cent of the population were poor in 1983. The most recent figures issued by the federal government indicated that some 33.7 million Americans or 14.4 per cent of the nation's population were classified as poor in 1984.

FRANCES KARLSSON of Roseau has been chosen as the artist of the month at the Northwest Regional library in Thief River Falls. Her watercolors will be on display at the library for the month of October.

Frances Karlsson Artist Of The Month

Frances Karlsson, a transplanted mid westerner to a northwestern Minnesota farm near Roseau, has been chosen as artist of the month at the Northwest Regional library in Thief River Falls. Pictoral watercolor displays of her work can be seen for the entire month of October in the library.

"An artist is someone who sees the same things we all see but sees farther, someone in whose hands the common place become extraordinary," Karlsson said.

Pictoral scenes of farms, waterfalls and the countryside dominates her work, even though she grew up in Peoria, Il., and knew little of the area until she married Einar Karlsson in 1946 and moved to the Roseau county area. She is a Roseau county artist. The watercolors of Frances Karlsson reflect long hours of study and attention to detail.

Karlsson's formal training includes commercial art school at the American academy of art in Chicago. She has been employed as an illustrator for a Sunday school publisher in Chicago, and as a illustrator for a book. She has also done free-lance work. She continues her pursuit of technique with watercolor by attending workshops each year.

Her work can be found in colleges, businesses and in many homes. One of her still lifes has been reproduced and distributed throughout the country as a cookbook cover for Lutheran Brotherhood Insurance. She has exhibited at group and one woman exhibitions in this area during the last sixteen years of watercolor work. Her goal as an artist, she said, is to make the viewer see the beauty in the commonplace.

Lupus Foundation Hosts Meeting In Bloomington

Lupus, a chronic inflammatory disease of the immune system afflicting nearly one million Americans, is the subject of the seventh annual fall seminar presented by the Minnesota chapter of the Lupus Foundation of America, Inc. The seminar will be on Saturday, October 18, from 9 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. at the Thunderbird Motel, 2201 E. 78th Street, Bloomington and is an event of National Lupus awareness month.

Features of the seminar include an address on the current state of Lupus research, workshops on stess management for Lupus patients and their families, pain management techniques and interpersonal communications involving the chronically ill.

Lupus affects more people than muscular dystrophy, multiple sclerosis or leukemia. The cause of Lupus is not known and there is no known cure. It causes the body to produce unusually large amounts of antibodies. In normal quantites, these substances protect the body from disease. In large amounts, antibodies attack the victim's organs and tissues.

While Lupus can be fatal, it is usually treatable and patients can lead normal lives. However, the disease can result in damage to vital organs such as the heart, lungs, kidneys or brain.

For further information on the fall seminar or the Minnesota chapter of the Lupus Foundation of America, Inc., contact Heidi J. Stokes, executive director, at 612-933-4137 or write her at 640-11th Ave. So., Hopkins, MN 55343.

Bemidji Pioneer Sold To Ithaca, New York Company

The Bemidji Pioneer newspaper and the Advertiser shopper have been sold by Scripps Newspapers to Park Communications of Ithaca, NY, thereby becoming the first Park-owned publications in Minnesota.

The Pioneer has a circulation of 7,700 and a 90-year history while the Advertiser has a circulation of 17,500 in the Beltrami, Cass, Hubbard and Clearwater county areas.

James G. Scripps, chairman of Scripps Newspapers, said the company decided to sell the publications because they are quite distant from the company's headquarters and its other publications in the West. Park Newspapers specializes in publishing similar newspapers in the 10,000 to 20,000 circulation range.

John E. Hammer, editor and publisher, said there is no change planned in the operation or growth of the paper other than that there may be an expanded base of resources from which it can draw to improve its product and services.

In the past 15 years the Pioneer has experienced several ownership changes. In June of 1972 Scripps-Ifft Newspapers purchased the daily paper from Elsie Williams and George Williams Jr. In November of 1979 the Pioneer merged with the Advertiser, established in 1975 by Elaine Reewes and her husband Bill. Less than two months later, Bill Reeves died following an auto accident and Elaine Reeves became publisher of the Pioneer and president of Beltrami County Publishing Co., the parent firm to both publications. Early in 1985 Reeves sold her share of the publishing firm to the Scripps organization and resigned her publisher's post.

With the addition of the Pioneer and Advertiser, Park Communications, Inc., publishes 88 newspapers, 32 of them daily, 23 paid weekly newspapers and 33 controlled circulation shoppers.

Ripley Shelter Notes Violence Awareness Week

National coalition against domestic violence has proclaimed October 6-12, 1986 as its sixth annual Domestic Violence Awareness week, concluding with the national day of unity for battered women and children on October 12. The theme of this week is "Building a Non-Violent World."

"There are numerous reasons why a battered victim will remain in a violent situation," states Sharon Wold of the Ripley Shelter in Thief River Falls. "Lack of money, support, employment oportunities, along with religious commitment and wanting to keep the family together are valid reasons for a battered woman to maintain that relationship. Women who at one time experience violence in thier lives have special insights which can help others end abusive relations.

"During the past years, national, state and local programs such as The Ripley shelter for battered women have been developed and maintained to provide needed services to battered women and their children. Battered women's shelters are needed throughout the nation because of the violence in the society. In America, one out of every four families contains domestic violence," Wold said.

The Ripley shelter will be recognizing the women who survived the violence in their lives by a special candlelight ceremony on Wednesday. Members of the Ripley shelter would like to express their appreciation for the support that the communitites throughout the seven-county area have given to the organization in the past six years.

The INSIDE SCOOP

From Lincoln High

by GAYLE BORCHERT

The new tardy policy that has been initiated at Lincoln is more efficient than the previous policy. Instead of sending a tardy student to the office for a pass, the teacher simply writes his or her name down while the student remains in class. At the end of the day, each teacher brings a list of all tardy students to the office.

Each student is allowed five tardies per semester before being assigned an hour of detention. The office excuses students for medical or dental appointments, late buses and other reasons. This policy is quite an improvement for it prevents a student from interrupting the class twice, once when tardy and again when returning with a pass.

In the past if a student was tardy for a class at the center school, he or she could lose up to half a class period by simply walking back to Lincoln and returning with a tardy slip. By having the student remain in class, the office work is also greatly reduced, especially during the rushed moments between classes.

New Teacher-Miss Jean Rudolph. Miss Rudolph teaches at Lincoln high school. She is an interpreter for the deaf students. Her job is to transfer spoken English to sign language. She works with two students, one at Lincoln and one at Franklin. This is her first interpreting job, and it is also the first time she has lived out of Schofield, a suburb of Wausau, WI. She became interested in interpreting after babysitting full-time for a teacher of the deaf in Wausau.

Miss Rudolph attended college at North Central Technical Institute of Wausau, where she received her Associate degree in the educational interpreter technician program. Her hobbies include skiing, swimming and needlepoint. This fall she will be teaching an adult sign language class through the community education department, and she also hopes to do some freelance work in the future as an interpreter. She enjoys Thief River Falls but misses the hills in Wausau.

New Student-Leif Meneke. Leif is a sophomore at Lincoln. He moved here from Honolulu, Hawaii. Leif enjoys photography and the theatre. At Lincoln he is currently participating in the school play and working on the yearbook. Although he moved here from Honolulu, he enjoys school at Lincoln and says the attitude is very different from his old school. Meeting new people is something he finds enjoyable.

ILT Dean Succeeds Capt. Thomton As Guard Commander

At a special ceremony recently at Camp Ripley near Little Falls, the command of Company B, 2-136 mechanized infantry, was passed from Capt. Richard Thomton to 1LT Thomas Dean. With units at Thief River Falls and Crookston, Company B of the national guard has been commanded by Capt. Thomton since April of 1984.

Capt. Thomton is now being assigned to the battalion staff in Moorhead at supply and logistics offer (S-4). He will continue to live in Thief River Falls where he is employed in civilian life as a state probation and parole agent.

1LT Dean lives in Fargo, ND, where he is employed as a youth counselor. He is a graduate of St. Cloud state university and a nine-year veteran in the Minnesota guard. Prior to becoming company commander he served as the company executive officer. He has also been assigned to units in Moorhead and St. Cloud during his time in the guard program.

Company B has 82 soldiers assigned in Thief River Falls and 80 at Crookston. Drills are conducted one weekend per month and two weeks during the summer. In the last several years the local units have had a variety of special training experiences. In 1984 they spent the two weeks of training at Fort Irwin, CA, and this year trained in Fort Riley, KA.

Last month the unit was at the Grand Forks air force base to fire weapons and since that time its members have been involved in a large scale combined arms life fire exercise at Camp Ripley. This included a field exercise with live firing by tanks, artillery, mortars, machine guns, grenade launchers and small arms ammunition. The exercise trains all elements together and demonstrates the total firepower of an infantry company, which Capt. Thomton described as "awesome".

Capt. Thomton also said he will certainly miss his affiliation with Company B but is looking forward to his new assignment and is confident that the unit is in good hands with 1LT Dean, who will soon be promoted to the rank of captain.

The federal government does not provide information regarding the local incidence of poverty on an annual basis. However, other available federal information combined with independent sources of information regarding local income levels indicate that the incidence of poverty in Marshall and Pennington counties has generally followed national patterns.

The national poverty level and local poverty levels have both declined since 1959, although up in the past four years. There have also been major changes in the circumstances of poverty in the past 25 years. The federal government does not include a number of non-cash benefits available to the poor in its computation of poverty levels. Food stamps, rent subsidies and medical assistance to the poor are not considered income for the purpose of defining poverty. Most of these programs did not exist 25 years ago.

While poverty continues to be a problem both nationally and locally, clearly, the conditions of poverty in America as well as in Marshall and Pennington counties have changed a great deal since 1959.

At the same time, national statistics make it apparent that, with the exception of the elderly, only limited progress has resulted from efforts to reduce poverty since 1969. In fact, the national poverty level of 14.4 per cent in 1984 was greater than the national poverty level of 12.1 per cent in 1969.

Estimated poverty level in Pennington county during 1984 was less than the local poverty rate in 1969, while the poverty rate in Marshall county in 1984 was significantly greater than that county's poverty rate in 1969. Most Americans are disturbed by the persistence of poverty at its current levels, and puzzled at the persistence of poverty in spite of the massive efforts made by government to reduce it.

Falling rates of unemployment have resulted in a declining rate of poverty since 1983. However, it must be kept in mind that the current level of unemployment continues to be generally higher than it was from 1959 through 1979. Additionally, most economists consider it probable that unemployment rates will remain higher than those of the 1960s and the 1970s for the rest of this decade.

There appear to be still other factors that have contributed to the persistence of poverty. One of these is particularly noteworthy. The rate of poverty among households headed by women with no husband present continues to be higher than the rate of poverty among any other demographic groups. Not only has the proportion of the poor made up by female headed households without husbands increased sharply, but the proportion of these households in terms of the total of American households has increased sharply.

In 1959, persons living in households headed by females without husbands made up 26.3 per cent of the nation's poor and 50.2 per cent of all persons living in such households were classified as poor at that time. By 1984, persons living in households headed by single females made up 48.8 per cent of the poor in America. Although the rate of poverty among persons living in households headed by females with no husband present had declined to 34 per cent by 1984, this is nevertheless an extremely high figure.

Additionally, the number of persons living in households headed by females with no husband present has increased tremendously over the period. The number of persons living in such households has increased from 20.7 million in 1959 to 48.4 million in 1984 or by 133.6 per cent. Persons living in households headed by single females accounted for 11.9 per cent of the national population in 1959. In 1984, they accounted for 20.4 per cent of the national population

Local information provided by the census bureau regarding households headed by single females is not as comprehensive as national information. However, sufficient information is available to determine that the change in the number and proportion of persons living in such households locally has been much less pronounced than the national increase. For instance, 5.2 per cent of children under the age of 18 in Marshall county lived in single parent households in 1960. By 1980, 6.4 per cent of all children under 18 lived in single parent households. Similarly, the percentage of such children increased from five per cent to 13.8 per cent in Pennington county over the period. The number of families headed by single females in Marshall county increased from 187 or 5.8 per cent of all families in the county in 1970 to 215 or 6.1 per cent of all families in 1980. The poverty level among families headed by single females in Marshall county declined from 33.7 per cent in 1969 to 28.4 per cent by 1979.

The number of families headed by single females in Pennington county increased from 229 or 7.1 per cent of all families in 1970 to 431 or 10.8 per cent of all families by 1980. The poverty rate among single female headed families in Pennington county increased from 18.8 per cent in 1969 to 72.6 per cent in 1979.

Changes in the demographic makeup of the poor since 1959 have been substantial. The most noteworthy of these appear to be the declining number of elderly among the poor and the increase of single women with children among the poor. These trends were also apparent locally, if to a less marked extent.

In Memory Of
passed away on Oct. 8, 1983.

"Loving Memories"

Your gentle face and patient smile
With sadness we recall
You had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all

The voice is mute and stilled the heart,
That loved us well and true,
Oh, bitter was the trial to part
From one so good as you.

You are not forgotten loved one
Nor will you ever be,
As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.

We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes by we miss you more.
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.

Sadly missed by his wife,
Genevieve and Families.

Dear Readers,

Those who have lost a loved one need to express their grief to relatives and friends. They need to talk out their distraught feelings to a compassionate listener. It is unwise to take drugs or alcohol to deaden the grief, as this solves no problem and only postpones the necessary adjustment. Frequent visitors and patient listeners are most helpful in overcoming grief.

Respectfully

Top Entertainment Value

Membership in the Thief River Falls concert association has to be one of the top values in entertainment this community has to offer year in and year out. It might well be termed the rummage sale of the local entertainment world — in the finest sense of value received for money spent.

Certainly there are times when it is enjoyable and socially acceptable to travel down the road a few miles — and even cross a state line or national border — to feast at the table of live entertainment. But nowhere can a dollar spent for entertainment be more economically used than the local concert series.

For an individual adult, a $20 membership provides admission to five concerts of high caliber. Perhaps "concerts" isn't really an appropriate word as it is generally applied in this area. That word has too much of an aura of classical nature, implying that the content is somewhat stilted or that special training is needed for appreciation of what is offered.

Nobody needs to feel unqualified to attend entertainment the likes of "When Music Was Music" — a 1930's and 1940's song and dance show; Black Jazz Dance — a 14-member family show; or Mark Twain — a one-man show which should have some humor for everyone. You can call the Amherst Saxophone Quartet or tenor soloist Hreinn Lindal high hat, but their presentation is guaranteed to be varied enough to appeal to most listeners. Generally you can slip in at the intermission, skip the solid stuff in the first part of the show and get in on the fun stuff in the second half.

If a $20 individual adult membership isn't enough of a bargain, an entire family can have membership for everyone for only $48. Students get a bigger break at $9 each. It should be worth two bucks a concert just to know where the teenagers are for a couple of hours.

For membership information or to make a purchase, contact the chamber of commerce office or membership chairman Diane Freeman. The first concert — and one of the best — will be "When Music Was Music" on October 13.

It Works For All Of Us . . .

Leadership and volunteer effort in the Thief River Falls United Way have combined to achieve amazing success in fund-raising efforts in the past several years. Last year was especially surprising when the goal of $67,500 was over-subscribed by a community which has not had the best financial situation.

That success shows two things quite evidently: That Thief River Falls is a caring community which takes its responsibility to assist others as a serious challenge, and that the method of united giving-to-one-agency-for-a-wide-variety-of-causes makes a lot of sense. Putting "all the begs in one askit", as we have said many times before, certainly makes for efficient handling of funds.

So efficient, in fact, that the local campaign could be considered a model operation. We noted in a recent editorial in the Grand Rapids Herald-Review that the United Way in that community has a goal this year of $178,000 and that general administrative and campaign costs take 22 per cent of the total. That would amount to about 50 per cent of the total Thief River Falls goal.

We don't fault the Grand Rapids operation at all, because it works successfully there and serves the charitable purpose for which it is intended. The Thief River Falls United Way, however, uses only nine per cent of its total goal for administration — including promotion, campaign materials and administrative salaries. The reason is the willingness of devoted people to put in a lot of work for a little salary and the assistance of some 200 volunteers who donate their time.

"People from the Grand Rapids area have a reputation of meeting challenges head on," the Herald-Review editorial states. "While the clash causes a little smoke and perhaps a little noise, when the air is cleared it can be seen that a victory results."

We think that assessment is true of most of rural Minnesota where people are more than willing to lend a helping hand where needed. For sure it is true in this part of the state where such support is demonstrated time and time again throughout the year.

It is true that some organizations will continue to conduct separate campaigns to raise funds, and it is also true that many people are willing to support those organizations for the work they do and the service they provide. We have no quarrel with that. Neither do we believe that those who give generously to the United Way are obligated to also support non-participating agencies. That is also a matter of choice. Either way, combining the fund collection for some 30 benefitting agencies is a commendable effort worthy of full scale support. We believe our area people will continue to realize that and to provide support as they have in the past.

Room For RIM

Interest throughout Minnesota in the Reinvest in Minnesota (RIM) program seems to be quite high. The 1986 Minnesota legislature provided $9.4 million to establish the new conservation program which will allow a number of farmers in the state to retire marginal farm land in exchange for direct payments from the state. The RIM bill authorizes the state department of agriculture to purchase either 10-year or permanent easements on marginal farm land.

While the stated purpose of the bill is to keep that marginal land out of crop production or pasture use (thereby reducing "surplus" grain) and to reestablish vegetative cover in order to protect soil and water quality, the greatest side benefits in many cases will be for wildlife. It should be the biggest plus for wildlife since the soil bank years of the early 1960's.

Information on the program is available at soil and water conservation district offices where the initial sign-up period is also being held through October 10. Those offices may not have all the answers to specific questions, but they are as well prepared as anyone to provide the basic information.

Some of the provisions of the program as pointed out by the Minnesota attorney general's office include the following:

To qualify for the program the land in question must be "marginal" farm land which has been in crop production for at least two years and is not currently set aside or diverted under another federal or state program. In general, marginal farm land consists of soils that are inherently unproductive and subject to significant potential soil productivity loss if eroded.

The program provides for the direct purchase of easements. If a ten year easement is purchased, the payment is equal to 90 per cent of the average accepted bids for the federal conservation reserve program in the applicable local soil and water conservation district. The payment for a permanent easement is equal to 70 per cent of the average estimated market value of the agricultural property in your township.

Under the terms of either easement, a farmer must agree not to produce crops on the land and not to alter the wildlife habitat. No grazing will be permitted on the land and spraying with chemicals or mowing is prohibited, except as necessary to comply with noxious weed control laws.

The easement is a covenant which runs with the land. Thus once it is agreed to and filed with the appropriate county recorder, any new buyer or owner must take the land subject to the terms and conditions of the easement. In addition, the easement must be a first lien on land. As such, to qualify for the RIM program a farmer will have to obtain releases or subrogation agreements from current lenders.

In addition to the general prohibitions on the use of the land, the easement will require the landowners to establish a perennial grass cover on the land. Landowners will receive up to $75 per acre in order to establish this grass cover, or $75 per acre for tree planting if that is required.

The local soil and water conservation districts will be responsible for accepting easement applications, coordinating the review of proposed parcels, providing technical assistance for establishing vegetative cover and performing administrative duties necessary to implement the program.

Teaching To Testing?

Following editorial from the Copley News Service was published recently in the Bemidji Pioneer:

U.S. Education Secretary William Bennet says the standstill in Scholastic Aptitude Test scores for the Class of 1986 should prompt public schools to redouble their efforts to implement classroom reforms. Although we agree with Mr. Bennett in principle, it would be a mistake for educators to become so caught up in the numbers game that they lose sight of the main objective, namely teaching students to think.

College-admission test scores became a major issue after their decline during the early 1960s became a barometer of deteriorating academic standards in primary and secondary schools. Indeed, from 1963 to 1980, average SAT scores plummeted from 478 to 424 on the verbal section and from 502 to 471 on the math section. Beginning in 1981, however, scores began to improve steadily, even though more students were taking the test.

The turnaround stems in part from the fact that students are taking more rigorous courses, which, of course, is a positive sign. We are less sanguine, however, about school districts that spend an inordinate amount of time teaching students how to take standardized tests. Such preoccupation on results undermines the learning process by pressuring students to become performers instead of thinkers.

The greatest impetus to teach to the test is frequently found in low-income, minority districts where standardized test scores are particularly low. Unfortunately, the moral victory of raising the average test scores in such districts is often achieved at the expense of students who are denied the opportunity to develop their minds.

To be sure, testing is an integral part of the learning process. But it must not be viewed as an end in itself. Otherwise, students cannot help but learn the cynical lesson that knowing how to take a test takes precedence over intellectual discipline and problem solving.

Borrowed Nonsense

Young man to his date: "Do you think you could be happy with a man like me?"

Date: "Well, yes, if he wasn't too much like you."

A modern wife had been wondering where her husband had been spending his evenings. One night she came home early and discovered that was where he had been all the time.

"I'm worried about Dad," the elderly lady confided to her daughter over the telephone. "For the last couple of days he has been sitting in the living room with nothing on."

"Nothing on!" the daughter exclaimed. "What does he say about it?"

"Well," the mother replied, "he says he can read better with the radio, TV and stereo turned off."

RINGBO BOBCATS 4-H club entered this float Saturday in the Newfolden Newfest fall festival parade. A number of Newfolden area groups and business places as well as organizations prepared entries for the parade.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

How disappointing to see that the Moonlighters Lioness Club and Kmart are again sponsoring what amounts to a beauty contest for children aged three (!) through grade five. They are to be judged on "appearance and poise". What three-year-old (or any age) needs this? Wouldn't it be great if the Lioness club would come up with a project that would build self-esteem in all children instead of picking one as a winner and the rest as losers even at age three?

Yours truly,
Grace Mayta

To The Editor:

It appears from what I have read in the newspaper and saw on television that the people in this area are willing to allow the air force to install an "Over-The-Horizon Backscatter" radar facility. It is also my understanding that the Warren city council and Thief River Falls city council have given their stamp of approval on this project.

For those of you who endorse this facility, how seriously have you given thought to what it will do to this area? I have just written the air force a letter in which I outlined my concerns on this issue, and I urge all of you to do the same. An extension to October 31 has been granted for additional comments by concerned individuals to write. After that we have no voice in the matter. Does that sound familiar?

We must ask ourselves some of the following questions:

(1) Will you be willing to give up good farmland at rock bottom prices?

(2) Can this area also become an area for that sought-after piece of real estate called a "high level nuclear dumpsite?"

(3) Will this Backscatter project become obsolete or bargained away with a treaty within a few years such as the ABM system was?

(4) Do we have a guarantee that this montrous radar system will work?

(5) Or is this simply a military spending project?

(6) Is this project related to the Star Wars research SDI program?

(7) If so, will SDI make this system obsolete?

(8) How many jobs will be gained versus how many people will be displaced in this specific site area by the radar program?

(9) Does this project in any way protect us from a Soviet threat, or would our time and energy be better spent in peaceful efforts?

(10) How many rural roads and drainage systems will be disrupted?

(11) Can the air force guarantee that their radar system will not interfere with business band radios and other forms of communications such as TV, radio, etc?

(12) How can the air force possibly reimburse counties and townships for land removed from the tax rolls? (I forsee our taxes going up to make up this difference?)

(13) How will this radar system affect the bird migration patterns? And how will this affect the tremendous wildlife population in this area?

(14) Why was the public hearing held on a primary election night when voters could not be at the polls and at this hearing at same time?

(15) How can the air force propose such a project when the U.S. budget is in such a deficit condition and getting worse daily? If this radar functions, seems to me it will merely tell us of incoming missiles designed to wipe us out; and at that stage of the game, we will all be dead. Why spend money on a project under these circumstances?

I urge all of you to take pen and paper and write your comments to the U.S. air force now. A petition is being circulated against this project. This area does not need a project of this nature to survive. I urge you to also contact your City Fathers and ask why they are endorsing such a project. Ask them for photocopies of the promises the air force has made for jobs, etc. Write to: Lt. V.G. Brown, ESD-SCO, Hanscom AFB, Ma. 01731.

Sincerely,
Connie Omdahl

NCC Art Gallery Has Showing Of Road Photography

Northland community college foundation in conjunction with the Northland gallery announces the pre-season gallery exhibition entitled "American Roads" which will be on display at Northland until October 21. The NCC gallery is located in the visual and performing arts wing of the college and plays host to a variety of exhibits yearly.

Visitors are welcome to tour the exhibitions at no cost and brochures are available explaining each exhibition. The NCC gallery is one part of the 1986-1987 Northland artists' series which is being sponsored by the NCC foundation. Those interested in helping perpetuate the series are welcome to make their donations to the foundation.

"American Roads: A Contemporary Photography Portfolio" is a unique photographic exhibition. It is an aesthetic and, at the same time, historical view of America in the 1970's and 1980's. Much of the beauty and unique character of America may be observed along the highways and byways that cut across our landscape.

The road has proven a rich subject for artists attracted to new places in search of new images, as seen in this exhibition of contemporary photographs by 20 nationally recognized artists. Their images of expansive vistas, roadside attractions, and the unexpected sights discovered along the way present a modern version of a mythic America. This selection of works by some of this country's most accomplished photographers, including Minnesota artist Frank Gohlke, also demonstrates a broad range of approaches and photographic techniques.

For more details on this exhibition, contact art gallery coordinator Mike Trudeau at Northland community college.

State To Enroll Pregnant Women In WIC Program

State health officials have begun a campaign to bring more pregnant women into the federally-funded WIC nutrition program.

Many potentially eligible women are not currently participating in the program, according to officials at the Minnesota department of health, even though good nutrition is especially important during pregnancy. Studies have shown that a proper diet during pregnancy can mean a healthier baby at birth, and fewer health problems as the child grows up, department officials noted.

The special supplemental food program for women, infants and children — or simply "WIC" — is administered in Minnesota by the state health department. A statewide network of 60 local WIC agencies is responsible for providing services under the program.

The department recently provided over $112,000 in special funding to local WIC agencies, so they could conduct outreach efforts aimed at enrolling more pregnant women in the program. In addition, the department has hired a marketing firm to look at current outreach efforts, at both the state and local level.

Department officials say it's too early to see any effect from the local agency outreach activities. The marketing firm is expected to produce a statewide plan for bringing more pregnant women into the program. The plan should be completed by mid-December, and will be put into action some time next year.

Both the local outreach program and the market research effort were inspired by a 1986 Minnesota law, which calls for an aggressive marketing effort aimed at potential WIC clients. The law calls for an increase of 10 per cent a year in the percentage of program participants who are pregnant women.

More than 56,000 Minnesotans now participate in the WIC program, which has been operating in Minnesota since 1974. In addition to pregnant women, eligible WIC participants can include nursing mothers, infants and children up to age five. Each participant must be evaluated by qualified health professionals from a local WIC agency, and found to have nutrition-related health needs. Participants must also be Minnesota residents, and they must have incomes that fall below specified levels.

Those who participate in the program are given vouchers that can be used to buy food from grocery stores or drug stores. The vouchers can only be used to buy certain kinds of foods, selected by WIC staff to meet the specific nutritional needs of each participant.

Participants also receive nutrition education, and are referred for additional health-related services.

Since WIC began, a number of studies have confirmed that the program has a significant impact on the health of mothers and children who participate, according to state WIC officials. The latest evidence comes from a major five-year study conducted by the Research Triangle Institute of Raleigh, North Carolina, and the Albert Einstein College of Medicine, New York City.

In particular, the study found that pregnant women participating in WIC had fewer premature and low birth weight babies, were more likely to begin prenatal care early in their pregnancies, and were less likely to have stillbirths or children who died during the first month of life. The improvement was greatest among minority women and women with less education.

Children who participated in WIC tended to have better memories and larger vocabularies, were more likely to have been immunized against preventable diseases, and tended to get better medical care.

WIC participants and their families tended to have better diets than non-participants.

State WIC officials also emphasize that WIC is an equal opportunity program. Persons who believe they have been discriminated against because of race, color, national origin, age, sex or handicap, should write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

SWCD At Grygla Receives Funds For Cost-Sharing

Marshall-Beltrami soil and water conservation district recently received its allocation for the state cost-share program for fiscal year 1987, receiving $5,700 with $1,140 for technical and administrative expenses, leaving $4,650 for cost-sharing projects.

Although the total grant is down some from last year, it still offers an opportunity to help apply conservation practices on the land, according to Cheryl Sistad, district cost-share coordinator.

Applications are being taken now on a first-come, first-served basis and the district will pay up to 75 per cent of the costs of the following practices: Erosion control structures, stripcropping, diversions, stormwater control systems, animal waste control systems, field windbreaks and critical area stabilization.

The program is open to individuals, groups or units of government. The projects are considered enduring in nature with a life expectancy of at least 10 years. The district has a map in the office showing the designated high-priority areas in the district and this is where staff concentrate efforts to control erosion problems. Those who would like more information on the state cost-share program may either stop by the office in Grygla or call 294-6144 to discuss the program.

Realtors Propose Property Tax System Reform

Minnesota Association of Realtors is proposing sweeping reform of Minnesota's complex property tax system, according to information received by June Steiger and Jan Kramer of All Seasons Realty in Thief River Falls at the association's state convention recently in Minneapolis.

The association proposes reducing the number of property classifications from the current 70 to five, reducing the tax rates for apartments and commercial property, limiting the differential between homestead and non-homestead property, consolidating the numerous property tax relief mechanisms and reducing the differential between low and high market value homes.

As a result of the new federal tax bill, Realtors officers predict monthly rent increases of 20 per cent or more and that rents would have to increase as much as 30 per cent in order to stimulate new construction of more apartment units.

State's Schools Receive Magazine On Agriculture

First issue of a student magazine about agriculture is now in Minnesota school. The publication, called "Minnesota Agriculture Magazine," is designed to help students learn more about the source of their food supply and the role of agriculture in the economy and society. It is a major educational effort the newly created Minnesota agriculture in the classroom program.

"Agriculture is our state's number one industry and vitally important to our well-being, and I'm excited that students will now have the opportunity to further explore agriculture and its link to this great state," says Minnesota commissioner of agriculture, Jim Nichols. "I'm a former teacher and am pleased to see the magazine is designed to be easily integrated into a number of subject areas. We hope all schools will use the publication and are relying on school principals to help facilitate its placement in the proper grade level."

Minnesota Agriculture Magazine will be distributed statewide again in November, January and March of the 1986-87 school year through elementary and middle school principals. Each issue will highlight important facets of agriculture, with sixth grade being the primary target audience. For the first issue, 60,000 magazines have been distributed to 1,200 Minnesota public and non-public schools. Minnesota elementary principals' association is supporting distribution of the magazine.

Minnesota agriculture in the classroom is a public and private partnership in education existing to enhance students' understanding and knowledge of agriculture. The program is housed at the Minnesota department of agriculture, with support from the Minnesota department of education and many other agricultural and education-based institutions.

New Speech Pathologist

Greenbush—Kathy Scheving, Mentor native, is the new speech pathologist at the Greenbush and Badger schools this year. She is a 1980 graduate of the University of North Dakota, with a master of science degree in speech pathology. She and her husband, Jeff, an architect at Marvin Windows in Warroad, presently live in Warroad and Kathy commutes to her jobs in Greenbush and Badger. She spends two afternoons at each of the schools, working primarily with children who have speech problems in several different areas.

Warroad Community Center

Warroad—The city of Warroad will have a new community center in the spring, the first in the history of the town. The center will contain a large assembly room with a seating capacity of 200 for meetings or meals, two small meeting rooms, two craft rooms for senior citizens, a kitchen, storage room, office and two bathrooms. It will be used for various activities that will benefit Warroad and surrounding area. Any organization or individual will be able to rent the center for family events. Building of the center has been accomplished through donations and contributions from community members and businesses.

Lucky Lancaster

Lancaster—The Lancaster city council has reduced the mill rate by approximately 8.3 mills, which will mean nearly a $5,000 reduction in the levy. The action was taken, said Lancaster city clerk Gary Burton, because the city no longer has a full-time police officer and final payments on the new street sweeper and patrol car have been made.

Spring Showers

Red Lake Falls—The Red Lake Falls Ladies' Golf association recently donated $1,500 to Oak Knolls Golf club to be used for additional water pipes for the sprinkling system.

Happy Days In Kennedy

Kennedy—Entries are needed for the homecoming parade kickoff for Happy Days in Kennedy, which will begin October 10. Sponsored by the Kennedy Lions, Happy Days will feature a community feed during the noon hour October 11, followed by a nickel scramble and bicycle races. The days will end with a dance in the community center Saturday evening.

Whoops, Just Slipped

Stephen—Four loaded Burlington Northern railway cars derailed September 28 near the north crossing in Stephen between the Farmers Fertilizer building and the new Farmers Grain Company loading facility. The road bed under the cars just seemed to give way, causing the cars to derail. The cars were unloaded and clean up of the area is underway.

Wait And See

Bemidji—Bemidji residents will vote on a $4.2 million construction and renovation plan for Lincoln, Northern and Horace May elementaries and Bemidji high school and replacement of the Solway elementary school November 4. Superintendent of schools, Phil Bain, said the district received excellent reviews on the proposal from the commissioner of education, but he has had little feedback from district residents. He said, "As far as we can figure, the lack of response could be due to three things. Either people think it's so absurd they are not responding; they think it makes so much sense they are not responding; or they just don't care." If the bond fails, Bain says one consequence is sure to be higher insurance costs for the district.

Bin Building

Greenbush—The Greenbush Co-op Grain and Seed is expanding its storage capacity with construction of two large bins. When completed, they will hold 66,000 bushels of grain each, more than twice the size of the two bins built last year.

Lip Sync Anyone?

Winger—The Winger Lions will sponsor a "lip sync" contest to help fund their scholarship program. The contest will be October 25 in the Winger hall, with cash prizes of $100, $50 and $25, and is open to all ages. For information call 938-4172.

The Odd Couple

Anna has the distinction of appearing on television the day she was crowned, being paraded through the city of Bagley the next day, and later being interviewed on radio.

Perfect Pumpkins

Williams—A pumpkin-growing contest began last April when the Williams Gardeners garden club gave each third grader at Lake of the Woods school ten pumpkin seeds and instructions on growing them has culminated in three overall fourth grade winners. Tanya Gosen received a prize for most perfect shaped pumpkin, Dean Thompson for best colored, and Nathan Imes for the largest pumpkin. The contest was such a success that it is planned again for next year.

Prowlers Shut Out Spoilers For Homecoming Win

They were both 1-4 coming into the game, but Thief River Falls proved to be a better 1-4 team than Grafton Friday as the Prowlers dominated the Spoilers 22-0 for a successful 1986 high school football homecoming.

Even at 22-0, the score doesn't indicate the Prowlers' control over the Spoilers. Thief River Falls racked up a one-sided 342-81 edge in total yards, including a 298-12 advantage on the ground, had a 19-7 lead in first downs and controlled the ball for 33-minutes, 31-seconds to just a 14:29 time of possession for the Spoilers.

Paul Brandt, the Prowlers' 171-pound senior sprinter, had another big day offensively, rushing for 191 yards on 26 carries, scoring once. Brandt had a 202-yard rushing performance in a 39-15 Thief River Falls win over Detroit Lakes Sept. 6, but never saw 100 yards in three successive losses to Bemidji, Valley City and Crookston. That changed against Grafton, though, as he got to the outside on the sweeps and cut inside on the counters for big yards.

Defensively it was a collective effort as the Prowlers recorded their first shutout in 30 games dating back to a 20-0 victory over Detroit Lakes early in the 1983 season.

The defensive show was highlighted by a point-producing safety in the fourth quarter when Blair Lund tackled Grafton punter James Swedberg in the end zone to close out the scoring with exactly four minutes remaining. Swedberg was unable to field a low snap from center, and Lund led a flock of Prowlers who chased him through the end zone to make it 22-0.

Before that, Joel Swanson and Chris Bjorgaard stopped the Spoilers with interceptions, Elliot Baker and Bill Dicken had fumble recoveries, while Jason Lee and Lund had quarterback sacks. There was also a team sack for good measure on the game's final play.

All that helped the Prowlers overcome a yet-to-be-solved season-long penalty problem. Thief River Falls had seven of them, including five major 15-yarders.

"We're happy with the win, of course," said Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm, "but we're not happy with some things that happened. Those penalties will kill you against a really good team."

But, for a football team winning for just the second time in 18 games, any kind of win will do.

"We're climbing a hill," explained Mumm, "and if we're going to get to the top, we needed this one."

Thief River Falls took a 7-0 lead on a ground-gobbling 79-yard first quarter drive that took just seven plays to complete. Fullback Mike Bendickson scored on an 11-yard run with 1:41 left in the first stanza, lowering his head and bowling over a Grafton defensive back on the goal line for the final yard. Chris Nelson added the conversion kick. Bendickson started the drive with a 14-yard run, and Brandt had runs of 8, 12 and 17 yards on the sprint downfield that also included a pass interference call against the Spoilers.

Grafton came right back and threatened to make a game of it when runningback Derek Anderson broke off an 18-yard gain and then caught a 31-yard pass down the sidelines from quarterback Bill Momerak that took the Spoilers to the Thief River Falls 15-yard line in just four plays. But on the fifth play Swanson, getting his first start in the defensive backfield, picked off Momerak as he tried to go over the middle in the end zone.

Thief River Falls made it 14-0 before the half with an 11-play, 80-yard touchdown drive that was capped by a one-yard plunge by Bendickson with just 44 seconds remaining in the first half.

Jim Hahn, a 157-pound senior with little playing experience, played a big role in the drive. Listed as a third-string wingback behind Nate Dalager and Brian Christianson, Hahn found himself playing when Christianson was sidelined earlier for the year with an injury, and Dalager went down with a first quarter injury. He caught an eight-yard pass from quarterback Chris Bjorgaard that had an additional 15 yards tacked on for a facemask penalty on the Spoilers to get the ball to the Grafton 44-yard line, and moments later went wide right on a wingback sweep that picked up 24 yards to the 15-yard line.

"Jim Hahn did a great job for us," mentioned Mumm. "He stepped in with no experience and really came through for us."

A Bjorgaard pass to tight end Bill Dicken took the ball to the 1-yard line and Bendickson scored on the next play, with Nelson adding the conversion kick.

A turn of events in the third quarter sealed the victory when Dicken recovered a Grafton fumble at the Thief River Falls 14-yard line — five plays after the Spoilers had picked up a fumble at the Prowlers' 30 — and went 81 yards on a time-consuming 16-play drive to score on a one-yard run by Brandt for a 20-0 cushion.

Actually, the Prowlers covered 116 yards on the drive and scored three touchdowns, two of them erased on 15-yard holding penalties. Bjorgaard hit Nelson on what would have been a 54-yard touchdown pass and Bendickson burst through the middle on what would have been a 14-yard touchdown run.

The drive kept going, though, and produced the points after Bjorgaard, rolling to the right, picked up 10 yards on a fourth-and-seven play from the Grafton 11-yard line. Two Bendickson dives put the ball next to the goal line, and Brandt went just a little wider off left tackle to go in standing up with 1:08 left in the third quarter.

Thief River Falls will continue its regular season-ending four-game homestand Friday by hosting Fergus Falls in a 7:30 p.m. Section 8A game.

MAKING A CUT, Thief River Falls fullback Mike Bendickson tried to avoid Grafton nose guard Robby Wentz Friday after taking a backfield handoff from quarterback Chris Bjorgaard (17) during the Prowlers' 1986 high school homecoming football game against the Spoilers. Bendickson scored twice and rushed for 62 yards as Thief River Falls won a 22-0 game in a match-up of 1-4 ball clubs.

Vermilion Beats Northland Football Team . . .

Pioneers Lose 40-20 Game

Vermilion out-scored Northland 40-20 Saturday afternoon in a mistake-filled Minnesota Community College Conference football game at Prowler Field in Thief River Falls.

It was a head-shaking affair that included 17 turnovers, 15 penalties, a 14-0 first quarter Northland lead and a 28-point second quarter Vermilion comeback.

"It was not a very well-played game," admitted Northland coach Rick Nelson.

Vermilion won in spite of six pass interceptions and four fumbles. Northland safety Chad Ekeberg, a sophomore from McIntosh, had five interceptions himself, which has to be close to some kind of MCC record, figured Nelson.

Northland had more first downs (16-15), more rushing yardage (253-205) and more total yardage (348-332) than Vermilion, along with that 14-0 headstart, but still lost for the second time in four starts. That's because the Pioneers lost five fumbles, threw four interceptions and had 10 penalties (108 yards).

"Statistically we out-gained them," acknowledged Nelson. "We had our chances. I don't think the score was indicative of the closeness of the two teams. I feel if we played them ten times, we could beat them five or six times. But the difference in the ball game may have been our (lack) of self-discipline."

Northland, after the first of Ekeberg's interceptions at the Pioneers' 6-yard line, looked impressive in a 15-play, 94-yard drive that began the scoring. Fourteen of those plays were on the ground, including Steve Ristau's 5-yard touchdown run. Ron Dass added the conversion kick for a 7-0 lead.

It became 14-0 when Scott Groven went 11 yards for a touchdown and Dass kicked the extra point.

Four second quarter Vermilion touchdowns turned things around in a hurry.

It started with a 5-yard Brian Barness touchdown run.

Then came a series of events that changed the complexion of the contest. Northland had a chance to go up 21-6, but lost a fumble at the Vermilion 3-yard line. The ironman turned around and went 97 yards for a 2-yard Kevin Johnson touchdown run. Northland fumbled away the ensuing kickoff, setting up a 10-yard Doug Smith touchdown pass from Garth Heikkinen. Moments later Julian Robinson had a halfback option pass thrown right to him, and he trotted 36 yards for an easy touchdown and a 28-14 Vermilion halftime lead.

"They scored 16 points in five plays," pointed out Nelson. "Those were the plays that broke our back."

Still, Northland got back in to it, at least momentarily, when Ristau's 1-yard touchdown run opened the third quarter and made it 28-20.

But back-to-back 15-yard penalties slapped on the Pioneers promptly put the Ironmen at the Northland 9-yard line, and Johnson scored on a first down snap from there to reestablish Vermilion's control.

Johnson, a Cleveland, OH native who rushed for 135 yards on 32 carries, scored his third touchdown of the afternoon on an eight-yard fourth quarter run to finish the scoring.

Ristau, in addition to his two touchdown, came close to matching Johnson's figures for the Pioneers with 131 yards on 23 carries for the East Grand Forks sophomore.

In addition to Ristau and Ekeberg's efforts, Nelson said the Pioneers also received strong play from defenders Steve Boushee, Kurt Chaffee and Mike Stennes. Boushee had six unassisted tackles, a quarterback sack and three assisted stops; Chaffee had five solo tackles and six assisted tackles; and Stennes had five unassisted tackles, a quarterback sack, two assisted tackles and blocked two extra point kick attempts.

Tennis Tournament Starts On Tuesday

Post-season play starts Tuesday for the Thief River Falls girls who will be competing in the 1986 North Sub-Region 8AA high school tennis tournament at the Grand Forks Tennis Center.

Team matches will be held Tuesday and invitational play will be staged Wednesday at the same site.

Thief River Falls' unbeaten regular season dual meet record notwithstanding, the Prowlers drew No. 2 seed behind No. 1 Bemidji in the team portion of the tournament. The Prowlers beat the Lumberjacks 4-3 in a head-to-head meeting here Sept. 11 and out-scored Bemidji in winning the Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Invitational Aug. 21. But the Lumberjacks swayed the coaches' vote by finishing ahead of the Prowlers when their paths crossed at the more recent Northwest Quadrangular Sept. 23 in Thief River Falls.

No. 5-seeded Fergus Falls will meet No. 4 Detroit Lakes in a 10 a.m. opening round match Tuesday. In the semifinals, Thief River Falls will play No. 3-seeded Moorhead at 12-noon and Bemidji will meet the Fergus Falls-Detroit Lakes winner at 2 p.m.

Championship match is scheduled to start at 4 p.m.

Thief River Falls coach Whitey Olson is confident the Prowlers can match the success they enjoyed in producing a 10-0 regular season dual meet record.

"I absolutely have no doubt we can win," said Olson. "I think we're ready to play. We're looking forward to the tournament."

Thief River Falls has been idle since the Northwest Quadrangular. The Prowlers twice had a match against Waubun post-poned, and finally canceled. To keep the Prowlers sharp, Olson has matched them against players from the Thief River Falls men's over-30 summer tennis program on two occasions, and the competition has been good, he said.

The Prowlers' team line-up will include junior Kelly Cornell at No. 1 singles, freshman Monica Haapoja at No. 2 singles, freshman Kaye Dondelinger at No. 3 singles and junior Sharon Dosser at No. 4 singles. It'll be senior Kristy Maidment and junior Vicki Grovum at No. 1 doubles, sophomore Amy Isaacson and freshman Stacy Breuer at No. 2 doubles, with seniors Cari Offerdahl and Karen Schmitz at No. 3 doubles.

Cornell, the defending Region 8AA singles champion, is the No. 1 seed in Wednesday's individual matches. Haapoja is the No. 7 seed in singles. Beth Stone of Moorhead is seeded No. 2 behind Cornell.

Grovum and Maidment are seeded No. 2 for Wednesday's doubles competition behind No. 1-seeded Anne Schwegman and Carrie Lucca of Bemidji. Dosser and Dondelinger are seeded No. 8.

Volleyball Team Tops RLF

Thief River Falls swept Red Lake Falls 15-8, 15-2, 15-9 Thursday in high school volleyball action.

Jill Olson led the Prowlers with 18 service points. Jodi Anderson had 12.

Thief River Falls also won the preliminary matches. The junior varsity team won 15-5, 15-3 for a 7-1 season record and the C squad triumphed 15-12, 15-9 for a 6-2 mark.

Player of the Night honors awarded by the Prowlers went to Anderson and Stephanie Benson, varsity; Terese Tranby, junior varsity, and Ellen Oakland, C squad.

Thief River Falls will host North Sub-Region 8A foe Fergus Falls Tuesday. C squad match starts at 5 p.m., followed by the junior varsity match at 6:15 and varsity match at 7:30.

CHRIS NELSON got his leg into the ball, but the Thief River Falls junior missed this 38-yard field goal attempt in the first quarter of Friday's high school football game against Grafton at Prowler Field. Nelson connected on two earlier field goal tries this fall. Quarterback Chris Bjorgaard is the holder.

Mike Lundgren Sports Editor

Friday's 22-0 Thief River Falls high school football win over Grafton marked the first home field victory for the Prowlers since midway through the 1984 season, ending a string of seven straight losses at Prowler Field for the home team.

Last Thief River Falls win at home was a [illegible] homecoming decision over [illegible] ago. Friday's contest was also a homecoming win for the Prowlers.

Part of the Prowlers' success defensively Friday was their ability to keep the ball away from Grafton standout Wade Herbel, a 6-0, 178-pound senior, who stars as both a wide receiver and a kicker. A hard pass rush on quarterback Bill Momerak and close coverage in the secondary held Herbel to three receptions for 31 yards.

And Grafton was never presented with an opportunity to cash in on Herbel's strong leg. He tried one field goal, but it was a 54-yarder that missed the mark.

Thief River Falls, wide receiver-kicker combination, Chris Nelson also missed a long field goal from 38 yards out. He caught only two passes for 15 yards, but was 2-for-3 in the conversion kicking department.

Woog Happy With Trip

University of Minnesota hockey coach Doug Woog said at the time the Gophers were enjoying their weekend scrimmage doubleheader Saturday and Sunday, September 27 and 28, and he continued to praise host sites Thief River Falls and St. Cloud in last week's Minnesota Sports Information Department news release.

"I believe last weekend was a total success in every aspect," said Woog in the Monday release. "We saw enthusiastic turnouts at both rinks and the fans really got into both games."

Woog said the Minnesota coaching staff was kept busy grading out each player both nights in an effort to help determine squad positions. "That in itself gives us much, much more to go on than just holding practices," noted Woog, "so these intrasquad games are important to us in many ways. We also gain the opportunity to display our product to fans outside the Twin Cities area, which is another bonus for us. The responses by the fans at those two rinks showed us that all Minnesota really cares about our hockey program here at the University. Now it's our job to respond in a positive manner to that kind of support."

Woog said that two veterans, senior center Corey Millen of Cloquet and sophomore defenseman Todd Richards of Crystal, graded out the highest of all the players in the two games. He quickly added, however, that several others performed well in both games, too, with senior defenseman Craig Mack of East Grand Forks earning high marks for steady play at the blue line, and sophomore wing Tom Chorske of Minneapolis impressive in turning in a hat trick performance at St. Cloud.

Another plus, said Woog, was the performance of freshman goalie Robb Stauber of Duluth, who is fighting to earn back-up status behind veteran John Blue, a junior from San Jose, CA. Stauber played at a level that was most encouraging for a youngster getting his first taste of the collegiate game, said Woog.

Woog also singled out the play of junior wing David Grannis of South St Paul, who was sidelined by knee surgery midway through last season, freshman walk-on candidate Jon Anderson of White Bear Lake and sophomore defenseman Mike Luckraft of Burnsville.

Minnesota opens its 1986-87 season October 10-11 at Colorado College.

Swimmers Beat Spuds 90-81

Leading from start to finish, the Thief River Falls girls ended a string of dual meet losses to Moorhead that stretched over six years Thursday when the Prowlers retained their unbeaten status with a 90-81 high school swimming victory over the Spuds at the Franklin Middle School pool.

Thief River Falls' bid to complete an undefeated dual meet schedule faces three more tests — meets October 14, 21 and 31 against Bemidji, Fergus Falls and Detroit Lakes, respectively. The first two are at home, with the Prowlers wrapping up their regular season schedule on the road against the Lakers. Thief River Falls has already beaten Bemidji and Detroit Lakes handily, but Fergus Falls ranks among the top teams in Section 8.

"Everybody contributed to the victory," pointed out Forney after the Prowlers' rare win over the Spuds. Thief River Falls swimmers recorded 10 personal season best times and 13 personal career best performances against a team figured to finish in the top three at the Section 8 meet later this fall.

"It was a big win, but we still have our work cut out if we want to be competitive with the Fergus Falls team," warned Forney.

Thief River Falls opened with a 1-2 finish in the 200-yard medley relay for a quick 12-2 lead and never trailed the Spuds. An all-senior unit of Marci Turenne, Michelle Turenne, Gayle Borchert and Brenda Russell won the first race in 2:09.62, while a youthful second place squad of eighth graders Heidi Gunderson, Jenny Ness and Dionne Ammerman, plus sophomore Karla Espe, turned in a 2:13.11.

Moorhead stayed close, though, trailing only 65-60 with three events left before Marci Turenne (1:13.76) and Gunderson (1:15.50) went 1-2 in the 100-yard backstroke to open up a 76-65 spread.

Ness then won the 100-yard breaststroke in 1:16.49 as the Prowlers built an 86-71 cushion going into the meet-ending 400-yard freestyle relay.

The Prowlers also received first place finishes form junior Christy Puetz with a 2:34.49 in the 200-yard individual medley, senior Laura Beito with a 6:02.89 in the 500-yard freestyle and junior Jenny Nelson with 155.5 points in the diving competition.

Rea Sandvig and Julie Buckley were double-event winners for the Spuds. Buckley won the sprints with a 26.58 in the 50-yard freestyle and a 58.94 in the 100-yard freestyle. Sandvig won the 100-yard butterfly in 1:03.51 and set a pool record with a 2:03.50 in the 200-yard freestyle.

Oklee surprised neighboring rival Plummer 15-9, 16-14, 12-15, 15-11 Thursday in high school volleyball action.

"It was a good one," reported Oklee coach Brad Borene. "It was a good, tough match. I can't be any happier."

Host Oklee climbed to 9-4 with the win. Plummer, still without the services of standout Robin Brantl because of an ankle injury, fell to 10-3.

"It was a pretty even match," acknowledged Plummer coach Dean Miller. "It was a tough one to lose."

Borene said the Bobcats' play at the net pulled them through as Julie Murack produced 17 kill spikes and five kill blocks, Joelle Enerson had her most productive night of the year with eight kills, Nancy Osbjornson had five kill spikes and five blocks and Diane Jensen contributed five kills.

Serve reception and passing also graded out high, mentioned Borene, with Cici Olson having an outstanding night setting. Lisa Chaput was 26-for-26 at the service line and Michelle Skallet was 17-for-17.

Both teams play Tuesday. Oklee will be at Bagley and Plummer, a 15-2, 8-15, 15-10, 15-9 winner over Warren last Tuesday, will visit Crookston.

Oklee also participated in the annual Pine to Prairie Conference tournament Saturday at Mahnomen, finishing 2-1 with a consolation championship trophy to show for their efforts.

Bagley surprised the Bobcats 15-12, 15-4 in the opening round quarterfinals. Oklee rebounded to beat Waubun 15-2, 15-3 and Fosston 15-1, 15-6.

MCC—Greenbush

Marshall County Central went to 9-0 on the year with a 15-11, 15-6, 15-2 Thursday night home court win over Greenbush.

"We started slow, but we finished a little better than we started," explained Marshall County Central coach Tom Mjelde.

Andrea Kragness led the Nordics with six kill spikes and connected on 13 of 14 spike attempts. Kelli Anderson and Nikki Leach had 13 and 11 service points, respectively, for the winners.

The Nordics visit Warroad Tuesday.

Grygla — Middle River

Tiarra Porch, Cindy Larson and Casanda Sistad all performed well as setters, according to Grygla coach Mike Gast, as the Eagles out-scored host Middle River Thursday 15-7, 15-7, 9-15, 15-12.

"Our bumps and setting looked good," noted Gast, "probably the best we've had all year."

Middle River had one run in the match when the Skippers' Brenda Olson sparked her team's third game win with a string of ten straight points.

Grygla, 7-5, hosts Roseau Tuesday. Middle River will be at Badger the same night.

Northern Lights Invitational Volleyball Tournament...

EGF Beats TRF In Title Match

Two Thief River Falls teams showed up Saturday at the Prowlers' ninth annual Northern Lights Invitational high school volleyball tournament — the one that played extremely well in beating previously undefeated Marshall County Central 2-1 in the afternoon semifinals of the day-long, eight-team event in the Lincoln gym, and the one that turned around and played very poorly in a 2-0 championship match loss to East Grand Forks.

Thief River Falls dispatched Greenbush 15-3, 15-6 in the tournament's opening round quarterfinals and got by Marshall County Central 15-6, 15-12 in a spirited semifinal encounter.

"That was the best match we've played all year," said Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson after the win over the Nordics, one of the area's strongest Class A teams. "It was a real good match. We really had some nice teamwork. It was an all-out team effort."

Anderson wasn't nearly as complimentary after the title match when East Grand Forks successfully defended its 1985 championship in stunningly-easy 15-6, 15-7 fashion.

The one-sided affair took just 37 minutes to complete.

"We didn't come to play volleyball, that's for sure," offered Anderson, after spending several minutes with her team in the lockerroom after the match was completed. "It was almost like they were satisfied with the win over Newfolden. It was like two different teams out there."

Ironically, Thief River Falls started with leads in both championship match games.

Hard-hitting Thief River Falls senior Vikki Weigand had two kill spikes in the opening minutes of Game 1 as the Prowlers started with a 3-0 headstart. But it was all-East Grand Forks after that as 5-9 Diana Chase of the Green Wave took charge at the net while Thief River Falls mis-played everything from blocks, to bumps, to sets and spikes on the other side.

East Grand Forks surged to a 6-3 lead, stalled momentarily when Thief River Falls pulled within 6-5, then ran off eight straight points to win going away.

It was more of the same in Game 2 as Thief River Falls jumped out to another quick 3-0 lead and went to a 5-0 start behind the serving of junior Jodi Anderson, who had an ace for point No. 4.

East Grand Forks' Mary Zeleny got the Green Wave going with three successive blocks on Weigand to turn a 5-1 deficit into a 5-4 game. Agressive East Grand Forks play then kept Thief River Falls on defense the rest of the night as the Green Wave completed a run of 12 unanswered points en route to the title.

"East Side didn't make any mistakes. They played very well," acknowledged Anderson. "They played offense and we played defense all night. We didn't set the ball all night."

Marshall County Central, a 15-7, 15-4 first round winner over Crookston, rebounded from the semifinal loss to Thief River Falls with a 15-9, 15-2 third place victory over Roseau.

Marshall County Central coach Tom Mjelde, despite the Nordics' first loss of the year in the semifinal setback at the hands of Thief River Falls, was satisfied with his team's third place finish.

"I thought Thief River played really well (in the semifinal match)," noted Mjelde. "I didn't think we played that bad, but Thief River didn't make any mistakes, and we had a couple of crucial mistakes that cost us."

Crookston came back to win consolation championship honors.

For Thief River Falls, Jill Olson led the Prowlers with 15 service points for the day, while Jodi Anderson and Stephanie Benson both had 14 and Bekah Bortnam had 11.

Prowlers Win Swim Title At UND Pool

Despite a demanding schedule that included three meets in five days, Thief River Falls girls had enough energy left Saturday to win the Grand Forks Invitational at the Hyslop Sports Center pool on the University of North Dakota campus.

Thief River Falls out-scored an otherwise all-North Dakota field with 528 points, followed by Fargo North with 416, West Fargo 385, Bismarck 358, Bismarck Century 304, Grand Forks Central 210, Fargo Shanley 154 and Grand Forks Red River 128.

"The girls were a little tired," admitted Thief River Falls coach Jay Forney. "It was our third meet in five days, and after the Moorhead meet (a big Thursday afternoon win for the Prowlers), and homecoming last night, they were maybe a little bit flat. But all things considered, they did what they needed to win this invitational."

Thief River Falls' only wins came in the 400 medley and 400 freestyle relay races. Top individual finishes were seconds by Brenda Russell in the 100 freestyle, Laura Beito in the 500 freestyle and Syndi Steinert in the 50 backstroke.

Forney said Christy Puetz and Jenny Ness turned in strong meet performances for the Prowlers.

Bobcats Lose To Knights 38-8

Oklee coach Dale Svaren admitted his team would have a tough time winning a front line match-up against a stronger Fisher-Climax squad Friday, but he was hoping the Bobcats could at least play the Knights to a stand-off up front in the North Tri-County Conference nine-man high school football game.

But they failed on that count, too, as Fisher-Climax overpowered Oklee 38-8.

"We wanted to neutralize them up front," noted Svaren, "but we just got wiped out. We couldn't stop them."

Dana Sorenson and Noel Haake both scored twice for the host Knights, who led 8-0 at the end of the first quarter, doubled it to 16-0 at halftime and opened up a 30-0 third quarter spread.

It was 38-0 before Oklee's Greg Bishop scored on an 18-yard run.

Fisher-Climax controlled things, admitted Svaren. His team got a chance to run the ball just four times in both the second and third quarters in dropping to 2-4 for the year.

Oklee managed to collect 147 yards worth of offense, most of it from the hard-running Bishop, who had 74 yards on 14 carries. The Bobcats were just 2-for-13 through the air for 34 yards.

Making matters worse for the Bobcats was the fact they lost Peter Bronken in the first quarter with a broken finger, reducing their squad size to 13 players — eight of them seniors.

Oklee will host winless Redlake Friday in a 7:30 p.m. homecoming game.

Stephen 36
MCC 12

Marshall County Central, after back-to-back wins over Goodridge-Grygla and Tri-County, took a step backwards Friday in absorbing a 36-12 Top of the State Conference nine-man football loss at Stephen.

The Tigers out-gained the Nordics 263-47 yards on the ground while dominating play.

"We didn't play well at all," admitted Marshall County Central coach Sam Gebhart. "We didn't practice very well all week, and it showed. It was easily our poorest game all year. We didn't execute offensively, and we didn't stop them defensively."

Chad Kuznia scored two touchdowns and threw two touchdown passes for the winners, who built a 24-0 halftime lead.

Marshall County Central, unable to move the ball on the ground, went with Danni Halvorson's 11-for-33 passing for 154 yards. He threw two touchdown passes and had two passes intercepted.

Stephen, getting off to a strong start that included 104 yards worth of offense in the first quarter, collected 355 yards for the game.

It was a disappointing team effort, acknowledge Gebhart, but he did cite a small group of players who performed well, he said. Halvorson led the team defensively, including 15 solo tackles, five assisted stops and a pass interception. Darin Rokke had eight tackles and a pass interception, and caught three passes for 50 yards. Freshman Shannon Lench caught three passes for 63 yards.

Marshall County Central, 2-4, visits unbeaten Argyle Friday for a 7:30 p.m. game.

Franklin Middle School

Volleyball

Franklin Middle School seventh and eighth grade girls split a pair of volleyball decisions at Warren Thursday.

Warren edged the Franklin A team 15-8, 6-15, 15-11, while the Franklin B team triumphed 15-8, 8-15, 15-13.

Results left the Spartans with 3-4 and 4-3 records at the A and B levels, respectively.

Franklin visits Newfolden Thursday for a 3:30 p.m. match.

Football

A scheduled Franklin Middle School eighth grade football game planned Tuesday against Twining Junior High at the Grand Forks Air Force Base has been canceled upon the request of Twining officials.

The Spartans, 3-0-1 for the year, will visit East Grand Forks Thursday for a 4:15 p.m. game.

A WINNER in the 200-yard individual medley, Thief River Falls' Christy Puetz grabbed a quick breath of air as she swam the breaststroke portion of the event during the Prowlers' dual swimming meet against Moorhead Thursday at the Franklin Middle School pool. Sara Ulrich of Moorhead was in the next lane. Puetz won the race in 2:34.49 and the Prowlers snapped a six-year losing streak against the Spuds with a 90-81 win.

BILLION DOLLAR TAX INCREASE.

You and I pay nearly double the national average in personal state income taxes. Yet in 1983, LeRoy Stumpf voted for the largest tax increase in the history of Minnesota — nearly $1 billion! (Senate Journal, 1983, page 4074).

STATE SPENDING OUT OF CONTROL

When you and I establish our household budget we determine our income before we determine how to spend it. The state should do the same. Yet LeRoy Stumpf, on two separate occasions voted against even discussing this idea. He likes to spend and only then determine how much taxes need to go up to pay for all the projects. STEVE JOHNSON of the Green team, a junior wing from Grand Forks, ND, went after the puck as Ian Kidd of their White team, a sophomore defenseman from Gresham, OR, kept an eye on him during Wednesday's University of North Dakota hockey team intrasquad scrimmage in the Thief River Falls Sports Arena. The Green team won 4-3.

Pioneers Have Busy Volleyball Schedule

A busy week awaits the Northland Community College volleyball team. After playing just once last week, a 3-0 win at Rainy River Wednesday, the Pioneers have four outings planned this week, starting Tuesday when they host the Moorhead State University junior varsity in a 6:30 p.m. match.

Two Northwest Division matches Wednesday and Friday will take Northland to Brainerd and Fergus Falls for 6:30 p.m. starts, and a Saturday Moorhead State University Invitational will begin at 8:30 a.m.

Northland, short on numbers at the start of the year, but now carrying ten players, swept Rainy River 15-10, 15-12, 15-6 at International Falls Wednesday.

"We did a pretty good job," noted Northland coach Deb Jacobson. "I was happy."

It was a good team effort, said Jacobson, but she did cite the individual performances of Kari Klamar, Angie Enerson and Patty Odberg, three freshmen who played very well. Klamar, from Grygla, had an outstanding night at the net, said Jacobson. Enerson, who made her first start after being sidelined since the beginning of the season by an ankle injury, adds a hard-hitter attacker to the line-up, and Odberg is playing well as a setter.

VIKKI WEIGAND, Thief River Falls' top hitter, swatted the ball over the net as an East Grand Forks player tried, without success, for the block during the championship match of the Prowlers' annual Northern Lights Invitational high school volleyball tournament. Official Deb Jacobson watched the action. The Green Wave won the title 15-6, 15-7.

DNR Recognition . . .

Grygla Man Cited

by Joy Norby,
for the Minnesota DNR,
Division of Forestry

Minnesota DNR — Division of Forestry is 75 years old in 1986. Early devastating fires gave the legislature the impetus for its creation.

It is always encouraging to find, among those who have their roots deep in the soil of Minnesota, people who truly care about the land — who take a genuine interest in preserving and protecting our resources for future generations.

One such person is Oliver Howland, a Fire Warden with the DNR's Division of Forestry at Grygla. Oliver has been issuing burning permits in his township for 60 years.

Oliver is a man who looks to the future, while retaining and drawing on the practical knowledge he has collected from the past. He is somewhat of an institution in the Grygla area. He has lived there all his life, and always has taken an active interest in the community, its people, and its resources.

Oliver Howland was born in Hamre Township, east of Grygla in 1902, the first white child to be born in the area. His parents had moved to the area from Calendonia, ND in 1898. They homsteaded on 160 acres of land the U.S. acquired from the Red Lake Band of Chippewa Indians. The Homestead Act required applicants to "prove up" (develop) the land in order to obtain ownership.

Oliver remembers that there were no roads or ditches in the early days, only trails. Much of the area was a floating bog, having once been a part of glacial Lake Agassiz. Oliver's parents built a log house of native trees on what was referred to as an "island," a ridge between low areas.

A huge drainage project began in 1910. The drainage facilitated clearing much of the land for settlement. According to a clipping from the Thief River Falls newspaper, this was "The largest drainage project ever attempted in the United States." Over 700,000 acres were drained in the initial ditch system, with other ditch systems added later.

Along with the ditch system came roads and bridges which made the area accessible to pioneers. Oliver remembers when there were settlers on every quarter section of land. However, much of the land proved unsuitable for farming. Many of the settlers who were lured to the area with the promise of free land moved out in the 1930s. The tax delinquent land then reverted back to state ownership.

Fire was a constant threat to the early Grygla pioneers, especially before the ditch system was finished. Oliver's father helped fight fires throughout the area and took the job of fire warden in Hamre Township. Oliver recollects several times in his early childhood when a fire spread through dry brush and timber over a large area. When a peat fire got started in the fall it would often burn all winter. He recalls that in 1910, a fire burned from Grygla to Baudette and claimed the lives of many settlers.

He also remembers several bad fires in the 1930s during which he helped save hay, buildings, and families who were trapped. In the fire of 1931 winds blew little peat fires into a large fire which burned much of the Beltrami Island State Forest.

When Oliver's father passed away in 1926, Oliver was appointed to take his place as Fire Warden for Hamre Township. July of this year marked 60 years of service to the state and local residents by Oliver. He still lives on the same homestead where he was born and raised.

From early settlement time until the present, Oliver has observed a great deal of progress and changes in the area. He watched schools and churches being built, and as a carpenter had a hand in many major building projects. He raised a family during the depression years and gained from that experience. As a farmer he has seen and experienced the many changes in farming methods. He reflects on changes in the landscape, such as the decrease of woodlands in the farming area and the complete burn-out of peat in some areas. The important ditch system which Oliver watched from the beginning stages, is now a part of the state's newest and largest Moose River watershed project.

Over the years Oliver has seen land emphasis change from ditching and draining to protection of the soil from wind and water erosion. Oliver is a firm believer in conservation of soil, forests, and other natural resources. He believes many acres of land have been cleared in recent years that should have been left alone. He also believes in putting back whatever you take from the land.

Oliver helped to organize the Marshall-Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation District, which officially began in 1951. He has served continuously on the SWCD board since that time, serving as its first chairman and later in other officer positions. He recently received a local award for 35 years of service in conservation, and last year received the Distinguished Supervisor Award at the state convention of Soil and Water Conservation Districts.

Although he is past retirement age, Oliver remains active in church and community affairs. Over the years he has served on many other boards and committees, including the township board. Always a spokesman for betterment, Oliver's philosophy of logic, realism and ethics has been an asset in many areas of service. Thanks Oliver.

Outdoor News

A group of roebucks is called a bevy according to International Wildlife magazine. The term may stem from the old French beverie — a drinking session, since roes are frequently seen together at a watering place. Speaking of water, a group of ducks is called a paddling when on water, but on land or in the air they're simply a flock.

Poisons spilling into wetlands from farms and other surrounding areas have contaminated the water at more than a fourth of the 428 National Wildlife Refuges reports National Wildlife magazine. These toxic substances have poisoned thousands of birds in California alone.

Sioux Quickness Shows In Scrimmage

Green team Canadians out-scored the White team Americans 4-3 Wednesday in a University of North Dakota hockey team intrasquad scrimmage in the Thief River Falls Sports Arena.

White team received single goals from three northern Minnesota seniors — Jeff Bowen from East Grand Forks, Mickey Krampotich from Hibbing and Bill Claviter from Virginia.

Joyce snapped a 3-3 tie with a game-winning goal at the 19:01 mark of a fast-paced 60-minute hockey game.

Playing half a game each in goal were senior Greg Stromme of Muenster, SK and junior Scott Brower of Viking, AB for the Green team, and freshmen Ed Belfour of Carman, MB and Steve Peters of Bemidji for the White team.

Divided into a regulation three 20-minute periods of hockey, the UND scrimmage was played at a faster tempo than a University of Minnesota intrasquad game held at the same site four days earlier when the Gophers played two 30-minute periods of hockey. But the heavily-promoted Minnesota scrimmage drew a good-size crowd, while the less-publicized UND appearance drew a poor turn-out of fans.

"What was most important for us was to play in a game situation," explained UND head coach Gino Gasparini, noting the Sioux won't have an opportunity to play a regular preseason exhibition game before opening the 1986-87 schedule with an October 10-11 WCHA series at the University of Minnesota-Duluth. The Bulldogs, on the other hand, had such a luxury in facing Wisconsin over the weekend in the annual United States Hockey Hall of Fame game in Eveleth.

"The length of the game was important, too," noted Gasparini. "The players found out their conditioning wasn't bad, but wasn't as good as they thought it was, either."

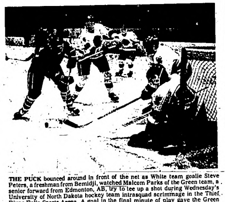
The scrimmage, indicated Gasparini, would play a major role in determining the make-up of the team this winter since some squad cuts would have to be made.

"It was a very good evaluation opportunity for the coaches," acknowledged Gasparini. "The coaches have to make some decisions."

There were some things Gasparini saw that he liked. "The tempo was very fast and it didn't fluctuate very much as the game went along," he said. "The puck was moving pretty well."

Players like Peters and defenseman Darryn Fossand of Bemidji and forward Jeff Mehl of Fergus Falls, all freshmen trying to earn roster positions, drew the attention of the fans, who had watched the former Section 8 standouts perform as high school players.

"They (the Section 8 products) are in the middle of a very competitive situation trying to secure starting jobs," said Gasparini. Mehl, a walk-on, faces the toughest battle in trying to land a job as a center, one of the strongest positions on the Sioux squad, pointed out Gasparini.



THE PUCK bounced around in front of the net as White team goalie Steve Peters, a freshman from Bemidji, watched Malcom Parks of the Green team, a senior forward from Edmonton, AB, try to tee up a shot during Wednesday's University of North Dakota hockey team intrasquad scrimmage in the Thief River Falls Sports Arena. A goal in the final minute of play gave the Green team a 4-3 win.

United Satellite System Installed At UM Crookston

A 12 foot satellite down-link system has been installed at the University of Minnesota-Crookston (UMC). The $6,000 system, installed by United Satellite Systems of Thief River Falls, was funded with $3,000 from development money and $3,000 from Media Resources.

The system was installed in time for UMC to host a national video teleconference on high school and community college partnerships September 30.

UMC joined 250 community. The satellite down-link system is the country for this live teleconference designed to strengthen working partnerships between high schools and community colleges and to develop technical preparation and associate degree programs to meet the needs of high school students who are not likely to attain the baccalaureate degree.

The satellite down-link system is available to the public to receive telecommunications workshops and other programming that could be of use to professionals and other groups.

"There are networks for business, sports and medical, targeted programs on issues such as nuclear disarmament and the state has bought the rights to much of the educational programming," said Jeff Sinks, UMC's media resources producer.

Faculty and staff will benefit from the system as they tie into continuing education workshops and courses not held in the traditional classroom. Teleworkshops include a session on pesticides, updating of secretarial careers and computer literacy. These and many more will be received through the satellite dish in the next few months.

This is a first step in telecommunications for the Crookston campus. In the future UMC hopes to help form networks in northwestern Minnesota to tie communities and other educational institutions together. School districts that merge or are limited by smaller budgets can share teachers through telecommunications.

"This gives hope to small communities that have two students wanting calculus or German," Sinks said.

"We're trying to serve this area of the state as a center for northwestern Minnesota telecommunications. UMC has a role to play in telecommunications," Sinks said.

NEW LEAF VACUUM made a clean sweep of the leaves piled next to the berm at this Thief River Falls residence. The owner of this yard raked his leaves in a windrow to the berm and soaked them down. Later it rained but the leaf vacuum was still able to easily pick up the leaves. Bob Jablinske said it doesn't matter if the leaves are covered with something that can be easily removed but prefers the leaves to be raked to the berm in windrows. The leaf vacuum will operate during the afternoon in areas scheduled for garbage pick up. Actual operation began October 2.

Adrian Wiseth Benefit Planned In Goodridge Area

Citizens and residents near Goodridge will prove just how close they really are as a community when they pull together to help Adrian Wiseth this week. Adrian Wiseth, 7, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Wiseth, is in a coma at United hospital in Grand Forks.

Adrian's mother Marie explained that Adrian was born with Spina Bifida and when he went into the hospital July 30 for surgery to put in a shunt, his body stopped functioning. He was recovered with CPR, but lapsed into a coma.

Spina Bifida is the term given to the condition when plates of bone fail to close over a defective area of the spinal cord and there is a short spine on each side of the open spinal cord, rather than a single one in the middle. According to the birth defect center at the Centers for disease control in Atlanta, GA, five children in every 10,000 live births will have Spina Bifida. It is considered the second most common birth defect.

A frequent complication of Spina Bifida is hydrocephalus, a condition in which the cerebrospinal fluid secreted in the brain fails to drain properly and collects in the brain, which often necessitates implantation of a shunt. This was also the case for Adrian.

For most of his life he has been confined to a wheel chair, but he attended school with other children in Goodridge. This year he would have been in first grade.

"What is so hard is that he was doing so well and it was such a sudden shock," said his mother. The family, she added, has adjusted well, considering the trauma. Adjustment and familiarity with his condition from birth probably did much to help his 12-year-old sister Jolene, nine-year-old brother Brady, parents and his grandparents in Goodridge, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wiseth, survive emotionally.

But Adrian has been in the hospital for 10 weeks now and the cost of that stay in the hospital will be an added difficulty to overcome. Adrian's classmates, friends, and branch 1695 of Aid Association for Lutherans in Goodridge are holding a benefit for him. On Thursday a walk-a-thon will be held. Activities on Saturday include a grade school musical number at 3 p.m., elementary volleyball games at about 3:30, a grain drive all day and a chili feed will be held at the school from 4:30 to 8 p.m. Other activities will also be held that evening. The goal is to raise $10,000. Funds raised will be matched by AAL.

Adrian's family spends much of its time together with him in Grand Forks. They maintain their optimism which is bolstered by Adrian's continued response to the sound of voices. The Wiseth's encourage friends of Adrian to send tapes.

For more information contact Dayle Kainz at 681-2676 or Clarence Peters at 378-4356.

Keefes Find Kennels Full-Time Occupation

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Mike and Roz Keefe's farm east of Thief River Falls has really gone to the dogs in the past six or seven years, and the hard-working couple is really proud of it. The dogs the farm has gone to are pedigreed and registered and in demand from here to the East Coast.

"At first it was just 'Babes,' our German Shepherd," Roz explained in a recent interview. "We sold pups from her — about 55 in all — and that got us interested in the business. Everything just took off from there and right now we have about 50 adult dogs and 60 pups. All of the pups are already sold."

The first acquisition for the Keefes was a German Shepherd male, followed shortly thereafter by a pair of standard Collies, both of which are still at the kennel. Then came a pair of Shih Tzu dogs, then five more German Shepherds, two more Collies, two more Shih Tzus.

"Mike built the new kennel in 1982 to make better facilities for the dogs we had, and that gave us room for more dogs. We added Cocker Spaniels, Shelties (miniature Collies), Siberian Huskies, and more German Shepherds," Roz said.

"Then at one time about a year ago we picked up Pomeranian, Pekingese, Chow, Miniature and Toy Poodles and Rottweilers. We have been licensed for some time as a kennel by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and an inspector comes by several times a year to be sure we are following regulations. All food must be in closed containers, kennels painted and sanitation kept up to standard. There are a lot of regulations but they keep us running a pretty clean ship."

Having that many dogs around requires constant attention and no little amount of cost. The Keefes feed about 50 pounds of dog food a day in the summer and 65 to 70 pounds a day in winter. Last year they spent about $3,500 for dog food, $1,500 for veterinarian service, $2,400 for electrical service (whelping pens are electrically heated; the Keefes heat their own home with wood), $3,500 for kennel supplies and $500 to register litters with the American Kennel club. Those are just some of the major expenses.

"Some people want to know how we can part with such cute puppies," Roz said. "Almost all of our dogs are pets for us, they all have their own names and numbers and get individual attention every day. But we have to pay the bills and the only way to do that is by selling puppies. It's not always easy to see them go; you can't help but get attached to them."

Surprisingly few of their dogs are sold in the immediate area. Most are shipped to such places as Florida, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Michigan and North Dakota. Shipping must be done in USDA approved crates and shipment can't be made when temperatures will be below 20 degrees or over 80 degrees at any place the plane stops, including shipping point and destination.

"I don't know how many times I have had to watch the weather reports and check airline schedules to be sure that shipping a pup met the regulations," Roz said. She added that the airlines are very cooperative in dog shipment and handle dogs well.

Care of the dogs involves giving vaccinations (the Keefes do that themselves in most cases), grooming, clipping, worming and dipping. It frequently means round the clock attention for breeds which often have whelping problems. Fifteen whelping

Signs—Just Clutter Or A Necessity?

by David Hill
Times Reporter

Zoning and sign ordinances are probably among the most controversial issues faced by city councils all across the nation, so Thief River Falls city councilmen were not surprised to find signs on the agenda of a recent meeting.

Don Stewart, city zoning administrator, said most problems with signs could be avoided by contacting the city planning office before putting up a sign. Stewart said he is there to help the businessman, and ordinances are not difficult to work with.

Last August Stewart sent four letters to businesses in Thief River Falls that he knew had signs up that did not fall within guidelines authorized by city ordinances, asking them to conform to ordinance requirements. He said he does not make a point of checking signs in the community, but when he becomes aware of a violation he will enforce the ordinance.

Enforcement is not one of his more favorite duties, he said candidly. He would rather work with the business and believes that if the businessman was aware of the sign ordinances there would be fewer problems. Since he sent out those letters, three have conformed, and he has become aware of at least six other signs that do not conform.

The issue involves more than the clutter and confusion of signs. The heart of the problem with businessmen is the fact that signs are basically advertisement, he said. And whenever that advertisement is restricted it dips into the pocket of the businessman.

But the ordinance is not without intent and purpose. It is designed to protect the public health, safety, morals and general welfare; protect and preserve agricultural land; promote orderly development of the agricultural, residential, commercial, industrial, recreational and public areas; conserve the natural scenic beauty and attractiveness of the city and more.

In his experience, Stewart said, if people would call or talk with someone in his office before getting a sign, they would find them cooperative and helpful and the newly reworked ordinance workable as well.

The ordinance defines a large number of types of signs in an attempt to create some order. Those signs defined include: advertising signs, identification signs, billboard signs, flashing signs, free standing signs, illuminated signs, institutional signs, non-conforming signs, parasitic signs, pylon signs, sandwich signs, temporary signs and traffic control signs. It also defines how big they can be and where they can be placed.

Despite efforts to create order, problems have recently cropped up with temporary and sandwich signs. They occasionally crop up with other signs as well, Stewart said. But signs on wheels are causing most of the problems presently.

Generally most signs are permitted accessories, but there are prohibited uses. Prohibited signs include: flashing, motion, parasitic, roof and swinging signs; signs that by reason of shape, color or position imitate official traffic control devices; and signs that block entrance or exit from any window, door, stairway or fire

DFL Candidates At Best Western Saturday Night

An evening with Democratic Farmer-Labor candidates for U.S. Congress, Minnesota state constitutional offices and state Senate ad and House of Representatives will be presented Saturday at the Best Western inn of Thief River Falls.

A reception ($5 admission) will be conducted from 5 to 6:30 p.m. and a buffet dinner ($10 charge) will be served at 7:30 p.m., according to John Johnson of Thief River Falls, treasurer of Senate District 1 DFL.

Plummer Postmaster, Rural Carrier Retire

"Stub" Pahlen says he will never forget being a rural mail carrier on one hot summer day a few years ago when pranksters provided an experience indelibly etched in his memory.

Pahlen and Nadine Johnson, both veterans of 25 years in the postal service at Plummer, are retiring this year and were honored with an open house at the post office last Friday. Mrs. Johnson has been postmaster since 1979 after serving as clerk since April 1, 1961. Pahlen has been a rural carrier since April 15, 1961.

"It was a hot day and I had both windows down on the car," Pahlen recalls of his unforgettable experience. "I pulled up to this big mailbox on the corner and when I opened it a big gray cat came sailing out and landed on the seat next to me. It intended to go out the other window but I already had the door open and was out first!"

Pahlen's reflexes may have slowed a notch or two since that encounter, but his pride and enthusiasm for the job have remained high. "In 25 years I don't think I missed 10 days of covering the route because of weather," he said. "And other than some time off because of an operation, I really didn't miss much time because of being sick, either."

Pahlen's 680 patrons on the route, which covers 111 miles and 146 boxes but never gets more than six miles from Plummer city limits, have appreciated his services. "The people aren't going to miss him," quipped Herb Walter at the open house Friday. "But the dogs sure will." For years Pahlen has carried a bread sack full of dog food in his mail car and fed a few snacks to about 10 dogs along the route. "It doesn't cost hardly anything," he said, "and I've never been bit yet."

During his 25 years on the route Pahlen has had about 15 different vehicles, including four-wheel drive rigs to use as backup when roads were in bad condition. He maintains that vehicles are getting better and that his present 1980 model with 144,000 miles is still running well.

In 1936 he missed three days of delivering mail because of a snow storm which left huge drifts throughout the area. On the fourth day he loaded a snowmobile in the back of his 4-WD pickup, determined to get the route covered, but snow plows had been out and he was able to get through without it.

Orrin Linder will be temporary

TWO RETIREES of the U.S. Postal service at Plummer post office retired last week after serving 25 years with the service. Nadine Johnson retired as postmaster and Russell (Stub) Pahlen as rural carrier. Mrs. Johnson is shown presenting Pahlen with an "Expert Driver Award," signifying his record of 25 years of driving without an accident.

The skirt hemline was trimmed with Chantilly lace, and flowed to a cathedral-length train. To compliment her gown, the bride wore a white bridal hat trimmed with organza lace and seed pearls, with a back pouf veil. The bridal bouquet was composed of peach carnations, coral roses, white daisies and babies' breath.

Following the wedding, the parents of the bride held a reception in the church parlors. A three-tiered white cake, decorated with peach and white and topped with wedding bells and peach flowers, was baked and decorated by the groom's godmother, Donna Nelson. Sandi Nereim and Marcy Waling, friends of the couple cut the wedding cake, and Sheryl Blackmore, cousin of the bride, and Bonnie Thompson, friend of the groom, poured. Built By Vay Rewerts

THEME OF LE FESTIVAL, a rural celebration of French cultures, centered around the people of the oxcart period, 1840 to 1870. Vay Rewerts of Red Lake Falls is shown with the oxcart he built especially for Le Festival this year, which was held Saturday in Red Lake Falls. He began cutting timber for the cart last January, hauling logs from the woods by snowmobile. After careful study of oxcarts recorded by fur trader, Alexander Henry, Rewerts fashioned the cart in the manner he felt the pioneers did, with roughly hewn boards still holding the original bark. Virgil Benoit, coordinator of Le Festival, helped make the round wheels with steaming and plenty of elbow grease. Rewerts said the first oxcarts had solid wheels cut from the whole tree. Later, bent wooden wheels were used, made by soaking planks for days in boiling water heated with rocks. These carts began with four spokes, but Rewerts' cart has 12, about the same as those in Henry's time. Carts were pulled by a single ox, and could carry up to 1,000 pounds of freight. During the oxcart period, caravans of carts moved from Pembina west across the plains hunting buffalo, and south to St. Paul, bringing back manufactured goods. The trade and traffic of the oxcart period produced cultural exchanges of the era and eliminated older ways of living and trading. Most of the people of the oxcart era were Metis, children of native and French Americans.

CAUGHT out of character, one of the costumed "pioneers" at Le Festival seems surprised as she snaps a few pictures of her own. Many participants in the celebration of French cultures were garbed as settlers of the 1800s at the day-long event held Saturday in Red Lake Falls. An antique gun collection is displayed by Al Busse as he holds an intense conversation with a settler matron, perhaps dickering over the price of the buffalo robe on which the guns are displayed.

Edward Nelson Celebrates 80 Years Saturday

History Society To Restore Organ At J.J. Hill House

Federal institute of museum services has awarded the Minnesota Historical society $25,000 to help restore the large tracker organ at the society's James J. Hill house on Summit Avenue in St. Paul.

The instrument is the only large-residence organ from the 19th century known to remain in its original location, unaltered and undamaged, anywhere in the country, according to Hill house manager Betsy Doermann. The organ suffers from dirt, deterioration and age. Leather, felt, glue and some wooden parts are broken down to the point where air cannot be contained in the wind reserviors and the pipes cannot make music. The organ must be taken apart and every part cleaned and refurbished before the organ is reassembled.

The grant requires that the money be matched dollar-for-dollar and that work be underway by late February of 1987. The project's first major donor was the Minnesota Historical society women's organization, with its $5,000 contribution made earlier this year. Several smaller gifts and pledges also will help to offset the restoration cost, which is estimated at $55,000.

Objective is to restore the organ to its original condition, so that it is mechanically reliable and capable of answering all the demands of concert performance. It will then become the focus for musical programs open to the public at the mansion and perhaps broadcast over radio. Workshops for organists and instrument builders also are planned.

The organ, built by George S. Hutchings of Boston in 1890, is a large tracker organ, a two-manual and pedal instrument with 17 ranks and 1,006 pipes, possessing a full-length set of polished tin facade pipes and a double set of swell shutters. Built into the west wall of the two-story art gallery, it is surrounded by carved oak casing. In 1891, the wind system was pumped by hand. Within five years, a water motor was added, and by the early 1900s, an electric motor was installed. Parts of all three systems survive and will be restored as part of the project.

Financial Aid Scholarships Are Raised By HECB

Chairman LeRoy Stumpf of the Minnesota Senate's higher education subcommittee, this week stated that he is very pleased with some of the recent increases in financial aid scholarships and loans by the state's higher education coordinating board (HECB).

Sen. Stumpf (DFL-Plummer) said he was pleased to hear of the HECB's call for a 34.3 per cent increase in its biennial budget request for post-secondary grants and scholarships over the next two years. "This amounts to an increase of $37.8 million over this time, which is good news for students who otherwise might have difficulty finding enough to help them reach their educational goals."

"In addition to the budget announcement," Stumpf added, "I was also pleased to hear the announcement that the HECB has $500,000 in financial assistance available that can be targeted to help students from economically distressed counties who enroll in occupational retraining programs.

(Students should contact their financial aid administrator at the post-secondary institution they plan to attend to determine their eligibility.)

Within the past month the HECB also announced two other programs, including:

(1) Federal funding under the education for economic security act, which will allot $186,746 to seven Minnesota educational institutions to improve the quality of math and science instruction; and

(2) Design for a new program to help graduates of Minnesota schools in dentistry, medicine, pharmacy and veterinary medicine repay their student loans with a repayment plan based on annual income.

Stumpf said he was also "very supportive" of the higher education compromise bill approved last Wednesday by the U.S. Congress. It calls for $10.2 billion in higher education aid to be directed at students over the next five years.

"I was especially glad to hear that this bill would emphasize making aid available to "less traditional" students, poor students attending on less than a half-time basis and students supporting their families," Stumpf said.

"We need to maximize our state, federal and private resources to provide opportunities for everyone to take advantage of educational opportunities that lead to better jobs and personal satisfaction," he added.

Gary Rudningen Reelected To Wheat Board

Gary Rudningen, a Murdock wheat grower, was reelected to a three-year term on the board of directors of the Minnesota Association of Wheat Growers representing wheat producers in District 5. The election was held during the MAWG's series of district meetings held throughout the wheat producing area in September.

Rudningen has been a member of the MAWG board since 1982, and is currently serving as the association's vice president.

Other members of the wheat growers board of directors include secretary-treasurer Marvin Zutz, Red Lake Falls; David Hanson, Waubun; Harry Howard, Warren; Noel Kjesbo, Wendell; Jurgen Knutson of Plummer; and Fred Kreps of Borup.

A significant change for women has been the increased movement into executive, administrative, and managerial occupations. In 1975 women constituted only 22 per cent of this group, and by 1984 that share had risen to 34 per cent, according to a fact sheet published by the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

I AM ANGRY!!!!

For the fifth time in three days I have about been totaled on broadside collisions because some non-thinking driver on the First street bridge can't stay in the left lane when rounding the corner.

It seems to me that only common sense is needed when you turn onto the bridge. You either need the left or right lane.

Maybe people better start tapping that old neglected "common-sense" part of their brain, or the city paint some arrows on the lanes for those that have no brains.

To The Editor:

We are deep in the throes of pre-November election time. Before us are the incumbents and their opponents. The behavior by all candidates is rather appalling. As each primary and pre-November election period rolls around, I shudder to think of what we the laymen will have to listen to. These individuals are everywhere — television, radio, the newspaper, in the public arena at every turn. Makes you wonder where they hide during their terms in office.

The television ads in particular are quite obnoxious. We witness a child-like display by candidates resorting to attacks on their opponent's personalities, on voting records taken out of context, and we see private investigators hired to spy on their opponents. Such behavior instills in myself a whole lot of doubt and question as to the honesty and validity of the candidate. I have little confidence in myself when it comes time to vote for particular individuals.

Perhaps we should be looking at the money raising techniques and what is done with that money by the candidate. Seems to me that if one particular party raises more money we are going to be hearing more of this individual than the other. Is this necessarily fair to the opponent?

If candidates were sincere, they would not need to resort to slandering their opponent through attacks on personalities or use of dogma. And the party which raises more money for its candidate does not make the candidate "better."

Might I suggest that rather than having to put up with the above situation that something of the following be initiated: Each party would have a pre-set amount of money donated by their party in which these funds would be used to house debates among candidates. These debates would be put on by impartial bona fide groups such as the League of Women Voters. The ground rules for debates would be rigidly adhered to. There would be no room for slander and dealing with facts would be of prime concern. Photocopies of an incumbent's voting record could be made available for general distribution so we would have a "complete" voting pattern presented.

I feel the news media, and in particular newspapers of this country, should perhaps once per month have a column devoted to politicians' voting record for a region. And it should be the responsibility of all news media to question and remind the politicians of their pre-election promises.

Our tax dollars are paying the politician's salary. I feel it is about time a bit of accountability is put into the picture. If they are capable of voting for pay raises, they should also be capable of showing a bit of by-product from their terms in office.

Finally, if an incumbent had been doing his job all along, he would not need to be out there in the arena during a pre-election period extolling his deeds and virtues during his term in office. In the meantime, thank goodness for modern technology with the mute button on the remote control unit.

Sincerely,
Connie Omdahl

THESE VOLUNTEERS took time out from trash collection to have their picture taken during the marathon for non-public education in Thief River Falls on Saturday. The youngsters were among many who cleaned roadside ditches and area parks of accumulated debris as part of a fund-raising effort for their schools. The trash clean-up has been a part of the campaign for the past eight years. For three years prior to that time pledges were obtained merely for miles walked.

LES'S SANITATION of Thief River Falls had quite a collection of materials to load and haul following the 11th annual marathon for non-public education Saturday. Students of private schools in the community picked up litter along ditches and in parks around and in Thief River Falls as a fund-raiser for support of their school programs. Trash collected was hauled away by the local trash collection company.

Great Midwest Horse Show Set At Crookston

From pressman to postman to horseman, premium books for the 1986 Great Midwest international horse show have been delivered. The 22nd annual event will be held October 16 through 19 at the Red River Valley winter shows building in Crookston.

Kicking off the weekend's activities will be the Open Horse Show on Thursday evening with Laddie Waller of Karlstad as judge. "We've included several events that have been real crowd-pleasers from previous shows," said show secretary Tove Altepeter of Crookston. "For instance, we've added tandem bareback, egg and spoon, musical sacks and a costume class."

The 1986-87 Agassiz Riders queen and princess coronation ceremonies will also be held at the open show.

Friday, Saturday and Sunday will feature halter and performance classes for registered Appaloosas and quarter horses. "As an added incentive to exhibitors, this year we're again offering payback in most of the open, show and breed classes," Altepeter said. "On Sunday we are offering futurity jackpot classes in western pleasure, reining (snaffle bit)," she continued. Barrel Race will again be offered with the time accumulated on three go-rounds.

"I'd like to stress that this year's Great Midwest horse show will include the Red River Valley international select futurity show on Saturday, beginning at 7 a.m. with a $10,000 prize fund," Altepeter said.

Following the futurity show, the RRV International select sire service auction will be held, with 50 stallions consigned. Most of the stallions in the auction and many of their get-of-sire will be shown in the auction ring at the sale, which is scheduled for 12 noon on October 18.

Joe Urbaniak of Argyle is the show manager with Herb Mauritson of Shelly serving as co-manager. The show is sponsored by the Red River Horse Breeders, Inc. For more information, contact Show Secretary Tove Altepeter, Route 2, Box 257, Crookston, MN 56716 or call 218-281-4798.

Students Offered Opportunity To Study Overseas

"Qualified high school students are offered opportunity to spend an academic year or summer holiday in Scandinavia, Germany, France, Switzerland, Britain, Holland, Spain, Australia, New Zealand or Canada (French or English speaking) as part of the ASSE International student exchange program," according to Warren Clague, midwestern director of ASSE.

Students 15 to 18 years old qualify on the basis of academic performance, character references and a genuine desire to experience life abroad with a volunteer host family from Europe, Canada, New Zealand or Australia.

"ASSE families abroad are carefully screened to provide a caring environment in which students can learn the language and culture of their host country," explained Clague. Summer exchange students live with a family abroad who speaks English. Year students need not have learned a foreign language as they receive language and cultural instruction as part of the ASSE program. ASSE students attend regular high school classes along with their new overseas teenage friends.

The non-profit, public benefit ASSE International student exchange program is affiliated with the national Swedish and Finnish departments of education and is participating in the President's international youth exchange initiative.

Local students who are interested in receiving more information may contact: Joyce Trimble, Route 1, Box 104, Tenstrike, MN 56683, phone 218-243-2436.

Hearing Oct. 14 In Moorhead On AVTI State Plan

Public hearing will be held on the proposed state plan for vocational technical education in the multi-purpose room of Moorhead area vocational technical institute (AVTI), 1900 28th Avenue South, from 6:45 to 9:30 p.m. on October 14.

"This is a major time to have direct input into the state planning process and be heard by members of the board. In the past, board members have found these sessions to be helpful in making policy decisions," said Douglas Knowlton, president of the state board of vocational technical education, who will attend the hearing.

All representatives of school districts, associations, interested groups and all concerned persons will have an opportunity to be heard regarding recommendations to the proposed plan by submitting either oral or written data, statements or arguments.

Statements or briefs may be submitted by mail without personally appearing at the hearing to Robert Bocklund, State Plan Specialist, State Board of Vocational Technical Education, Capitol Square Building, 550 Cedar Street, Room 518, St. Paul, Minnesota 55101, telephone (612) 296-2421. Copies of the proposed Minnesota state plan are also available at the same address.

Livestock Owners Urged To Watch Market Strategy

Current conditions in agriculture call for livestock producers to pay close attention to marketing strategy to avoid falling prices in the near future. That's the assessment of the state livestock advisory board, the group which oversees the operation of the joint Minnesota Farmers Union (MFU) and National Farmers Organization (NFO) livestock marketing system in Minnesota.

The board is concerned with the possible effects of low grain prices and the USDA whole herd dairy buyout program on livestock markets. Many farmers have liquidated their dairy herds under the buyout program and are now prohibited from using their facilities for dairying. This factor, combined with low grain prices, could trigger a large increase in farmers using their facilities to feed cattle and hogs.

In a statement issued today, the board said: "This increase in livestock feeding operations could result in an untimely flood on the market putting downward pressure on cattle and hog prices. Orderly marketing is a must if Minnesota livestock producers are to receive a fair price for their product."

The board urged livestock producers to look seriously at forward contracting, a strategy the MFU-NFO marketing system has used with much success in the last year.

"By forward contracting the producer can lock in a price which will guarantee a profit and will stabilize prices for the near future in the market as a whole," the board said. "This strategy is the key to orderly marketing and will help producers avoid falling prices caused by periodic over supply in livestock markets."

Producers can forward contract through any of the 35 MFU-NFO collection points in Minnesota. For more information producers can call NFO's Fred Tate in St. Cloud, 1-800-862-8627, or MFU's Dennis Sjodin in St. Paul, 612-771-3380.

Perpich To Cut Ribbon For BSU Arts Facilities

Governor Rudy Perpich will be among the dignitaries cutting ribbons October 10 when dedication ceremonies are held for the remodeled education-art building on the Bemidji state university campus.

The ceremony begins at 2 p.m. in the Beaux Arts ballroom with ribbon cutting scheduled for 2:45 p.m. Tours and a reception will start at 3 p.m.

Built in 1950, the facility originally housed education faculty and served as a laboratory school for elementary education. Faculty and programs of the department of visual art moved into the facility following the closure of the laboratory school in 1974.

Designed for elementary age youngsters, the building was unable to accommodate college age students nor was the facility suited for modern instruction in either professional education or visual arts.

The $3.5 million renovation, which started in November of 1985 and was completed this past September, was meant to better match the 53,342 square foot facility with instructional needs.

The art facility includes designated areas for printmaking, design and graphic design, sculpture, art education and crafts, painting, drawing and ceramics. Included in the building are an indoor-outdoor kiln shed and the expanded Talley Gallery.

"The Talley Gallery is now one of the finest university galleries in the upper midwest," James added. "The old gallery could not be climatologically controlled and wasn't totally secure. These factors limited the scope and nature of the exhibits we were able to house. With climate control and increased security, the Talley will be able to attract and present a wider selection of exhibits."

While the department of visual arts is located in the lower portion of the building, the department of professional education is housed in the upper rooms. They share the building as well as satisfaction in the design.

Joining the governor for the dedication ceremonies will be BSU faculty and staff, representatives of the state university system area politicians, and local officials. The reception and tours will continue until 4 p.m.

ROTTWEILERS are massive dogs which have a reputation for being extremely devoted to one family or even one person. Mike Keefe said he was attracted to the breed because "they are so ugly that everybody else hates them," but the demand for pups indicates that there are other fans of the breed.

COCKER SPANIEL puppies are always hits with visitors to the kennel operated by Mike and Roz Keefe east of Thief River Falls on highway 1. Cocker Spaniels were among the first breeds selected by the Keefes when they decided to expand their kennel from raising German Shepherds.

CURIOSITY seems to be the nature of most puppies, and these Chow pups at the kennel operated by Mike and Roz Keefe of Thief River Falls are no exception. The Keefes raise about a dozen breeds of dogs.

LITTLE BALLS OF FUR are these Pekingese puppies produced at the kennel operated by Mike and Roz Keefe on highway 1 several miles east of Thief River Falls. Pekingese are popular house dogs with many families and trace their origin to China.

Postmaster And Carrier Retire After 25 Years

carrier following Stub's retirement. He has served as substitute carrier for the past 14 months. Nadine Johnson also drove the route when Stub had time off and clerk Donna Mossestad took over at the post office. Joe Fallon had been substitute carrier until he was gored by a bull and injured too severely to continue.

Stub and his wife Donna plan to maintain their residence in Plummer where Stub was born. They have a 140-acre farm, a large garden and several apple trees which have been good producers this year. They have three sons, Scott of Roosevelt, Mike of Superior, WI, and Craig of Rochester; two sons, Kathy Pahlen of Rochester and Penny Retzer of Fargo, ND; and six grandchildren.

An active community resident, Stub has held all offices in the Plummer American Legion post, most offices in the area rural carriers association, is on the volunteer fire department and Northwest Regional Development commission and has been mayor of Plummer for the past six years. He is also a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and First Presbyterian church. In 1974 he was honored as rural carrier of the year.

Despite his well-known ability to get along with people, Pahlen jokes that the post office never could keep employees while he was around. There have been postmasters Kenny Haaven, Lorraine Haaven, Merle (Bud) Sonneck and Nadine Johnson and officers-in-charge Sharon Johnson, Red Bengtson and Daonna Mossestad on duty during his 25 years at the office.

Nadine (Maney) Johnson is a 48-year resident of the area and her husband Alvin is retired from the Soo Line railroad. Her responsibilities at the post office have included looking after 123 local boxholders and providing all of the services which postal patrons expect.

She says she has enjoyed her job and that the great people of the area have made it that way. She said she was somewhat reluctant to retire because of the good experience she has had in the office. Judy Yutrzenka of Viking will serve as officer in charge until a successor postmaster has been appointed.

Nadine has two sons in the air force, Dennis at Minot AFB in North Dakota and Larry at Edwards AFB in California, and a daughter, Mrs. Ken (Julie) Wichterman of Hutchinson.

She has been a member of the National Association of Postmasters of the United States for a number of years, held most of the offices in the American Legion auxiliary including president, served on the St. Vincent's Catholic church pastoral council and as women's guild president and is a member of the community's commercial club. Born at Grygla, she worked at defense plants in California from 1942 to 1946 before moving to Plummer.

Unlike Pahlen, Mrs. Johnson has had no particularly exciting experiences in her postal work. Stub, however, has another story.

"I was driving a 1957 or 1958 Ford V-8 on the route one day when a green car pulled ahead of me and blocked the road. Two men jumped out, ran up to my car on each side and yanked open the doors. They were after a suspect who was reported to be driving a car like mine. I was a little shook until one of them said, 'Oh, my God, we've got the mailman!' They were real apologetic about it, and they never did get the guy they were after as far as I know."

Keefes Find Dog Kennels Are Full Time Occupation

pens have been built and heat in them is maintained at 90 degrees, even when temperatures may be 30 degrees below zero outside.

The Keefes are also brokers, which means that they can serve as "go-betweens" in sales of dogs from one party to another. They also have males of some breeds available for stud service. All pups sold are guaranteed healthy for the first year.

With all the work comes a certain amount of added enjoyment. The Keefes said they have received telephone calls from East Coast buyers who were impressed with the pups they had received. Some buyers keep them updated by sending photos and reports of development and one pleased purchaser even sent them a box of candy. The Keefes appreciate finding out about their pups and share the pride of the new owners in their development.

Mike has built virtually all of the kennels and plans to build another 10 to 12 runs on a 20x48 concrete slab. Runs for the small dogs are mesh bottomed and about three feet off the ground. Since these were built the sanitation has improved, disease problems have been virtually eliminated and the dogs have experienced no foot or leg problems. All runs have interior kennel boxes for protection from summer sun and winter cold.

At some point in the near future the Keefes intend to add Yorkshire Terriers to their collection of breeds. They would also like to spend more time showing their dogs, especially German Shepherds and Rottweilers, but it isn't easy to find someone capable of watching their operation and caring for their dogs while away from home.

The Keefe children, eight-year-old Chane and six-year-old Hamilton, help some with the chores and are involved in the kennel name which lists their first initials below Mike and Roz's initials in the kennel logo.

"I'm sure there are some people who call us a puppy mill," the Keefes said about their operation. "Our business is producing puppies for sale. But we take care of our dogs, watch their health and provide exercise and have a genuine liking for them. We're far from an operation like some which we agree should be closed down. There are a lot of individual dogs who don't get the care and attention we give to every one of ours."

The kennel is located on highway 1 several miles east of Thief River Falls. The Keefes would appreciate a phone call in advance from anyone who would like to visit.

Are Signs In TRF Just Clutter Or A Necessity?

Temporary signs include banners, pennants and sandwich signs advertising a specific event or product. The problem is that many of these signs end up blocking a clear view of traffic, are located on public property or are up for longer than the permitted 20-day period and down for less than the required 20 days.

Effective sign code enforcement will be considered at a planning commission meeting October 20. The commission will discuss a permit system that will hopefully solve some of the problems. Enforcement is complicated, however, by the manpower to make it successful and the fact that many businesses are not aware of the ordinances and many downtown business signs are grandfathered in and permitted.

With the large number of political signs popping up all over town, politicians should be aware of the restrictions placed on them. Political campaign signs cannot exceed six square feet in all residential districts, or 12 square feet in all other districts. Every campaign sign must contain the name and address of persons responsible for the sign, and that person shall be responsible for its removal. Signs erected shall remain in place for no longer than five days after the election for which they were intended. If they aren't down within that period the city has the right to remove and destroy them and assess a fine of $1 per sign to the responsible person.

Other sign regulations include: as home occupation sign restriction of three square feet; neighborhood business and downtown fringe district sign restrictions of one square foot for each front foot of building, not to exceed 50 square feet; general business and central business district restrictions which includes only wall signs, and two signs of either automatic, area identification, billboard, canopy, ground, marquee, projecting, wall and or pylon.

Other stumbling blocks for businesses include restrictions on billboard size which are not allowed to exceed 300 square feet in area and 20 feet in height in industrial districts only, and a requirement that they must be maintained.

Stewart recognizes that there are a lot of restrictions and guidelines, but does not believe the ordinance is unworkable. Personally he doesn't believe there are too many signs in Thief River Falls, but that was his personal opinion, he said. He firmly believes the ordinances are necessary to protect as well as guarantee.

STRIKINGLY MARKED and alert for its age, this young Rottweiler pup has a lot of growing to do before it reaches full size. Rottweilers are large, muscular dogs which have a reputation of being protective of families and property to which they become attached. At this age, however, they are simply cute.

GERMAN SHEPHERDS have been a mainstay of the kennels operated by Mike and Roz Keefe of rural Thief River Falls since they first started selling puppies seven years ago. Roz is shown with one of their young dogs which they hope to spend more time showing in competition in the future

SIBERIAN HUSKIES are distinctively marked dogs with alert and intelligent expressions, including pups such as these held by Roz Keefe at her kennel east of Thief River Falls. Huskies are among nearly a dozen breeds raised at the kennel which was started seven years ago and has been expanded several times since then.

Property Taxes For Second Half Payable Oct. 15

Deadline for property owners to pay the second half of their property tax payment is Wednesday, October 15, on non-farm property and Monday, November 17, on farm property, the Minnesota department of revenue said today.

Payment may be made in person at county treasurer's offices or by mail, postmarked no later than the date it is due. (The deadline for farm taxes is actually November 15, but since it falls on a Saturday, the due date has been moved to Monday.)

The 1986 legislature gave farm property owners an extra month to pay their property taxes without penalty because of the poor farm economy and because rainy fall weather often delays farmers from harvesting and marketing their crops, according to Dennis Erno, assistant commissioner for taxpayer services.

Erno said about 60 per cent of Minnesota's property owners handle payment of their property taxes themselves. The remainder include an amount to cover property tax in their monthly mortgage payments to banks or other financial institutions, which then send the property tax payments to the counties.

In Minnesota, property taxes are collected by the county treasurers, and are used entirely to fund local governments and public schools, he said. The first-half of the property tax payment was due May 15.

Sportsman Clinic Held At Audubon Group Sanctuary

Second annual sportsman clinic was conducted recently at Wetlands, Pines and Prairie Audubon sanctuary southeast of Warren. The event began with a supper of grilled hamburgers and included visiting among the people in attendance.

Speakers on the program were Wayne Yanish, Ted Smith and Bob Hodgson, members of the Black Powder gun club of Grand Forks, ND, speaking on percussion and flintlock weapons and buckskin garments. They were dressed in buckskin as well as having guns and garments on display.

Ted Hoberg of Ted's Taxidermy in East Grand Forks discussed the care of animals intended for mounting and displayed some examples of his work. Paul Telander, assistant manager at Thief Lake wildlife management area, reviewed the waterfowl forecast and rules for the 1986 hunting season and stressed the closed season on canvasback ducks.

Sacking of approximately 11,000 pounds of sunflower seeds as bird feed took place on Sunday, September 28, at the sanctuary. Volunteers from Grand Forks, Thief River Falls and Warren were involved with the project which was followed by a potluck supper. A special guest was Zephania Musendo of Tanzania, and an African journalist who is visiting the Grand Forks Herald for a month, who attended with Mr. and Mrs. Mike Jacobs

The sacked sunflowers are available by calling the sanctuary at 745-5663 or in Thief River Falls 681-5289.

SWCD At Grygla Seeks To Teach Conservation

"Learning and teaching are two aspects of conservation that never grow old. The more we as office staff learn, the more we want to share with and teach others," states Cheryl Sistad, district secretary-manager of the Marshall-Beltrami soil and water conservation district at Grygla.

Conversation education can easily be adapted to the classroom. Through the Ag-Stravaganza program, the district has many demonstrations, projects and other programs availalbe, offering puppet shows, slide presentations, essay contests, poster contests, assistance with tours of outdoor classrooms. Conservation education can be tied into science, English, social studies, geography, art, health, math and physical education. This is the intent of the environmental educational rule — to teach conservation within other classes and not just add another class period.

"It is also interesting to go beyond the classroom to 4-H clubs, scouts, civic organizations and others. No matter what our age, it is always interesting to learn something new," Sistad said.

"New programs and ideas we have become familiar with lately include the grades 7-9 curriculum of the Ag-Stranvaganza program including a windbreak model we hope to duplicate, an aquifier model showing how pollution moves in our groundwater, and a tree handbook we have just received which is an excellent resource for tree identification. If you, your classroom, or your organization are interested in an informational program on conservation, contact the Marshall-Beltrami soil and water conservation district in Grygla."

McKnight Funds ARC Information, Referral Program

Ask ARC, a new information and referral program of the Association for Retarded Citizens (ARC) Minnesota, has been funded by the McKnight foundation and Minnesota consumer finance conference.

It is designed to help parents of children and adults with mental retardation find information and resources on a variety of topics, including parent support groups, special education programs, work training, residential and respite care, recreation, special equipment, professional services, financial support programs, guardianship-conservatorship, and wills and trusts.

Some of the common questions being asked are:

- "How do I go about getting my child into a good preschool program?"
- "Where can I [illegible] wheelchair?"
- "How do we go [illegible] respite care for our child with a disability?"
- "Where can my adult son find a social program?"

Volleyball Team Beats Otters 3-0

Thief River Falls took a big step in securing a favorable post-season North Sub-Region 8A tournament position Tuesday with a 3-0 home court high school volleyball sweep over Fergus Falls.

A little trouble with serve reception in Game 1 was the only problem the Prowlers experienced against the error-prone Otters as they rolled to a 15-9, 15-3, 15-1 victory and a 12-3 season record.

Thief River Falls completed a brief North Sub-Region 8AA schedule with a 3-0 mark by beating Detroit Lakes, Bemidji and Fergus Falls. That should get them a No. 2 tournament seed behind perennially-strong Moorhead later this month. The Prowlers and Spuds do not face each other during the year.

Helen Anderson, noting that a 12-3 start is the best record she's had as Thief River Falls head coach, figures the Prowlers even have a shot at the North Sub-Region 8AA No. 1 seed if they can finish with five more wins and a 17-3 record. That quest starts Thursday at home against Plummer. The Cardinals were a preseason favorite for District 31A honors, but their attack has been hampered by the loss of Robin Brantl, one of the top hitters in the area who is sidelined by an ankle injury.

Thief River Falls will also face Fosston, Alvarado, Crookston and East Grand Forks before starting post-season play.

Jill Olson led the Prowlers with 22 service points and Vikki Weigand had 14. Olson ran a string of 12 straight points in the one-sided win in Game 3.

A line-up change that found Bekah Bortnem taking over as the Prowlers' setter was a success, said Anderson, as she set up Weigand for a number of hits. "They really worked well together," said Anderson.

Stephanie Benson, after vacating the setter position, played well as a utility player — Bortnem's old job — while sophomore Karen Kvick and freshman Cheri Bjorgaard came off the bench for role jobs and played well, said Anderson.

Thief River Falls beat Fergus Falls 15-4, 15-12 in the junior varsity match to go 8-1 for the year, but Fergus Falls triumphed 16-6, 16-6 in the C squad match to drop Thief River Falls to 6-3 at that level.

Player of the Night awards went to Olson, varsity; Bjorgaard, junior varsity; and Ellen Okland, C squad.

BRIAN STARK, a member of the Lincoln High School cross country team, helped direct traffic Monday during the annual Thief River Falls Elementary Fun Run for third, fourth, fifth and sixth grade boys and girls. Stark served as the starter, and also pointed the runners to the finish line, as he did here with the third grade boys, as they neared the completion of their races. There were 115 participants in the meet.

Pioneers Play Thursdays

Three of the final four regular season Northland Community College football games this fall will be Thursday night affairs instead of a traditional Saturday afternoon outing, and coach Rick Nelson of the Pioneers, who is also the school's athletic director, is enthused about the switch.

"That's when community college football is supposed to be played," says Nelson about the Thursday night scheduling, a common practice in recent years for some of the Northeast Division schools in the Minnesota Community College Conference, but not a usual feature for the Northwest Division teams.

Nelson lists a variety of reasons why he feels Thursday night games will be better for the Pioneers than the Saturday afternoon starts. Mostly, he says, Northland has a chance to draw more attention by playing Thursday night.

An autumn Saturday afternoon, for example, has an awful lot of competition for attention. Hunting is a big weekend draw in this area, robbing the Pioneers of potential fans. There's also the closeness of Division II college football programs like the University of North Dakota Sioux in Grand Forks and the defending national champion North Dakota State University Bison in Fargo. And a saturated television market draws the football fans away from local teams, like last Saturday afternoon and evening when no less than five major college football games were aired to Thief River Falls cable subscribers.

In addition, a school like Northland draws its students from a number of surrounding communities, and many of those students go back home on weekends, passing up a Saturday afternoon football game back in Thief River Falls. They'll be in town Thursdays, said Nelson.

There's also an added possibility that a Thursday night game would offer coaches at four-year schools the opportunity to personally scout prospective recruits at the community colleges, and will also open up Fridays for Nelson and his staff to take in area high school games for their own recruiting purposes.

Nelson is trying hard to sell the Thursday night games. Thief River Falls stores are open Thursday nights, he acknowledges, but that will offer out-of-town visitors an opportunity to shop before kickoff, and while some potential fans will have to work Thursday nights in the stores, workers are also needed Saturday afternoons, he noted.

Northland visits Hibbing this week for a Thursday night game. The Pioneers will have a Saturday, October 18, game at Fergus Falls, but then close out the schedule at home with Thursday night games October 23 vs. the University of Minnesota-Crookston and October 30 vs. Brainerd.

TRF Schedules Hibbing

Hibbing will replace Detroit Lakes on the 1987 Thief River Falls high school football schedule, reported coach Jeff Mumm of the Prowlers.

Thief River Falls will host the Bluejackets in the second week of the season, filling a space traditionally held by the Lakers. It was reported earlier, a change in the make-up of the Mid-State Conference forced Detroit Lakes officials to alter its non-conference schedule, and the Lakers no longer had that second week open for the Prowlers. Detroit Lakes was interested in playing Thief River Falls on the final week of the season where the Lakers drew a nonconference date, but the Prowlers have East Grand Forks as a season-ending foe.

Hibbing and Thief River Falls have agreed to a two-year home-and-home series, with the Prowlers visiting the Bluejackets in 1988.

Thief River Falls has an open date to fill yet for next fall in Week 4, where Valley City, ND was a one-time opponent in 1986. The Prowlers will keep newcomer Grafton on next year's schedule, visiting the Spoilers in Week 6.

Detroit Lakes, meanwhile, is looking to schedule Crookston as a final regular season game next fall. The Pirates play just seven games this year, having an open date at the end of the schedule.

Miscellaneous

+ Thief River Falls' Tim Bergland is scheduled to play right wing on the University of Minnesota hockey team's No. 1 line this weekend when the Gophers open their 1986-87 WCHA season at Colorado College. Bergland will be skating with center Corey Millen of Cloquet and left wing Dave Snuggerud, a sophomore from Minnetonka. Bergland and Millen are senior co-captains. Only freshman to crack the Gophers' starting line-up, according to coach Doug Woog in this week's newsletter, is Scott Bloom of Burnsville, who will center the third line. Freshman Robb Stauber, of Duluth Denfeld will serve as the backup goalie for starter John Blue. East Grand Forks' Craig Mack is set at defense, while Roseau's Paul Broten is scheduled to play left wing on a fourth line that also includes center Brett Nelson of White Bear Lake and left wing Marty Nanne of Edina.

+ Long-time Grand Rapids assistant coach Lynn Ellingson has been named the new head hockey coach of the Indians, succeeding Jim Nelson, who resigned suddenly last week. Ellingson has coached in the Grand Rapids program since 1975. The 35-year-old economics teacher is also the Grand Rapids golf coach. Nelson said he stepped down after ten years as Indians head coach to spend more time with his family.

Playoff Spot Up For Grabs In TRF-Fergus Falls Contest

Thief River Falls closes out its 1986 regular season high school football schedule with home games against Fergus Falls Friday and East Grand Forks one week from tonight (Wednesday, October 15). But the Prowlers would like to extend their homestand into the upcoming Section 8A playoffs, and they'll do just that if they beat the Otters and Green Wave.

Crookston, Fergus Falls, East Grand Forks and Thief River Falls are jockeying for positions in the Section 8A North Half grouping, while Staples, Park Rapids, Detroit Lakes and Wadena compete for Section 8A South Half positions. Opening round Section 8A playoff quarterfinals will find the top two seeded teams in the North and South playing at home against the bottom two teams from the other half.

Right now, Crookston (5-1 overall) and Fergus Falls (3-3) are the front-runners in the North Half with 2-1 records against Section 8A foes. Thief River Falls (2-4) is 1-1 and East Grand Forks (4-2) is 0-1 vs. sectional opponents.

Only Section 8A games left in the North Half will be the Thief River Falls meetings with Fergus Falls and East Grand Forks, plus a Friday East Grand Forks vs. Crookston contest.

Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm is looking for a season-ending regular season sweep and a No. 2 seed behind Crookston in the North Half. "I don't want to go south," he said, looking ahead to the playoff openers.

In the South Half, Park Rapids (4-2 overall) is 3-0 and Staples (5-1) is 1-0 vs. sectional foes. They meet Friday for the No. 1 seed. Detroit Lakes (3-3) is 0-3 and Wadena (0-6) is 0-2 against Section 8A teams. They also meet Friday.

Fergus Falls and East Grand Forks both present a challenge for the Prowlers, but Mumm thinks it's a test Thief River Falls can handle. "I think our chances (of a No. 2 seed) are good if we play good football," he noted. "I don't think we've put a whole game together offensively and defensively yet. We've had a good half here and there, but not a whole game. I still think we have a great game left. I'm just waiting for it to happen."

The Otters have beaten Detroit Lakes 13-7 in overtime, Brainerd 13-0 and East Grand Forks 13-7 last week. They've lost to Alexandria 27-8, Crookston 13-0 and Anoka 42-6.

"They're big," warned Mumm. "They have some big kids, especially in the line. They're very strong up front, offensively and defensively. It'll be hard to move them out of the way, especially their tackles. We're going to have to run around them. If we can get to the outside, we'll be fine."

That will probably mean a lot of Paul Brandt running around the ends. The Thief River Falls speedster, who had a 200-yard rushing game earlier this year against Fergus Falls, had a 191-yard performance in Friday's 20-0 homecoming victory over Grafton.

An effective Thief River Falls passing game, which has come up just short week after week, would be a very effective way to battling the Fergus Falls size, too, said Mumm.

Thief River Falls will be without top two wingbacks Nate Dalager and Brian Christianson, both sidelined for the year because of injuries. Dalager hurt his knee in the Grafton game. Christianson was hurt earlier this fall. But Jim Hahn, a 6-0, 157-pound senior, a first-year varsity performer, turned out to be more than an adequate replacement when he stepped in for Dalager last week.

Thief River Falls will be looking for its first win over Fergus Falls since 1980 this week.

Northland, Hibbing Trying To Establish Winning Programs

Hibbing and Northland, two teams short on success in the past but apparently ready to challenge the traditional Minnesota Community College Conference leaders this fall, will meet Thursday in a 7:30 p.m. football game at Hibbing.

The Cardinals and Pioneers have been consistent last place finishers in their respective Northeast and Northwest Division standings in recent years, but this fall they're both 2-2 and gaining ground on the rest of the MCCC field.

While Northland has struggled to collect wins ever since putting a football team on the field for the first time in 1976, the Pioneers (then Northmen) could almost always count upon a victory when they faced the Cardinals. Northland won just three games over a four-year span coming into the 1986 season, and each one of them came against Hibbing. It would have been 4-for-4, but Northland, after originally picking up the annual win over Hibbing in 1983, had to turn around and give the Cardinals a 2-0 forfeit decision for using an ineligible player.

Only time Hibbing beat Northland on the field over the years was in 1977 — their first ever meeting — when the Cardinals triumphed 19-13 in a season-opening match-up at Prowler Field in Thief River Falls. The two teams played to a 6-6 tie in 1980.

But Hibbing and Northland are both trying to shed the losing image this year. The Pioneers began by winning their first two starts. They lost a close 16-13 verdict to Itasca in Week 3, then Saturday took it on the chin in a 40-20 setback at the hands of unbeaten Vermilion. The Cardinals, meanwhile, fell to usually-strong Norwest Division foes Fergus Falls and Brainerd before turning heads Saturday with a 22-21 come-from-behind win over the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

"We can't just expect to go into Hibbing and pick up our traditional one win," warns Northland coach Rick Nelson. "I think it'll be a good ball game. They have a good quarterback, two real good running backs and [illegible] big physical kids on defense. I think our programs are similar. We're trying to get to the point where Northland is no longer just a step on the way to the next game, and I think that's where Hibbing is, too."

Hibbing beat UMC with a late-game score. Trailing 21-14, the Cardinals struck when quarterback Jon Spry and runningback Jeff Martire connected on a 35-yard touchdown pass with 1:40 remaining in the game. The Cardinals went for the win and not the tie on the conversion attempt, with Spry reaching the end zone for the 22-21 final.

Spry earlier hit Randy Christiansen with a 43-yard touchdown pass and Martire broke off a 43-yard touchdown run. UMC, ahead 14-6 at halftime and sitting on a 21-6 third quarter edge, had four turnovers -- two interceptions and two fumbles.

Northland has had a tendency to give up the big play on defense, and with Hibbing's long-range striking ability, Nelson is concerned about the Pioneers' ability to stop the Cardinals. They will also have to eliminate their habit of collecting 15-yard personal foul penalties when things begin to sour in late-game situations — a problem that surfaced in both losses.

"We have to prevent the big play," Nelson said, repeating himself from earlier pre-game media sessions, "and we have to keep our cool on defense. The kids have to become more responsible for their conduct. They have to work on their composure and attitude."

Nelson said there are no significant line-up changes planned this week, although sophomore runningback Steve Ristau, who was named the Pioneers' Pepsi-Cola offensive Player of the Week award winner for the second straight game after breaking the 100-yard barrier against Vermilion, suffered a pulled groin muscle in practice Monday and his status for the Hibbing game is uncertain.

The Pioneers hope to have linebackers Henry Collier and Mike Coffield ready to play this week. Collier, a freshman from Orlando, Fl., missed the Vermilion game entirely with an injury, and Coffield, a freshman from Lancaster, reinjured himself just two plays into the contest.

Although the starting units probably won't change, Nelson is hoping to get more playing time for people like Tom McGlynn (Mentor), Chad Swendseid (Grand Forks) and Mike Bush (Erskine) in the offensive line, and Mark Bieganek (Kelliher) in the defensive line.

"We're just going to have to be ready to play some smash-mouth football at Hibbing," he warns.

Safety Chad Ekeberg earned defensive Player of the Week honors vs. Vermilion, and Mike Stennes collected similar honors for his special teams play.

Elsewhere last week in Northwest vs. Northeast Division match-ups, Mesabi surprised Brainerd 19-8 and Fergus Falls got by Itasca 23-17. Saturday games will find Itasca (3-1) at Brainerd (1-3), Mesabi (1-3) at UMC (1-3) and Fergus Falls (3-1) at Vermilion (4-0) in a meeting of divisional leaders.

Bemidji Girls Win Team Tennis Title

Bemidji lived up to its No. 1 billing Tuesday by beating No. 2-seeded Thief River Falls 5-2 in the finals of the North Sub-Region 8AA girls high school team tennis tournament at the Grand Forks Tennis Center.

Play started yesterday morning when Detroit Lakes edged Fergus Falls 4-3.

Bemidji beat Detroit Lakes 6-1 and Thief River Falls stopped Moorhead 5-2 in the semifinals. No other details were made available.

Individual portion of the tournament was scheduled to be held today (Wednesday) at the same site.

State Duck Stamp Winner Named

Judges have selected a painting of a pair of Common Goldeneye ducks by wildlife artist Ron Van Gilder of Cedar, as the design for Minnesota's 1987 Migratory Waterfowl Stamp.

The stamp costs $5 and is required of all resident hunters ages 18 through 64 to take migratory waterfowl, in addition to a small game hunting license and federal migratory waterfowl stamp. Nonresident hunters, regardless of age, are required to have a license and the state stamp.

The federal stamp is required of all waterfowl hunters 16 years of age and older.

Revenue from sale of the stamp is dedicated by state law toward maintenance, development and restoration of waterfowl habitat.

A contest is held annually by the Department of Natural Resources to select a design for the next year's stamp. The DNR does not pay the artist for use of the design, but winning the contest frequently results in an increased public demand for the artist's work.

Van Gilder's winning offering was chosen from among 139 entries. Second through sixth place honors were awarded by the judges as follows:

Second — (tie) Dan Smith, Whistling Swans; Jean Marie Sherlock, Canvasback.

Third — Tom Gross, Wigeons.

Fourth — Jim Trandel, Bufflehead.

Fifth — (tie) Gary Moss, Mallards; Eugene Budroot, Whistling Swans.

Sixth — Bruce Miller, Bufflehead.

Sports Boosters Meeting

Cross country coach Lynn Dyer will be the guest speaker Thursday at the regular 12-noon Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Club luncheon meeting in the basement of the Rex Cafe in downtown Thief River Falls.

The public is invited to attend.

Pioneers Edge Moorhead JV

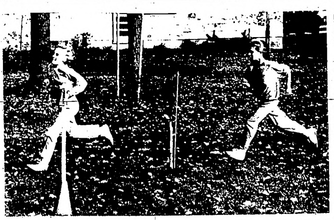
Northland Community College will begin Northwest Division play this week on a winning note after a 3-2 Tuesday night victory over the Moorhead State University junior varsity in Thief River Falls.

The Pioneers start Northwest Division play tonight (Wednesday) at Brainerd and will be in Fergus Falls Friday. They also plan to participate in the Moorhead State University Invitational Saturday.

Northland outlasted the MSU squad 8-15, 17-15, 15-11, 6-15, 15-13.

"It was a really good game," reported Northland coach Deb Jacobson. "We finally played some offense."

It was a come-from-behind effort in Game 5 for the Pioneers, who trailed 11-5 before coming back to win 15-13. "We just went after one point at a time," mentioned Jacobson. "That's all you can do."



TOP TWO finishers for the fourth grade girls made the final turn and headed to the finish line during Monday's annual Thief River Falls Elementary Fun Run behind the Franklin Middle School and Mark Twain Elementary School buildings. Jessica Bugge (left) of Washington won the half-mile race in 3:29, and Laura Antonenko of St. Bernard's was second in 3:30. Thief River Falls cross country coach Lynn Dyer was meet director, with members of his cross country teams helping conduct the races.

DNR NEWS

Deer-Auto Accidents

With the coming of fall and the onset of the annual mating season for deer, the rate of deer-auto collisions on Minnesota roads is certain to increase, according to the Department of Natural Resources.

Months of October and November account for about 40 per cent of the more than 12,000 deer killed by autos annually on state roads.

And officials pointed out that the 12,000 figure represents only the number of deer-auto collisions reported to authorities and that many other deer are killed that go unreported.

They said the collisions often cost hundreds of dollars in property damage and frequently result in personal injury.

Deer are most active during the evening and early morning hours, said wildlife officials, but may be encountered on the highway at any time of the day or night.

Sections of road where deer cross most often are marked with signs, but a deer might be seen on any stretch of road, including suburban streets, particularly in the fall.

DNR officials said motorists should be alert for movement in roadside ditches and along the right-of-way.

The driver should slow down if a deer is seen, even if the animal is standing still because a deer will often bolt suddenly across in front of a car, apparently out of fright or confusion.

Officials noted that the Twin Cities metro area has one of the highest incidence of deer-auto collisions, due to a high deer population and heavy traffic.

Lands Transferred To DNR

Three parcels of federal land in northern Minnesota have been transferred to the Department of Natural Resources by the U.S. Bureau of Land Management.

Two of the tracts, one of 30 acres and the other 40 acres, are located in southwestern Roseau County and will become state wildlife management areas.

Other tract of 5.2 acres is located between Tower and Ely in St. Louis County and will be designated a state scientific and natural area.

Federal government reserved title to the mineral rights on the three parcels.

The lands were transferred under provisions of the Recreation and Public Purposes Act, enacted in 1926.

Giant Sturgeon Record

It's official: A lake sturgeon weighing 92¼ pounds caught Sept. 11 in the Kettle River, Pine County, is a new Minnesota state angling record, according to the Department of Natural Resources.

The huge fish was taken by Jim De Otis of Maple Grove about 11:15 p.m. while fishing from the stream bank with a worm and 15-pound test line.

DNR fisheries managers were present when the sturgeon was weighed at a meat processing company in Sandstone, the only place in the area with a scale large enough to handle the fish.

The sturgeon is 69 inches long with a 30-inch girth and the Department's sturgeon specialist, Eric Anderson, said the fish is probably 60 to 70 years old.

The sturgeon taken by De Otis breaks the previous record set in 1981 by Bill Krejece of St. Paul. That one weighed 91 pounds, 8 ounces, and was taken in the St. Croix River near Bayport.

How big do sturgeon get? In Minnesota the largest on record is a 236 pounder taken from Lake of the Woods with commercial netting gear in 1911.

TRF Turkey Trot Race Will Be Held On Saturday, October 25

Falls Clinic division of Dakota Clinic Ltd., Northwest Medical Center, Northwest Radiology Associates and the Ramsay Eye Clinic, P.A. will sponsor the third annual Thief River Falls Turkey Trot at 10 a.m. Saturday, October 25.

The event will consist of a 5 kilometer (3.1 mile) walk, jog or run, starting and finishing at the hospital. Anyone completing the course will have two opportunities to win a frozen turkey.

Turkeys will be given to the first place male and female finisher in nine different age categories: 7-under, 8-12, 13-19, 20-29, 30-39, 40-49, 50-59, 60-69 and 70-over.

Race participants will be asked to predict how long they think it will take them to finish the race when they register. Racers in each of the age categories finishing closest to their predicted times will also win a turkey. Watches will be collected before the race begins.

Refreshments will be served at the finish line.

Entry fee is $3 in advance or $5 the day of the race. Entry forms will be available at the Falls Clinic, Northwest Medical Center, TG Sporting Goods and The Sweat Shop.

Last year's Turkey Trot attracted over 140 entrants according to Gail Holland, Northwest Medical Center Public Relations Coordinator. "This year we hope to have an even bigger field of entrants," she said. "Regular exercise is an essential component of a healthy lifestyle. The benefits of regular exercise include lower cholesterol levels, lower blood pressure, lower blood sugar, reduced anxiety and stress, improved sleep and weight loss. Many studies have shown that those engaged in regular activity programs have a reduced incidence of heart attacks and heart disease."

Central Is 35-6 Winner Over TRF

Grand Forks Central struck for three first quarter touchdowns Monday night en route to a 35-6 junior varsity high school football win over host Thief River Falls.

Chris Taylor caught a 32-yard second quarter touchdown pass from Rick Looker for the lone Thief River Falls score, making it 21-6 at halftime.

Thief River Falls, 2-4, will be at Grand Forks Red River Monday for a 7 p.m. game.

Warroad Upsets MCC Girls

Warroad surprised visiting Marshall County Central 3-2 Tuesday in a high school volleyball match that left the two teams tied for the North Border Conference lead.

The Warriors took the see-saw affair 15-11, 3-15, 15-4, 4-15, 15-9.

"It was back and forth all night," acknowledge Marshall County Central coach Tom Mjelde. "One team would get hot, and one team would cool off. That's the way it went all night."

It was just the second loss of the 1986 season for the Nordics, who fell to host Thief River Falls Saturday in the 2-out-of-3 game semifinal match of the Northern Lights Invitational.

"I was disappointed in the way we played," said Mjelde. "We more or less beat ourselves. We missed too many serves and we missed too many spikes. I don't think we were mentally ready to play."

The 11-2 Nordics host Lake of the Woods Thursday and visit Middle River Monday.

Plummer — Crookston

Plummer outlasted Crookston 3-2 Tuesday, winning 16-14, 13-15, 15-5, 4-15, 15-3.

"It was a real good game," mentioned Plummer coach Dean Miller after his club improved its record to 11-3 for the year. "I was happy with the win over a big school."

Janelle Konickson and Angie Delage had 11 and 10 last-touch points, respectively, for the visiting Cardinals. Delage also has 12 kills, while Jodi Konickson and Nicki Walter both had 10 kills.

Plummer will try to knock off another bigger school Thursday when the Cardinals visit Thief River Falls. They host the Plummer Invitational Saturday.

Grygla — Roseau

Grygla swept Roseau 3-0 Tuesday, but the games were close as the host Eagles won 16-14, 15-9, 16-14.

It was a come-from-behind effort in all three games, noted Grygla coach Mike Gast.

Grygla won it with a 93 per cent night at the service line — the Eagles' best effort of the year, according to Gast. "Our serving was pretty decent. We kept the ball in play," he mentioned.

The 8-5 Eagles visit Badger Thursday and drive to Greenbush Monday.

Oklee — Bagley

It was a struggle, admitted Oklee coach Brad Borene, but the Bobcats beat Bagley 15-11, 13-15, 15-7, 15-11 Tuesday at Bagley.

Sophomore Lisa Chaput was a perfect 23-for-23 at the service line for the winners, scoring 17 points in the process. Julie Murack was credited with 15 kill spikes, while Diane Jensen had 13 and Joelle Enerson had eight.

Oklee has a key Thursday night match at Fertile-Beltrami. The Bobcats and Falcons, along with Ada, are involved in a close battle for the No. 2 spot behind powerful Win-E-Mac in the District 30A positioning. Oklee also plays Monday at Twin Valley.

Undefeated Teams Head League Races

Undefeated Argyle, Kennedy and Gonvick-Trail will be looking to build upon their identical 6-0 records when play resumes Friday in the Top of the State, Northern Lights and North Tri-County nine-man high school football conferences.

Argyle hosts Marshall County Central (2-4) in a Top of the State Conference match-up, while Goodridge-Grygla (0-6) visits Hallock (4-2) and Tri-County (3-3) drives to Stephen (3-3).

In last week's Top of the State Conference games, Argyle got by a challenge from Hallock 16-7, Stephen handled Marshall County Central 36-12 and Tri-County out-scored Goodridge-Grygla 42-24.

Gonvick-Trail will be at Plummer (3-2) for a North Tri-County Conference encounter Friday night, while Redlake (0-5) goes to Oklee (2-4) and Gary (2-3) drives to Clearbrook (1-5). Fisher-Climax (4-2) has a non-conference game at Hatton, ND.

It'll be homecoming for Oklee.

Last week's North Tri-County Conference results found Fisher-Climax beating Oklee 38-6, Gonvick-Trail blitzed Clearbrook 36-6 and Gary stopped Redlake 24-6, while Plummer drew a bye.

Friday Northern Lights Conference assignments will have Badger (1-5) at Kennedy and Kittson County North (3-3) at Oslo-Alvarado (4-3). Middle River (2-5) has a bye.

Over the weekend, Kennedy belted Oslo-Alvarado 37-12 in a Friday contest and Badger downed Middle River 24-14 Saturday.

It was the Skippers' fourth straight loss after they opened the year 2-1. They close out their 1986 schedule Tuesday at Kennedy.

Middle River messed up four punts and gave up a touchdown on a kickoff return to lose in disappointing fashion.

"We killed ourselves," acknowledged Middle River coach Eldon Sparby. "We gave them field position for all their touchdowns. We muffed three punts and had a bad snap on another one."

Middle River led twice, with a safety and a seven-yard Tom Blazek to Mickey Nelson touchdown pass producing an 8-6 halftime lead and a 5-yard Nelson touchdown run supplying the Skippers with 14-12 third quarter edge before the Rockets' Scott Erickson returned the ensuing kickoff 76 yards for a touchdown and an 18-14 Badger lead.

"The kickoff return killed us," noted Sparby. "We never recovered."

Middle River's offense included 84 yards on 14 carries by Brad Kilen and 104 yards on a 9-for-21 passing effort by Blazek.

Freshmen Defeat Bemidji By 18-6

Kurt Kainz threw two touchdown passes Monday as Thief River Falls defeated Bemidji 18-6 in a freshman high school football game at Prowler Field.

Kainz hit Jason Kempert with a 15-yard scoring pass in the first quarter and went to Paul Kezar for a 45-yard touchdown pass play in the second quarter for a 12-6 halftime lead.

MSHSL Plans Fall Tournaments

by Larry Larson, MSHSL

Minnesota State High School League's 71st school year and its fall season of state tournament events will get underway October 22 when the 13th annual state class AA and Class A girls tennis tournament is held in the Twin Cities.

Tennis is the first of seven MSHSL sponsored activities that will culminate with state tournaments during a six-week span in October and November.

Tennis

State girls tennis tournament begins Wednesday, October 22, and runs through Saturday, October 25. The Class AA tournament will be conducted at a new site, the Highway 100 North France Racquet Club in Brooklyn Center, while the Class A tournament will be played once again at the Nicollet Tennis Center in Minneapolis. Both tournaments will feature team competition on the first two days, October 22-23, followed by two days of singles and doubles action.

Edina in Class AA and Blue Earth in Class A won team titles a year ago. The title for Edina was the school's fifth straight and for the community of Edina the eighth in a row as Edina East High School won championships from 1978-1980.

In the individual competition, three-time state Class AA titlist Ginger Helgeson of Edina has graduated, assuring 1986 a new champion. Last year's runner-up, Jenny Moe, another Edinaite who this year is a junior, is considered to be a strong contender for the gold medal. Last year's Class A champion, Kira Gregerson, only a freshman at St. Paul Academy, is in a position to become the state's first four-time individual winner.

New doubles champs are a certainty in both classes as both or a part of last year's champions have graduated.

More than 3,000 girls are participating in girls tennis this fall season. There are 171 teams (102 in Class AA and 69 in Class A) registered with the MSHSL, two less than a year ago.

Soccer

Next on the list of the seven fall state tournaments is the state soccer tournaments for girls and boys. Seventh annual state girls soccer tournament and the 13th annual state boys soccer tournament is scheduled for October 25, 28 and 30.

Quarterfinal games will be played Saturday, October 30. All games will be played as double-headers involving boys and girls teams.

First round games are set for Richfield, Osseo, Park (Cottage Grove), and Mielke Field in Robbinsdale. Semifinal games will be played at Osseo and Park, and the championship games in the Metrodome in Minneapolis will begin at 6 p.m. (girls) and 8:30 p.m. (boys). It marks the first year title games will be played indoors.

Those quarterfinal games on Saturday, October 25, start at noon for girls and 2:30 p.m. for boys. The semifinal contests the following Tuesday, October 28, begin at 4:30 p.m. (boys) and 7 p.m. (girls).

Seventy-five boys teams and 60 girls teams are participating in soccer this fall. Wayzata is the defending state boys champion, and Coon Rapids hopes to repeat as the girls titlist.

Cross Country

During the first weekend in November, the cross country running season will come to an end with the state meet being held at the University of Minnesota golf course in Falcon Heights Saturday, November 1.

The schedule finds the Class AA girls run beginning at 10:30 a.m., followed by the Class AA boys run at 11:30 a.m. At 1 p.m., the Class girls will compete, followed by the Class A boys at 2 o'clock. Boys will run over a 5,000 meter course, while girls cover 3,200 meter terrain.

Defending team state champions include Eski-Cloquet (boys) and Alexandria (girls) in Class AA, and Elgin-Millville (boys) and Hermantown (girls) in Class A.

One of last year's four individual winners hopes to repeat and capture a second gold medal. She's Gretchen Farkas, a junior at Totino Grace (Fridley), who won the Class AA championship over Kim Kauls, a Forest Lake senior who has been runner-up the past two years. Farkas, Kauls, and 1985 titlist Heather Doyle, a senior from Moorhead, are expected to be among the top finishers again this season.

New champions will be determined in the other three races as last year's winners have graduated. Top rated runners at mid-season include Kari Parker, Olivia in Class A girls (second in '85); Tim Langen, St. Cloud Tech in Class AA boys (fourth in '85); and Donovan Bergstrom, Elgin-Millville in Class A boys (second in '85).

More than 3,000 boys and 2,000 girls are active in cross country programs this fall. There are 227 boys teams and 228 girls teams registered with the MSHSL.

Football

Adding to the excitement of those early November days will be the beginning of the 15th annual MSHSL state football playoffs, which will end with champions being named in five divisions at the fifth annual Prep Bowl, the five championship games scheduled for the Metrodome in Minneapolis Saturday, November 29.

Leading up to that eventful day at the Metrodome, quarterfinal state playoff contests are slated for Friday and Saturday, November 7 and 8, with semifinal games scheduled for November 14, 15 and 16. All of those games will be played at various sites throughout the state.

Among the 442 teams participating in football this season, 40 (eight in each of classes AA, A, B, C and nine-man) will advance to the state playdowns and result in the naming of state champions in five classes for a 15th time.

For the third straight year, state playoff teams will be determined from section playoff games following regular season play. All five classes have eight sections. Class AA has elected to advance only four teams or 32 teams in all from its membership of 71 teams, into section playoffs. The other four classes have the option of advancing as many as eight teams, or 64 in all, in each class into section playoffs.

The Class A through nine-man divisions have memberships of 80 or more teams per class, and in most cases will have section playoff formats with eight-team brackets. Last year, 280 of the 453 teams that participated advanced and were involved in post-season play, up considerably from three years ago when 70 teams entered post-season action.

Defending state champions include Burnsville, AA; New Prague, A; Jackson, B; Glyndon-Felton, C; and Westbrook, nine-man.

Volleyball

Thirteenth annual state Class AA and Class A volleyball tournament is also a part of the busy November schedule of state events. Scheduled for the Met Center in Bloomington on November 14 and 15, this two-day event annually brings together eight region champions in each class for three rounds of championship and consolation series action.

Defending champions are Apple Valley in Class AA and Greenway of Coleraine in Class A.

Interest in volleyball has increased immensely during the past 15 years. Only 62 schools sponsored the activity in 1971. That total increased to 460 by 1975 and this season a total of 473 teams are competing. Nationally, Minnesota ranked eighth in 1985 with 13,206 participants.

Attendance at the state tournaments during the past years also indicates spectator interest. A total of 166,213 fans witnessing state tournament play over the years also indicates spectator interest. Last year a record 19,153 attended the state tournament.

Swimming and Diving

On the same weekend as the state volleyball tournament, girls swimmers and divers will be competing in the 31st state girls swimming and diving championships, scheduled for Friday and Saturday, November 14 and 15, at Cooke Hall pool on the campus of the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis.

Preliminaries in all 11 events are scheduled for the first day of competition with the championship finals set to begin on Saturday starting at 1:30 p.m.

Defending state team champion is Burnsville, who has claimed titles in four of the past five years.

No less than six individual winners from a year ago hope to qualify once again for this year's competition. Defending champions hoping to repeat in 1986 include double winner Lynn Newton, a junior from Simley (Inver Grove Heights), who captured firsts in both the 200 and 500 yard freestyle events; Whitney Stoddard, a senior from Breck (diving); Lisa Anderson, a junior from Minneapolis Patrick Henry (200 yard individual medley); Claudia Vieira, a sophomore from Edina (100 yard butterfly); Shannon Manikowski, a junior from Robbinsdale Armstrong (100 yard backstroke); and Anne Pringle, a senior from Monticello (100 yard breaststroke).

There are more than 3,000 girls competing in the interscholastic swimming and diving program this fall. A total of 132 teams are registered with the MSHSL.

DNR Fish Pond Funds

An all-time record of $4,638.79 was tossed into the outdoor fish pond next to the Department of Natural Resource exhibit building at the Minnesota State Fair this year.

Money donated by fair goers is used to help maintain the fish and wildlife displays.

When the pond was first installed several years ago, Department officials were surprised when people began tossing coins into the water. There was even concern that the copper from pennies might have a toxic effect on the fish.

These fears proved groundless.

Department officials said the sum collected from the pond following this year's fair far exceeds the previous high of $2,900.

Judy Melander of the DNR's Information and Education Bureau expressed the Department's appreciation for the donations.

Mark Bondy Playing Football For MSU

by Larry Scott,
Sports Information Director, MSU

Thief River Falls native Mark Bondy is a member of the football family at Moorhead State University this fall as a spare defensive back and a contributing participant on special teams as well.

The 6-2, 184-pound sophomore is a backup safety with the Dragons in 1986 after starting last year as a freshman on the Moorhead State junior varsity squad.

A 1985 graduate of Thief River Falls, Bondy lettered in football and basketball and was the Prowlers' basketball captain as a senior. He was named the MVP in basketball and was a National Scholar Athlete as well.

He is majoring in business administration at Moorhead State. Older brother Eric, a starter on the Dragons' defensive line a year ago, is completing his degree and coaching the Moorhead State JV defense this fall.

Moorhead State returns to Northern Intercollegiate Conference play Saturday, October 18, against Winona State University in a 1:30 match at Alex Nemzek Stadium. This weekend the Dragons take a 3-2-0 overall record to Houghton, MI for a non-conference meeting with Michigan Tech University.

Bicycle Trails

Bugs are gone; the leaves are turning color; the air is crisp and cool. It's fall and perhaps the best time of the year to take a trip on one of the trails administered by the Department of Natural Resources.

Trails have been specially prepared for bicyclists and are located on former railroad beds away from motorized traffic.

Dan Collins, supervisor of the trail programs section, DNR Trails and Waterways Unit, said many bicyclists find autumn an ideal time to travel the trails the Department has built through the state's varied landscapes.

"On a clear, cool fall day, the heat and humidity are low, increasing the pleasure of bicycling — and often there isn't as much traffic on the trails," Collins observed.

"Add to that the enjoyment of seeing the Minnesota woodlands at their most colorful and the chance to pursue a favorite sport before the snows of winter bring the bicycling season to a close for another year."

Particularly good trails for this time of year include the Luce Line in rural Hennepin County, the Sakatah Singing Hills trail between Faribault and Mankato, and the Hinckley Fire Trail between Hinckley and Moose Lake.

Maps showing the exact location of these state trails and others are available by writing the Department of Natural Resources Information Center, Box 52, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55155-4052; or phoning 1-800-652-9747 toll free from out-state locations.

Otter, Fisher, Marten Tags

Persons planning to trap fisher, otter or pine marten this fall must apply for their possession tags by Oct. 31.

DNR wildlife officials said the possession tags are required of all trappers who intend to take these species, even those trappers under the age of 13 who do not need a license.

They emphasized that those planning to trap otter should get their tag applications in to the DNR at least two weeks before the Oct. 31 deadline to be sure of receiving the tags by the opening of the otter trapping season on Nov. 1.

Tag application forms are available at all Minnesota county auditors' offices, or by mail from the DNR License Bureau, Box 26, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55155-4026.

Other details can be found in the 1986 Small Game Hunting and Trapping Regulations, available at license agents.

Donations Aid Program

Donations of tools and equipment by two Wright County outdoor groups to the DNR's Montrose Area Fisheries Station "will make an important contribution toward improved fisheries management," according to Paul Diedrich, area fisheries supervisor.

He said the South Haven Sportsmens Club has donated an arc welder and the Lake John Association contributed a power grinder.

"The welder and grinder will be used to repair equipment and to fabricate specialized tools such as nets, traps and fish barriers," said Diedrich.

"By improving the capabilities of our shop the groups have provided significant help to us in our continuing efforts to maintain quality fishing."

Lake Trout Fishing

Summer fishing season for lake trout on inland waters, Lake Superior and tributary streams closed Sept. 30, the Department of Natural Resources reminded anglers.

Also closing on Sept. 30 was the season for stream trout fishing on most Minnesota waters. Stream trout fishing in designated trout lakes remains open through Oct. 31, however, and there is a continuous fishing season for stream trout on Lake Superior tributary streams below the posted boundaries.

Rules are found in the 1986 Minnesota Fishing Regulations, available from all license agents.

Of four counties in northwestern Minnesota (including Northwestern Beltrami County), Roseau has shown the most interest in establishing trees and Kittson the least, under the Conservation Reserve Program, it was announced by DNR personnel.

Third CRP sign-up ended August 15. To date the following acres have been committed to tree planting:

Roseau County 888, Kittson County 26, Marshall County 141, Pennington County 146 and N.W. Beltrami County 300.

Through combined efforts of the Pennington County ASCS and SCS offices, they are making it mandatory to plant at least some windbreaks and shelter belts. This will obviously reduce wind erosion.

Last spring, 180 acres were planted in Roseau County, 38 acres in Marshall County and 140 acres in Beltrami County. This was the result of a portion of the first sign-up.

Everyone who did the actual tree planting work themselves were surprised at how well things went. Some averaged 10,000 seedlings a day. At a 600 per acre stocking, this is over 16 acres a day.

Second sign-up from May 5-16 could be put into the program for 1986 or 1987, depending on bidder's plans.

Landowner must tailer his participation in CRP to meet his objectives and farm needs. Bidders on the third sign-up are permitted to change their plans for planting grass or trees on some or all of their C.R.P. acres, until they sign the contract. If the goal of a landowner is for timber, wildlife, and recreation benefits, a combination of openings and tree planting might be best. However, sharptail and other species requiring non-forested areas will look more favorably to a shrub and grass combination.

Tree planting does not have to be a costly, drawn out affair. In addition to C.R.P., cost-share programs provide financial assistance to plant wind breaks, shelterbelts, and planting of one acre of trees or more. Contact your A.S.C.S. office or local forestry headquarters.

Duck Stamp Deadline

Waterfowl artists faced an October deadline this fall to complete their designs for entering the Nation's premier waterfowl art competition, the Duck Stamp contest, sponsored by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. To be eligible for the 1986 contest, entries had to be postmarked on or before midnight, October 1.

Winning design will be used on the 1987-88 Migratory Bird Hunting and Conservation Stamp, or Duck Stamp. All waterfowl hunters 16 years of age or older must purchase the stamp each year. They are also bought by individuals who want to make a contribution to the federal wetlands acquisition program.

"People who buy a $7.50 Duck Stamp at their local Post Office or wildlife refuge can be assured that their money will go where it is needed most — toward the purchase of prime waterfowl habitat," explains Frank Dunkle, Director of the Fish and Wildlife Service. "It is a simple, direct way to support a national conservation effort."

By federal regulation, monies acquired through the sale of Duck Stamps must be used to buy habitat for migratory birds. Since the Duck Stamp program began in 1934, more than 90 million stamps have been sold, providing over $300 million to buy 3 million acres of prime wetland habitat. This land is added to the National Wildlife Refuge System.

Duck Stamp contest began in 1949 with eight entries. Last year, 1,?? waterfowl paintings were received.

As the popularity of the Duck Stamp contest has grown, so has its profitability. Although the federal government offers no award money, winners of the contest commonly earn substantial sums from the sale of limited edition prints of their designs.

A delegation from the City of Thief River Falls, consisting of Jerry Wigness, Ken Murphy and Don Stewart met with the Board to discuss the sewer and water lines that were extended to the solid waste processing facility. The County had previously agreed to pay 50 per cent of the cost to extend sewer and water lines to the property line at a cost of $22,800.00 with the solid waste facility paying $8,000.00 for the hookup of the electrical lines and sewer and water lines from the property line to the building for a total of $30,800.00. The actual costs amounted to $28,338.02 for extension of sewer and water lines to the property lines and $15,158.22 hookup charge from the property line to the facility for a total of $43,496.24. Commissioner Swanson moved, seconded by Commissioner Grabanski to approve the payment of $36,338.02 to the City of Thief River Falls for water and sewer lines and hookup charges with $28,338.02 coming from Revenue Fund and $8,000 from Solid Waste Fund. Applications will be taken until August 8, 1986, with the Screening Committee reviewing the applicants and submitting the final 4 candidates to the County Board for the meeting on August 26, 1986.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS
PENNINGTON COUNTY

August 12, 1986

The Pennington County Board of Commissioners met in the commissioners' room in the Courthouse on August 12, 1986, at 10:00 a.m. All members were present.

A representative from Tri Valley Chore Service appeared before the Board requesting the 1987 appropriation. Requested $1,390.90 which is a 22 per cent reduction from 1986. This was referred to the Welfare Board.

Arve Moser appeared before the Board to discuss the letter sent to the City of Thief River Falls, School District 564 and Pennington County outlining a proposal that requests the County Board to approve the abatement of penalty and interest on real estate taxes on Hydra-Mac, Inc. property mortgaged by First Federal. This was being done to attempt to work out a plan of reorganization under Chapter 11. The City, County and School District were all contacted because each would share in the penalty and interest lost by abatement equally at one third each. The City of Thief River Falls had met earlier this morning and recommends approving this plan. School District 564 had not formally met but indicated acceptance.

A motion was made by Commissioner Grabanski, seconded by Commissioner Swanson to approve the abatement of penalty and interest as presented by the reorganization plan if the reorganization plan is accepted by the other creditors. Discussion was called for and the following reason to accept were presented: (1) Hydra Mac employs 48 people and will generate in excess of $600,000 in payroll dollars in 1986 (2) Loss of employment could have an effect on the School District as lost jobs could mean loss of students (3) The taxing districts would collect all taxes originally levied for budget purposes and if not accepted we may not get any taxes paid (4) We would not want to put more strain on the Welfare rolls. The questions were called for and upon roll call vote those voting in favor were: Hoffman, Grabanski, Koop, Stenberg and Swanson. Voting against: none. Motion unanimously carried.

Joe Vene from NW Mn Juvenile Training Center was in to request budget for 1987. He requested the same amount of $13,750 as for 1985 and 1986. Moved by Commissioner Hoffman, seconded by Commissioner Grabanski to approve $13,750 for 1987 to NW Mn Juvenile Training Center. Motion unanimously carried.

Ed Stucy was in to discuss putting soil erosion structures on CD 75. He has the funding from S.C.S. for these. The Board felt he should have Oscar Nerhus install these when he is cleaning CD 75 at land owner's cost.

Moved by Commissioner Swanson, seconded by Commissioner Hoffman to approve agreement between Pennington County and Pennington County S.C.S. entitled Erosion Control Structure Policy. Motion unanimously carried.

Moved by Commissioner Swanson, seconded by Commissioner Stenberg to approve the Pennington County Structure Policy as presented. Motion unanimously carried. Both these policies are on file in the Engineer's Office.

Roger Reuter and Don Stewart were in to update the Board on Jobs, Inc. They have consolidated the City Planner position with Jobs, Inc. director position. Stated they would not need to receive the remainder of the regular allocation to Jobs' Inc. for 1986.

Moved by Commissioner Grabanski, seconded by Commissioner Hoffman to write a letter to Col. Lee expressing support by the County Board for locating the OTH B Receiver Site in Pennington County. Motion unanimously carried.

Rick Nordhagen was in to discuss the solid waste facility. He has hauled 12 loads of pellets to Wallahalla to mix with lignite coal. Also hauled 100 ton to the University of North Dakota for testing. Compost looks good.

At 2:00 bids were opened for the sale of the 1968 Ford truck as advertised. One bid received from Ronald L. Anderson of $760. Moved by Commissioner Hoffman, seconded by Commissioner Swanson to accept bid of Ronald Anderson, Mentor, MN, in the amount of $760. Motion unanimously carried.

Marshall County Commissioners Delray Larson and Marcella Gonsorowski along with Randy Hemmerlin from FmHA were in to discuss vacant farm buildings, land, etc. Randy Hemmerlin stated that the dwelling retention program could tie up these properties for awhile. Discussed weed control, etc.

Commissioner Grabanski left the meeting at 4:00 p.m.

Commissioner Koop brought up changes in the Joint Powers agreement proposed for Quin County Board of Health.

Attorney Olin reviewed negotiations on the Drewes litigation.

Engineer Olson discussed JD 30 Branch A. The landowners are interested in putting a group ditch in on the East side of the road. The county will hold off cleaning JD 30 Br. A.

Erickson Engineering returned a proposal for preparing the design of two sturctures over JD 30 on County Road 77 and 82. The cost would be 3 per cent not to exceed $3,000. Moved by Commissioner Hoffman, seconded by Commissioner Swanson to approve allowing Erickson Engineering to design the two structures on JD 30. Motion unanimously carried.

Engineer Olson discussed the culvert in CD 57 NW corner of Section 33, Star Township. They would like it lowered. Engineer will refer this to Star Township.

The Board appoint Commissioner Hoffman and Commissioner Stenberg to sit on the primary canvassing board. The Board set September 10 as the regular county board meeting.

Minutes of the meeting held on July 22 were approved as read.

Commissioner Grabanski returned to the meeting at 4:45 p.m.

The County Board approved the placement of doors on Oakland Park bathhouse as required by the MN Dept. of Health.

The Board requested a copy of the procedures from FmHA which are used on vacated homesteads.

September 10, 1986

Pursuant to adjournment, the Board of Commissioners met in the commissioners' room in the Courthouse in Thief River Falls, on Tuesday, September 10, 1986, at 10:00 a.m. All members were present.

Whereas: The repurchase of the following described forfeited lots would promote use of this property and better serve the public interest by remaining on the property tax rolls of Pennington County, the City of St. Hilaire and other taxing districts;

Be it resolved that Jake McCullough be allowed to repurchase the property described as Townsite Company 2nd Addition, Lots 4, 5, 6 and 7, Block 30, in the City of St Hilaire at such time payment is made to the County Auditor of all tax, penalty, and interest due to date in full.

Commissioner Hoffman seconded the foregoing resolution and upon vote, unanimously adopted.

Welfare Director Erickson was in to discuss Welfare Department items.

WHEREAS, the State of Minnesota has executed contracts for System 36 Computer Systems and printers with International Business Machines, Inc. (IBM), and

WHEREAS, the contracts are due to expire on November 13, 1986,

WHEREAS, the local government subdivisions of the State of Minnesota may purchase IBM System 36 Computer Systems and printers from IBM through the "Minnesota State Contracts" and

WHEREAS, the taxpayers of the local government subdivision, including county governments, enjoy significant discounts (ie., savings) on purchases of new System 36 Computer Systems and printers from IBM through the Minnesota State Contracts, and

WHEREAS, non IBM vendors are bringing significant pressure to bear upon the State of Minnesota's Department of Administration to rebid the Minnesota State Contract, and

WHEREAS, the taxpayers of local government subdivisions have significant monetary investments in purchased IBM computer hardware (equipment), and

WHEREAS, the taxpayers of local government subdivisions have significant monetary investments in computer software (programs), that has been written by government employees or government paid software vendors, and

WHEREAS, the significant monetary investments in computer software are greater than the cost of the computer equipment, and

WHEREAS, many local government subdivisions do not have the technical staff necessary nor the taxpayer's dollars available to afford a hardware and software conversion to another vendor's computer equipment, and

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that Pennington County strongly supports action by the State of Minnesota's Department of Administration to renew the contract with IBM for discounted purchases of System 36 Computer Systems and printers. This resolution shall not be construed as recommending the State of Minnesota violate applicable competitive bidding statutes and rules, and

THEREFORE, BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that Pennington County strongly supports the necessary action by the State of Minnesota's Department of Administration to include the purchase of equipment "upgrades" in the discount pricing structure of the Minnesota State Contracts.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Swanson, and upon vote, unanimously adopted.

Commissioner Hoffman introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, the number of farms in Pennington County reverting to Farmers Home Administration is increasing at a rapid pace through voluntary sign over and foreclosures and

WHEREAS, many of these farms and farmsteads are neglected and growing up in weeds and are being vandalized and

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Pennington County Board of Commissioners request that a reasonable effort be taken to keep these farms and farmsteads in a state of good repair.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Swanson and upon vote, unanimously adopted.

Heart Fund For Minnesota Raises Over $2.2 Million

American Heart association, Minnesota affiliate, raised $2,220,423 during its 1986 state heart fund campaign, according to Dr. Richard Grimm, president of the Minnesota affiliate. An additional $488,322 from bequests brings the total support from Minnesotans during 1985-86 to $2,708,755.

American Heart association, Minnesota affiliate, is a voluntary health organization dedicated to reducing premature death and disability due to heart disease and stroke. Through the generous support of the people of Minnesota, the association is able to expand its efforts of heart research, community programs and public and professional education.

"Minnesotans from throughout the state volunteered their time, talent and enthusiasm in making the 1986 state heart fund campaign a success," said Grimm. "We realized an 8.3 per cent overall campaign growth," Grimm said. "The efforts of Minnesota Heart volunteers help ensure a healthier tomorrow for all Minnesotans."

"Several aspects of this year's campaign showed significant growth," said Grimm. "The Twin Cities residential campaign showed a 14 per cent increase while the statewide direct mail efforts were up 45 per cent. Special event activities showed a 22 per cent increase. Heart dollars were also raised through business gifts, telepledge campaigns and memorials."

As a participating agency in the United Way in several communities, the Minnesota affiliate also receives a substantial yearly allocation from the Unites Way. Despite the tremendous progress which has been made in the battle against heart disease, it still remains the leading cause of death, not only in Minnesota, but for the entire country. Last year heart disease claimed the lives of more than 16,000 Minnesotans.
